Moral Suasion in Colorado.

Three months ago, when 200 of the leading citizens of Gunnison City met in convention on a street corner, there were seven or eight Michigan men in the crowd. When Colonel Parker presented the following resolution, it was a Michigan man that supported it:

"Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to wait upon Calabash Sam, late of Deadwood, and inform him that after sunrise to-morrow morning this crowd will open fire on him with the intention of furnishing a corpse for our new graveyard."

The committee of five went to find Samuel and deliver their message. He sat on a bench at the door of his shanty, a shot-gun across his knees, and a pipe in his mouth, and he preserved silence while the chairman of the committee read the resolution; then he asked:

"That means me, does it?"

"She does."

"They don't like my style of carving and shooting, eh?"

"That's what they kick on."

"Well, I won't go. You haven't got 'nuff men in the whole valley to drive Calabash Sam a rod. Return to the convention and report that I'm here for the season."

"I forgot to menshun," continued the chairman, in a careless voice, as he leaned on his gun,—"I forgot to menshun that the convenshun has adjourned. This committee thus finds itself in an embarrassing situation, and it sees only one way out of it. Unless you'd agree to pack up and travel, this committee will feel called upon to—to—"

"To begin shooting, you mean?"

"Exactly, Samuel, exactly. You may have already observed that two of the committee have got the drop on you."

"I see."

"Corpses which are riddled with buckshot have a very unpleasant look," continued the chairman, as he rested his chin on the muzzle of his gun.

"Yes, that's so."

"And it's kinder lonesome, this being a first plant in a new burying ground."

"Y-e-s, it may be."

"And so, take it all around, the committee kinder indulges in the hope that you'll see fit to carry your valuable society back to the Black Hills. You may have observed that three shotguns, each under full cock, are now looking straight at ye. We don't want to bluff, but it's getting nigh supper time."

"Well, after looking the matter all over I'm convinced that these diggings won't pan out low-grade ore, and I guess I'll take a walk."

"Right off?"

"Yes."

"Right up this trail?"

"Yes."

"Very well. While the committee feels sorry to see you go, and wishes you all sorts of luck, it hasn't time to shake hands. Step off, now, and for fear you ain't used to walking, we'll keep these guns pinted up the hill until you turn the half-mile boulder. Trala—march!"

—It is their first night aboard the steamer. "At last," he said tenderly, "we are all alone, out upon the deep waters of the dark blue sea, and your heart will always beat for me as it has in the past?" "My heart's all right," she answered, languidly, "but my stomach feels awful."—Brooklyn Chronicle.

—We can all appreciate the feelings of Sidney Smith in the following story: When he called on a certain great personage he was ushered into a room which had mirrors on all sides. Wherever he looked he saw himself reflected, and when he came away he said he had spent an hour in the company of about a dozen of the best looking clergymen of the Church of England.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—When two gushing young women make a great display of bidding each other good-bye it may be called "much adieu about nothing."—Lowell Courier.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—The secretary of the navy knows something about one ship, anyhow. We refer to courtship. He has had four wives.—Norristown Herald.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—In the spring the little goatlets sport and play upon the green, and the wild Italian grinds his so-called musical machine.

Profit, $1,200.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all of this expense was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife. She has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it, for their benefit."—N. Y. Farmer.

—The Cleveland Leader has this startling heading over an article: "My Father was a Monkey and My Grandfather an Oyster."

Be Temperate.

When sickness or depression comes, do not buy "tonic bitters." It is better to die of disease than drunkenness. Buy a bottle of "Favorite Remedy" and cleanse the system. The great multitude of human ills have their foundation in impure blood. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" attacks these at the fountain's head, and makes the stream of life pure. Only one dollar per bottle. All druggists sell it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at 3½ per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated for some time in placing it before the public; but from the gratifying assurance by a great number of the rare vitalizing and health-renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above-named disease, even though reduced to a very low state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880.

Dear Sir: Allow me to say that I esteem your "Hypophosphites" most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it myself with the most satisfactory results and have introduced it to a large number of my people.

REV. R. W. HAIRE, Pastor St. Michel's Catholic Church.

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopeless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and, I assure the public that the "Favorite Remedy" has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the "Favorite Remedy," as I did."

White Buffaloes.

White buffaloes have frequently been seen and killed. All the Indian tribes regard them as "big medicine," but they have different superstitions regarding them. For instance, Catlin, the painter, while among the Mandans in 1832, saw a white buffalo robe erected on a pole in their village, as a sacrifice to the Great Spirit. It had been purchased from the Blackfeet, who killed the buffalo, for eight horses and a quantity of goods. On the other hand, the Comanches believe it very dangerous to see a white buffalo. In 1869 I saw a young Comanche who had seen a white buffalo return to his camp almost dead with fear. He was taken to his tent, the medicine men were sent for, and they smoked him and kept up incantations over him day and night for a week. When he came out he believed that he had a very narrow escape from death. In 1860 a white buffalo was killed by a white man on the north fork of Red river, Indian Territory, and the hide presented to Gen. Grierson. He desired to have it dressed to preserve it, but failed to get any Indian to undertake the task for a long time. At last he prevailed on a Comanche chief named Horseback to have the operation performed. Horseback selected one of his squaws, had the "medicine man" of his band go through various ceremonies over her to preserve her life, and then placed her in a teepee some distance from his camp, where the hide was taken to her by a soldier, and brought away by him when dressed. No other Indian would look at the hide, much less touch it. Her food was left some distance from her teepee, and when the robe was dressed "medicine" ceremonies were held over her before she was allowed to join the camp. I twitted Horseback about the fear of the robe, calling his attention to the fact that no harm befell any of the white men who handled the robe, but he answered that such might be the case, but what was "bad medicine" for a Comanche might be "good medicine" for a white man, and vice versa. He proposed to take no risks in the matter.—American Naturalist.

Fresh Water in the Ocean.

One of the most remarkable displays of nature may be seen on the Atlantic coast, eighteen miles south of St. Augustine, Florida. Off Matanzas Inlet and three miles from shore a mammoth fresh water spring gurgles up from the depths of the ocean with such force and volume at to attract the attention of all who come in its immediate vicinity. When the waters of the ocean and its vicinity are otherwise calm and tranquil, the upheaving and troubled appearance of the water show unmistakable evidences of internal commotions. An area of about half an acre has this appearance. Six or eight years ago Commodore Hitchcock of the United States coast survey found six fathoms of water everywhere in the vicinity, while the spring itself was almost fathomless.

—It is said that love conquers all things, but a jumping toothache, that knows its business, and strictly attends to it, can, for the time being, make a man forget that he ever loved at all.

—A London paper says that the Empress of Austria has a very small waist. "Yet this wasp-like figure is so flexible that its owner rides with the greatest ease horses which many brave men would scarce dare to mount!" One would suppose that this ability arises less from a wasp-like waist than from fearlessness and courage.

—One of the oldest churches on the American continent is the Tumacacoori church near Tubac, Arizona. It was built by the Franciscans in 1554, and has consequently reached the age of 327 years. Fifty-six years ago the Indians murdered seven priests within its walls; and twenty-five years ago several priests came from Rome, and dug from a sepulchre on the right side of the altar $80,000 in coin and jewels.

—The famous bulls of Ireland are coming to the front in the Land League battle. Mr. Mitchell Henry, during the recent debate, talked of the sabres of the military trepaling ("Captain Boycott's crop of turnips," and Mr. Michael Davitt, in his last speech before a section of the Land League, referred to "the constitutional rights of the people trampled upon by the mailed hand of authority."

because the doctors say you cannot live. I was troubled with dropsy, and gave up to die. But after using Sulphur Bitters for three months, I am well. It is the best medicine for all kidney diseases I ever saw.—Mrs. B——, Bridgeport.

—A young lady of Little Rock, Ark., one evening last week picked up a paper from the city in which her lover was visiting, and one of the first things that her eye struck was the description of a brilliant wedding in a fashionable church. She saw her lover's name figuring as that of the bridegroom. During the whole night she lay in a stupor. The next morning one side of her head was white as snow, and so it remains. But such a scamp was not worth a change of hair.

Mr. Patterson Meant What he Said.

I hereby testify that my boy, ten years of age, was taken sick with typhoid fever, followed by congestion of the lungs. Dr. Dyer, an eminent physician of this place, stated that he thought the boy would run down with quick consumption. A Mr. Patterson told me that Coe's Cough Balsam was curing similar cases, and advised us to purchase it. When I carried it home, my wife laughed at me, but I knew that Mr. Patterson meant just what he said, and I determined to try it. Two bottles effectually cured him, so that now he is as tough and healthy as anybody.

Assisted Immigration.

Two women of ill repute were recently banished from Bottstien, Switzerland, by the authorities, and sent to this country, the commune paying their passage. The representative of the United States in Switzerland notified the state department at Washington of this move toward making this country a refuge for the criminal classes of Europe, and though it appeared that there was no law which enabled the general government to prevent the women from landing, the immigration board of New York sent them back. This action is variously commented on by the Swiss papers, the majority of them taking the ground that it was reasonable and proper. A despatch from Lausanne says:

The return of the two women of questionable character, by the immigration board of New York, creates considerable press comments here. One paper laughs at the city fathers of Bottstien, and wishes them joy at the return of the ladies, hoping that likewise their character will be improved by the sea voyage taken at the cost of the commune.

A government paper published at Berne condemns the commune's action as reflecting discredit on the Swiss in America, and the Bluff of the same city, in announcing the return of the women, suggests that the American government prosecute the commune. The Geneva Journal, one of the most influential papers in Switzerland, treats of the United States as Europe's reformatory, and justifies the sending thither of the Bottstein women. It compares the United States to the penal colonies of Great Britain, and says:

In very many cases reformation is impossible at home, and can only be attained by emigration.

The Geneva Journal theory is all very fine so far as the criminals who escape punishment by being sent here, and the European countries which get rid of their thieves and harlots by sending them here, are concerned; but this country receives in the ordinary course of emigration all the European crime desirable, and will hardly consent to allow the several European governments to ship to our shores all the sweepings of the slums of their cities.

News and Notes.

Arthur Foster, the Phillips academy student who was shot through the heart on the morning of the 12th inst. by Abel Wilson of North Andover, Mass., while attempting to rob Mr. Wilson, was studying for the ministry, and preparing to enter the Theological seminary at Andover. Deceased and his brother had worked for Mr. Wilson, which accounted for their being able to enter the house without the watch-dog giving the alarm. Mr. Wilson at the time of the raid had about $75,000 in his room, in bonds and stocks, protected only by his rifle—which seems to have been an efficient protection.

An important transaction in railroads on the 13th inst. was the transfer of $1,250,000 of New Haven & Northampton stock to the New York, New Haven & Hartford. This transfer covers half the capital stock, and defeats the scheme of the Boston & Albany railroad to get the New Haven & Northampton road and make a new parallel line.

It has been discovered that the United States marshal for the western district of Virginia, his deputies, the district attorney and the commissioners for that district, have been guilty of grave irregularities and corruption. For the fiscal year 1880, nearly $90,000 has been expended by the officers, of which $80,000 was fraudulently obtained.

The town of Glover's Gap in West Virginia is in a lamentable condition on account of small-pox. Trains pass through without stopping. The doctors are all sick, and there is nobody to bury the dead.

The steamer Lord Clive, at Philadelphia from Liverpool, is not permitted to land her passengers on account of small-pox. The vessel will be fumigated.

The barque Siguet was on the 12th inst. chartered at Victoria, Vancouver's Island, to take wheat to England at £4 5s per ton, the highest rate ever paid a wooden ship from that port.

Governor Ordway of Dakota urges upon the president and secretary of war the importance of immediate assistance by the government to citizens of Dakota who have been rendered homeless by the recent floods.

On Saturday afternoon, April 9th, at the railroad camp on the line of the Rio Grande road, forty miles west of Chuona, New Mexico, a desperado from Texas, named Baker, with two companions, entered the place, rode up to each store and saloon, and robbed each proprietor of his money and valuables. At the last store, kept by a Frenchman, the roughs collected every man in the place, numbering forty, marshalled them in a line under their six-shooters, and compelled them to take a drink at the Frenchman's expense. Baker doing the honors. Finally Baker made them all sit on the floor, and started away, threatening to shoot any who moved. As he turned, the Frenchman sprang upon him and took away both his revolvers, and shot him dead. The other men then rose, and fired a volley at the other roughs, wounding one, but both escaped on their horses.

Miss Abigail B. Judson, of Plymouth, Mass., lately passed her ninetieth birthday. She is a sister of the late Adoniram Judson, the famous missionary to Burmah, and lives alone in the house once occupied by him. It is said that its front door has never been opened since his body was carried through, and Miss Judson orders that it shall remain shut until her own funeral takes place.

New Hampshire Items.

Senator Rollins has had the loss upon his farm buildings adjusted, which is the term used now-a-days instead of any other word which could do justice to the transaction. The barns and outbuildings were a total loss, and the insurance will be paid as such; the shed of the house was saved, essentially ruined however by fire and water—but still a portion was saved. The house was insured to the amount of $4000, and the appraised amount of the loss is between sixty and seventy per cent of that sum, owing to the spared part of the building. The senator has not decided as to rebuilding upon this site, though of course for the locality as an ancestral home he has strong attachments.

At Manchester, April 13th, Mr. Harvey H. Hill had all the fingers of his right hand taken off by a circular saw in the lumber mill of A. C. Wallace, where he was employed.

On Friday night, the 8th inst. a bold attempt was made to burn the store of Parker & Co., at Goffstown, by pouring kerosene oil through the letter-box of the entrance door. Luckily there were two doors which left a small open space for the oil to run through to the floor, and the matches that were subsequently dropped did not reach the oil, but fell into the box, where they burned, but failed to ignite the wood. Had the attempt to set fire to the store been successful, from its situation the business portion of the village must have been nearly, if not wholly, destroyed. Messrs. Parker & Co. immediately offered a liberal reward for the discovery of the parties connected with the affair, but no one has yet been arrested.

On Wednesday of this week Mr. James Lynch, one of the hands employed in unloading the steamer Williamsport at the Concord railroad wharf, was struck on the head by a piece of falling coal, and hurt so badly that he was obliged to leave off work.

On the 13th inst., at San Antonio, Texas, Bishop Elliott joined in marriage Mr. Theodore L. Harris and Miss Georgia B. Stearns. The contracting parties are well known in this city, the bride being a sister of Joseph B. Stearns, the electrician and inventor, and the groom formerly of the firm of Harris & Chapman of Boston, but now a railroad official in Texas.

The properties of the Mazeppa combination, which exhibits at Music hall this (Friday) evening, are carried about in a special car decorated with pictorial posters and big letters something after Mr. Barnum's style. The "wild horse of Tartary" is stabled in this car, on the journey. The animal is a noble-looking, eleven-hundred-pounds horse, black, with a white strip in his face. While the company was performing in Boston a young darkey hung around the horse's stable, and cared for him. The boy fell in love with "Lightning," and when the company started off on its tour he smuggled himself aboard the stable-car. The stowaway was found by the conductor, but was allowed to go on; and as the company can't keep him away from the horse, he is now considered an attache.

Reserved seat tickets for Chanfrau's entertainment, "Kit, the Arkansas traveller," at Music hall next Monday evening, are now on sale at Preston's.

The Congregational society of Hampton at its last annual meeting, held in March, voted to engage Rev. W. H. Cutler as preacher for another year.

Greenleaf C. Bartlett, Esq., of Derry, by appointment of Judge Clark is acting as county solicitor at the present term of the supreme court, on account of the absence of County Solicitor Harriman.

About thirteen hundred lobsters were brought in from the Isles of Shoals on Wednesday of this week and purchased by C. Sullivan & Co., who have them on sale at their market, corner of Bow and Penhallow streets.

A social dance took place in Madbury on the evening of the 12th inst., and was attended by over thirty persons from Dover. Fifty couples took part in the grand march, and the Newington quadrille band furnished the music.

The fishing schooner W. H. Y. Hackett, of this port, on the 11th inst. sailed from Halifax, N. S., where she put in for bait, bound for the Western banks. The schooner Daniel Marcy was in Vineyard Haven on the 12th, bound south on a cruise for mackerel.

Mr. W. C. Tower, a member of the Temple quartette of Boston and one of the best-known tenor singers in New England, died in the Massachusetts general hospital on the 13th inst. Mr. Tower was one of the soloists at the Musical Convention in this city last February.

There is to be a road hearing in Rye on the 28th inst. before the county commissioners, on an appeal made by Woodbury Seavey from a decision given by the selectmen of the town relating to damages to his premises occasioned by building a road, Mr. Seavey being dissatisfied with the award made by the selectmen.

Schooner Emily A. Staples, Coleman master, was at Portsmouth bridge on Friday loaded with bricks from Eliot, and ready to sail for Boston with the first favoring wind. The schooners Jennie Howard, Arcola and Hattie Lewis were also at the bridge at the same time, all bound to Boston with cargoes of brick from the brickyards at Dover point.

Miss Parloa, formerly for some years chief cook at the Appledore house, and author of the popular "Appledore Cook Book," who since the autumn of 1877 has conducted a school of cookery in Boston, gave her final public lecture—or lesson—there on the afternoon of the 13th inst. to a very large audience, and was the recipient of many beautiful presents and an abundance of flowers.

Drake, the "liquor-spotter," was pardoned by Gov. Head and council on Tuesday. The application was made and advocated by Rev. Mr. Lamb and Hon. T. Haley of Milford, whose sympathies had been enlisted in the case. Drake has served nearly two years of a four years sentence, and his conduct has been unexceptionable while in prison. His alleged crime was perjury, in swearing against some Newmarket liquor dealers, and there has always been much doubt whether his testimony was worse than that of the liquor dealers who swore against him. —Nashua Telegraph.

Mr. Martin Garrity has had fitted up in the basement of the building occupied by him on Daniel street a room for bottling lager beer, with a large ice-vault attached for the purpose of storing lager. Mr. Garrity will keep constantly on hand the celebrated brews of Jos. Schlitz of Milwaukee and H. Clausen & Sons of New York, and will deliver the same to families or persons desiring it, by the dozen bottles or the case, on short notice. By his new method of bottling, the lager is kept from the air and retains all its original flavor. On and after the first of May he will be constantly supplied with the celebrated bock beer, which he will deliver to order after that date. He has secured the services of an experienced bottler, added all the modern improvements to his already well-fitted establishment, and promises to deliver as good an article and at as reasonable a price as any other establishment in this city or Boston.

"MAZEPPA."

This evening, at Music hall, the grand equestrian spectacle of "Mazeppa, or the wild horse of Tartary," will be presented, no doubt to a satisfactory and satisfied audience. The following extracts are from Boston papers:

Miss Maud Forrester, in her rendition of the dual role of Cassimer and Mazeppa, gives without exception the finest interpretation that it has ever been our good fortune to see. Her splendid physique and commanding presence are quite in keeping with the character of the piece, and the enthusiastic reception accorded to her last night must indeed have been flattering to this favorite.—Globe.

Certainly extraordinary is the word that well fits the performance of Lord Byron's "Mazeppa" last evening, with Miss Maud Forrester and her horse in the leading roles. Miss Forrester's impersonation was a faithful conception of the character.—Advertiser.

Miss Forrester's performance elicited enthusiastic applause, and her trained steed "Lightning," an animal of remarkable beauty and intelligence, also came in for a large share of admiration. The other prominent characters were well played.—Journal.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, April 14th: Buford, J.

Lucille Legge, for drunkenness, was fined $3, with costs. Having no money, he was sent to the county house of correction at Brentwood.

Case Towle vs. Stone was given to the jury in the afternoon, but up to the time of adjournment the jury had not agreed.

Daniel Earing of Portsmouth was granted a divorce from his wife.

The grand jury concluded their business in the evening, and will report Friday, after which the court will probably adjourn to Monday.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, April 14th:

The principal fund of $30,000 has been increased by the addition thereto of accrued income amounting to $1625, making the amount of principal fund December 31st, 1880, $31,625, invested as follows:

Bonds at par value	$10,300.00
Notes for loans	19,777.00
Cash in bank, etc	2,047.40
Total	$31,625.00

The income for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1880, was

Interest on bonds	$ 720.00
Interest on loans and deposits	1684.95
Total	$2404.55

The expenditures for the year were $769.55, including $29.75 for insurance, and $16.40 for expenses of trustees.

Net income for the year	$1635.00
Net income previously accrued	1572.95
Total	$3207.95

The cash on deposit is $11,855.35, of which $8647.40 is of the principal, and $3207.95 accrued income. Of this sum a loan of five thousand dollars has been negotiated to run for one year, leaving a balance for investment of $6855.35; this sum is at interest at four per cent per year.

Am't loaned on notes Jan. 1, 1880	$18,076.22
Paid on notes during year	16,798.62
Balance	$ 1,277.60
Loaned during the year	11,500.00
Am't at interest on notes Dec. 31, 1880	$12,777.60

All the interest on bonds held by the trustees has been promptly paid when falling due.

The secretary's report gives the following as the condition of the library:

Number of books purchased during the past year, 228; number presented to the library, eleven; whole number taken out during the year, 13,925. The number of volumes now in the library is as follows:

Bound volumes	2045
Presented	14
Harper's magazine, unbound,	32	2071
North American review, unbound,	77
Other works	3
Reports and miscellaneous, unbound,	28	110
Total		2181

The purchases during the year past have been made by Mr. Safford, one of the trustees, and the selection has required no little time and care. The great difficulty in the selection is a proper supervision on the purchase of works of fiction. The Boston public library once had an established rule that no novels save those of tried worth should be purchased for the library, and then only after their value had been fairly ascertained.

As the public library is intended to exert an influence for the good, so inattention to the proper demands of a healthful result in the matter of selection of books may result in much evil. Then works properly selected will serve to develope a taste for reading. But it is a notable fact in the history of public libraries, that as the habit of reading becomes confirmed the taste of the average reader improves. The percentage of the calls for works of fiction decreases as readers become acquainted with the contents of the shelves of our library, and the demand is for better reading.

The cost of books to the close of the year is $2482.14; the insurance upon these is $1700, and I would suggest that an additional insurance of $500 be effected upon the library, as the present sum of insurance is not seventy-five per cent of the cost of the books.

There seems to be an unabated interest in the library, the number of volumes read increasing every year.

A thorough examination of the books in the library has been made by Messrs. Safford and Wilson, and under their direction a new catalogue of all the books is to be prepared by the librarian.

Ex-Gov. Ichabod Goodwin was unanimously re-elected president, and Ephraim C. Spinney treasurer. Both of these gentlemen were desirous of being excused, and the governor stated his readiness to resign the office whenever the members of the board in Kittery would indicate who should be his successor. William H. Hackett was chosen secretary. A new catalogue is to be printed under the direction of the committee on the conduct of the library, who were also requested to prepare a set of rules for the proper management of the institution.

A comparative exhibit of receipts and expenditures of the post-office department for the quarter ended December 31, 1880, and the corresponding quarter of 1879, is furnished by Third Assistant Postmaster-General Hazen. It shows an increase of 9 6-10ths per cent in receipts and 8 6-10ths in expenditures in 1880, as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1879.

A Suspicious Occasion.

A boy entered the police station on a run Sunday night, and requested the presence of an officer to quell a disturbance in a house on the upper end of the street. When the officer reached the house he found about twenty people assembled to witness a marriage, but a former lover of the bride had refused to let the ceremony proceed. The father took the officer through into the kitchen, and explained:

"The objector and objections have happily been removed, and the marriage ceremony performed. Sorry to have troubled you, but you shall partake of thirteen different kinds of refreshments."

"What was the trouble?"

"Well, not much. My daughter was engaged to a teamster, but they got into a quarrel and declared it off. Then she was engaged to a bricklayer, but he lied to her, and they broke it up. Then she was engaged to a milkman, and they were expecting to be married, when along came this young man. He's a cooper, and so am I. I saw how nice it would be for us to coop together, he using my shop and I using his tools, and so I persuaded Mary to have him."

"And the milkman kicked?"

"Yes. He raised a great row about it, but we finally subjugated him."

"How?"

"Come this way."

The father led the officer into the back yard, and the old lover was there discovered, tied neck and heels, and pushed into an empty hogshead, with the big family dog standing over him. The prisoner was terribly indignant, threatening to clean out the crowd, and he rested a moment on the high back fence to observe:

"As for you, old peg-leg, I'll lay for you! If I ever catch you, I'll mash every bone in your body!"

"Dear me! but how unreasonable!" sighed the father as he rubbed his hands. "The young man does not seem to realize the benefits of a cooper copartnership. The capacity of my shop will now be doubled, business will be rushed, and I shall board the bridal couple for $8 per week, cash every Saturday. Reuben must get over this unreasonableness or I shall refuse to take milk of him. But come in and kiss the bride, and help us to festivate over the suspicious occasion."

The officer found opportunity to ask Mary if it was a happy match for her, and she answered:

"Well, dad's boss here. He said I might as well marry a cooper as to cooper a milkman, and I didn't wan't to flunk on the old man. Sort o' boss time, isn't it?"

Unhappy Birds.

Poets may weep to learn from an ornithologist who writes in the London Globe, that bird life is far from idle happiness. Birds have all the bad qualities of mankind. They are deficient in love for their offspring, and have no more conjugal affection than the traditional rover. Their moral nature is often depraved. They hiss and scold and swear, and exhibit terrible pugnacity. The majority of singing birds have the tempers of wasps, and are apparently never so happy as when they are quarrelling. A fourth of their lives is passed in scolding and fighting. In their singing season, which is also their time for mating and contention, severe pitched battles, fought between candidates for matrimonial life, are of continual occurrence. The females fight furiously for the males, and when the contest is over, the conquerors march off with the objects of their choice, unless they should be met on the road by other viragoes and compelled to give up their husbands by force. A male bird will allow two hens to fight for him until one of them is killed, and then with due humility accompany the victor. At this period of the year the woods and the fields are the scenes of desperate battles. Shrieks of triumph or defeat mingle with the love-notes of the newly-mated. The very songs we hear at dawn of day are more the result of rivalry and ambition than of joyous thanksgiving, the feathered songsters being desirous of drowning the voices of others, or of excelling them in vocal power in presence of the females.

—Many years ago, when they had just become engaged, he thought it most charming and poetical to kiss her tears away. Now, he says it's like kissing Lot's wife.

—A Georgia editor says that twenty-four heathen Chinese walked into his sanctum, and, through an interpreter, paid for twenty-four subscriptions to his paper. The editor wondered what they wanted of an English paper, and ascertained that they took it for the "pictures" in it, the paper having a rat cut, a catarrh cut, a guano trade mark, and an umbrella "picture."

—A certain ambitious artist had painted a string of trout, and was justly proud of his achievement. A lady and her young daughter came into his studio, and while the former inspected some drawings, the latter wandered about at her own sweet will. Suddenly she exclaimed: "Oh, ma! do look at this beautiful bunch of bananas!" The artist looked too; alas! it was the trout picture which had called out the exclamation.

who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

—She was a Boston girl. She was visiting her Whitehall country cousins. While walking out several butterflies passed her. "Oh, dear me, what charming little birds. They are perfectly exquisite." "They are not birds, my dear," replied her country cousin, "they are butterflies." "Oh, you don't say so. Then these are the dear little creatures that fly from flower to flower and gather the sweet yellow butter that we use? They are too lovely for anything."

THE REASON WHY.—Mr. Fellows, in his "Medical Monthly," gives reasons for the peculiar action of his Hypophosphites in the cure of diseases, which seem to be borne out by facts. From tonic action of the sympathetic nerves all the organic muscles are strengthened, and the patient overcomes his malady simply, pleasantly and rapidly.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing it before the public, but from the gratifying assurance by a great number of the rare vitalizing and health-renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is totally satisfied that the so effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above-named disease, even though reduced to a very low state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880.

Dear Sir: Allow me to say that I esteem your "Hypophosphites" most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it myself with the most satisfactory results and have introduced it to a large number of my people.

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story--A Hopeless Case Cured--A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and, I assure the public that the "Favorite Remedy" has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the "Favorite Remedy," as I did."

Political.

The Connecticut legislature adjourned sine die on the 14th inst., after a session of three months and one week.

On Tuesday, April 12th, V. S. Besson, republican, was elected mayor of Hoboken, N. J., by twenty-four majority. The democratic candidate, O'Neil, who is the present incumbent of the office, will contest Besson's election.

The New Orleans Democrat, in noting that the Grand Army of that city participated in the exercises of the Confederate Decoration day, remarks that "these Union soldiers brought fresh flowers which pleaded forgiveness for the blood which they had been compelled to spill." "Pleaded forgiveness" is a good term.

Assistant District Attorney Bell, in general sessions court at New York on the 14th inst., called to the bar James O'Brien, alias Robert or "Bob" Lindsay, who, during the last political campaign, deposed that he knew H. L. Morey, the individual to whom it was alleged President James A. Garfield wrote what is known as the "Morey Chinese letter," and who subsequently confessed that he had perjured himself. He pleaded guilty to the indictment for perjury presented against him, and Judge Cowing sent him to the state prison for eight years.

The sudden death of Mrs. Lydia Young, the youthful widow of the notorious Bill Young, who was lynched in Missouri, is creating considerable interest in Keokuk from the fact that a mysterious letter arrived the day after her death, dated "Bell Station, Ill.," and signed "L. C. Pierce." It is hinted that there was something very curious about her sickness. The body will be disinterred and examined.

The Cost of It.

If the total cost of sickness simply in its business aspects were reckoned up, it would be found to be great enough in five years to pay the national debt. The merchant has a headache, from a fit of indigestion, and misses a good bargain. The lawyer does the same with a case. To say nothing about doctors' fees, etc., it don't pay to be even a little sick. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a friend of the business man, for it clears his brain. One dollar a bottle. Rondout, N. Y.

The clergymen of Boston held a meeting last Thursday afternoon, for the purpose of devising means for raising funds in aid of the sufferers by the recent earthquake on the island of Chio. The details of an organized movement were placed in the hands of a committee.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

Mr. Samuel H. Newman, merchant tailor of Boston, who died on Monday, April 11th, at the age of seventy-eight years, was son of Mr. Robert Newman, who displayed the signal lanterns of Paul Revere from Christ church, Boston, on the 18th of April, 1775.

"Pinafore" never goes to sea without a good supply of that famous remedy, Adamson's Botanic Balsam, for colds and coughs. Trial bottles, 10 cts.

A gentleman, recently a special agent for the government, just returned from Alaska, says that valuable discoveries both of gold and silver have been made there, and that a large number of miners are preparing to leave California for that place.

Old, Reliable, Sure,

The best and purest, is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon." Highly recommended for medical use. Bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and sold by druggists and grocers everywhere.

A large lot of valuable swine owned by Michael Simpson of South Farmington, Mass., have been found to be so badly affected with trichinosis that orders have been given to kill them. Five of them were dressed for the Boston market when the discovery was made.

Abe Strauss, Esq., the well-known Stock Raiser of Lexington, Ky., says: "I recommend Liebig Co.'s Amicated Extract of Witch Hazel to all my friends. It has been used in the "thoroughbred" stables of H. B. McGrath, R. H. Owens, Lee Paul, W. B. Scully and other well-known breeders and trainers and they all pronounce it the very best lotion and medicine for the horse which they have ever used, giving almost instaneous benefit. Cures breaking down, wind galls, capped and sprained hock, foot contraction and cracked hoof. Sold in 50 cents and dollar sizes; reduced rates by the half gallon or gallon. Beware of worthless imitations. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York.

News and Notes.

Five nihilists implicated in the murder of the czar were hanged at St Petersburg on the 15th inst. The woman Sophie Picoffsky was one of them. Another woman, Hessy Helfmann, also condemned to death, was not executed, as she is enceinte.

A stupid young drug clerk nearly poisoned to death Charles M. Becker of the New York associated press, C. A. O'Rourke of the city press association, Amos Leonard of the New England associated press, and one or two others, at Hedgeman's drug store on Broadway, N. Y., the other day, by giving them laudanum instead of cinchona in soda-water. He discovered his mistake immediately and antidotes were successfully applied, though some of the men suffered unpleasant effects for several days.

The power of liquor to prostitute the most promising of men was shown recently in Norwich, Conn. A man who once commanded $3,500 to $5,000 a year and expenses, for special work in which he ranked first-class a few years ago, applied for a job lately to work in the ditch with ordinary laborers at $1.25 a day.

Reports from Santa Fe, New Mexico, state that Ike Stockton's gang of desperadoes are ruling Rio Arribo county with terror, robbery and murder. Gov. Wallace it is said proposes to declare the territory in a state of insurrection, and call upon the United States for aid.

In the police court at Newburyport, last Thursday, William Davenport, a liquor seller, was fined $100 and costs for selling liquor to Robert Southwell, an inebriate, after having been forbidden by the wife of the latter. The case was appealed to the higher court.

The steamer Andalusia, from Grangemouth, Eng., bound to Calais, has put into Leith in a damaged condition, having been in collision with the steamer James Harris, from Middlesborough for Grangemouth. The latter steamer was sunk, and fourteen persons were drowned.

In the case of Miss Mary A. Murray vs. Gen. Tyler, postmaster of Baltimore, for $20,000 damages for alleged indecent assault while the plaintiff was an employe in the post office, which had been on trial for a week, the jury on the 14th inst. awarded the plaintiff $5,000.

Fully ten thousand people in the upper Missouri valley have been left homeless and in danger of starvation by the floods that have laid waste the whole region. Hundreds of families are without food or shelter, all their possessions having been swept away. The United States will supply many with rations, but the generosity of the people of the whole country is appealed to by the wretched condition of the victims of the terrible inundation.

At the instance of Sir Edward Thornton, British minister at Washington, Secretary Blaine has forwarded to Collector Beard of Boston a very fine binocular glass, presented by her majesty's government to Capt. James H. Little of the Boston ship McLauria, in acknowledgement of his services in rescuing and conveying to Queenstown, Ireland, eight of the crew of the British ship Harvest Queen of North Shields, who had abandoned their vessel the 30th of January last, and whom he picked up on the same day. Capt. Little is now on a two years' voyage, and proper steps will be taken to forward the testimonial to him.

Eugene McGillicuddy and Joseph Walsh, aged respectively fifteen and eleven years, were found locked up in a car from Lewiston, Me., at the Eastern railroad depot in Boston last Thursday morning. They said they resided with their parents at Lewiston, and were playing in the cars at the depot there when they were locked in. Their parents were notified.

A wild tract of land at Newport, R. I., for which the late William Beach Lawrence gave $11,000, will yield his heirs $600,000.

The editor of the Hartford Post wrote a long editorial on Monday, the 11th inst., congratulating everybody on the fact that spring was here to stay. The next morning he had to clean the snow off his sidewalk before breakfast.

Sargeant Bates, who achieved notoriety by marching through the southern states and parts of Europe bearing the American flag, is reported dying in abject poverty in Saybrook, Illinois. He has a wife and six children to be left destitute.

"Rev." Arthur P. Develin, well known in New England, has turned up in Cleveland, Ohio, where he came near being mobbed for his coarse assaults upon the Roman Catholic religion and priests.

Two young men named Oscar Drook and John Fordyce, on Monday night, the 11th inst., attempted to enter the residence of Mrs. Wolf, in Liberty, Ind., a respectable woman lately divorced from her husband. Mrs. Wolf was ready with a double-barrelled shot-gun, and as Drook raised the window-sash she fired, shooting him in the lower part of the body, wounding him fatally. She fired the second shot at Fordyce, who was retreating, but missed him.

A young lady of Boston, formerly a teacher in high standing, has just appealed to a judge of that city to be committed to the Sherburne woman's prison for a year, to save her from being arrested on the street and taken through the station-house and court for drunkenness. She contracted the habit of intemperance from beer prescribed and taken medicinally.

The kind of tea that many persons buy is shown by the testimony in a Rhode Island law-suit, in which it appeared that a shopkeeper had only one kind of tea, but sold it to different customers for various kinds and at various prices, suiting the price to the desires of the purchaser. His stock was limited, but he wished to make it appear full; and the success with which he accomplished his purpose showed how little knowledge most tea drinkers have of the differences between one brand or quality and another.

The betrothal of the Princess Louise, eldest daughter of the Prince of Wales, to Prince Oscar Gustavus Adolphus, the eldest son of the King of Sweden, is now mentioned as an accomplished fact. The Princess Louise is only fourteen years of age, so the marriage will not take place for two years.

Examination was made on the 13th inst., by Dr. Paton, chemist of the health department of Chicago, of 400 hogs, taken at random in the packing houses at the stock yards. The examination was carefully and accurately made, twenty pieces being taken from some of the hogs, and yet not a single trance of trichinæ was discovered. The health department, however, recommends as absolute means of security against the parasites that all pork should be thoroughly cooked.

Gloucester takes the lead in the southern mackerel fishery this season, as usual, but the early-fitting venture has not proved a profitable one. A portion of the fleet have been in search of mackerel for four weeks, at considerable expense, but up to April 14th only one fare had been obtained. This was the earliest catch of which we have any account, but it has not been followed up by others, and we shall not probably have any considerable catch to report until May. The fleet is somewhat smaller than last year, but is sufficiently large to fully supply the market, should there be a good run of mackerel. Up to the 14th there was reported in southern waters, in pursuit of mackerel, forty-six vessels from Gloucester, five from Chatham, five from Portland, three from Harwich, two each from Newburyport, Portsmouth and Boothbay, and one from Swan's island, Me.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

American novel-writers seems to be unusually busy just now. Mrs. Burnett is said to be writing two new serial stories; Dr. Holland also has one in contemplation; Mr. Howells has two serials on the stocks; Mr. Boyesen is writing one or two; the author of "An Earnest Trifler" has recently completed a short watering-place serial; Mrs. Schayer, the author of "Tiger-Lily," is writing her first novel; and the author of "Roxy" is at work on a new serial—though not a fictitious one. All the above-named serials have been engaged for "Scribner's Monthly."

In the "Rising Faith" for March we find the following: "This is the last number of the Rising Faith that we shall issue. It pains us deeply to be obliged to make this announcement, but it is inevitable. The simple fact is that the managing editor is broken down with over-work and care, and there is no one else to take his place. It seems a pity that so good an enterprise should be abandoned just at the point of its greatest success. The Rising Faith has been published a year and three months only; and now, with its bills all paid, it has subscribers enough to enable it to meet its necessary expenses from month to month. What the character of the paper has been, its readers can judge for themselves. Although our disappointment is great that such should be the untimely end of our enterprise, we are not sorry that it was begun. We feel that the Rising Faith, during the period of its existence, has accomplished good enough to justify its birth. We shall sing no requiem, therefore, and preach no funeral sermon."

We have received "The Folio" for April, containing the following pieces of music: "You'll surely have to guess," song and dance by Charles Weber; "Bob up severely," and "Darling, good night," airs from "Olivette;" "Easter Hymn" by C. G. Stearns; "The Minstrel Boy," song, by Moore; "Dreaming of Angels," reverie angelique, by Charles D. Blake; "Tarentelle Mignonne," by L. Streabbog; "The Music Box," by Emanuel Liebich; also a portrait of F. Roena Miller, a young singer who promises to lead a highly successful career. We have also received from White, Smith & Co., 516 Washington street, Boston, the following songs: "Won't we have a jolly time?" by Jas. A. Bland; "I've got a letter," ballad, by J. Adahm; "The Fauncy Dancers," by Fred Perkins; and "You'll surely have to guess."

AROUND HOME.

The schooner E. A. Creed, belonging to the Laighton Brothers, is getting ready for summer use at the Shoals.

Mr. B. Macauley will appear at Music hall on Tuesday evening as "Uncle Dan'l, deputy sheriff of Jarvis section." Tickets at Preston's.

Auction sale of household goods at H. F. Wendell's store, No. 16 Congress street, this day, commencing at ten o'clock A. M. See advertisement.

Mr. Wm. S. Hazel did not cut his finger with a room-paper-trimming machine on Wednesday, the 13th inst., as reported in the CHRONICLE of the 14th; the person who sent us the statement is simply a petty liar, that is all.

Rev. Alva H. Morrill, for several years pastor of the Christian church at Rye, now professor of Greek in the Christian Biblical Institute at Stanfordville, N. Y., in addition to these duties is also engaged as acting pastor of the Union Tabernacle church, New York city, on 34th street, near 8th Avenue.

Capt. D. C. Rich, of Searsport, Me., who was formerly master of the schooner J. P. Ames, then of this port, has been engaged to take command of the schooner yacht Una. The yacht's crew will consist of the captain, four men, steward and cabin boy. She will be ready for use by the first of June.

The schooner Lucy D., Handy master, was towed down the river on Thursday, and came to anchor to await favorable weather. During the night she was driven ashore on Bell's point, inside of Fort Constitution, but was towed off at high water on Friday by the United States tug Leydon, having apparently sustained no serious damage.

At the annual muster of the New Hampshire National Guard which was held in Manchester during September last, a sum of money was contributed by the officers for the purchase of a prize to be awarded to the best-drilled man in the state. Mr. Edward F. Hickey, orderly sergeant of Co. C of this city, won the prize, but has received no acknowledgement of the fact, and no prize. We are informed that Mr. Hickey and some of his friends have written to the parties who were to make the award, but have received no return from them.

A telegram was received by Hon. M. Eldredge from Chatham, Mass., Friday, stating that on the morning of that day a lot of wreck stuff had been beached in Chatham harbor, among the wreck being a quarter-board having on it the name "John G. Huntington," and a ship's clock which had stopped at twelve o'clock. The schooner John G. Huntington, of 154.70 tons register, was formerly owned by C. L. Brown and others of this city, but was sold to parties in Barnstable, Mass., some time ago. The life-saving crew had gone out to try and find out about the probable disaster, but had not returned at the time the telegram was sent.

One of the large stone tanks for the wood-preserving works now being constructed on Noble's island, is nearly finished, and the other is well under way. These tanks or pits will be sixty feet long, ten feet wide and six feet deep, and will hold 26,000 gallons of the preserving material, a liquid the secret of whose preparation is owned by Mr. Francis of Lowell, Mass. The old plan was to force the preserving material (creosote) into the wood by a powerful pressure; by the new method the wood will be merely steeped in the preparation from twenty-four hours to seven days, according to the size of the timber, sleepers or piles to be preserved. The iron underground tank connected to hold creosote for the old works, will be used as a reservoir for water.

The Easter cards this year are more elaborate than ever before. A large stock of all kinds, from the cheapest to the most expensive, can be found at Montgomery's music and art store, No. 6 Pleasant street.

The contract for furnishing and setting the poles between Exeter and Dover for the Boston & Northern telephone company has been awarded to Edward W. Adams of Exeter; he has already commenced work, and the line is expected to be in operation soon. North Hampton is already connected with Exeter by telephone, and the line is to be extended to Rye beach.

The Eastern railroad earnings for the month of March are about $1500 less than for the corresponding month of 1880. This decrease is attributable solely to the fact that the company only transported a small quantity of ice last month, while a year since this was a very important item in their business, caused by the unusually mild winter. The March earnings this year, as compared with those of the same month last year, independent of the ice traffic, show a very large increase.

THE ARKANSAS TRAVELLER.

On Monday evening next Mr. F. S. Chanfrau will appear at Music hall in his creation of "Kit, the Arkansas traveller," in the racy and spirited drama of the same name, supported by Tayleure's dramatic company. There is no need to describe the play, which is well known, nor to introduce "Kit" and the "two old beats" to the favorable consideration of play-goers. With Mr. Chanfrau in the title role the piece always "draws," and the large audiences are always more than satisfied. Tickets can now be procured at Preston's.

PRESENTATION.

At the regular meeting of the Expressmen's League in Boston on the evening of the 13th inst., Mr. Howard L. Jackson, the genial secretary and treasurer of the organization, and general agent of the office 32 Court square, was the recipient of a costly gift. Representatives of all the leading express companies and concerns were present, with several guests. After Col. Daniel Lovering, Jr., had completed a review of the progress made in the express business in Boston during the past quarter of a century, he alluded to the work accomplished by the league, whose aim, beside self-protection, was to furnish men of intelligence, honesty, and of a high standard of excellence. For the work thus accomplished by the league, which had become a power, much was due to the untiring efforts and zeal of Mr. Jackson, to whom he presented on behalf of the organization and its friends, a solitaire dimond stud. The diamond cost $200. Mr. Jackson was taken completely by surprise, and modestly acquitted himself in a response with a simple and heartfelt "Thank you." Mrs. Jackson was at the same time remembered with a costly bouquet of flowers by the league, which then adjourned to partake of a collation.

The Real Issue in the Senate Struggle.

"It is a pretty hard case," said a democratic senator recently. "The people think we are fighting for a few offices, and the democratic newspapers are abusing us for our obstinacy. The republicans are in the same fix, and some of the republican newspapers are scolding them for the same reason." It is interesting to hear avowed the motives which govern the democrats in the present struggle. Some of these were tersely described by a prominent senator from a southern state in the course of a conversation with a Tribune correspondent a day or two since: "We would not continue this struggle twenty-four hours," he said, "if nothing were involved except the possession of a few offices; but it means more than that. If the Mahone movement in Virginia succeeds, we may as well make up our minds to surrender the political control of half a dozen of the other southern states. Mahone's success will make political rebellion and treason respectable in the south, and Mahones will spring up in North Carolina, in South Carolina, in Georgia, in Alabama, and even in Mississippi. The very existence of the democratic party in some states is at stake in this contest. Disaffected democrats in every southern state are watching the struggle with eager interest, and they will rise in rebellion against party discipline the moment they see the democratic party overthrown in Virginia. It is a hard necessity, but we are forced to begin here on the floor of the Senate the struggle to retain the political control of that state. If Mahone wins in the election next November, Virginia is irretrievably lost to democracy."

The Chinese are Going.

It is reported from Canada that the Chinese employed on the Canada Pacific railway in British Columbia are dying by dozens from a strange disease. The case of the Chinese cook at a place known as Big Tunnel will serve to illustrate the operations of the disease. He sat down, apparently perfectly well, to eat. His feet began to swell. The swelling ran up his legs and body, reaching the vital parts in about ten minutes, causing the abdomen and chest to expand to most unnatural proportions, and he tumbled down dead. All this in less than fifteen minutes from the time the disease attacked his feet. Already more than one hundred have thus been carried off. The condition of things is causing alarm among the whites. In some instances the foremen are reported to have fled, and it would not be strange if the Chinese should be panic stricken. The provincial press wants the government to investigate the disease.

Interesting to Collegians.

A test of the capacity and inclination of American college students and graduates for practical journalism is about to be made by the American, of Philadelphia, which paper offers $1500 in prizes for the best editorials, the best special essays, and the best poems, written by students or college graduates.

There are two sets of prizes—twenty-one in all—offered by the American. One set is for college students only; the second set of prizes is for those who have been graduated from American colleges. The topics are not limited; and all articles unsuccessful in the competition, but which reach the standard adopted by the paper, will be accepted by the editor for publication in it, and be paid for at the regular rates; thus each competitor, if he can do anything at all with his pen, will not lose his labor.

The judges of the editorials and essays will be active journalists of national reputation,—Mr. Noah Brooks of the New York Times, Mr. Walter Allen, of the Boston Advertiser, and Mr. M. Handy, of the Philadelphia Press. The judges of the poems will be gentlemen competent for that duty. Their names will be hereafter announced. For particulars write, enclosing stamp, to "W. R. Balch, Managing Editor of 'The American,' Philadelphia, Pa."

We expect that Mr. Balch will soon be inundated with a sea of editorials which will give the judges a feast of reason such as is seldom (in extent at least) enjoyed.

Southern Hardships.

The Washington correspondent of the Keene Sentinel in a recent letter says:

In the debate on Thursday both of the New Hampshire senators took a leading part, and with marked credit. The southern senators have been so constant and persistent in their assertions of the hardships, privations and exclusions from voting which they suffered under the reconstruction acts, that they seem really to believe there was such an existing state of things at some time—they don't exactly know when. They seemed almost dumb-founded when Senator Blair read to them the liberal and fair provisions for them, of the first efforts at reconstruction. These provided that everybody should vote, that could in 1861, except a very few, (and that they might, on application to the President for the privilege,) who would take the oath of amnesty. This let in all the white rebels, and kept out all the colored people, who could not vote in those states in 1861. The hardship they had to complain of, then, was that they had to swear they would not rebel any more! It was a rich treat to see them squirm as Blair pressed the facts home to them.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Powhatan arrived at Aspinwall on the 4th inst.

The U. S. S. Alaska arrived at Panama on the 5th.

The U. S. S. Quinnebaug arrived at Malaga on the 14th inst., from a cruise.

Rear Admiral Bryson, commanding the United States naval forces on the south Atlantic station, has asked to be relieved of his command, and the navy department will grant his request.

The buffaloes are rapidly passing out of existence, and unless something more is done for their protection, it will not be long before they will become entirely a thing of the past. It is estimated that over 80,000 of these animals were killed in Dakota and Montana, the past winter, for their hides alone.

Don't Be Silly.

Don't let a foolish prejudice against popular medicines stand between you and the health of your wife, child, or baby. It is always right to advertise a blessing. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a blessing. It has saved thousands, and it will help you. If you are sick and miserable, we advise you to spend one dollar for this king of medicines, and then write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., as to how you feel. For troubles of the kidneys, bowels, liver and blood.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopeless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," which she had seen where heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I now am as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and, I assure the public that the "Favorite Remedy" has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the "Favorite Remedy," as I did."

Daily Chronicle.

Bergh.

Humanitarians will read the following incident, which we clip from a New York paper, with especial interest:

One slippery, icy day last winter in New York city a truck team loaded with oak staves coming up the street and another loaded with eight bales of wet cloth, going down toward the North river, became stationary almost opposite each other. Each was drawn by two horses, the street was piled with broken ice from the gutters, and the horses pulled and tugged for ten minutes to move their loads. It was evident to the crowd which gathered around the teams that the horses were unable to draw the loads. Mr. Bergh happened to be passing the corner of Fulton-street and Broadway, and noticing the long line of trucks which were blocked, walked down to investigate the case. He saw the two drivers lashing their horses, and that the horses did their best to start the heavy loads. Stepping up to the man with the staves, who was driving a truck belonging to a prominent down-town firm, he told him to unload some of his stock. The man began to pile the staves out on the sidewalk, and foot-passengers had to dodge them as they passed along the street. He unloaded about one-quarter of the staves, and then started up the street. He reached the corner of Broadway, and the horses were again unable to proceed. Mr. Bergh ordered more of the load to be thrown over, and this time it was reduced to one-half. Then the two horses turned Broadway, and passed with comparative ease. Meantime the truck loaded with eight bales of wet rags was unable to move. Mr. Bergh ordered the driver to unload. He threw two of the bales to the sidewalk, and the work made him pant and blow worse than his horses. "Is that enough?" he asked of the great philanthropist. "No; throw off two more," was the answer; "It will do you good." It will show you how your horses feel." The two more bales reduced the load on the truck by one half, and the horses were then able to move it. This little operation blockaded Fulton-street for three-quarters of an hour. "You see," said Mr. Bergh, "all this business suspends; all this time because men will put a larger load on two horses than four horses ought to draw. I shall get the blame of this. I only wish that the men who loaded these trucks could be harnessed to them, and kept harnessed until they pulled them up that street."

Finding the Soft Side of a Soldier.

A short time after the capture of New Orleans a soldier of the 8th New Hampshire was placed as sentinel before one of the finest houses in the city, which General Butler intended for his headquarters; and his orders were that he should allow nothing to be taken out—nothing to pass through that door. The sentinel was suddenly disturbed in his monotonous pacing to and fro before the door of the mansion, by the appearance of a young girl who, with an air half timid and half coaxing, said:

"Sir, I suppose you will permit me to take these few toys in my apron; surely General Butler has no children who require such things as these."

"Young woman," replied the sentry in a stern, abrupt tone that quite alarmed his petitioner, "my orders are peremptory; not a toy or thing of any kind can pass this door while I am here; but, miss," added the inflexible guardian in quite a different tone, "if there is any such thing as a back door, or a back window, you may take away as many toys as you can find, or whatever else you wish. I have no orders against it, and the more you take the better I'll be pleased, God knows."

The polite hint was adopted, and something more than the toys was probably saved by the young miss for the little ones.

Don't Get Discouraged!

because the doctors say you cannot live. I was troubled with dropsy, and given up to die. But after using Sulphur Bitters for three months, I am well. It is the best medicine for all kidney diseases I ever saw.—Mrs. B——, Bridgeport.

—Labouchere, describing a recent reunion of persons afflicted with æsthetic craze, says one young man sang a song that ended in a wail. When it was finished a young woman, with a laburnum in her hair, said the song was star-like. Then another young man, with an expression like a dog with a tin can tied to his tail, sang something that moved the woman to tears. He finished, and silently handed around a slip upon which the words of his song were printed.

Mr. Patterson Meant What he Said.

I hereby testify that my boy, ten years of age, was taken sick with typhoid fever, followed by congestion of the lungs. Dr. Dyer, an eminent physician of this place, stated that he thought the boy would run down with quick consumption. A Mr. Patterson told me that Coe's Cough Balsam was curing similar cases, and advised us to purchase it. When I carried it home, my wife laughed at me, but I knew that Mr. Patterson meant just what he said, and I determined to try it. Two bottles effectually cured him, so that now he is as tough and healthy as anybody.

LYMAN DORMAN.

Huntington, Conn., Aug. 29, 1866.

—A sanctimonious-looking gentleman entered the church of St. Francis Xavier, in New York, a few days ago during service, and kneeling down, began to move his lips rapidly, as if in prayer. It was subsequently ascertained that he did not invoke the throne of divine grace as fervently as he might have done; but, while pretending to pray, was busily engaged in picking a lady's pocket. He was arrested, and recognized as a professional pick-pocket.

News and Notes.

The Boston Marine Insurance Company, by its last increase of capitol of another half million of dollars paid in cash, is placed in the highest standing as the second largest purely marine insurance company in America. The paid-up capital of the company is now one million dollars, assets over two millions, and a net surplus of over four hundred thousand dollars. The net earnings of this company have averaged, since the commencement of its business, one hundred thousand dollars per annum, less than half of which has been divided among stockholders, the balance being placed to surplus account. Principal offices are at 17 State street, Boston, and 43 Wall street, New York.

A girl named Dimock, seventeen years old, was killed by the cars at Westboro', Mass., Friday.

George Wallace shot James Goodloe at Newport, Ark., last Thursday, mistaking him for a wild turkey in consequence of his having on a red necktie.

Nine men were killed at El Paso, Texas, on the 13th inst., in a fight between Americans and Mexicans about some land.

The census office has issued a bulletin showing the distribution of the population of the United States above sea level. From this bulletin it appears that nearly one-fifth of the inhabitants live below one hundred feet, that is along the immediate seaboard, and in the swampy and alluvial regions of the south; more than two-fifths below five hundred feet; more than three-fourths below one thousand feet, while ninety-seven per cent live below two thousand feet.

Abram Johnson, a native of Vermont, and 108 years old, died a few days ago in Salem, Pa. His father was a soldier in the Revolutionary war, the family then living near Lake Champlain. Mr. Johnson enlisted in the war of 1812 as a private soldier, but was soon made cap ain of a band of Oneida Indians under the command of Gen. Macomb. He married Oneida, the sixteen-years-old daughter of one of the chiefs, who tenderly nursed him through a long illness occasioned by wounds received in the battle of Plattsburg. With his wife he moved to New York city, and went thence to Sussex county, N. J. Mrs. Johnson becoming ill, was taken home to her tribe, where she died and was buried with Indian pomp. Mr. Johnson then returned to Salem town-hip in Pennsylvania, where he ever afterward resided. His only daughter, after she grew up, joined the Oneida Indians and married the son of a chief.

During 1880 there were 170 boiler explosions in the United States, by which 259 persons were killed and 555 wounded. A classification of the boilers made by a trade journal shows that twenty-seven were used in wood working mills, the less equable temperature produced by the burning of wood as compared with coal probably accounting somewhat for the large number. The next most numerous class of exploded boilers numbered nineteen, and were used in paper, flouring, pulp and gris, mills, and elevators. Eighteen exploded boilers were the motors of locomotives and fire engines, fifteen were marine boilers, thirteen were "portables," being used in hoisters, threshers, pile-drivers, cotton-gins, etc., and thirteen were used in iron works. As compared with 1879, there is a large increase in all these figures. In 1879 there were but 182 explo-ions, which killed 208 persons and wounded 230. This fact is traced to the revival of trade, which demanded the new use of idle boilers, and, in many cases, the overworking of others.

Within a month Assistant United States Fish Commissioner Pierce has filed at Washington nearly two hundred applications for the food-carp to be distributed this season by the government. Nearly one-fourth of the applications are from citizens of Philadelphia, who own places near the city. A large number of persons are making elaborate preparations for carp culture in various parts of the country.

The Boston Fish Bureau's report contains a table giving the number of large vessels engaged in the New England codfishery, crews, and quantity of fish caught during the year. The Massachusetts fleet numbered 376 vessels, New Hampshire's fleet fourteen, and Maine's 180; total for New England, 570 vessels, with 6,068 men. The total catch of fish by these vessels foots up 647,426 quintals. It is estimated that the small fishing boats on the coast caught about 300,000 quintals of fish in addition to the above, so that the entire New England catch may be put down at about 1,000,000 quintals, which, at a low valuation, is estimated to be worth $2,500,000.

It is said that Pay Director Cunningham will be appointed paymaster-general of the navy, and chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing, in August next, when Paymaster-General Cutter will be placed on the retired list.

New Hampshire Items.

Thomas M. Huse, a well known resident of Barnstead Centre, died on Sunday, April 10th. He was father of Speaker Huse, of the state House of Representatives, and served with distinction during the war of the rebellion. He was postmaster during the last fifteen years of his life.

The farm buildings owned and occupied by Annie C. James, of Gilford, were destroyed by fire Friday morning. Cause unknown. Loss, $3,600; insured $1,500.

Political.

Mr. Spofford, librarian of Congress, comes to the front with his figures of the presidential vote, and shows 915 pluraliity for Garfield. The Spirit of the Times give Garfield 5,522, and Mr. McPherson's figures are 18,235. The Baltimore Sun and some other democratic papers still insist that Hancock had a plurality.

Secretary Blaine is credited with some very robust and sensible views on office-holding, which the young men of the republican party will indorse heartily, and wish the administration success in carrying out. The secretary is reported as saying that "eight years is long enough for any one to hold an office of honor or profit. If we keep men in office during their natural lifetimes, wherewith will we have to reward the younger generation, who fight our battles and are the life-blood of our organization? Men work for reward, and young men are specially ambitious of recognition; and so far as my influence can bring it about, the young, live men of the party shall receive such recognition under this administration."

A Startling Discovery.

The Richmond, Va., Dispatch contains an account of a remarkable discovery regarding Yorktown. It will be remembered that during the late war the place was occupied by the contending armies, and was for a considerable period the headquarters of several federal commanders. Against one of these a conspiracy is said to have been formed, and the most desperate measures were instituted and well-nigh carried into execution. The entire village was undermined and dynamite explosives with electric attachments were placed at different points, so as to secure the destruction of every living soul in the town. The discovery was a pure accident at the present time. As a northern gentleman was looking at the extremity of Cornwallis' cave he came upon a passage just large enough to admit the body of a man, and, pushing his investigations, found the electric batteries, the dynamite bombs, and all the appurtenances necessary to blow Yorktown out of existence. Of course the bombs are now harmless. That the mines were never exploded is only accounted for by the supposition that their intended victims had departed before the persons who constructed the mines had completed their murderous arrangements. The explosives are now being removed and the mines filled up, so that no danger will be hereafter incurred.

The contents of "Appletons' Journal" for May are as follows: "A Question: a Greak idyl," by Professor Georg Ebers; "On some of Shakespeare's female characters, Desdemona," by Helena Faucit Martin; "Byron," by Matthew Arnold; "Art needlework," by Lady Marian Alford; "Robert Wyeth," a tale; "Madame de Stael;" "King Lear;" "The Metternich Memoirs;" "Keble and Newman," by James Anthony Froude; "A New English poet," by Joel Benton. Editor's Table: "Private Ownership of Land," "The Ladies' Cooperative Dress Association," "Joyousness wanted in Literature." Henry George's "Progress and Poverty," and his argument against the justice of private ownership of land, which has recently attracted so much attention, is subjected to a close analysis by the editor, who makes several good points against the new philosophy. "Notes for Readers" makes a very agreeable department. Appletons' Journal is published monthly, at twenty-five cents per number, or $3.00 per annum. D. Appleton & Co., publishers, New York.

—A scientific person in Switzerland who has written a book on suicide, finds that Protestants seem as yet to kill themselves oftener than Roman Catholics, and the latter still more frequently than Jews, in the countries where the three religions are represented in proportions of any importance.

—Charles Young, of Chicago, had a pretty wife aged only fifteen, who was accustomed to indulge in flirtation with a former suitor. When in a repentant mood she advised her husband to arm himself, as his life was in danger. He procured a pistol, but instead of using it on his rival, shot Mrs. Young.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE is the best and cheapest Hair Dressing—kills dandruff, allays irritation, and promotes a vigorous and healthy growth of the hair. No other compound produces these results.

The superiority of BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market.

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing it before the public; but from the gratifying assurance by a great number of the rare vitalizing and health-renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above-named disease, even though reduced to a very low state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880.

Dear Sir: Allow me to say that I esteem your "Hypophosphites" most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it myself with the most satisfactory results and have introduced it to a large number of my people.

AROUND HOME.

The fishing schooner Julia A. received twelve cod-nets on Saturday.

The schooner Addie & Hattie started off on her second trip to the eastward for lobsters, Saturday.

The annual Easter ball of the St. Mary's Benevolent Association comes off this evening in Franklin hall.

Schooner Margie, Hoyt master, arrived from South Amboy on Sunday with coal to C. E. Walker & Co.

A barkentine from Trapani, loaded with salt for C. Morris Tredick, arrived in the lower harbor on Sunday.

Among the coal freights recently reported is that of a vessel with 260 tons from Richmond for this port, at $1.70 per ton.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons is announced to play in this city on the 26th inst., and the "Widow Bedott" combination on the 27th.

Rockingham county six per cent bonds of 1886, to the amount of $500, were sold at auction in Boston on Saturday at 106, and $500 of 1891 bonds at 109 3-8.

There has been more moving from one house to another this spring than for ten years past. The furniture wagons have been almost constantly employed for a month.

Mr. Wilbur I. Trafton has sold the telephone wires which connected his house and store, to Mr. John Caswell, who will use them in putting up a line from his fish market to his house on Lafayette road.

Four "brickers" with cargoes from the brick-yards at Dover point, viz., the G. W. Raitt, Hattie Lewis, Jennie Howard and D. K. Ham, and the Emily A. Staples with a cargo from Eliot, took advantage of the "slant o' wind" on Saturday to run to Boston.

A despatch from Harwich, Mass., Saturday, says the stern of the schooner John G. Huntington came ashore Friday evening near the life-saving station on Monomoy beach, and that on Saturday morning three bodies were rescued from the surf. A mass of cargo supposed to have come from the schooner was scattered along the beach, and some of it was being saved.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, Barney Macauley will present "Uncle Dan'l: or, a messenger from Jarvis section." The New York Herald speaking of this play, says it "continues to make merriment and tears at the Broadway theatre, and has proved to be one of the most popular plays yet produced at this house. Mr. Macauley is a consummate actor, inasmuch as in his acting he conceals his art."

Mr. Editor: If the Eastern railroad should succeed in destroying the natural advantages of this city, as contemplated by the new street project, the next step may be the grave yard; with many persons this would meet with favor, as it is very manifest that some new policy must be inaugurated on this head in cities, but so many people are very sensitive on this point that it will be necessary to proceed very gently and cautiously. CITIZEN.

The steam tug Naumkeag, Capt. Amee, recently purchased of Salem owners for service on this river, arrived at this port on Saturday. She left Gloucester at seven o'clock Saturday morning, and arrived here at 12:30 o'clock P. M., having stopped in the lower harbor long enough to tow a vessel off one of the Fishing islands. Immediately on arrival she took a lighter across the river to the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, ashore on Pumpkin island ledge.

The schooner Ann, of Boston, bound out, went on the rocks at Fishing islands Saturday morning. She was towed off by the tug Naumkeag, and put alongside the U. S. S. Plymouth. The yellow-fever hulk is of some use, after all.

The schooner E. L. Higgins, Mitchell master, from Calais, Me., loaded with plaster for J. H. Broughton, and a deck-load of sleepers, arrived here on Saturday. Friday night, during the gale and snowstorm, she made breakers off the Western Sisters, but worked off shore, sustaining loss of jib, boat, and a large part of her deck load in so doing.

The steam collier Williamsport, Willetts master, which had just discharged a cargo of coal into the Portsmouth coal-pockets, in getting under weigh for Philadelphia, Saturday forenoon, ran on the ledge off Badger's island point, hitting the rocks a good thump, and sewing several feet forward. The tide being at flood, the big iron kettle soon came off, and proceeded on her voyage apparently unhurt, though her bottom plates must have been rudely scraped.

The schooner Mayor Jones, Cahoon master, one of the two vessels sent out by Valentine Doane, Jr., of this city, on a southern mackereling trip, anchored off Bishop & Clerk's ledge, Vineyard sound, at nine o'clock last Thursday night, and rode out the gale until both cables parted, when sail was made, and on Friday morning at nine o'clock she was run on the flats at Hyannis. The vessel was tight, and in no distress except that her ground tackle was all gone.

The attendance at the several churches on Sunday was very large, and the floral decorations in some of them very beautiful. The music at the Episcopal church was furnished by an excellent choir of twelve voices, and was much admired. Easter sermons were preached in the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches in the forenoon, by their respective pastors, and there was an Easter service for the children at the South Parish in the afternoon, the Sunday school singing the carols.

The schooner Emily A. Staples, Coleman master, which sailed for Boston on Saturday with a load of bricks from Eliot, will after discharging proceed to Phippsburg, Me., where she will load with quartz rock for Malden, Mass., where the quartz will be used in the sand-paper manufactory of Wiggin & Stevens, formerly of Dover. The Emily A. Staples is one of the fastest coasters sailing from the Pi-cataqua river, having on one trip last summer, while deeply laden, made the run from Whalesback to Boston light in five hours and fifty-five minutes.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Anderson master, while coming up the river at high water on Saturday at about noon, ran upon the ledge between Pumpkin island and the navy yard. The steamer Naumkeag towed the schooner Rover's Bride alongside the Hontvet, and the latter's sails, stores and some lumber were taken out, and the lighter towed back to this side of the river. A large part of the Hontvet's iron ballast was thrown over, and the navy yard anchor-boy was secured for use in case of need. The schooner came off the ledge at midnight, and was towed to this city, having sustained the loss of part of her shoe, but apparently no other damage. Her ballast was thrown where it was dry at low water, rendering it easy to recover. The Hontvet had just finished her last trip for this season to Georges, sold her fish in Boston, and came to this port, light, to fit out for the Grand banks.

Saturday morning about ten o'clock, as a two-horse team from Greenland was attempting to turn around on the wharf in the rear of the block owned by Mr. Winchester, near the Spring market, the wagon was backed off the wharf and dragged the horses over with it, the driver going overboard with his team. One of the horses in falling had his neck broken, and the living horse was held under water by the dead one until drowned. The driver was rescued, and the harnesses and wagon were also saved, the latter in a very demoralized condition. The horses were valued at $350, and were owned by Mr. Allan Odell of Greenland, who was driving them at the time of the accident, and seeing the danger endeavored to avert it by using the brake, but without effect. Mr. Odell came to this city to haul a load of bricks from Jones' wharf to Greenland for the use of a church there, giving the services of himself and team; and having made a mistake as to the wharf where the bricks were, was turning around to go to the right place when the mishap occurred.

THE ARKANSAS TRAVELLER.

This evening, at Music hall, our playgoers will have an opportunity of listening to and seeing one of the best comedians now on the American stage—Mr. Frank S. Chanfrau—and in one of the most popular dramas now before the public. The play has been performed during the past ten years upon the stages of all the leading theatres of the United States, and has met with remarkable success. In "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," Mr. Chanfrau has made a decided hit, and well merits the applause of amusement-loving people. He is ably supported by Mrs Chanfrau and a strong company.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

The grand jury reported true bills against the following persons: Samuel Wilson and Annie Wilson, keeping a house of ill fame; Whitfield Chichester, larceny; Harvey Downing, arson; John Taylor, larceny; Edward Lolley, Dennis Sullivan and Fred Fernald, breaking and entering; Emmanuel Charlesworth, selling liquor; John Lyons, stealing a horse, overcoat, saddle, bridle, and gloves, three indictments; William R. Bunker, keeping liquor for sale, two indictments; Charles W. Warren, adultery and bigamy, two indictments. The grand jury failed to indict the following: Charles Churchill, alias Cook, charged with stealing a harness; John Parks, lewdness; Albert Clark, disorderly house; Samuel Lynch and Charles King, tramps; Oscar J. Jenkins, selling lager. Lyons is the man who stole Mr. E. H. Winchester's horse. Lolley, Sullivan and Fernald are the young hoodlums who stole fish from Randall & Caswell. Whitfield Chichester is the ex-marine who stole the clothing of a comrade who had befriended him. Chichester was sentenced to state prison for two years. Two of the fish thieves were sent to jail for six months. The Wilsons, husband and wife, for keeping a house of ill fame, got a similar sentence.

Sioux Indians.

The Sioux are very superstitious, are controlled by their legends in whatever they do, and never embark in an undertaking without first having the assurance that they are in the right. In their way they are a very religious people, cherishing the greatest respect for the rights, both of property and person, of every member of the tribe. The chastity of their women is also noteworthy, and even their mode of warfare is in accordance with the teachings of the Great Spirit. True, they are often accused of great atrocities, but, if history was searched, it would be found that members of the tribe had suffered similar torture and death at the hands of the whites, the circumstances of which had been remembered and retaliated at the first opportunity. The Indian has the utmost reverence for the "Great Spirit," but no belief in the existence of an evil one. They use no profanity, nor anything corresponding to a white man's oath. Their ideas of the hereafter are vague, but impressive nevertheless.

They believe that every act and episode of life below will be repeated in the "happy hunting grounds," even to the minutest details, hence the burial of implements of war and toil with every deceased.

Probably one of the noblest actions in Indian history was the rescue, in 1862, of eight persons—two women and six children—from the Santee camp, at the mouth of Grand river, by Four Bears. The captives were adopted into the tribe, and one, Julia Wright, forced to marry a son of Black Hawk, then a prominent chief. Four Bears procured their liberation partly through purchase (giving four horses,) and partly by strategy, and, after passing through many perils, returned them to their homes. For this noble act Four Bears was promised remuneration by Congress; but the promise has never been fulfilled. During his recent trip to Washington he brought the matter before (then) Secretary Schurz, when assurance was again given that the reward would soon be forthcoming.

The relation existing between members of a family are very peculiar. For instance, brothers and sisters do not fraternize—are very distant—scarcely recognizing each other. Mothers-in-law are also ostracised immediately upon the marriage of their children.

Marriage is nothing more than purchase and sale, negotiated by the nearest friend of both parties, but the relations assumed are considered sacred, and are seldom violated

Never Be Too Sure.

Some people are much too positive, and perhaps the aged err the most in this direction. About five years ago, an old lady living on Huron street missed a ring. No one but herself and the servant-girl occupied the house, so of course suspicion immediately fell on the latter, who was arrested, convicted on the old lady's evidence, and in spite of her protestations of innocence, sent to jail for a short term, the magistrate making the sentence light, as it was her first offence. Time rolled on, and about a year ago the old lady died.

Recently, while the house was undergoing repairs, the mantel-piece was taken down, and there behind the slab in the crevice where it joined the wall was the ring, for the theft of which the girl was punished. This reads like a romance, but it is a solemn fact. The repairs were being made by the owner of the house, who is a carpenter, and it is his father who well recollects the circumstances of the case. Where the unfortunate girl went to after her release from imprisonment is not known, nor can her name be at present ascertained.—Toronto World.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in lieu of a larger one, which is received much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Mrs. Kate Sprague.

Mrs. Kate Sprague, says a Washington correspondent, has changed so much in the past few months that old acquaintances hardly know her. A year ago she was stout and rosy, daring and untamed; now she is very thin, her eyes are sunken, cheek-bones prominent, and her face as white as chalk. She walked into the Senate the other day with the proud poise of the head and the magnificent carriage for which she is noted, and took her seat with haughty grace. She looked neither to the right nor left. All the old gaiety had disappeared; her face settled into thoughtful, pensive lines, broken only by the chatter of her little daughters, the eldest of whom—a little girl of twelve—leaned her head on her mother's shoulder, and played with her mother's cloak buttons. The children are as plain as their mother was beautiful. They are dark little things, with big eyes and turn-up noses, and large mouths. Their mother is blonde, with auburn hair. They seem affectionate and bright, and several times, in answer to their questions, she turned to them and smiled. That the woman has suffered, her haggard face shows. That she will make no sign of distress, those who know her are sure. That she is determined that the public shall see no change in her habits, her coming as of yore into the Senate chamber shows; and her looking over daily papers with the "Sprague divorce suit" in big head-lines was as cool a performance as a woman ever attempted in public, but the wear of her proud heart in this fight shows plainly in the pallid cheeks, in the sunken eyes, in the weary droop of the mouth. There are those who assert that she is dying by inches, and that a few more months will close the life of one of the most noted and beautiful and miserable of the women of America.

Married People Would be Happier.

If home trials were never told to neighbors.

If they kissed and made up after every quarrel.

If they tried to be as agreeable as in courtship days.

If household expenses were proportioned to receipts.

If each would try to be a support and comfort to the other.

If each remembered the other was a human being, not an angel.

If women were as kind to their husbands as they were to their lovers.

If fuel and provisions were laid in during the high tide of summer work.

If both parties remembered that they married for worse as well as for better.

If men were as thoughtful for their wives as they were for their sweethearts.

If there were fewer "please darlings," in public, and more common manners in private.

If there were fewer silks and velvet street costumes and more plain, tidy house-dresses.

If wives and husbands would take some pleasure as they go along and not degenerate into mere toiling machines. Recreation is necessary to keep the heart in its place, and to get along without it is a big mistake.

If men would remember that a woman can't be always smiling who has to cook the dinner, answer the door-bell half a dozen times, and get rid of a neighbor who has dropped in, tend to a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old, gather up the playthings of a four-year-old, tit up the head of a six-year-old on skates, and get an eight-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of sweeping, cleaning, etc. A woman with all this to contend with may claim it as a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man, who during the honeymoon wouldn't let her carry as much as a sunshade.—Saturday Evening Mail.

What He Meant.

Mr. K—, a missionary among a tribe of northern Indians, was wont to set some simple refreshments—fruit and cider—before his converts, when they came from a distance to see him. An old Indian who had no pretensions to being a Christian, desired much to be admitted to the refreshments, and proposed to some of his converted friends to accompany them on their next visit to the missionary. They told him that he must be a Christian first. "What was that?" He must know all about the Bible. When the time came he declared himself prepared, and undertook to journey with them. When arrived he seated himself opposite the missionary, wrapped in his blanket, and looking exceedingly serious. In answer to an inquiry from the missionary, he rolled up his eyes and solemnly uttered the following words with a pause between each: "Adam—Eve—Cain—Noah—Jeremiah—Belzebub—Solomon—"

"What do you mean?" asked the missionary.

"Solomon—Bulzebub—Noah—"

"Stop, stop! What do you mean?"

"I mean—cider!"

who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

—The benefits of the cookery fashion are incalculable already, and if it can be maintained long enough to induce every American woman to obtain a thorough knowledge of at least plain cooking, the average life on this continent will immediately increase ten per cent. Let this fashion of cookery but rage freely enough and long enough, and centenarians will become so numerous that they will no longer fear to tell their age lest they lose their character for veracity.—N. Y. Mail.

"Pinafore" never goes to sea without a good supply of that famous remedy, Adamson's Botanic Balsam, for colds and coughs. Trial bottles, 10 cts.

—A rich and eccentric old Kentuckian named Lew's Hamilton, who was killed by a fall from his horse the other day, is said to have left five children bearing the surprising names of Avenue Belle, a young girl of eighteen, China Figure, another daughter of fourteen, London Judge, a son, aged twenty-one, Hebrew Fashion, a daughter, aged eleven, and Southern Soil, a lad of eight years.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

TO GRATIFY HIS WIFE.

An Interesting Story—A Hopeless Case Cured—A Good Reason for Happiness.

Statement of Mr. Washington Monroe, of Catskill, Green County, New York.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called Gravel. I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said I must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," which she had somewhere heard of or seen advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—to make a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.

Since then I have recommended "Favorite Remedy" to others whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complaints; and, I assure the public that the "Favorite Remedy" has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy," as I did."

The February-born will find

The Cost of It.

If the total cost of sickness simply in its business aspects were reckoned up, it would be found to be great enough in five years to pay the national debt. The merchant has a headache, from a fit of indigestion, and misses a good bargain. The lawyer does the same with a case. To say nothing about doctors' fees, etc., if don't pay to be even a little sick. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a friend of the business man, for it clears his brain. One dollar a bottle. The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, APRIL 19. 1881.

The Pension Office.

Senator Blair has sent us his speech in reference to the wants and defects of the pension office. In regard to Commissioner Bentley, against whom the Washington claim agents have waged war with such concentrated energy, Senator Blair says:

I feel bound to say that I believe the commissioner of pensions is a true, honest, and capable gentleman, and that he has devoted himself to the discharge of the duties of that important and difficult office with an assiduity and with an ability worthy of all praise, and it will be a fortunate administration that is able to appoint as able a successor as he is himself. But let that pass.

The pension office is, in my belief, today unfit to consider evidence. It is simply an organized suspicion, and if I had control of that office I would abolish very largely its personnel, and I would put in there men who were capable of understanding and weighing evidence, and who were capable of coming to a conviction after they had perused it and examined it, which seems to be the difficulty with the men now there.

Every congressman, especially every one who is a lawyer, has had an anoying experience in this respect. The examiners are generally a set of men hanging on the verge of the government, broken-down lawyers and bankrupt traders, with as little capacity to properly weigh evidence as brains to earn a living except in a government office, and these men are the judicial tribunals which pass upon the claims of our soldiers and their heirs. They start upon the presumption that every claim is a fraudulent one. Mr. Bentley's misfortune is that he is unable either to see the kind of administrative aid that surrounds him or he is incapable of controlling the men in his office. It is a notorious fact that when an anonymous charge is made against any pensioner or claimant, the investigation is made—not by local officers who could thoroughly consider the case in all its phases, but the clerk who has had the claim in charge takes a summer excursion at the expense of the government, and as in a recent outrageous case in this neighborhood, confers only with the party who from whatever sinister motive seeks to make the pensioner suffer!

We agree with Senator Blair that "the country should bleed a little in the direction of fraud rather than that the honest claims of a vast number of pensioners should go unheard and unsatisfied."

The reform in this branch of the government is imperatively needed, but when a few changes were made recently in the clerkships of the pension office the entire Barnacle family sent up a wail of protesting despair. There is not much danger, in this respect, of a change for the worse occurring.

News and Notes.

Five bodies from the wrecked schooner John G. Huntington have been recovered by the crew of the life-saving station No. 14, and delivered to the coroner at Harwich, Mass. One has been identified as that of R. H. Ames, but the others are unknown.

The barn, cow-shed and carriage-house belonging to the Newburyport almshouse were burned early Sunday morning by an incendiary fire, with two cows and twenty tons of hay; loss $3000; insurance $2000. At about the same time, or shortly before, the store of Edwin W. Pearson was broken into, and a quantity of butter, oranges and cigars stolen; the burglars tried to get into the safe, but failed. It is supposed that both crimes were committed by a gang of tramps that had been seen around town the evening before.

The governor and council of Massachusetts last week heard petitions in favor of commuting the sentence of Stearns Kendall Abbott, sentenced to die on Friday of this week for the murder of Maria L. Crue at Groton. They decided that the law should take its course.

Two boys aged nine years, one aged eleven and one aged fourteen, were arrested in Lawrence, Mass., Sunday, while ransacking a railroad office, and have confessed to numerous other recent burglaries. Two of them, John Doherty, aged nine, and Matthew Power, aged eleven, though children in years are old thieves.

Nancy Boyle, eighteen years old, has been missing for the past six weeks from her home, near Westport, N. Y., and Friday morning her dead body was found in a school house, six miles from her residence. From the appearance of the body it was evident she had been ravished and killed. There were indications that after the murder the body was carried to the school house and thrown into the building through the window. The young lady was respectable and highly esteemed. There is no clew to the murderer.

Addison Vanderhoof of West Addison, Vt., on the 31st ultimo was suddenly missing from his brother's house, where he had been living. He was forty-five years of age, and a cripple for years, one leg being some inches shorter than its mate; and he had been afflicted for some time with a gradual softening of the brain. His body was discovered on the 10th inst. in an open pasture, in a nude state, and showed signs of decomposition, having been there several days.

While the Jubilee Singers were performing the first act of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Griffin, Ga., Thursday night, the actors were saluted with a shower of spoiled eggs by a number of ruffians in the gallery. Uncle Tom received one on his cheek, and advancing to the footlights, dared the thrower to fight. Eliza was struck on the neck with an egg, and all the actors on the stage were spotted. The performance was closed, and several of the egg-throwers arrested.

There is great excitement in Spain caused by the sentence of eighteen officials accused of frauds in the naval department of Cuba, to penal servitude. Among them are relations of persons of rank at court, and in the higher positions in the mother country.

A new car-seat has been invented, which will give to each ordinary double-seat two sleeping berths, roomy and easily arranged, and with a curtain and comfortable cushion to each. Jay Gould has ordered a lot of them to be put into cars on the roads he controls. He expects to do away with sleeping cars entirely.

Retail dealers and all persons who use dollars will be interested in the announcement that the secretary of the treasury has decided that the smaller notes, from $5 down to $1, will be withdrawn from circulation as fast as they come into the treasury, and the silver dollar also be paid out as rapidly as possible. It is said that it is Mr. Windom's intention to compel people to use silver and gold instead of small bills.

A sad case is that of Leroy Salisbury, one of the victims of Waite's bank, who died at Chesterfield, Vermont, recently. All that he had in the world was $1,200 invested in the bank stock, and his small home place, which he had to mortgage to raise the money to pay the $300 assessment on his stock. He was, at one time, quite wealthy. This final loss has been wearing on his mind, his reason was lost from hopeless discouragement at approaching penury in his old age, while he was unable to do much work, and he had sunk steadily to imbecility up to the time of his death.

The wife of Mr. C. M. Davis of Newfield gave birth to three boys on Tuesday morning, the 12th inst. They are all bright, and the mother as well as could be expected.

Charles Bolter Franklin Clark is the real name of the horse thief who recently stole a team from the Knights Brothers, livery men of North Berwick. He originally came from Bangor. He is an old offender, having served two terms in the Maine state prison under the name of Bolter and one under the name of Clark. He has also served one term in the Massachusetts state prison, all for horse stealing. He has a wife now running a wholesale millinery store in Boston. She has helped him out of numerous difficulties by paying fines, etc., but long since decided to let him scheme himself out of jail as well as into it.

The following fish story comes from South Berwick: "On the 7th inst., as Mr. Barnard Knight was passing along the side of Knight's pond, his attention was attracted to the large number of eels floating quite near the surface of the water and near the shores of the pond. He procured a hook and pole, and in a short time fished out of the water several bushels of eels, horned pouts and other kinds of fish, and could, he thinks, have taken out cartloads of such fish. Of the fish some were dead, others with a sluggish life, and all torpid, with little or no motion. They were in some places piled up in layers, one row over another, and matted together a foot or two in thickness. The shores of the pond seemed to be lined with them, and they were all suffering from some general debility."

The table of contents of the May "International Review" embraces a number of articles of interest and value. The place of honor is accorded to Mr. A. V. Dicey, who writes about England's chief justice, who died last year—Sir Alexander Cockburn. Mme. Z. Ragozin contributes the conclusion of her paper upon "The last trial of Russian nihilists," the first part of which has been so well received and favorably referred to by the press. "Taxation of inter-state commerce" forms the theme for a short essay by Mr. Brooks Adams. Mr. William G. Low writes concerning "The balance of the Geneva award." Another article bearing upon political matters is by Mr. Henry Gannett upon "The alleged census frauds in the south." Mr. W. Fraser Rae discusses "The life and writings of George Eliot," in a manner that will be found to be interesting and instructive, notwithstanding the great amount already written about her. Mr. I. N. Ford writes of the "Constitutional tendencies in France." An article by a bright young Japanese student in America, Mr. K. Mitsukuri, upon "Recent changes in Japan," may be called the novelty of the number, and it will also be found to be a piece of literary work worthy of the pen of men who have not been obliged to learn a foreign language as a preparation. The number is concluded with a short criticism upon some recently published histories of the United States. New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. Five dollars a year; fifty cents a number.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Lackawanna sailed from Callao on the 26th ult., for Samoa, the Sandwich islands and San Francisco. The Adams and Onward were at Callao on the 23d ult.

The U. S. S. Yantic, from Norfolk for Washington, passed Fortress Monroe on Friday evening.

The U. S. S. Powhatan arrived at Key West on the 16th inst., from Aspinwall, bound to Hampton Roads.

—A Deadwood firm of lawyers, in an advertisement headed by a picture of a skull and cross-bones, offer for sale claims against a number of persons, among whom is a deputy sheriff, and a man described as "a professional dead beat and amalgamator." The list is to be "kept standing until paid, and other names will follow if the accounts are not settled."

AROUND HOME.

Rev. Father Murphy of Augusta, Me., is in town, the guest of Rev. Father O'Callaghan of the Catholic church.

Mr. Josiah S. James has hired the dwelling of Mr. Montgomery on State street, and will remove thither May 1st.

The terraces in front of the Rockingham house, the residence of Dr. Parsons and the Lord mansion on State street, have a verdant appearance in keeping with spring.

A subscription paper is being circulated to receive subscriptions for the benefit of Mr. Allan Odell of Greenland, who lost two horses by drowning at the Spring market on Saturday.

B. F. Rackley, R. E. Grand Commander, with the other officers of the Grand Commandry of Knights Templar of New Hampshire, will make their annual visit to De Witt Clinton Commandry on Monday evening, May 16th.

The barkentine Lucile, of St. John, N. B., Jennison master, which arrived in the lower harbor on Sunday, was towed up to the wharf on Monday by the tugs Ann and Mystic. She has on board seven hundred tons of Trapani salt for Mr. C. Morris Tredick.

The Boston Traveller of Monday says "The officials of the Eastern railroad have sent a favorable answer to the committee of the Salem city council relative to the removal of their repair shops to that city. The change, however, will not, President Phillips says, be made this year."

Oliver Haddock, brakeman on freight train No. 100 on the Eastern railroad, had his thumb badly jammed on Monday evening at the depot, while coupling cars. An accident policy in the Travellers' company would be a good thing for Mr. Haddock to have in the house just now. Morse & Ilsley furnish them.

The steamer Allentown, Swasey master, arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on Sunday from Philadelphia, with 1660 tons of coal for the coal-pockets; and the schooner Spartel, Hallowell master, arrived there on the same day from Perth Amboy with two hundred tons of pig iron, to go over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad to Manchester for the Locomotive Works there.

At the regular meeting of the directors of the National Mechanics & Traders' bank on Monday, John Laighton, Esq., was unanimously elected cashier of the bank. Mr. Laighton is a thorough business man, a good accountant, a man of sterling integrity, and will make an excellent bank officer. We understand he will accept the position, and at once enter upon the discharge of its duties.

It is rumored in well-informed circles that Mr. John D. Swain, late of this city, and not many many months ago appointed to the position of superintendent of the Nashua Iron and Steel Works, has been bounced, the removal to go into effect on June first.—Times.

Our enterprising contemporary has been badly sold this time, since we learn from an authentic source that there is not the least foundation for any such "rumor." Mr. Swain's relations with the officers of the company are of the most satisfactory character. The shops of the company are run day and night to their full capacity. Mr. Swain is considered by all good judges to be the right man in the right place, and since his connection with the company there has been such an economy in the result that the managers are able to appreciate a man who could afford to resign a position upon the navy yard, and not be found deteriorated by such service.

Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, rector of St. John's church, received as an Easter gift from his friends in the parish a purse containing over $170.

The announcement of the appearance at Music hall on Friday evening next of Mr. Charles L. Davis as "Alvin Joslin," may be found in another column.

Surgeon Thos. W. Leach, U. S. N., now stationed at the navy yard, upon being relieved this week by Surgeon C. J. Cleborne will be assigned to special duty in this city.

Mrs. Nellie Hodgdon of this city has during the past year, beside performing her general house work, finished a quilt containing seven thousand five hundred pieces.

Governor Plaisted of Maine has appointed Hiram Hanson and Charles B. Harmon special constables for York county, under the provisions of the constabulary act of 1881.

The Biddeford Times reports that cotton is being received at the Eastern railroad station in that city at the rate of from ten to fifteen car loads per day. It began to be received some time in March, although May is generally considered the great cotton month.

The schooner George L. Treadwell, formerly of this port, but twice wrecked since she last sailed from here, arrived at Baltimore on the 14th inst. after a passage of twenty days from Baracoa, during which she lost her flying jib and carried away her head gear.

The schooner Adeliza, of 184 tons register, double-decked and coppered, built at East Machias, Me., in 1867, has recently been purchased of New York owners by Geo. T. Vaughan and others of this city, and Capt. Charles W. Frisbee of Kittery Point, who will command her. She will be employed in the general freighting business.

On Saturday, in making repairs on the aqueduct pipe leading into the store of John H. Wells & Son on Market street, the workmen came to a piece of masonry, about five feet from the surface and nearly in the centre of the street, which was supposed to be the foundation of a chimney built years ago, indicating that at some time the street must have been very narrow at that front.

Equal Rights Lodge of Good Templars, of Dover, on Friday evening of last week entertained delegations from the lodges in South Berwick, Rochester, this city and other places, a fine collation being served in American hall, after which there were musical and literary exercises, at which speeches were made by Mr. Charles S. Dodge of this city, Mrs. Gerrish, wife of Dr. Gerrish of South Berwick, and others.

Mr. Daniel F. Collins, a young printer of this city, has entered for the go-as-you-please race to be held at Dover on the 19th and 20th, to commence at eight o'clock this (Tuesday) evening and continue twenty-seven hours. Collins does not expect to win a prize, but wishes to try his endurance with some of the young amateurs who are in the race. Quite a large delegation from this city intend to visit Dover to witness the contest.

Mr. Langdon M. Perkins, of No. 40 South street, has a seasonable advertisement in our paper to-day. There may not be any great call for ice just yet, though there probably will be by-and-bye, when Mr. Perkins will be pleased to take your order, and to fill it on short notice, whether you want ten pounds of solid coldness or ten tons; but the time is at hand for having your garden plowed, and Mr. Perkins is ready to attend to this duty, using the utmost care to avoid injuring trees and bushes. He also does general teaming, and keeps pressed hay and pigs on sale all the time.

The high school base-ball nine played a game at Newcastle on Fast day with a local nine, and won by a score of forty-five to thirty. On Saturday last a nine from the grammar school taught by Mr. Stimson played a friendly game with the Newcastle club on the latter's grounds, and though the smallest player in Newcastle's nine was bigger than the biggest one of the Portsmouth boys, the latter won, the score at the finish standing forty-five to thirty-eight in favor of the schoolboys. The sturdy islanders knocked the ball all about whenever they hit it, but their superiority of muscle was not sufficient to overbalance the skill of the youngsters.

"UNCLE DAN'L."

This evening, at Music hall, Mr. B. Macauley will appear as "Uncle Dan'l" in E. A. Locke's comedy "A messenger from Jarvis section." The entertainment was presented at Portland last week, and the Advertiser calls it "a good thing." It says:

The plot is rather absurd, turning upon the unsupposable circumstance of the money for which a man was murdered being concealed in the neighborhood, and there remaining until one of the malefactors to save himself reveals its hiding-place. A foot-pad who knew his business would have taken the plunder with him. The major consideration, however, is Mr. Macauley's sketch, an honest, bluff, genial, generous countryman of bachelor habits, middle age and herculean frame, who is supposed to exercise the office of deputy sheriff in some interior town in York county, Maine, and who goes to Boston on an errand of benevolence, and meets with numerous adventures among city blacklegs, from which his native shrewdness, strength and courage rescues him. It is a remarkably good assumption. The honors of the evening were divided between Mr. Macauley, and Miss Ida Glenn as "Clip." Clip is a waif whom Uncle Dan'l finds in a sailor boarding house, and adopts. Miss Ida is not more than fifteen, but promises to be a second Lotta if she keeps on. Her pretty face and graceful, vivacious manner as the slangy Clip quite captivated the audience, The remainder of the support was very good.

The Boston Journal says "from beginning to end the play holds undivided attention, its many strong points creating unbounded enthusiasm." The New York Herald calls it "one of the most popular plays yet produced." Tickets can be had at Preston's. See advertisement.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The annual parish meeting of St. John's church was held on Monday, and officers elected as follows:

Wardens—John Hatch and David B. Macomb;

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Apr. 18.—Batchelder, J.

Joseph Morrison, just at liberty after an imprisonment for theft, was before the court for drunkenness. He promised to clear out of the state if allowed, and the judge thinking the room of a drunken thief better than his company, permitted him to depart.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

MONDAY, April 18th.

The first case to be tried on the criminal docket was State vs. James Taylor, otherwise called James Moulton, charged with breaking and entering the dwelling house of James Goodwin (the Kearsarge house), at Portsmouth and stealing therefrom one overcoat of the value of thirty dollars, the property of one Hanscom. The evidence offered by the government proved that on the 25th of December last, shortly after six o'clock in the evening, the Kearsarge house was entered and three overcoats were taken from a rack where they were hanging in the entry, near the dining room on the second floor. The owners of the coats were at the time in the dining room enjoying their Christmas dinner. The loss of the coats was discovered shortly after they were taken, and an alarm was immediately given. Assistant Marshal Gray went to the Eastern depot and there found the defendant enjoying the warmth of Hanscom's coat. Taylor was arrested and bound over to this court. These facts were established by the testimony of the owner of the coat, the clerk of the hotel, two police offices and a man who assisted in making the arrest. The theory of the defence as set forth by Taylor, who took the stand in his own behalf, was that he was standing in the Eastern depot shortly before the arrival of the officers, and a man whom he did not know gave him the coat and he accepted it as a Christmas present, and thought no one had a right to deprive him of it after he had thus acquired the title, he therefore resisted the attempts of the officers to deprive him of the garment. The court charged that if the jury was not satisfied on the evidence that the defendant broke and entered the house, that they might find him guilty of larceny if the evidence was sufficient to support that beyond reasonable doubt. After short deliberation the jury returned a verdict of guilty of larceny, and the defendant was subsequently sentenced to the state prison at hard labor for three years. G. C. Bartlett for state; A. O. Fuller for defendant.

The next case was State vs. Fred Gay of Sandown, indicted for an aggravated assault; on trial.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

While the fire-boat Flanders, of the Boston fire department, was passing through the draw of a bridge after having been to a fire in East Boston, Friday morning, one of the crew, Mr. Thomas J. Tobey, was caught between the steamer's house and some part of the draw, and so badly crushed that he died at about four o'clock the same day. Mr. Tobey belonged in Kittery, his former home having been at the Point, but for years past he has lived in Boston; he had been a member of the Boston fire department for about seven years, and was one of the first men appointed to the fire-boat. Services in Boston took place on Saturday, the arrangements being in charge of Ex-Chief Damrell of the Boston fire department, and were attended by the captain and crew of the fire-boat, several of the fire commissioners and district engineers of the city, and many other members of the department. The pastor of the Ruggles street Baptist church officiated, and a choir from the same church sang appropriate selections. Prominent among the floral offerings, which were numerous and beautiful, were an anchor with a representation of a fire-boat beneath, from the crew of the Flanders, and a broken column from the firemen of the third fire-district. The body, in charge of the captain of the Flanders, Capt. Frost of Engine Co. No. 25, and two detailed firemen, was brought to this city on Monday afternoon, arriving by the 11:15 o'clock train, and taken to Kittery Point for interment. The funeral will take place to-day, and will be attended by a delegation of Odd Fellows from this city, Mr. Tobey having formerly belonged to a lodge here. He leaves a wife and one child.

Conceit Can Kill or Cure.

Mr. Murrell tells this story: "An old woman came to my office suffering from rheumatism in one knee. The knee was actually swollen, and she had been complaining for some time, and on this particular morning it happened that some brown corrugated paper was lying on my table which I had removed from some specimens of maltine and pepsin that had been sent to me for trial. She asked me what kind of plasters those were. I told her they were patent Chinese corrugated rheumatic plasters that had been sent to me for trial, and if she wanted to try one of them she might. She concluded to do so. Next day she came back, and when I asked her how she was, she expressed herself as being a great deal better. She had been able to walk upstairs, the swelling was gone, and she declared it drew so hard in the night that she had to take it off."

Surprised at the Returns.

Mr. C. A. Evans, a poor but honest citizen of Omaha, Neb., is the loving father of a large family of children. His wife is a strong, healthy woman, about thirty-five years old. On the 5th inst. Mr. Evans returned from work all unconscious that fortune had smiled upon him to an alarming extent. He was met at the door by the family doctor, who informed him that at noon his spouse had presented him with twins. Mr. Evans interrupted the doctor with the remark that "misfortunes never come singly." The doctor proceeded to tell him that, some time after the birth of the twins, Mrs. Evans was delivered of two more children, making a quartet of two girls and two boys. At this announcement Mr. Evans felt his breath rapidly depart, and it was with great difficulty that he could inquire "Whether the returns were all in?" The children were all born alive, were well formed, and their average weight was three and one-half pounds. Mr. Evans has written to the census bureau for a medal.

—One of the speakers at a recent meeting of "journeymen brewers" of New York to urge a reduction of hours of labor, said: "Formerly journeymen brewers were allowed to drink as much of their employers' beer as they wished, but now they are limited to eighteen glasses each per day."

—Americans are of a practical nature. When an Illinois farmer, who had got rich, was visiting Switzerland, they dilated to him on the beauty of the surrounding scenery. "Yes," he replied, "as scenery it's very good. But it strikes me the Lord has wasted a lot of space on scenery that might have been made good level farming land." They wanted to lynch him.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

The James brothers, notorious Missouri bank robbers and desperadoes, have been discovered by the United States marshals near Adairville, Ky. The ruffians and their friends are strongly fortified, and threaten a desperate resistance.

Don't Be Silly.

Don't let a foolish prejudice against popular medicines stand between you and the health of your wife, child, or baby. It is always right to advertise a blessing. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a blessing. It has saved thousands, and it will help you. If you are sick and miserable, we advise you to spend one dollar for this king of medicines, and then write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., as to how you feel. For troubles of the kidneys, bowels, liver and blood.

Posey Drew, the keeper of a negro dance house in Richmond, Va., was fatally stabbed Saturday night, because he refused to sell liquor to two white boys.

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."—Salem Post.

In a test case in Milwaukee, Wis., Saturday, to determine the legality of the celebrated anti-treating law of Wisconsin, it was found that the law was inoperative because of an error in the text in its supposed enactment.

THE REASON WHY.—Mr. Fellows, in his "Medical Monthly," gives reasons for the peculiar action of his Hypophosphites in the cure of diseases, which seem to be borne out by facts. From tonic action of the sympathetic nerves all the organic muscles are strengthened, and the patient overcomes his malady simply, pleasantly and rapidly.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FAVORITE REMEDY

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' add found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Elopements.

The nineteen-years-old daughter of George Richards eloped from New Bedford several weeks ago with Albert Youlden. The girl's parents on the 18th inst. found the runaways at the house of Youlden's brother in Brockton, Mass., where they were visiting as a married couple. Finally Youlden confessed that no ceremony had been performed, and the girl was persuaded by her parents to return to New Bedford with them.

East Corinth, Me., has been thrown into great excitement by the absconding of a citizen with his step-daughter. The man took all the money he could hire, and went off to parts unknown with two good horses, an express wagon and a good supply of provisions. He left two children by a former wife, and one by the present wife whom he has just deserted. It is said he has another wife and child living somewhere in the west.

Chicago has an elopement case, in which the enamored pair, being hindered in their departure by the woman's husband, gave him a dreadful whipping and threw him of a window.

A man eloped at Cayuga, N. Y., and with some difficulty induced a clergyman to marry him to his companion. On the following day he came with another girl, and wanted to be united to her. He has since been sent to an insane asylum.

A runaway couple at Litchfield, Minn., walked twenty-five miles before they found a qualified person who would perform the ceremony.

The white, highly-educated wife of a rich man at Amboy, Ill., has eloped with a handsome mulatto servant of about half her own age.

An eloping couple at What Cheer, Wis., being caught in a severe storm, broke into a church for lodging, and were fined $20.

W. J. Marden, a member of the North Carolina legislature, has eloped with the wife of J. A. Johnson of Woodville, N. C. The woman is quite young and pretty, and carried off a lot her husband's money. Her paramour is forty years old.

Two tramps who had for five weeks been working for two men named Davis, father and son, on the St. Francis river, Tenn., a week ago ran off with the wives of the Davises while the husbands were absent, the fugitives going down the river on a flatboat. The younger Davis followed them on a steamer, and seeing them camped on the river bank induced the captain of the steamer to slow down, and then shot dead the man who took away his wife. The other three escaped.

—There has been a great deal of bad feeling between two Galveston families, hence there was much surprise when they intermarried. A friend, in speaking to the father of the bride, asked if the families had made friends. "Not a bit of it. I hate every bone in my son-in-law's body." "Why did you let him marry your daughter, then?" "To get even with him. I guess you don't know that girl's mother as well as I do."

who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

The training ship Constitution sailed from the Delaware for Brooklyn a week ago, but had not arrived at her destination on the evening of the 18th. No fear was expressed at Brooklyn for her safety, however, as she is a sailing vessel, and considered staunch.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more for me than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Disraeli Dead.

Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, died in London at five o'clock Tuesday morning, at the age of seventy-five years, three months and eighteen days. He was one of the most remarkable men England ever produced, having risen to be twice prime minister, and several times chancellor of the exchequer, solely by his own abilities, having neither "family" nor wealth to aid him, his parents having been Jews in moderate circumstances. An American writer refers to one phase of Disraeli's conduct as follows:

In one statesmanlike quality, no American, at least, ought to underestimate Disraeli's abilities. Whatever his motive, he almost alone of English statesmen of either party, favored the cause of the north in our civil war, and steadily, even at the darkest periods, predicted its final triumph. When Gladstone was eulogizing Jefferson Davis, and declaring that he had made "an independent nation;" when Sir John Ramsden was exultingly boasting that "the republican bubble had burst;" when Palmerston was plotting with the Emperor Napoleon, with a view to a recognition of the southern confederacy; when Lord John Russell was asserting that the war was one for empire on one side, and independence on the other; when Lords Derby and Cranbourne (the latter now Marquis of Salisbury) were hotly declaiming against the arrogance of the north in attempting to preserve the Union, Benjamin Disraeli saw the right, and foresaw the victor. The friendly feeling he displayed toward us throughout the war found most eloquent expression in noble speech, when the assassination of Lincoln thrilled Europe as well as America with its dreadful shock.

"Ned Buntline" in Trouble.

Stamford, N. Y., is in great excitement over the appearance there of a woman who calls herself "Mrs. Lavanche L. Judson," and claims to be the legally wedded wife of Col. E. C. Z. Judson, known all over the Union as "Ned Buntline." In 1871 Colonel Judson was married in Stamford to Miss Anna Fuller, of a respectable family, with whom he is now living. "Lavanche L. Judson" had with her a marriage certificate, and also numerous letters from Colonel Judson, in which he acknowledges her as his wife. It is understood, however, that he denies that she is his wife. With her she had several legal documents from Judges Barrett and Donahoe, of New York city, which appeared to substantiate her assertions respecting Judson's marriage with her.

British Prophets of Twenty Years Ago.

Twenty years ago this month the Edinburgh Review contained an article upon the election of President Lincoln, and the inevitable results to follow. The writer considered the dissolution of the Union certain, and he was not prepared to say that the progress of mankind and rational liberty would not thereby be advanced. He predicted that there would be a bloody war, of very short duration, after which the two nations would feel "a greater respect for their neighbors." In time, too, there would arise a western confederacy, and possibly still other centres for the wandering stars of the Union would be sought. This "gigantic dissolution of partnership" would cause one serious difficulty, namely, the equitable distribution of the unoccupied lands of the west. In this event, the seer continued, England would doubtless prove an admirable umpire.

An article giving the views of the Review writer at the present time regarding the results of Lincoln's election, and the "dissolution of partnership" between the states which was its "inevitable result," would be quite interesting by way of comparison. But he was not alone among Englishmen in his views on American affairs at that time, for his tone was that of the British press generally; and not a few on this side of the water feared that what so many of the British hoped, would come to pass. As prophets they were not a success, and must be classed with the bogus Mother Shipton, Vennor, and (according to some people's notions) the present Old Probs.

News and Notes.

The Collateral Loan Co., of Boston, announces its 42nd semi-annual sale of unredeemed articles, to begin April 26th. This will be a rare chance to purchase fine goods.

Jerome Wilson, brother of Dr. R. B. Wilson of New York, and of Henry Wilson, proprietor of the Honesdale (Pa.) Citizen, left Carbondale, Pa., on the 17th of April, 1867, and nothing was heard of him until his return to Carbondale on the 17th inst., fourteen years after his disappearance. He was given up as dead years ago, but his wife believed him to be living, and remained true. Wilson went his years among the Indians in the wilds of Texas, and has made a fortune.

The mushroom factory of William Conway, Hoboken, N. J., was burned on Friday. Glad of it.

A man was killed and another wounded in a street fight at Dodge City, Kansas, Sunday. The mayor and sheriff finally appeared with shot-guns, and quelled the disturbance.

Benjamin H. Rose, the wealthiest farmer in Pike county, Pa., was thrown from a horse on Sunday and had his neck broken.

Mrs. Nutt, living near Camden, Ark., while in a fit of insanity last Saturday killed five of her children by throwing them into a well. The eldest was twelve years old, and the youngest eleven months.

The Eastern telegraph company, of which Hon. Frederick Robie is president, intends to build from Portland to Boston. The capital is half a million.

Mr. J. W. Black of Searsport, Me., says that thirteen letters containing money have been stolen from the mails between Searsport and Boston since Jan. 1st.

A colored man, seventy years old, who lived with John Moses at Forestville, Conn., disappeared March 17th. His body was found the other day in the woods. He was partially demented, and probably died of exposure.

More than thirty years ago, George Barker, then a young man, suddenly and mysteriously left his home in Sudbury, Mass. Some years afterward a lot of human bones were unearthed near a house in Sudbury, and for years many people have supposed they were those of Barker, whom they thought had been murdered. The missing man has just returned to Sudbury, and is searching for his aged mother, three sisters and a brother, who reside in the vicinity of Boston.

Mrs. Harriet Small died in Newburyport on Monday, at the age of eighty-three years. About a year ago she dislocated a hip and broke a wrist by a fall, and had never fully recovered. In 1819 she gave birth to four children at one time; she was also the mother of two pairs of twins, and six children at single births, making fourteen in all, of whom four are now living. She was a sister of Benjamin and Tristram Lunt, formerly well known pilots of Newburyport.

Rev. Phillips Brooks, D. D., has declined the invitation to succeed Rev. Dr. Peabody as professor of Christian morals at Harvard university. His decision was communicated to the overseers of the college on Monday, and it was received with great regret. The rector of Trinity, in deciding to remain in Boston, has been governed by reasons entirely his own. The correspondence between him and the college overseers has been informal, and the letter of declination entered into no discussion of the motives influencing his action.

Several leading farmers of Terrant county, Texas, have filed application for a charter incorporating a company which proposes to build a $100,000 cotton factory in that county.

Officials at Fort Scott, Kan., are searching for C. C. Nelson, alleged to have absconded from the Osage Mission with a large amount of funds.

The revenue steamers Grant, Hamilton and Colfax have been dispatched in search of the missing ships Hattonburn and David Stewart.

Daniel Hagerty, a drunken printer of Boston, on Tuesday shot his sister, Mrs. Catherine Cochran, through the body, inflicting a fatal wound. The murderer also fired two shots at his two nephews, but did not hit them. He was arrested.

The Illinois Southern Hospital for the Insane, at Anna, was partially burned on Tuesday. One insane man was burned to death.

In a qurrrel at Ennis, Texas, Sunday, a showman named Campbell was killed and two others seriously wounded.

John Errerdo, a trapeze performer at Jersey City, N. J., while rehearsing on Monday fell a distance of thirty feet, breaking both legs.

The assassination on Sunday night is reported of Motson Mellon, aged seventy-five years, at his home in Marion county, Ga. A young man named O. P. Jones has been arrested on suspicion.

J. Cummings and G. Grinneg have been arrested at Watertown, N. Y., on the charge of poisoning Louis Jarvis by inducing him to drink from a dinner pail, from the effects of which Jarvis died on Monday.

"Chip" Smith, a rough of Birmingham, Conn., who killed the town chief of police in December last while resisting arrest, has been convicted of murder.

A negro confined in jail at Quincy, Ga., charged with the assassination of a white man, was hanged by a mob on Sunday.

A council of Congregational ministers has been called to consider the case of Rev. S. L. B. Speare of Bangor, Me., whose radical prohibitory course has divided his congregation. It is charged that the minister has been packing church meetings to get them to endorse his course, and this has led to the trouble.

A vessel in frame at Kennebunkport, commenced by Chas. H. Thompson for a centre-board schooner of one hundred and twenty-seven tons, was sold by auction on the 15th inst. to Capt. Bradford Oakes, for $1,010.

The policy of the conductors of "Scribner's Monthly" in having a number of short novels to accompany their historical serial of "Peter the Great" has proved a fortunate one. The publication of "Peter the Great" has materially increased the circulation of the magazine, and has resulted in a large sale of back numbers and volumes, and the printing of these bright novelettes has appealed to even a wider constituency, and has been an excellent balance to the heavier material of the history. Of those already published, Mrs. Schayer's "Tiger-Lily" at once established her reputation as a writer of capital short stories, while nothing of Mrs. Burnett's yet issued has been more widely read and enjoyed than "A Fair Barbarian." In May begins Mr. Cable's "Madame Delphine." The announcement that Mr. Howells will contribute a novelette, to begin in the June Scribner, with the taking title of "A Fearful Responsibility," has been received with not a little satisfaction by his large constituency of readers. Later there will be printed a short serial by H. H. Boyesen, and another by the author of "An Earnest Trifler," whose long silence since her first success augurs well for the new story. It is expected that these last two will begin in the "Midsummer" Scribner.

Attempting Too Much.

A countryman unused to city ways, and not having a very clear idea of railroading, has been stopping in this city for a few days. He concluded to start for home yesterday morning on the northward bound express, and came to the conclusion that he would not spend his strength by travelling to the depot, but would jump on as the train was passing the Middle street crossing. Everybody who is familiar with the trains know that the express attains a high rate of speed at the point mentioned, and no one but a lunatic would think of jumping aboard of it there. The countryman was foolhardy enough to attempt it, however, and it was a fortunate matter for him that he made the attempt on the end of the last car, for otherwise he would have been ground beneath the wheels. As it was, the moment he grasped the car-rail he was jerked from his feet and straightened out like a whip-lash, and being forced to let go his hold he was slammed against the fence and tumbled over the rails like a mere foot-ball. The fellow weighs about 170 pounds, and it would be preposterous to say that he was unhurt after such a circus, the wonder being that he was not killed. He picked himself up, and it took some time for him to find out if he was all there, but finally concluding that there was enough left of him to feel hurt, he returned to his stopping place with his flesh bruised, torn and bleeding, and in all probability will board the train at the depot next time.—Manchester Mirror.

A Realization of Great Expectations.

In the large steam sugar refinery of Messrs. McKean, Newhall & Borie, on Church Alley, in Philadelphia, has worked for many a day a middle aged laborer, popular with his comrades, and generally well liked, one William J. Haw, who invested one dollar regularly in a half ticket of the Louisiana State Lottery, enclosing the money to M. A. Dauphin, No. 319 Broadway, New York City, N. Y., or to the same person at New Orleans, La. He realized last month and got half of the 2d capital prize of $10,000. Who will be the next to be saved from want?

AROUND HOME.

An important meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., have appointed committees and are perfecting arrangements for a grand celebration of the 37th anniversary of the organization of their lodge, May 24th.

Dr. S. C. Whittier has been appointed by the New Hampshire Medical Association a delegate to the convention of the American Medical Association to be holden at Richmond, Va., May 3d to the 6th, inclusive.

Davenport Council, No. 5, Royal and Select masters, will confer degrees upon half a dozen candidates on the evening of the 27th inst. Delegations of companions from Dover, Exeter and Epping are expected to be present.

Mr. M. P. Tobey of Kittery Point will shortly canvass this city for subscriptions to the Revised New Testament, to be issued early in May by Hubbard & Brothers of Boston. Mr. Tobey is a young man of good repute, and worthy of a courteous hearing.

Mr. William Ward will on the first of May admit his two sons, Thomas A. Ward and Jas. G. Ward, into partnership with him. A large sign was erected on the Market street store, Tuesday, bearing the words "William Ward & Sons, Distillers and wholesale liquor dealers."

At Music hall, next Sunday evening, the Dunbar Sisters will hold a Spiritual seance; they advertise to give manifestations never before seen, and that Miss Ada Dunbar will walk a distance of twenty-five feet in the air. Tickets can be procured at Preston's from now until Friday evening.

Mr. C. Morris Tredick, at Commercial wharf, had built a brow upon which to receive the salt discharged from the barkentine Lucile. The brow is over one hundred and fifty feet long, and upon this the salt barrows carry the cargo as it comes from the vessel, to the top of the stores. This saves much handling of the salt.

The Boston papers, and our neighbor the Times, in reporting the arrival at this port of the schooner E. L. Higgins, say that during the gale and snowstorm of Friday night she "made breakers off the Western Sisters, Isle of Shoals." The Western Sisters were located close to the mouth of this harbor the last time we saw them.

Osgood Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., is one of the most flourishing lodges of the the order in the city. The affairs of the institution are in the hands of the younger members, and the rapidly increasing membership—initiations every week—shows that the administration is in good hands. The sociables of this lodge every Thursday evening are very popular and largely attended.

The Newburyport Herald claims for the Cushing Guard of that city the honor of having been "the first company in the country to assemble in answer to Lincoln's call for troops," they having mustered at their armory at seven o'clock in the morning on the 16th of April, 1861, while the Sutton Light Infantry of Marblehead, which was the first company to appear on Boston common in answer to the President's call and the summons of the state's governor, did not muster until eight o'clock. The Herald gives the names of the members of the Guard who assembled on that eventful morning, with a record of their later services, and the present residences of the survivors, among the latter being the names of Charles M. Green and Thomas E. Lang of this city, and John M. Ewin of Newmarket.

Parties at Kittery Point are negotiating for the purchase of the schooner Ev. Nichols.

Rev. Eugene M. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Mary's (Catholic) church, received an Easter present of nearly $500 from his parishioners.

The members of St. George Council, A. L. of H., will celebrate the second anniversary of their organization May 23d, by a supper at the Rockingham house.

The Portsmouth Branch of the Land League will meet in upper Franklin hall, Thursday, April 21st, at eight o'clock P. M. Ladies are cordially invited to attend.

The Kearsarge mills corporation are to fit up a building for a residence for Mrs. Greenwood, widow of James Greenwood, who lost his life when the mill was burned.

Alfred Stavers, at No. 53 Congress street, (Franklin buildings,) is giving away a card 5 1-2 by 7 1 2 inches in size with every cake of toilet soap purchased in his store. The soap is of very fine quality, and cheap.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, arrived at this port on Tuesday from Bangor with a cargo of lumber for John H. Broughton, and the schooner Hattie M. Mayo, Robinson master, from Calais with a cargo for A. A. Fernald.

The scraping up and carting off of the rubbish and filth which has been accumulating in the streets during the winter, is now being actively carried on by the city workmen. When this job is done, it would not be a bad idea to make the rounds of the shade trees throughout the city, and lop off a few of the most aggressive of the ragged-looking limbs.

George Rand, about twelve years of age, son of Thomas Rand, was on Tuesday afternoon climbing over the roof of a building in course of removal near the site of the Kearsarge mill, when he fell through the hole where the chimney had been, and was very badly bruised and shaken up. It is feared that he also sustained internal injuries, though no bones were broken.

Martin A. Haynes, Department Commander G. A. R. of the state of New Hampshire, in his announcement of staff officers and aides-de-camp for this department has named Past Commander George E. Hodgdon of this city as his chief of staff. This is a well deserved compliment to Storer post, and will be appreciated by the comrades accordingly. Comrade Hodgdon's active interest in the post since its re-organization has done much to give it the high standing which it has taken in the department.

A SULKY PLOW.

A plow with the above title suggests that with a newly-patented attachment which may be applied to any common, old-fashioned plow, the farmer's boy can go into the field with a pair of horses, and mounting a seat similar to that of a mowing-machine, may ride all day and plow in that comfortable manner, with no assistance, more ground than can the man who holds his plow and has a driver besides. We saw two of these sulky plows in operation a few days since, and the sight made us wish that those "attachments" had been invented thirty years ago; which might have strengthened somewhat our attachment for farm work. Then a boy had to mope along all day by the side of oxen, waving a huge goad over their backs, as they slowly dragged the heavy plow and its manager through the long "bouts." Now the farmer not only rides his plow, but his harrow, his mowing machine, his hay rake, hay tedder, field roller, reaper and many other farming implements, thus not only greatly relieving him of the drudgery of farm life, but facilitating all work connected therewith.

"ALVIN JOSLIN."

Mr. Charles L. Davis will appear at Music hall on Friday evening as "Alvin Joslin," the New England farmer. The Peoria Democrat says:

The comedy is irresistibly funny, and Charles L. Davis as "Alvin Joslin" immense beyond description. He is a whole show in himself, and his company gave him the most able support. From the time the curtain rolled up at the introduction until it went down for the last time the audience was kept in a state of continual merriment. The company advertised to give 180 laughs in 180 minutes, and they did that and more too. Many of those who witnessed the performance say that it was the most entertaining and amusing that has been given here for many months, and we are more than half inclined to believe that they are right in their opinion.

The Advertiser, of London, Ont., says "Mr. Davis is certainly one of the best 'old man actors' on the stage. We never heard more uproarious shouts of laughter or saw an audience kept in such good humor as on this occasion. The other characters were fairly well taken, and altogether the entertainment was very enjoyable."

Tickets now on sale at Preston's.

RYE, April 18th.

There is not as much building going on in town this spring as there has been in some previous years, but nevertheless, the sound of the saw and hammer is heard in various parts of the parish. In the west district, Charles D. Garland, Frank Philbrick and George H. Brown have each put additions to their barns, and Rufus Garland is to build a carriage house. Mr. Robert Horne, of the cable staff, is to put up a barn, on the old Garland estate.

In the south district James H. Perkins is putting up a house, on the street leading from his residence to Jenness' beach. Mr. T. Goldthorpe, and H. E. Philbrick each have cottages partly constructed, not far from the site of the old Ocean house. The building formerly used as a billiard hall, when the Ocean house was in existence, has been remodelled and made larger. B. A. Kimball of Concord is to put up a cottage at Straw's point, on the site of one burned a few years since. Additional buildings are also going up at the Farragut house; and Hon. E. B. Philbrick is putting up a blacksmith shop on Ocean street. D. M. Foss is putting up a stable at the Prospect house. Mr. Knox, at the Ocean Wave house, has already built a laundry, and is to put up a building for billiards and bowling. Mr. John F. Locke is building a house on Brackett's road, so-called; Mr. John S. Remick, on the same road, is making preparations towards putting up a new barn. On the road leading from Rye Centre to Straw's point, there are three houses advertised for sale, and on Thursday, May 5th, an auction sale is announced of building lots on land belonging to Mr. Richard Jenness, situated nearly opposite the Sea View house.

The meeting in the school house at the south district, held on Monday evening, the 11th inst., resulted in the triumph of those who desired a new one-story brick house. It was voted by a decided majority to build such a school-house, and to utilize the material of the old one. A committee consisting of Horace Sawyer, Rufus W. Philbrick and Richard P. Goss was chosen to take the matter in charge, and report at an adjourned meeting to be held in two weeks. Three thousand dollars is the sum named by some as being about what the new house can be erected for.

Miss Elizada M. Goss of this town is to teach the Centre school the summer term, and Miss Eliza Sherburne of Wolfeborough the east school.

Union services were held Fast day at the Christian church.

Rev. J. W. Kingsbury is to remain as pastor of the Congregational church another year. The church is to have a new carpet, the ladies having voted to use the money now in the treasury of the Martha Washington society for that purpose. There was a very tasty display of plants and flowers at the Congregational church on Easter Sunday; and a Sunday school concert at the same place on the evening of that day drew an audience that filled the house.

The selectmen made their annual rounds, commencing the 1st of April, in search of live stock and vehicles subject to taxation; but for some reason no blank inventories have been distributed here this year, although a notice was put up by the selectmen that they would be in session on the 18th inst., to receive inventories and hear what any person might have to offer on the subject of their taxes. As it is pretty generally understood that said "blank inventories" have been, as it were, entirely ignored by the officials and a portion of the tax-payers in this community, it remains to be seen, considering this fact, whether the next legislature will permit such a dead-letter law to remain on the statute books!

It is well enough to keep the doors locked and the windows fastened down, when asleep or away from home; and don't wait until the horse is stolen before locking the barn door. Sometime during Saturday night some person walked into Mr. Oren Drake's meat-house, and walked away with some five dollars' worth of prime beef; he intends to put a lock on that door now so that any one trying that little game again will find the meat a little harder to get. NAT.

Poisoned by Eating Beans.

Must New England's favorite dish of baked beans come into disrepute? An investigation into the family poisoning case at Kingston, N. Y., after eating of the above, shows that the trouble instead of being in the pork was caused by the beans, they being infested with small black insects. The bean which is thus infested presents on its surface a faint, black spot, underneath which one or more of the insects may be found. Persons who have eaten such have been taken violently sick with vomiting, accompanied by general weakness and prostration, which continues for a few days only.

A Woman's Whims.

The Empress Josephine had 600,000 francs for personal expenses, but this sum was not sufficient, and her debts increased to an appalling degree. Notwithstanding the riches of her husband, she could never submit to either order or etiquette in her private life.

She rose at nine o'clock. Her toilet consumed much time, and she lavished unwearied efforts on the preservation and embellishment of her person. She changed her linen three times a day, and never wore any stockings that were not new. Huge baskets were brought to her containing different dresses, shawls and hats. From these she selected her costume for the day. She possessed between three and four hundred shawls, and always wore one in the morning, which she draped about her shoulders with unequalled grace. She purchased all that were brought to her, no matter at what price.

The evening toilet was as careful as that of the morning—then she appeared with flowers, pearls, or precious stones in her hair. The smallest assembly was always an occasion for her to order a new costume, in spite of the hoards of dresses in the various palaces. Bonaparte was irritated by these expenditures; he would fly into a passion, and his wife would weep and promise to be more prudent; after which she would go on in the same way.

It is almost incredible that this passion for dress should never have exhausted itself. After the divorce she arrayed herself with the same care, even when she saw no one. She died covered with ribbons and pale rose-colored satin.

Mother Shipton's Prophecy.

The ideas of some people on the subject of Mother Shipton's prophecy are indeed wonderful. One evening last week an amateur musical entertainment was given in the hall of the Albert Institute, at Windsor, and in the course of the performance an amusing song called, "What Will it Be?" was introduced into the programme. The song details the experiences of a family who believed in Mother Shipton. It was received with general applause, one gentleman only hissing loudly. On being asked why he hissed, he replied that he considered it blasphemous to make a song from a prophecy in the Bible.—London Truth.

—"James," said a motherly woman to a young man whose first sermon she had heard, "James, why did you enter the ministry?" "I had a call from the Lord," said the young man; and then came the reply, "But are you sure it wasn't some other noise that you heard?"

While at work repairing a bridge on the Montreal railroad at East Concord, on Sunday, forty men were swept off the bridge by the swinging around of a large timber, and fell a distance of fifteen feet to the track beneath. Four were considerably injured.

Nahum Robinson has resigned the position of deputy warden at the New Hampshire state prison, and Thomas A. Pillsbury, who was a deputy under John C. Pillsbury, has been appointed to the place.

On Friday night two barns belonging to Daniel McQuesten at Litchfield were destroyed by an incendiary fire, together with 10,000 feet of boards, a quantity of hay, mowing machine, and farming tools. The loss is about $1000, the insurance $200. This is the sixth incendiary fire in that neighborhood within a few months.

The farm house owned by John Lewis, at West Claremont, was burned on Sunday. Most of the household goods were saved. Loss $1,000; no insurance.

Rev. A. A. Waite, the "artist evangelist, chalk talker and Spiritualistic exposer," advertised to deliver a lecture in Phenix hall, Concord, on Sunday night, but the authorities refused to grant him a license, and the meeting was postponed till Monday night.

Ex-Gov. Frederick Smyth has offered the following prizes to the students of the Agricultural College: First and second prizes of $25 and $15 respectively, to the seniors, for the best essays on subjects connected with agriculture, or the mechanic arts; first and second prizes of $25 and $15 respectively, for excellence in elocution, open to both the senior and middle classes; first and second prizes of $12 and $8, to the junior class, for reading. Sandford E. Emery of Portsmouth is one of the students selected to compete.

In the supreme court at Lancaster, last week, the jury failed to agree upon a verdict in the case of John Morrison vs. the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, which was on trial for several days, and were discharged after being out about twenty-four hours.

During the war John M. Fitts and eight other citizens of Dorchester paid about $10,000 for substitutes to avoid a draft. Afterward the town voted to refund this money, and it was paid over. This action it was claimed was illegal, and in 1879 suits were brought to recover the money, but the suits were dismissed, the nine parties helping to carry the measure by means of their own votes. The question went up, and the supreme court has just decided that their interest in the matter did not disqualify them from voting, and ordered the suits dismissed. A bill in equity now being tried involves the same matters as the suits at law did, but is carried on in the name and at the expense of individuals instead of the town, though the recovery, if any, will be for the benefit of the town. The feeling of the town has been, and is, very bitter. The defendants and their friends now have a small majority of the votes. An injunction is sought in the equity suits against the settling of the suits at law.

The 25th annual examination of the state reform school will take place on Tuesday, April 26th.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' and found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Daily Chronicle.

Astrology and Planetary Phenomena.

The astrologers have centered all their malific predictions upon 1881. They do not, like Mother Shipton, draw their conclusions from the singular combination of figures which make up the number or title of the year, but from the approaching conjunction of the planets Jupiter and Saturn. This event takes place once in about twenty years, and is ordinarily altogether harmless, but it is not so when the conjunction occurs in the sign of Taurus. It is in this sign that the two planets meet this year, an occurrence which has not happened since 1146. That was the year of the second crusade, when 20,000 men were slain in the conflicts between the Christians and Turks; it was also a year of desolation, anarchy and civil war in Ireland, Asia Minor and other countries which, according to astrology, are ruled by the sign Taurus.

Zadkiel's almanac, one of the two which have been issued in London for fifty years, and together boast an annual sale of 300,000 copies, is full of gloomy predictions of events about to occur. Wars, earthquakes and pestilence are to be the fate of countries ruled by the unlucky Taurus. The planets will meet exactly over Cabul, which city is to be shaken by an earthquake. Great Britain's navy will have some hard battles to fight, for Mars is in the seventh house and opposite to Uranus. The eastern question will plunge Europe into bloody and desolating conflict, and Persia is also to be involved in war. Insanity, epidemic cholera and failure of crops are to follow this succession of wars and earthquakes. But the horoscope of the English queen being favorable, the wars of her empire will result in making her government more secure and extending its possessions.

The United States, fortunately, is not under the influence of the malignant Taurus, and hence she is to be favored with a rising revenue. There will be, however, an eclipse on the 27th of May, which is to bring fevers and malignant fevers to Utah, and overthrow Mormon ascendency. Our country, therefore, may be set down as almost the only one which will profit rather than suffer by the conjunction. There were evil predictions for Russia, but the time has past. Her evil star rose with the commencement of spring, when the planet Mars rushed through her ruling sign. The Czar was to encounter great danger on the 6th of March, and when it is remembered that his assassination took place just a week later, it must be admitted that astrology came about as near the truth as the average of Vennor's more scientific weather predictions. As for the ruling sovereigns of Europe, their prospects are decidedly uncomfortable. The malevolent influences will not cease with the conjunction on the 22d instant, for the planets will keep near each other, and whenever they meet the result will be full of calamity and misery.

But astrology is an exploded science, and those phophets who cling to it are playing upon the credulity and superstition of ignorant humanity for their own profit. It is a most convenient and useful agency for such a purpose, superior even to the phenomena of spiritualism, for it was reduced to a perfect system before Copernicus made those wonderful discoveries which have linked his name with those of the greatest scholars of the world. Since that time astrology has ceased to be a reliance of kings and princes, or a terror of mankind. Jupiter and Saturn may have their conjunctions, but a planet like the former, which could absorb in its huge bulk thirteen hundred such worlds as this, has more important business than dealing out wrath to even the nations of a planet so insignificant by comparison. As for the predictions, it was easy to foresee danger to the Czar, by any one who understood the growing strength of the nihilist organization and remembered the frequent attempts upon his life. The physical effects of such a conjunction of planets as is about to take place is a subject, however, in which astronomers are interested, for there is little doubt that atmospheric disturbances are possible from such a cause, as their combined attraction is expected to act upon the sun, which in turn acts upon the earth. What the operation of natural laws may effect, astronomy will be ready to account for, but the astrologer lives only to excite the wonder of the ignorant and to be laughed at by those who know that the earth is a very small speck in a univere of countless worlds and solar systems.

The Cost of It.

If the total cost of sickness simply in its business aspects were reckoned up, it would be found to be great enough in five years to pay the national debt. The merchant has a headache, from a fit of indigestion, and misses a good bargain. The lawyer does the same with a case. To say nothing about doctors' fees, etc., it don't pay to be even a little sick. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a friend of the business man, for it clears his brain. One dollar a bottle. Rondout, N. Y.

—A Philadelphia society is wrestling with the question, "When a man has his life insured for $100,000, is his wife justified in refusing to prepare a mustard plaster for him when he is seized with a sudden and severe attack of the cramps?"

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

—As the girls have taken to wearing Gainsborough hats, gentlemen should adopt the Rubens style of thing. It is large, flappy, and can be furled in a gale of wind; besides, it looks so deuced noble and æsthetic.

It is no longer an idle dream or boasting to affirm that Fellows' Hypophosphites, wherein are united nature's forces, will strengthen man and make his life not only endurable, but sparkling with rude and joyous health. Fellows' Hypophosphites supplies the ingredients which constitute healthy blood, and imparts the elements which give vitality.

—"Who is it?" asks an old operator in Wall street, through the columns of the Graphic, "that supports every one of the two thousand ruddy-faced and round-bellied stockbrokers, furnishes their brown stone fronts in velvet and ebony, their tables with wine and silver, their wives, daughters—aye, and mistresses, too—in silks and diamonds and laces?" Then he answers his own question: "It is the lamb, the meek-eyed, confiding and innocent lamb." Reader, think twice before you become a lamb for these wolves to prey on.

Colonel McDaniel, the celebrated proprietor of Stony Brook Stud Farm, Princeton, N. J., says "I hardly think too much can be said in praise of this invaluable medicine for the horse (Liebig Co.'s Arnicated Extract of Witch Hazel). I should advise all horsemen to keep it constantly on hand." It quickly cures over strain, wounds, inflammations and most of the commoner ailments of the horse. Also cures crown scab, poll evil, injury from pressure of the girth, rheumatism, harness galls, inflamed tendinous sheaths, etc. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York. Sold in 50 cents and dollar sizes. Reduced rates by the half gallon and gallon. Beware of worthless imitations.

—"Queen's hair," "stifled sighs," "indiscreet murmurs," "rain desires," "heavy eyes" and "needless regrets" are the singular names of some of the new colors in Paris this spring. By another year we may expect milliners and dressmakers to add to their absurd terminology such other titles as "emperor's whisker," "subdued yawns," "ill-advised complaints," "unsatisfied cravings," "frost-bitten noses" and "unavailing cryings over spilled milk." These latter are certainly as sensible and chromatically suggestive as the others.

News and Notes.

Stearns Kendall Abbott has been respited until Thursday, June 23d, so he will not hang to-day.

Rev. E. W. Gilliam of Raleigh, N. C., late the Protestant Episcopal minister at Clinton, N. C., announces that he has become a Roman Catholic.

Saturday night, April 16th, Jim Devine, alias Jones, an escaped convict from California, was lynched near Las Vegas, Mexico, for an attempt to murder a railroad hand.

A dispatch from Fort Buford, Dakota territory, states that 135 Indians from Sitting Bull's camp had arrived and surrendered their arms and ponies.

A discrepancy of $7,000,000 between the books of the comptroller and those of the register of arrears, has been discovered in Brooklyn.

A Tuscon despatch says persons just arrived from El Paso express the opinion that the object of the Mexican authorities in sending troops, is to check ruffianly elements gathered there as accompaniments of the railroad construction, not to oppose the building of the road, and that it would be proper for the United States to take similar measures to preserve order.

Michael Quinn was shot and fatally wounded at Troy, N. Y., Tuesday night, the 19th inst., by James Reynolds, a police officer. A crowd of roughs assaulted Reynolds and his two brothers. John Reynolds was also dangerously wounded by a pistol ball. John Mackey and a man named Stapleton were also fatally shot. One or two others were wounded. The riot was caused by trouble which grew out of last fall's election.

The prospectus of a new steam navigation company which expects to make a revolution in ocean travel has been issued in London. The company proposes to have a capital of $12,500,000, and to build at the outset five steamers, with great regard for safety and speed, and little for carrying capacity. The steamers are to run from New York to Milford Haven, in Wales, in seven days, and to carry only first class passengers and light freight.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London News writes as follows: "The czar recently presided at a council of ministers, at which the proposition of Gen. Melikoff, confirmed by the late czar, for convoking a committee of selected representatives for the consideration of state questions, was discussed. The result was that nine members of the council were in favor of the proposal, and five against it. The emperor then announced that he agreed with the majority, and the minister of the interior would draw up the necessary ukase."

Work has been resumed on the Washington monument. The height of the shaft is now 176 feet from the base, and 200 from the general level of the earth.

Two young girls, Carrie Rand and Ida Kenlston, pupils of the school kept in the city hall at Chelsea, Mass., were on the night of the 18th inst. locked in by the mistake of their teacher, who had detained them to review a lesson, and remained there until late at night, when they were released by the police, who entered the building to ascertain the meaning of a gaslight which the girls had turned on before crying themselves to sleep.

Edward F. Shumway, a well-to-do farmer living in Windham, Conn., committed suicide on the 19th inst. by shooting himself through the heart with a double-barrelled shotgun. He was a widower, forty-two years old, and was to have been married in a few days.

Robert Thom of Haverhill, Mass., who had been missing for thirty years, came home the other day and kicked over the tombstone erected to his memory by loving friends.

Advices have been received at Gloucester, Mass., that the owners of the dory "Little Western"—George R. Thomas and Fred P. Norman—which left that port for a trip across the Atlantic, June 12th, 1880, intend attempting the feat of returning in their dory, and will leave England on the 1st of May.

Edward O'Donnell and Thomas Coleman, alleged to be the Fenians who attempted to blow up the Mansion House in London, were in Fall River, Mass., on the 17th inst., and in Providence, R. I., on the 18th. They give accounts of their adventures, and then take up collections for the skirmishing fund. These patriots are death on collections.

John Barry was found insensible in a pit in Lawrence, Mass., on the 18th inst., bleeding profusely from two large wounds on his head. He was robbed of all the money he possessed and thrown into the pit by a man named Maurice F. Durgin, he says, with whom he had been drinking. Durgin has been arrested.

Five prisoners escaped from the jail in Lawrence, Mass., on the 19th inst., by sawing off the bars of the work-shop window. Among them is the burglar Kennedy, who was serving a three years' sentence. The police are on their tracks. Their names are John Doherty, Patrick Fox, Charles Wilby, Frank S. Bryant and John Kennedy.

The secret service bureau has received information that a counterfeit $20 gold piece has appeared in San Francisco. It is said to be made principally of base metal, but is very heavily plated with gold, and resists the acid tests. It is not as heavy and has not the ring of the genuine coin.

President Garfield has sent the following nominations to the Senate: General James Longstreet, now minister to Turkey, to be United States marshal for Georgia; Philip H. Emerson, to be associate justice of the supreme court of Utah.

Mr. Luther F. Hurd, the bible agent who was kicked to death by the landlord of the Grape hotel at Lancaster, Pa., belonged in Sanford, Me.

The picker building connected with No. 4 mill on the York corporation at Saco took fire in the second story shortly after noon on the 19th inst., and did damage to the amount of $5000 before it was extinguished.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

The "Atlantic Monthly." The May number, the first under the editorship of Mr. Aldrich, has appeared. The opening essay, "Some personal reminiscences of Carlyle," by Henry James Denier, is decidedly interesting. The "Martyrdom of an Empire," by E. H. House, for several years a resident in Japan, shows how Mr. John Bull pushes things as a commercial traveller. The "Story of an old southern burough" gives us a sketch of life in the southern states. Maj. Poor takes us through the Fillmore administration, and makes a bad blunder in mixing Sydney Webster, Ex-President Pierce's private secretary, with Fletcher Webster, the son of Daniel, a mistake which any careful proof reader ought to have seen and corrected. J. Brander Matthews contributes an excellent article on "Eugene Scribe." Richard Grant White prints a letter from an English purist critic, and then shows up the critic's errors and ignorance. "Lawn Planting for Winter Effect," by Samuel Parsons, Jr., will find many readers. The fresh installments of Henry James, Jr.'s "Portrait of a Lady," and Miss Phelps' "Friends," well sustain the high interest which previous chapters of these serial stories have excited. Mr. Whittier contributes a characteristic poem, "Rabbi Ishmael;" Mr. Trowbridge has three excellent sonnets; and Edith Thomas tells in smooth verse the tale of "Demeter's Search." Reviews of new books, including the "Head of Medusa" and a careful running description of all the books of the month, and a variety of bright things in the Contributor's Club, complete a capital number of the Atlantic. Houghton, Mifflin, & Co., Boston.

It is of course somewhat premature to estimate Mr. Aldrich's capacities as an editor from a single issue, but the May number is an excellent production, and the new editor has made a happy opening of what, we hope, will prove a successful career in this department, as in his former literary labors.

The Funny Little Kiwi-Kiwi.

In a little compartment of the ostrich-house resided the principal object of our visit, that quaintest and most uncanny of birds, the apteryx or kiwi-kiwi, which was long thought by naturalists to be a mythical creature. It never comes out at all but at night, and even then, on this occasion, it had perceived our approach and taken up its usual piece of concealment among the straw. It is a round little nondescript with a long, curved beak, no tail, the merest rudiment of wings, which are not visible through the plumage, and large, powerful feet, with which it kicks in a very formidable manner, while it can, by striking them on the ground, make a tremendous noise quite disproportionate to its size. It lives chiefly on worms, and having its nostrils set at the very tip of the beak can pry them out in its nocturnal rambles without the aid of eyes. Having discovered the whereabouts of a worm, it is said to entice them to the surface by stamping on the ground; we cannot vouch for this as a fact, and must confess that if we were a worm we should be anything but allured by such a burglarious clatter overhead. The most curious circumstance, perhaps, about the apteryx is its egg, which is nearly as large as the parent bird, and is one-fourth of its weight. Several have been laid in the gardens of the society by the present specimen, thus setting at rest all doubt upon the subject. It is a native of New Zealand, where it is now becoming very rare.—Saturday Review.

AROUND HOME.

Parties are dredging for oysters in Great bay.

The Rockingham Shoe Factory at the Creek has started up again.

"Alvin Joslin" is the most humorous play ever produced in the west.—Davenport Gazette.

A salute of minute guns was fired from the navy yard on Wednesday, in honor of the late Rear Admiral Lardner, U. S. N.

The vacancy in the board of supervisors at Hampton, caused by the death of Uri Lamprey, has been filled by the choice of Charles M. Lamprey, Esq.

A base-ball nine of pupils of the Haven school played a game at Newcastle on the 20th inst. with the local club, and won by a score of twenty to nineteen.

The humorous delineation of a Yankee farmer, by Mr. C. L. Davis, stamps him an actor of great merit, and with a facial expression beyond anything ever witnessed in this city.—Boston Journal.

The Portsmouth Branch of the Land League will meet in upper Franklin hall, Thursday, April 21st, at eight o'clock P. M. Ladies are cordially invited to attend.

Quite a little stir was made around the fish wharves on Wednesday afternoon by the arrival of a fleet of small fishing boats having a total of about twenty-five thousand pounds of fish, mostly haddock.

The Piscataqua Association of Congregational Ministers met in Exeter on the 19th inst., with Rev. T. V. Haines of North Hampton as moderator. The exercises were as follows: Christian experience, Rev. D. S. Hibbard; exegesis, Rev. George W. Christie; sermon, Rev. A. J. Quick; essay, Rev. Swift Byington; review, Rev. Edward Robie, D. D.

We are informed that the operators who have so long and to such general satisfaction conducted the Western Union telegraph business in this city, are to be superceded, owing to the consolidation of that company and the Atlantic & Pacific line. Miss Nutter it is reported will accept a position at Haverhill, Mass., tendered her by the consolidated corporation.

Mr. Barney Macauley, as "Uncle Dan'l" in "A messenger from Jarvis section," on Tuesday evening of this week gave one of the best entertainments furnished in Music hall this season. Not a few of those who attended considered Mr. Macauley's "Uncle Dan'l" fully equal to Den. Thompson's "Joshua Whitcomb" as a piece of character acting, while the play itself was acknowledged by about every one to be far superior. The young girl who took the part of "Clip" became a favorite, and the whole performance was received with marked expressions of favor.

The horse stolen from Mr. Winchester's stable some months ago by John Lyons, recently indicted by the grand jury at Exeter for that and other thefts, has been heard of. The thief it seems sold the animal to the brewing company in New York with which Mr. Arthur Harris, formerly of this city, is connected, the purchasers of course having no idea that the horse was stolen. The seller gave a pedigree of the animal which would have rejoiced the heart of the most distinguished horse-fancier. Steps have been taken to regain the animal; whether after the great expenditure of time and money in this case, the person who is accused of improperly taking the horse is to be considered for having furnished the desired information, is of course a matter for the court to determine.

Steamer Louis Irving was inspected on Wednesday.

"Alvin Joslin" is the greatest success we have ever seen.—Kokoma Dispatch.

Mr. Alonzo K. W. Green has a brahma hen which recently laid an egg weighing five and one-half ounces.

The dwelling house of Charles H. Drown, at Wells, was burned on the night of the 19th inst. Loss $800; insured $600.

The schooner Laura Robinson came off the marine railway at Kittery on Tuesday, the 19th inst. The Mary S. Hontvet went on the ways on Wednesday.

Capt. Jesse Frisbee and others, of Kittery Point, have purchased the schooner Ev. Nickols, of 24.15 tons register, and will continue her in the fishing business.

The steamer Fearless broke her propeller on Tuesday of this week by hitting a rock at Kittery point, but repaired damages in time to take her regular trips next day.

The Messina (migratory) quails which were liberated in the vicinity of Saco last year by the Fish & Game Protective society of York county, have made their appearance in that neighborhood this spring.

The tug steamer Naumkeag went up to South Newmarket on the 20th inst. to have some slight repairs made. She is a powerful boat, and under the management of Capt. Amee appears to be a handy one.

Messrs. Oxford & Johnston, No. 43 Middle street, advertise for sale sand for building purposes, loam for gardens, cellar-stone, etc. Also that plowing, harrowing, general teaming, gardening and turfing will be promptly done on application.

We hope every family or person who can do so will subscribe this year for one of the new directories, as the work will contain many interesting facts, besides a full list of names, map, etc., and the enterprising publishers deserve encouragement.

The salt water in the well at the Eastern railroad depot was found to be on the surface, and came in through an old drain which ran down towards the dock. Workmen were employed in stopping the flow of the salt water, and putting in a larger suction pipe for the new pump, on Wednesday.

James Brown and Luke Russell, of South Berwick, each lost a valuable horse recently. The horses were kept in the same stable, were taken sick at the same time, and died within an hour of each other. Suspicion was entertained of poisoning, but examination indicated death from congestion of the lungs.

Mr. James B. Trefethen has removed from this city to Manchester to take the position of foreman in the blacksmith shop of the Amoskeag Locomotive Works. Mr. Trefethen is well known as a practical mechanic, and in entering upon his new field of labor carries with him the good will and best wishes of all who know him.

Rev. I. Luce has formulated charges against Rev. O. M. Cousens, formerly of Kennebunk, which will be presented to the coming Methodist conference in Portland. There are half a dozen or more specifications, charging him with defaming the Methodist church by stating in public that every member of his church is a "cider guzzler," etc. The wife of Rev. O. M. Cousens a short time ago secured a divorce from him on the ground of extreme cruelty.

A very useful improvement in arranging the couplings of air brakes between passenger cars is used on the Eastern railroad. The end of the short air-pipe is bent under the platform of the car, and instead of a bent nipple a straight one is used, which is much easier to attach, and it can be done with less danger of crossing the screw threads. This method is not only more convenient, but it is cheaper than the usual practice, as a common cast iron nipple can be used instead of the bent one made of composition. The bending of the wire to bind the hose on the nipple, can be done in a lathe instead of by hand. The improvement was devised by Mr. B. L. Morrill, the machine-shop foreman.—Newburyport Herald.

"ALVIN JOSLIN."

To-morrow evening, in Music hall, the comedy of "Alvin Joslin" will be performed. Of this play, and how it is presented, the Chicago Times says:

The quaint but good-natured character of the New England farmer finds several representatives upon the contemporary stage, and among them the "Alvin Joslin" of Mr. Charles L. Davis deserves a reputable place. There is much fun in it that is amusing and not a little that is original. The audiences have been well pleased with the humor and eccentricity of the character and constant laughter has been the well-earned reward of the comedian.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Apr. 20; Batchelder, J.

Patrick Shea, Henry Quinn and John Morrison, three boys, were brought before the court on a charge of malicious mischief, they having been engaged in defacing fences with charcoal. They were pretty effectually scared on learning that their "fun" was sufficient to send them to jail, and were allowed to go on probation.

Barlow Jameson, an officer of the barkentine Lucile, for an assault on Albert Willis, one of the crew, was fined $2, the costs amounting to $9.18.

Naval Affairs.

The practice ship Constitution arrived at Piney Point, below Washington, on the 19th inst., after a long and rough passage from Lesque island, during which she sustained some slight injury. The Alliance arrived off Piney Point on the 16th, having had a rough passage from Key West, and lost several sails. The Vandalia, Kearsarge and Alliance were on the 18th anchored between Alexandria and Washington. The Tennessee was anchored off Piney Point on the 18th, and the Yantic at Lynn Haven bay, the latter awaiting the arrival of the Constitution. This gathering of men-of-war at the capital was owing to the unveiling of the Farragut statue.

Passed Assistant Engineer James Butterworth has been detached from the navy yard at Portsmouth, and ordered to the U. S. S. Adams, on the Pacific station.

Chaplain Richard Hayward has reported his return home, having been detached from the U. S. S. Richmond, Dec. 23d, and has been placed on waiting orders.

New Hampshire Items.

English papers assert that Lady Blanche Murphy, who recently died in North Conway, did not elope with her husband, as has been stated, but her father was present at the wedding and gave her away, and wanted to help her in her new life. This she always refused, however.

Stephen Hadley's house, barn, and most of their contents, near Enfield village, were burned on the 19th inst.; insured $500 in the New Hampshire company.

The farm buildings of John A. Batchelder in Candia were burned April 18th. A lot of hay and most of the furniture were destroyed. Loss $2,000; partially insured. Cause, a defective chimney.

Cornish pigs have a throat trouble, which has resulted fatally in numerous instances. It commences in the glands of the throat.

Alonzo Marshall of Washington lost a horse on the 6th inst., by his running against a stake with such force as to penetrate the lung.

A Unity Frenchman arose the other morning, built a fire, hung a pair of overalls and pants on a chair to dry, and went back to bed for a nap. When he next got up he found his clothes had taken fire and burned up, together with his wallet containing $5 in money, and the chair, and had burned a hole in the floor.

—A man built a house worth ten thousand dollars at Andover, Mass., without spending a dollar. He bought all the material on six months' credit and at the end of that time refused to pay. All the stuff was fast in the house, which he had sold to his wife. The labor was obtained on the same plan, and even the widow who boarded the workmen was swindled. The man lives placidly in his fine residence, but is not greatly loved by his neighbors.—N. Y. Sun.

—When Frank Bush and the girl of his choice married at Clarion, Ohio, they agreed that if any quarrel ever arose between them it should be left to the decision of three referees, then selected by both parties to the contract. Mrs. Bush lately visited her mother, and refused to return home. The case was fully presented to the referees, who decided that the wife was wrong, and must go back to her husband. With a Spartan heroism, those hardy men also voted to censure the mother-in-law. The world has rarely been treated to a spectacle of such devoted courage.

Notice to Mariners.

Notice is given by the lighthouse board that on or about June 1, 1881, a lightship will be moored off the coast of Louisiana, 1 1-2 miles to the northward of Trinity shoal, and three miles inside its extreme western end, in 3 1-4 fathoms of water. The vessel is schooner rigged and painted red, with the words "Trinity Shoal" on each side in large white letters, and "No. 43" on the stern. A fixed white light will be shown from the foremast-head at about forty feet from the level of the sea, and should, therefore, be visible, in clear weather, about eleven nautical miles. At each masthead there will be displayed circular lattice-work daymarks, painted red. This light will serve to guide vessels through the channel between Tiger and Trinity shoals, and to mark the latter shoal. During thick and foggy weather there will be sounded on this vessel a twelve inch steam fog whistle, giving blasts of four seconds duration each minute.

—Josh Billings tells us that every man has his follies, and oftentimes they are the most interesting things he has.

—There is found the greatest difficulty in persuading foreigners who land on these shores that Mr. Haverly, whose picture adorns every third window and every available back fence in the country, is not the President of the United States.

Joe Winrow's Two Blows.

A well-known citizen, remarkable for his unostentatious benevolence and piety, stepped into the Pioneer bathhouse yesterday, and asked Mike Price:

"Where is Joe Winrow? I have not seen him around since I got back from the east."

The athlete wherry rower pulled out a copy of the Chronicle, and, with a tear in his eye, read a notice of the veteran's death.

"I'm sorry to hear it," said the pious customer.

"Did you ever take any lessons from him?" the sculler asked.

The pious customer opened his eyes wide.

"Good gracious, no!" said he: "I never put on a boxing glove in my life, and I trust I may never be induced to raise my hand in anger against any one. They say Winrow was a great fighter."

"You bet," said the sculler, proudly.

"Do you know," said the pious gentleman, "that I was acquainted with Winrow for several years before I could bring myself to believe he was a fighter. He was a neighbor of mine for a long time. When he moved in some one told me he was a prize-fighter, and I expected every day to see him engage in a quarrel. To my surprise I never saw him have a misunderstanding with any one. He was always sober and pleasant, and I noticed he used to stop and chat with the little children. Everybody spoke kindly of him, and I began to think there must be some terrible mistake about the reputation he had of being a desperate fighter. I doubted whether he could fight at all, he was so quiet; but one day, down on Washington street, I saw him save a little child from the wheels of a milk wagon. The driver, a great burly fellow, took no trouble to avoid the little one, and the little child would certainly have been injured and perhaps killed had not Winrow rushed in and seized her. The driver only jeered, and would have gone on had not Joe shouted to him that he ought to be arrested. The fellow stopped at once and commenced to use fearful language.

'I've a good mind' said he, 'to get down and give you a licking.'

'You'd better try it,' said Winrow, who was holding the little girl by the hand. 'If you step down I'll break your jaw, you big ruffian.

The driver jumped down at once and made a rush at Joe. I really trembled for him, for his assailant was a ferocious-looking fellow, and a great deal heavier and stronger. The old man did not seemed to be a bit scared, though. He just lifted the little child away a few feet, and then turned and threw out his right hand at the driver, and the fellow went down like a log. I was astonished beyond measure, for the old man did not seem to make any extraordinary exertion. The driver got up at once and made another rush at Joe, and the old man threw out his left hand, and down went the belligerent party again as if he had been shot. I was more surprised than ever, for the second blow seemed to stun the fellow, and he lay for some time on his back in the mud. Then he turned over and crawled on his hands and knees to the wagon and climbed up in a dazed sort of way to the seat, and drove off. I noticed that his face was covered with blood. When 'twas all over, I took the old man by the hand, and the first thing I knew I was complimenting him, though I never thought I should be found praising a man for striking another down on the street. The old fellow laughed, though.

'Oh, that's nothing,' said he. 'Why, the duffer couldn't lick a ten-year-old boy. I don't b'lieve he know how to hit me if I stood and let him.'"—San Francisco Chronicle.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

MODERN MIRACLES.

Some Investigations by an Old-School Physician into the Question, Have Miracles Ceased?

[Special Correspondence of the Hartford Post.]

NEW YORK, Wednesday, April 13.

A year or so ago I became much interested in the reports of wonderful cases effected by a plain, uneducated man, somewhere in Virginia, without the use of any medicines, and, as the stories went, simply "by the laying on of hands." One of the leading New York dailies sent a reporter to visit the man, who, after a careful investigation, confirmed the marvelous stories of the apparent miracles. The man himself claimed no miraculous power. He did not know, so he said, how the cures were brought about—he simply knew that a great many diseases yielded to his touch, or were removed by his gently rubbing the patient for a short time. Many of these cases were of long standing, and had been pronounced hopeless by the regular physicians.

As a medical man myself, having devoted years of study and thought to the many phases of disease and its treatment, I was deeply interested in the tale of the obscure Virginian's power, and wished to visit him and investigate for myself, but other engagements prevented, and I lost track of him for the time.

Recently a number of remarkable cases, somewhat of the same character, have come to my notice, which I have availed myself of the opportunity to investigate. While I sincerely desired to make an impartial investigation, I am not sure that my prejudices as an "Old School" physician, accustomed to regard everything outside the "regular" profession as quackery, may not have influenced my mind somewhat against the modern miracle workers. Certainly if this had been a murder trial I would have been rejected from the jury on account of previously expressed opinions, but as it was not a murder trial I put my prejudices on their good behavior, and resolved, if possible, to get the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth concerning these remarkable cases.

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamed of in thy philosophy," must not be forgotten by any one who would conscientiously investigate the merits of new discoveries in the sciences—especially in the medical science.

The first case that came to my notice was that of Colonel Thomas A. Scott, late president of the Pennsylvania railroad, the particulars of which I shall give further on in this letter. A friend who was on intimate terms with Colonel Scott, and knew all the particulars of his remarkable case said to me a couple of months ago, "I tell you what it is, Dr. B., that cure of Colonel Tom Scott would have passed for a miracle in Bible times. And why shouldn't we have miracles now as well as then?"

"I don't know," I answered, "unless, as Topsy would say, its 'cause we's so wicked."

I met this friend again the other day in the corridors of the Fifth Avenue hotel, in this city.

"Come with me," he said, "and I'll introduce you to the man who cured Colonel Scott; and if I'm not mistaken I'll give you some nuts to crack that will keep your old fossilized "regular" faculties busy the balance of your natural lives."

"Where is he?" I inquired.

"His office is just around the corner here—only four or five minutes walk. Come on;" and taking my arm, we walked down Fifth Avenue, and, turning the first corner, ascended the steps of a handsome brown stone front. My friend rang the door bell, and we were ushered into a handsome parlor.

"Don't introduce me as doctor," I said; "it might be a little embarrassing."

"All right, just as you please," he replied.

Several patients were awaiting their turns for examination. My friend stepped into the office adjoining the parlor, and soon returned accompanied by the "miracle worker." I was disappointed in his appearance. I had pictured to myself an elderly man, large, sedate, almost grim, in appearance, while he was a young man, not exceeding thirty-five, and looking even younger, weighing I should think about 135 pounds, five feet eight inches in height, clean shaven, almost boyish looking face, high forehead, and large head. He came forward with a quick, elastic step and a smile on his face.

"Dr. Flower, this is my friend, Mr. B. He has heard of some of your cures and wants to investigate. I would be glad if he could see you examine some of your patients."

Dr. Flower greeted me with a cordial grasp of the hand, and invited me into his office.

He called the patient whose turn came next—a middle-aged, intelligent-looking gentleman, pale and rather feeble-looking.

"Mr. B.," said Dr. Flower to me, "please interrogate this gentleman carefully, and see if by any possibility I can know anything about his case. And I prefer that you shall make the examination on that point to your entire satisfaction, and not in my presence."

I retired to the parlor with the gentleman, who assured me that Dr. Flower could not possibly have the slightest information about his case.

"He does not even know my name or residence," he said.

We returned to the office. Dr. Flower took the patient's hand, held it a short time in his own, and then commenced a diagnosis which to me, old physician as I am, was the most interesting and wonderful I ever heard. He never asked the patient a single question, but on the contrary specially instructed him not to say a word during the examination. He then went back to the commencement of the patient's troubles some years ago, and step by step came down to the present time, giving in detail a description of the man's symptoms and their various changes from time to time, and then describing minutely his present condition. In doing this he spoke not hesitatingly, as if in any doubt, but positively, clearly and distinctly, as if he knew every word he uttered to be correct beyond the shadow of a doubt.

"Mr. B.," said the doctor, turning to me, "you are here as an investigator, and I am glad you are; now do you wish to ask the patient any questions?"

"Only one, if you please. I would like to have him state whether your description of his case is entirely correct."

"I will answer on my honor," he said: "if Dr. Flower had seen me and examined me every day since the beginning of my troubles he could not have given a more correct description of my case."

"Now, doctor," he continued, "the one important question with me is, can you cure me?"

"No; I tell you frankly I cannot cure you, and you can never be entirely cured. But you can be greatly relieved, and your life prolonged, no doubt, for many years, if I could have had your case a year or two earlier you could have been restored to perfect health."

I could not help expressing my admiration at the doctor's honor and frankness in not holding out delusive hopes to his patient.

"It is a matter of honor with me," he replied, "always to tell my patients their true condition. If their cases are hopeless, they ought to know it."

I carefully watched four other examinations after this, each of a different disease, and all with the same result. In every case the descriptions were minute in detail and entirely accurate, and in private interviews with the patients I was convinced that Dr. Flower could not possibly have had any previous knowledge of the cases.

I have a friend in this city who has for seven years been afflicted with a complication of troubles from which he has not been able to find relief. I knew that Dr. Flower had never seen this man, nor heard of him; and wishing to make a further test of his powers, I made an engagement to bring this friend to his office that evening, and did so. Dr. Flower asked not a single question of either of us, but taking my friend's hand, commenced at the beginning of his troubles, and came down to the present time with as precise a description of the case in all its details as I could have given, having been familiar with it from the first, but differing from myself and other physicians as to the cause.

I noticed on the table a large number of letters, apparently from patients at a distance, and asked:

"Doctor, how do you manage to make examinations where a personal interview is impossible?"

"In such cases I ask a few leading questions by letter. I hardly know how it is myself, but it is a fact that in such examinations I have never yet made a single mistake."

Thus far my investigations had led me only to the descriptions—or, in medical language, the diagnosis of diseases. While this was wonderful, I was more anxious to investigate for myself the reported marvelous—so-called "miraculous"—cures which had been effected by Dr. Flower.

Having a leisure day in Philadelphia last week, I determined if possible to see Colonel Scott myself, and interview him concerning his case, of which so much has been said. I called at the office of the great railroad king, but was disappointed to find him absent from the city. But I met in his office Mr. J. M. Kennedy, Sr., one of the directors of the Pennsylvania road, who was familiar with all the particulars of the case, and who gave me the facts as follows:

"It is well known," said Mr. Kennedy, "that for more than two years Colonel Scott was badly paralyzed. Indeed his left side was almost as dead as it ever will be. He placed himself under the treatment of some of the most eminent physicians of this country, but got little or no relief. Then he went to Europe, consulting and taking treatment of some of the most distinguished medical men of the old world. He remained there nine months, and then returned home no better than when he left, and hopeless of being ever restored to health. I was acquainted with Dr. Flower, and had personal knowledge of some of the remarkable cures he had effected, and after a good deal of persuasion I induced Colonel Scott to give him a trial."

"I never shall forget that first visit," continued Mr. Kennedy. "I accompanied Dr. Flower to Colonel Scott's residence. The Colonel had very little hope of receiving any benefit from this new treatment. Dr. Flower took the paralyzed hand in his—a hand which Colonel Scott had not been able to shut for more than two years, and which was cold and nearly dead. He held it a short time and then said:

"Now, Colonel Scott, shut your hand."

"Instantly the Colonel shut the hand, the first time he had been able to do so for two years. Now some people may call that a miracle. Call it what you please. I was there and saw it, and the facts are exactly as I tell you. Colonel Scott continued under Dr. Flower's treatment, and in less than six months was cured, and is now in the enjoyment of good health and as actively engaged in business as ever."

This was Mr. Kennedy's account of the cure of the great railroad king. He is one of the directors of the Pennsylvania company, a leading business man of Philadelphia, and one whose statements can be implicitly relied on.

"Now, Dr. B.," said Mr. Kennedy, "as you are investigating these matter, let me give you some other cases even more remarkable than Colonel Scott's. There was Jacob Coverdill, of Germantown, who had not walked for four years. He was carried into Dr. Flower's office, and in thirty minutes walked out without using his crutches! Some people would call that a miracle. I don't; but I do call it a fact, and I leave you scientific gentlemen to account for it. Then there was the little son of Byron Woodward, one of our prominent lawyers, actually almost raised from the dead. Go and see Mr. Woodward, and get the facts of this remarkable case from him."

I found Mr. Woodward in his office, and told him the object of my call.

"Yes," he said, "it was an extraordinary case. My boy, eight years old, was taken sick the first of March with congestion of the lungs and brain. In a few days he sunk into a stupor from which nothing could arouse him. He was entirely unconscious and insensible, and continued so for some days. On the 10th of March, at ten o'clock in the morning, the attending physician, who is an eminent practitioner of this city, informed the family that there was no hope of the child's recovery, and that that afternoon he would call in consultation another physician, a professor in one of our medical colleges. I then resolved to call in Dr. Flower, and did so. He frankly said the symptoms were all unfavorable and generally considered to be fatal, but he would try and save him. In thirty-two minutes after Dr. Flower laid his hand on the boy's head his skin became moist, he was soon in a profuse perspiration, and in a few minutes more the boy aroused as if awaking out of a natural sleep, all pain had left him, and looking up he said, "I feel well now, and would like something to eat." The attending physician and his friend, the professor, came at four o'clock in the afternoon, and were amazed to find the boy sitting up playing with his toys. They knew nothing of Dr. Flower's visit, and confessed that they could give no explanation whatever of the remarkable change, and that they had never known a person to recover who was in the condition the boy was that morning. And they do not yet know how the boy's life was saved. It seems to me like a miracle, and nothing less. And I could tell you of many other instances of Dr. Flower's wonderful power over all kinds of diseases as remarkable as the cure of my boy."

This was Mr. Woodward's story. He is a gentleman of ability and education, a practical business man, and a shrewd observer. He has carefully investigated these phenomena in many other cases besides that of his son, and he is thoroughly convinced that there is some great power for the relief of suffering and cure of disease which is not understood by the regular medical profession, and which it is the duty of every honest physician to investigate.

That is my own opinion. I have spent a good deal of time in this investigation, and have given you in this letter only a few of the results. I have many other facts as interesting as any I have here given, which I may embody in another letter. Dr. Flower's office is at No. 5 West Twenty-second street, New York, where I am sure any one who wishes honestly to investigate these phenomena will be well repaid for calling.

My own sole purpose is to arrive at the truth. An old school physician myself, I believe that that should be the true eclectic school—choosing that which is good from all sources, and ignoring nothing without investigation simply because it may be new and may seem strange or improbable. M. D.

Don't Get Discouraged!

because the doctors say you cannot live. I was troubled with dropsy, and given up to die. But after using Sulphur Bitters for three months, I am well. It is the best medicine for all kidney diseases I ever saw.—Mrs. B——, Bridgeport.

John McEntee, aged seventeen years, on the 19th inst. shot and killed his uncle, Peter McEntee, aged seventy, near Bath, Steuben county, N. Y. John says his uncle was cruel to him. He was jailed.

In a fight at Pippos's camp, Texas, on the 19th inst., J. Gilchrist was shot dead and his son seriously wounded, and a son of Gen. Baylor wounded. There is an old feud between the families.

James Quinn and Andrew Mahan, victims of the riot in Troy, N. Y., on the 19th inst., died on the 20th. John Reynolds, another of the wounded men, is dying.

In Coleraine, Mass., the selectmen have found two men, two women and a child living in a cave on Catamount hill, subsisting on corn bread, and preferring that mode of life to working.

In Izard county, Arkansas, on the 20th inst., the dead body of Rev. Robert Matlock was discovered, he having evidently been lynched. He was on trial in Lawrence county the week previous, for the murder of Thomas Miller; being acquitted, he left town secretly, but was followed by some of Miller's friends. Matlock created considerable excitement in central Arkansas a year ago by conducting a new religious reformation. It is alleged that several murders resulted from his teachings, one of his articles of faith being that the shedding of human blood was necessary to appease an offended God. These murders were supplemented by a series of lynchings which effectually checked the further progress of the religious frenzy.

Col. H. N. Farrar died in Chicago on the 17th inst. He served gallantly in the army all through the war of the rebellion.

Over a hundred dollars' worth of tobacco was found in the woods near Salem, Mass., recently, having evidently been there some time. Near by was a bag in which the tobacco had been carried. It is supposed to have been put there by thieves.

Col. George W. Bailey died in Lowell, Mass., April 20th, at the age of fifty-eight years. He was a noted railroad contractor, and when quite young assisted in building the Boston & Maine and Concord railroads. He afterward moved west. He enlisted as a volunteer in an Ohio regiment during the war, and rose to be colonel. He afterward organized the 16th Ohio regiment, and commanded it until failing sight compelled him to return home. He had lived in Lowell for some years previous to his death.

At Danville, Pa., recently, Benjamin Bohme, a wealthy young man of that vicinity, who was engaged to wed Miss Rettie Long, a pretty young Quakeress, shot himself on his intended wedding day. For some time the young man had evinced aberration of mind, and on the preceding day, when he called upon his affianced, he acted so strangely that she promptly requested the annulling of the engagement, saying that she could not marry him, unless at the end of a year his manner had changed. Bohme informed his parents, and said that he had no desire to live. About an hour afterward he shot himself, dying in a few minutes. The news was conveyed to the lady, who is so much prostrated by the event that it is feared she will become insane.

The Lowell Machine Shop is now running at full capacity, being obliged to decline extensive orders, and is to enlarge by erecting a three-story building, sixty-five by 305 feet in size; the average number of men employed the past year was 1257, the largest number since the shop was incorporated.

Mr. Whitelaw Reid retires from the New York Tribune on the first of May, and will be succeeded by Mr. John Hay for a term of five years.

The lobster canning factory at Boothbay, Me., is reported as now doing a good business. It sent by the last trip of the Mary Elizabeth, four hundred boxes to Portland. Last week about 12,000 cans were put up, one boat bringing in 24,000 pounds of lobsters.

The fishing schooners Piscataqua and Wm. M. Gaffner arrived at Gloucester on the 19th inst., and the schooners Everett Pierce, Marion Grimes and Hereward on the 20th. They were all from southern mackerel trips, light, and put back on account of losing their seine boats in gales of wind.

The U. S. S. Ranger sailed from San Francisco on the 18th inst., on a surveying expedition along the coast of Mexico and South America.

Senator Frye of Maine made his first speech in the Senate on the 20th inst. In it he liberally exposed the tactics by which such fellows as Chalmers of Mississippi and Butler of South Carolina have been sent to the Senate, and the south kept solid for a bogus democracy. Mr. Frye evidently knows how to say what he means, and is not afraid to say it.

The Great Falls Manufacturing company employs upwards of 2,000 people on its corporation, with a monthly payroll of about $30,000. The company is running three evenings each week now.

Clark F. Rowell of Keene, has resigned his position as freight agent of the Connecticut River railroad, and is succeeded by Cyrus Brown of Deerfield, Mass.

The mixed down train on the Concord & Claremont railroad was delayed about four hours on Tuesday night, the 19th inst., having run off the track near Newport, and smashed a car.

Major Samuel Tuck, for the past forty years a prominent citizen and merchant of Nashua, died Tuesday, April 19th, at the age of sixty-six years. The deceased was a commissioned officer in the old militia of the state, city marshal of Nashua in 1866, represented his ward two years in the legislature, was a member of the Rising Sun Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and a Mason of the thirty-second degree. He was a native of Candia, and a member of the Baptist church.

—Many of those books which pay well are the last that would occur to persons as being lucrative; thus, "Thornton's Family Prayers" has been a little mine of money to an English family.

—Many mothers object to their daughters marrying, but Mrs. Houghton excelleth them all. The following advertisement, signed by Amy Houghton's mother, appears in Philadelphia papers: "I caution all persons authorized to perform the marriage ceremony not to marry my daughter to any one."

—The ingenuity of law makers seems to be exhausting itself inventing temperance legislation this year. The last outputs are a bill in Indiana, requiring every man who drinks to take out a yearly license, price ten dollars, the money to go to the support of inebriate asylums; and in Massachusetts, a bill compelling liquor dealers to obtain the consent of their next door neighbors in order to continue in business.

AROUND HOME.

"Alvin Joslin" is the funniest play we have ever seen.—Bloomington Leader.

The tugs Naumkeag and Ann had some lively towing, Thursday afternoon.

Spring has come to stay. A man was seen on the street with a straw hat on, Thursday.

The first fire engine to reach the fire on Dover street, on Thursday afternoon, was the Moses H. Goodrich, recently placed in reserve.

The Portsmouth Weekly, the initial number of which was issued on the first of May four years ago by the late Frank W. Miller, ceases with the number for this week.

The alarm of fire on Thursday afternoon was occasioned by a house on Dover street, belonging to Mr. Chas. E. Walker, catching fire near the chimney. Damage light.

Mr. Washington Anderton, who has been acting as agent of the Dover print works since the retirement of Col. Bracewell, has been appointed to the position permanently.

We are informed on what we regard as good authority that Rev. C. A. Holbrook, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, has received a call to take charge of a parish in Ohio, at a salary of about $2000.

Captain Jack Hough, ex-colonel of the 9th regiment of New Hampshire volunteers, after an absence of fifteen years has returned to Dover, to accept the position of a sketch maker, recently tendered him by the Cocheco Manufacturing Co.

The steam launch built at Kittery by Mr. Duncan, and recently sold by him to persons in Calais, Me., made a good run from this port to Portland. She left this harbor at 9:40 o'clock A. M., and passed Cape Elizabeth at five o'clock in the afternoon.

A boat came in to the Spring market on Thursday afternoon, the 21st, and her crew reported seeing a wherry upset and a man on top of it off Whalesback when coming into the harbor; assistance reached him before they got to him. It was blowing a gale at the time.

The store of H. W. Twombly in Dover was burglarized on the night of the 19th inst., the thieves getting over $50 in silver and copper, a package of scrip and old coins, half a dozen fine revolvers, and fifteen meerschaum pipes, they leaving behind the cases of the latter.

The Eastern railroad has recently placed in the pump-house over the new well at the depot a Blake pump, having many times the capacity of the one previously there, and it was started up for the first time on Thursday. No movement has yet been made toward laying pipes from the well to the tank at the round-house, and probably nothing will be done in that direction, or toward the building of a permanent pumping-station, until the well is thoroughly tested and found of sufficient value to justify the outlay.

The efforts of the manager of Music hall to induce Mrs. Scott-Siddons and her dramatic company to appear here this season have been successful, and we can now announce Tuesday, April 26th, as the date when Shakspeare's celebrated comedy "As you like it" will be given, with Mrs. Siddons in the role of "Rosalind," one of her most famous interpretations. The sale of seats opens Saturday morning at Preston's, and although the intervening time up to the date of the performance is so brief, yet from the talk about town since the fact of the engagement has become known, a large advance sale is probable, as the usual prices are to be maintained.

F. G. Moses, at his store on Congress street, is offering all kinds of neckties at extremely low prices.

The United States revenue steamer Albert Gallatin arrived in the lower harbor on the 21st inst., from a cruise.

It is reported that Mr. George W. Guppy will shortly start a new paper, (daily and weekly,) in this city, to be independent in politics.

Last evening Geo. E. Hodgdon, Esq., duly solemnized a marriage, wherein the bride was thirteen years of age, the groom being fifteen years her senior.—Times, 21st.

One of the fire extinguishers was capsized on Islington street while running to the fire, Thursday afternoon, and had several spokes knocked out of one wheel, and other damage done.

A two tenement house owned by Carlos Heard, near the Eastern railroad station in Biddeford, took fire on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Loss on building and furniture, about $1100; insured.

Mr. George Cox fell from from a wagon in front of National block on Thursday afternoon, at the time of the fire alarm, and received an ugly cut on his head. He was taden to his home in a hack.

The horse attached to Mr. Jeff C. Rowe's coupe ran away with the vehicle on Thurday afternoon, going down Congress and Daniel streets, but was stopped at the foot of the latter street before any harm was done.

Mrs. Cate of Stratham, aged eighty-four years, one forenoon recently walked from her house to North Hampton, passed considerable time there in shopping, returned home on foot, and immediately prepared dinner for the household. Mrs. Cate does all her housework.

Conductor Henry J. Eaton, of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, who ruptured a blood-vessel while in the conductors' room at the station in this city on the afternoon of the 15th inst., and who was in a very critical condition for some days, is reported to be improving.

The schooner Anna Barton, Weeks master, from Jacksonville, Fla., nine days, with hard pine for the Northern railroad, arrived at Concord railroad wharf on Thursday last. She had heavy weath south of Hatteras, lost her stern davits and boat, and sprung her foreboom.

A horse belonging to Charles Simpson of York broke loose from a hitching post on Market street, on Thursday afternoon, and started to run, but soon collided with the team of John R. Hanscom of Eliot, when both wagons were capsized and both horses caught. The damage was not large.

The article copied elsewhere from the Hartford Evening Post will be read with great interest, fortified as it is with statements relating to prominent men, and which would be contradicted at once were they not founded on facts; without expressing any opinion in the matter we submit the article, leaving the reader to draw his own conclusion.

On the morning of the 21st inst., as Mr. Robert Fulton, a young man in the employ of Capt. Edw. D. Coffin, was on a staging near the eaves of Mr. Thos. E. Call's house on Pleasant street, about to commence painting, a tall-block which had been insecurely made fast gave way, letting one end of the stage fall to the ground, a distance of about twenty-five feet, Mr. Fulton going down with it and having his left thigh broken near the hip, and his head and body injured. He was taken to Capt. Coffin's house, where he has lived for several years. He is twenty-two years old, belongs in Maine, and is highly valued by his employer.

The twenty-seven-hour go-as-you-please race in Dover city hall was largely attended. There were nineteen starters, Daniel F. Collins of this city being one of them. The race ended at eleven o'clock in the evening on the 20th inst., the winner, Lang, having made 129 miles, McLaughlin 110, Connor 107, Ham 88. The winner of the third prize is but seventeen years old. Hanson, a favorite, dropped out of the race after having made sixty miles; Collins gave up at the end of his nineteenth mile, he being the second one to retire from the contest. The Democrat says "Collins, the Portsmouth typo, found his company was entirely too fast for him, for a square heel-and-toe walker cannot complete with any kind of a first-class 'go-as-you-please.' Collins had many friends present who regretted his retirement."

"ALVIN JOSLIN."

Charles L. Davis at Music hall this evening as "Alvin Joslin," supported by his own company. The scenery and properties used are owned by the company; the scenery is said to be unusually fine, and includes the East river by moonlight, with a view of the great Brooklyn bridge; Castle Garden; view in Central park; Bowery concert saloon; Madison square, etc. The Boston Herald says:

Mr. Davis' impersonation of "Uncle Alvin," is a wonderful creation. He is a capital representative of the Yankee character, bringing to his task a genuine talent for impersonating old men parts, having an excellent Yankee dialect, and an abundant store of quaint New England-isms to enrich the dialogue, a remarkable make-up, and a fine stage presence.

The Globe calls Mr. Davis "The best old man character we have ever seen. His make-up is perfection!" and the other papers are equally complimentary. See advertisement in another column.

Dennis Shea and F. E. Langdon were granted permission to open streets to repair drains.

James F. Jenness asked leave to erect two hitching posts on Daniel street, in front of No. 18 1-2. Referred to the committee on streets, with power.

The committee to whom was referred the ordinance for the management of the public library, reported recommending that the proposed rules be so far changed as to provide that the compensation of the librarian be fixed by the board of mayor and aldermen. The report was accepted and the recommendation adopted; and the bill as amended was passed, and sent to the common council for concurrence.

Ald. Hall, for the committee instructed to investigate the claim of Wm. Sladen for $75, for alleged damages to cellar from the backing up of water through a drain, reported recommending that Mr. Sladen be paid ten dollars. Ald. Hartshorn, of the committee, thought there was no valid claim against the city, and did not agree with the report. The subject was laid over for one week, to allow further investigation.

Adjourned.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

In the case State vs. Fred Gay, of Sandown, for aggravated assault, the jury returned a verdict of guilty of simple assault, and a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

Edward L. Bean, for burglary, trial concluded on Thursday. Large numbers of witnesses were examined. The closing arguments were made by J. S. H. Frink for the respondent, and by G. C. Bartlett, acting county solicitor, for the prosecution. The case was given to the jury about 3:30 P. M., and a verdict of guilty returned soon after. A sentence of five years in the state prison was imposed.

Charles W. Warren was arraigned for bigamy, and pleaded nolo contendere. Sentence was postponed.

The trial of Alpheus T. Reynolds of Kingston, for an aggravated assault upon George W. Wright, was begun and continued until the adjournment of court.

A Call for Aid.

A piteous appeal for aid for victims of the fury of the elements comes, not this time from a far-off island of the east, but from citizens of our own land, within easy reach by railroads over which trains run from our own city many times a day. The devastation by floods in the west has been going on for some days, each succeeding report magnifying the tales of destruction that have preceded, and the latest giving promise of yet worse suffering to come. One of these stricken communities has at last called for help. The appeal that comes from Yankton, the capital of Dakota, tells of 7000 people driven from their homes, of whole villages swept away, of families imprisoned in their homes by masses of gorged ice, and of others destitute of food and clothing, and stripped of their earthly possessions. The floods still continue, and throughout a large extent of country there is a vast absolute loss, and great contingent suffering anticipated. Here, right at home, is a demand for practical charity that cannot be neglected. And the situation is the worse because it is not only actual destitution that is to be relieved, but the loss of all the means of starting again the business of farming when the floods subside that is to be provided for. These sufferers should receive at the hands of our comfortable and prosperous community something more than the sympathy of words.—Boston Globe.

—"How in the world," asked a lady of a neighbor, "can I prevent my boy from stealing sugar out of the sugar-bowl?" "I know how you can stop his stealing out of the sugar-bowl" was the reply. "How?" "By putting the sugar in the milk-pitcher."

—The prohibition law in Kansas does not go into effect till May, yet, in most towns, saloons are already closed, and there will not be an open bar in the state at the end of the present month. The governor of the state says that many of the saloon-keeps have removed to Missouri, "but for every saloon-keeper that goes out of Kansas on account of the prohibitory law, a sufficient number of sober, industrious, energetic families come into the state to build a school-house, and Kansas can always afford to trade saloons for school-houses, and drunkenness for sobriety."

who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

Christina C. Althouse of Flushing, L. I., who sued the Long Island railroad company for $35,000 for injuries received through the company's negligence, has recovered a verdict for $10,000.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing it before the public; but from the gratifying assurance by a great number of the rare vitalizing and benefit-conferring properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above-named disease, even though reduced to within the state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 188[illegible]

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

New Hampshire Items.

The annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of New Hampshire will be held at the Masonic Temple in Concord on Monday, May 16th, at eight o'clock in the evening; annual convocation of the Grand Chapter, Tuesday forenoon, May 17th; annual communication of the Grand Lodge, Wednesday forenoon, May 18th.

The annual drive of logs from the head waters of the Pemigewasset river has not yet started, owing to the low water. The start is usually made about the 1st of April. The drive is smaller than usual on account of the very deep snow of the past winter. Help is also scarcer than for many years, and wages correspondingly higher.

At about two o'clock this morning the family of Hon. A. W. Sawyer, residing next north of the city hall, was aroused by a sound coming from an evident attempt to turn the key in the front door of the house. Mr. Sawyer was aroused by his daughter, and when he approached the door the young fellow who was engaged in the burglarious business ran away. The judge called for the police, whereupon the young man stopped and said he was looking for a lodging place. He was arrested by officers Foisie and Dolan. He gave the name of Frank Rowell, said he was from Portsmouth and a steady and industrious person until he came to Nashua and fell in with bad companions. He claims to have been drunk, and unconscious of his conduct. He cried and sobbed and appeared to be in great agony of mind this morning. The judge was disposed to accept as true the statement that he was simply looking for lodging and let him off easy. The marshal, upon hearing that the young man has employment and is well thought of, gave him some good advice touching his future conduct, and set him free.—Nashua Telegraph.

The Cost of It.

If the total cost of sickness simply in its business aspects were reckoned up, it would be found to be great enough in five years to pay the national debt. The merchant has a headache, from a fit of indigestion, and misses a good bargain. The lawyer does the same with a case. To say nothing about doctors' fees, etc., it don't pay to be even a little sick. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a friend of the business man, for it clears his brain. One dollar a bottle. Rondout, N. Y.

Henry Smith of Keene committed suicide by hanging, Wednesday night, the 20th inst. He was sixty-five years old.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

Frank Fuller of Ashuelot shot himself last Thursday morning with a revolver, dying instantly. He was about twenty-one years old.

It is no longer an idle dream or boasting to affirm that Fellows' Hypophosphites, wherein are united nature's forces, will strengthen man and make his life not only endurable, but sparkling with rude and joyous health. Fellows' Hypophosphites supplies the ingredients which constitute healthy blood, and imparts the elements which give vitality.

A horse belong to Charles Moulton of Campton having died, its stomach was examined and found to contain fifty shingle nails and pieces of hoop iron, all badly corroded.

A Pure Bourbon Whiskey,

Free from drugs or any deleterious substances is the "G. O. Tayler Old Bourbon." It has been known for years, and approved by the highest authority. Bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston, whose signature will be found over each cork.

A discrepancy of some $30,000 has been found in the accounts of the Cheshire Provident Institution, but it is not attributed to any dishonesty, but to inaccuracies unavoidable with the small clerical force employed. The bank has deposits of $2,000,000, with a handsome surplus, and is perfectly safe, it is claimed.

Colonel McDaniel, the celebrated proprietor of Stony Brook Stud Farm, Princeton, N. J., says "I hardly think too much can be said in praise of this invaluable medicine for the horse (Liebig Co.'s Arnicated Extract of Witch Hazel). I should advise all horsemen to keep it constantly on hand." It quickly cures over strain, wounds, inflammations and most of the commoner ailments of the horse. Also cures crown scab, poll evil, injury from pressure of the girth, rheumatism, harness galls, inflamed tendinous sheaths, etc. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York. Sold in 50 cents and dollar sizes. Reduced rates by the half gallon and gallon. Beware of worthless imitations.

—In reproving a youth for the exercise of his fists, a schoolmaster said: "My lad, we fight with our heads here." The youth reflected for a moment, and replied that butting was not considered fair at his last school.

The Timber Supply.

Mr. William Little sends a letter to the New York Times in which he presents some rather startling facts as to the destruction of American forests. He assorts that of the whole twenty-six states comprising the New England, middle, western and northwestern to the Rocky mountains, only four (Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota,) have a supply of timber in excess of their own wants, and the question is how long the supply for commercial purposes will stand the drain upon them? The white pine being the wood of prime importance, the supply of this timber is confined almost entirely to the three states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and the demand on them is so heavy for all sections of the country that it will be impossible for them to respond to it for more than six or seven years longer.

News and Notes.

At Binghampton, N. Y., on the 21st inst., two terrible and almost simultaneous explosions occurred from nitro-glycerine in the nitro vaults of the Dittmar powder works. About five minutes afterward 10,000 pounds of sporting powder in a storehouse about 100 feet from the nitre vaults ignited, and caused another terrific explosion. Buildings were demolished and scattered in every direction, and property destroyed for miles around. Fences were blown to splinters, trees uprooted, many buildings in the neighborhood badly shattered, and windows two and three miles away blown out by the concussion. The shock was distinctly felt forty miles away. The main magazine, which was under ground and contains about twelve tons of powder, was uninjured. No one was seriously hurt. The man in charge of the nitre vaults discovered a fire caused by improper mixture of acids, warned the others, and all fled before the explosions occurred.

A contract was signed on the 20th inst. by the Newfoundland government, and by Mr. Blackman, acting for a syndicate of New York capitalists, for the construction and maintenance of a railroad from St. Johns, N. F., down the mining regions of Notre Dame bay. The proposed line will be about 400 miles, and will be the first railroad constructed in Newfoundland. The estimated cost is $6,000,000, and the syndicate, through its agent, guarantees its completion in three years. The Newfoundland government guarantees to the company an annual subsidy of $185,000 for thirty-five years, with a land grant along the line, in alternate blocks, of some two million acres. The proposed line of railroad will traverse the great mineral area of the country.

A magazine containing one thousand kegs of powder exploded in West Stratford, three miles from Bridgeport, Conn., on the 21st inst. The explosion was probably caused by two men who were shooting in the vicinity with a rifle; one of them, who was within a hundred yards of the building when it blew up, was hurt, but no lives were lost. The damage to buildings in Bridgeport was about $5000, and the utmost terror was occasioned in that city. Two other magazines, each containing 1000 kegs of powder, were in the vicinity of the one destroyed, but were unharmed.

At Charleston, Arizona, on the night of Tuesday, the 19th inst., three cowboys entered the store of Springer & Harks and compelled the proprietor to open his safe, from which they took $800, and escaped. Wednesday night a pursuing party surrounded their house, when firing began, and two of the robbers, named Burns and "Clubfoot Jack," were shot dead.

Mrs. Walder, a German woman, while burning brush in a swamp in Canton, Conn., April 21st, was surrounded by flames, and could not escape. The clothing was burned from her person, and before help arrived she was so badly injured that she died next morning. A similar accident, resulting fatally, is reported from Weathersfield, Conn., Mrs. Martin Coffee being the victim.

"Literary Art: a conversation between a painter, a poet and a philosopher;" by John Albee. New York; G. P. Putnam's Sons; price $1.50.

The lectures given last summer before the Concord school of Philosophy by Mr. Albee are reproduced in an attractive form by the Putnams of New York, making a delightfully entertaining volume of 180 pages. The form in which the ideas are clothed is one which has by earlier writers been successfully adopted. The gifted author tells us, and perhaps expects us to imagine, that the scene of his related conversation is upon the banks of the Concord river, between the three P.'s before mentioned. Schoolmates and college chums and local friends these, gather at the river to compare notes, near the old bridge under the shady trees; and the wisdom, the bright sayings, the result of study, observation, cultivation, indeed the uttered thoughts of these three scholarly men are given in a way and manner which leads us to believe that we are in a rare day in June lying stretched out upon the green-sward and imbibing their rich utterances. The "conversations" to be appreciatingly known must be read and enjoyed; not described in a passing notice.

The philosopher is the balance wheel which seems to keep the other two friends of boyhood in proper relation to the matter in hand. He shows the evidence of his training, the results of his study, and the power of saying what he intends to say.

Had we space we would be glad to make extracts from the volume of some of its true and cogent sayings, but the book though published in New York is easily accessible to the reader, and may be found at the stores of W. G. Myers and M. Goodrich.

"A Lazy Man's Work:" by Frances Campbell Sparhawk. New York; Henry Holt & Co. (Leisure Hour Series, No. 122.)

One of the most interesting novels recently issued is this by Miss Sparhawk. It is distinguished by fresh, natural conversation, shrewd observation, and often valuable generalization without a particle of prosing; and also by the easy conduct of the story, which comes out through these conversations rather than by description. The plot is more dramatic than suits our taste, as it has one case of almost poisoning, and another of almost an elopement, and we do not fancy the mixture of detectives and romance on any higher scene than the columns of the daily newspaper. However, with many readers a startling plot is no objection; and from Charles Brockden Brown to Wilkie Collins and William Black, authors who deal in it have been popular favorites. "Who peppers the highest is surest to please."

It might be said, also, that the good men, of whom there are two portraits in the book really remarkable, are more distinct and individual than are the good women; while the bad woman is, in school-girl phrase, "perfectly horrid." The heroine is a dignified, self-restrained person, very patient and persevering in her profession, but she fails to get any strong hold on the reader's interest, except so far as unfortunate circumstances excite sympathy for her. The general tone of the book is high and wholesome, having no subtle poison, no oblique love, no encouragement to the vice often excused in modern novels, of coveting somebody's husband or wife.

Miss Sparhawk is well known in some circles as the daughter of a late valuable and valued physician of Massachusetts; and her inheritance of natural gifts carefully cultivated renders any good literary work from her no surprise. Many of her articles in magazines and papers have shown marked ability, and this novel will be sure to be followed by other, and perhaps better, books from her. Meanwhile, this is a book to read aloud to a circle, or to pack into your valise on the summer trip.

The keen analysis of Carlyle's character by Henry James in the May Atlantic is much truer to life doubtless than most of the eulogies pronounced upon the great Scotch essayist. He was a surly egotist and an unreasoning and unfeeling man in much that he said and did. These characteristics were especially displayed towards Americans and American institutions, though he had more readers in this country than in any other. He had no faith in a popular government such as ours. In fact, he had not much faith in anything except his own superiority to all other men. He had great literary talents, and acquisitions, as Johnson had, and like him was a garrulous egotist.—Ex.

—A Sunday-school boy in Methuen, Mass., was a little inclined to blunder in all his quotations from the Scriptures, and his mother had taken extra pains and got a very short verse for him to repeat at a concert a few Sabbath's ago, and you can somewhat imagine her consternation when his turn came, to hear him say: "The Lord is my shepherd, and that is what I don't want."

AN UNRIVALLED HAIR DRESSING,

Producing as Rich and Cleanly Appearance as if Nature Alone had Imparted it.

BURNETT'S COCOAINE is the best and cheapest Hair Dressing—kills dandruff, allays irritation, and promotes a vigorous and healthy growth of the hair. No other compound produces these results.

The superiority of BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS consists in their perfect purity and great strength. They are warranted free from the poisonous oils and acids which enter into the composition of many of the factitious fruit flavors now in the market.

Ed. Chronicle: Allow me to correct the statement in your paper of this date in regard to steamer Moses H. Goodrich, No. 4. It was not the engine, but the hose carriage belonging to her, that was the first to reach the fire on the 21st inst., the engine being still held in reserve as heretofore. STEPHEN L. MARSTON, Chief Engineer.

A sight at once amusing and painful, and which called forth a variety of expressions on our streets Friday afternoon, was that of a bright-looking lad apparently not more than seven years of age, seated on a farmer's cart loaded with coal, with a pipe in his mouth, and puffing away at it with the gusto of a veteran smoker. The little fellow was apparently unconscious of the sensation he created, and drove through the streets taking in the surroundings with the eye of an indifferent observer. He should be spanked.

"As you like it" at Music hall on Tuesday evening.

Neil Burgess will appear as "Widow Bedott" at Music hall on Wednesday evening of next week.

The Washingtonian society of Stratham was organized over forty years ago. The first president of the organization, Andrew M. Wiggin, is still living.

Capt. George Smith has been engaged to take the steamer Louis Irving to New York. The propeller, which has been on wrong, was on Friday taken off and replaced in its proper position. Her name is to be changed to "Hudson."

A gentleman who has been sojourning at Gerrish's island, Kittery, this week, informs us that the farmers there have commenced ploughing. The grass has taken a decided start within the last three or four days, and snow can only be found in small patches, in shaded portions of the woods.

Twelve new passenger cars and three locomotives will be added to the rolling stock of the Eastern railroad this season. The engines, now building, will weigh forty-one tons each. This road has also recently purchased a thousand tons of steel rails, a large part of which will be put down before the snow flies next autumn.

Mr. Cushman Lydston, of Eliot, a carpenter, while at work on the navy yard on Wednesday, the 13th inst., got a small piece of brass embedded in the ball of one of his eyes. He has since been to Boston and had two operations performed, but the eye still remains in a precarious condition, and fears are entertained that he may lose the sight of it.

Schooner W. B. Keen arrived on Friday afternoon from her first spring trip of shore fishing, with twenty thousand pounds of cod and haddock. The schooner Water Lily brought in 9000 lbs., the Young Selim 3000 lbs., and small boats 8000 lbs. Fish were selling at splitting prices, $1.25 for cod, and sixty cents for haddock, per hundred pounds.

While William Lawson was at work in the hold of the schooner Mary Willey, Friday afternoon, assisting to get out her cargo of lumber, he slipped and fell as he was going toward the hatch-way with an arm full of boards, and in falling had his left leg twisted in such a manner that it was broken below the knee. The bone was set on board the vessel by a physician who was sent for, after which the injured man was taken to his home on Bow street. The cargo of the schooner is for the new buildings of J. Albert Walker at Concord railroad wharf.

The schooner Olive Branch, Lessef master, from Bridgewater, N. S., with 4000 ties for the Eastern railroad, in making this harbor Thursday night ran in to the eastward of Whalesback light, and came to an anchor well in toward Wood island bar—a feat in navigation which no one familiar with the perils attending it would care to attempt. How the vessel cleared Reindeer rock and the other hidden dangers so thickly scattered there, we cannot tell. The tug Naumkeag went to her Friday morning, towed her out between White island and Whalesback, and brought her up to the wharf by the regular channel.

Mr. Keen's nice little steamer, the Fearless, running between this city and Kittery Point via Newcastle, is to have a new propeller—a four-bladed one this time. She is doing a good business, we are pleased to hear; and we have no doubt that with the advent of hot weather she will have to increase the number of her daily trips in order to accommodate the patronage that will offer, for an excursion to the point will be a favorite method of passing a few hours, and will cost but a trifle. The business brought to this city by the establishing of this line seems to be all clear gain, as the stage coaches appear to be about as well patronized as formerly.

An accident insurance policy is a good thing to have in the house, no matter what your business or profession. Within a few days, in this city, an experienced railroad man had his hand jammed between two cars; a little girl, playing around a bonfire, was burned to death; a female domestic servant, of good habits and in good health, slipped and fell while engaged in her ordinary duties, and received injuries from which she died in a short time; a boy tumbled through a hole in the roof of a house, and was badly used up; a young man was let down by the run through the giving away of some of the gear which supported a painter's staging on which he was at work, and had a thigh broken; another young man slipped in a vessel's hold, and broke one of his legs,—and this is by no means all of the list. Such accidents occur in all walks of life. Suppose a clergyman or lawyer had been walking along under the painter's stage when it fell—wouldn't his head have been broken just the same as though he dug post-holes for a living? Call on Morse & Ilsley, get a policy, and scoff at hard luck.

HOME AGAIN.

Sheriff Kent arrived home from New York, Friday evening, bringing with him the horse stolen from Mr. Winchester by the thief Lyon. The animal was not sold to the brewery company with which Mr. Arthur Harris is connected, as has been stated; the purchaser was Mr. Amsdell, of the firm of Amsdell Brothers of Albany, brewers, who bought him to use in connection with the New York branch of their business. The thief told a very plausible story, in a very off-hand way, about only having one horse left of a carload he had just brought from Canada, and his haste to get back over the line again on business, so he would sell the animal at just what he cost in Canada, $160. Col. Kent speaks in high terms of Mr. Amsdell as a "square" and gentlemanly man.

Mr. Winchester would undoubtedly have regained his horse much sooner, and have saved himself large expense, had he not from the first instructed the officers to pay all their attention to the capture of the thief, and to regard the recovery of the property as a minor consideration—for which he deserves the thanks of the public, and we are glad he has got his horse again.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Apr. 22; Batchelder, J.

Charles Williams, for vagrancy, was ordered to the county farm at Brentwood for sixty days, the costs footing up $9.18.

Charles Turnbull, another "vag," went to Brentwood for ninety days; costs $9.18.

William Quinn, who was before the court on the 11th inst. on a charge of having assaulted Fred Burke, and was assessed $13.04, fine and costs, from which he appealed and was allowed time in which to procure sureties, was brought in to show cause why the sentence of the court should not be confirmed, he having failed to recognize as ordered. Defendant settled the matter by paying up.

THE OX-BOW.

Concerning the proposed new channel of the Exeter river at the sharp turn known as "the Ox-bow," the News-Letter of the 22d inst. says:

We were in hopes to have been able to announce this week that the work on the channel of the Exeter river would commence the first of May, and we feel disappointed and mortified, that after so much labor and hard work was done to get the appropriations through Congress, anybody should have been found who would, without any good or valid reason, stand in the way of improving the channel of Exeter river. The government needs about four acres of land for a channel and a place to deposit the excavated earth, and General Thom sent one of his assistants on Wednesday to confer with the owner of toe land, but the price demanded for the land was so exorbitant, and the conditions imposed so unreasonable, that nothing could be done about the cut-off. There is one remedy left which our people will dislike to resort to, but they ought not and cannot allow this much needed improvement to go by.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

Next Tuesday evening, at Music hall, Shakespeare's comedy "As you like it" will be presented, with Mrs. Scott-Siddons as "Rosalind." Of her assumption of this character the St. Louis Republican says:

For the character of Rosalind, Mrs. Scott-Siddons seems to be particularly adapted. Her portrayal of the bright and joyous heroine, with her sunshiney words, her wilful waywardness and beautifully varying traits of character, never successfully produced by the pen of any other save the master dramatist, is enticing and fascinating. Throughout the play there drifts the perfume of wild-wood flowers, the odors of the pine and oak leaves, and even in the laugh of Rosalind can be almost heard the twitter of birds in the branches. The very improbability of the story is its chiefest charm. It is the essence of romance. Rosalind should never be touched with unworthy fingers. The character is all archness, sweetness and purity. The forwardness of her love but shows her capacity for loving. Few, even of the earth's great actresses, have been bold enough to attempt the role. Of the modern ones there have been Rousby, Neilson and Scott-Siddons. Of these three the last has been bold enough to depart from the traditions of the stage and introduce original treatment in many of the scenes, which have all a pretty effect, heightened as it were by sundry little extravagancies of gesture and inflection caught from the rostrum. The play, as a whole, was greatly enjoyed by the audience. Mrs. Siddons was recalled again and again by rounds of hearty applause. Mr. Luigi Lablache is one of the best of the young school of English actors. His rendition of the part of Orlando deserves all praise.

—A little boy went to his first tea party when four years and three months old. Upon his hostess asking him how he liked his tea, he replied, "It is very nice; but I think it tastes very much of the water."

—It is related of the late Mr. Hope, the wealthy banker of Amsterdam, that he had bought a picture as a Rembrandt for ten thousand dollars. Finding that it did not quite fit the frame, he sent for a carpenter to ease it a little. While watching the operation, he remarked how wonderfully the picture had kept considering that it was nearly two hundred years old. "That is impossible," said the carpenter; "this wood is mahogany, and mahogany had not been introduced at that time." Mr. Hope burned, the picture not remembering that it might have been reframed.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 35 an annual premium of $16.34 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

Negotiations are now pending with capitalists in London and Paris for the right to manufacture and use this pavement in those cities.

For enterprises new on the market promise as profitable business as this one.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' add found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Daily Chronicle.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

NEW YORK, April 20th.

Steel is the most notable of spring productions. In itself, of course it is nothing novel, but such a veritable shower of steel as now descends upon us is rather a surprising fact in the history of dress. Beginning with the new bonnet, it covers the entire outfit; even peeping out from the spring slipper. In millinery, we have braids, cords, beads, ornaments, fringes, laces, embroideries of steel, to say nothing of steel net-works and gauzes laden with steel spangles. On costumes, these ideas are repeated, while outdoor garments are stylishly ornamented with finishings of the same character. So you see that steel can hardly be misplaced, but it is most tasteful when combined with black. A moment's reflection suffices to show the refinement of a black satin costume trimmed with steel; and in the way of a bonnet, nothing is more quietly elegant than similar combinations. But where steel is united with colors, effects are frequently in dubious taste. This indeed is a mild way of putting it, for to tell the truth plainly, results are oftentimes very bad. Everything that glitters, however, is fashionable. Jet is eagerly sought after for this season; gilt is in great demand, and irridescent beads are also very popular. Trimmings of material are in as much vogue as ever, and disposed in much the same way as formerly; that is, in kilt-plaitings, box plaitings, gathered ruffles, shirrings, etc.

OUT-DOOR GARMENTS.

Everybody you meet wears something different, but one is as fashionable as the other. Jackets, visites, circulars, capes, ulsters, redingots, paletots, coats—all are stylish. Now when I go on to say that each one of the above names represents not one garment alone, but a number of garments differing in minor points, one can form some idea of the variety. In the jacket family, for instance, we have at least a dozen different shapes; some cut-away, others straight, some long, others short, some with hoods, some with capes, etc., etc. Last but not least comes the Mother Hubbard, with shirring at the neck and sleeves; and a very handsome adaptation of the Mother Hubbard, called the Solana visite, which is shirred in to the figure and has the sleeves shirred also.

EASTER BONNETS.

Small shapes fitting close to the head are a leading style, but of poke bonnets not a few appear. Flowers are used in profusion, and there is a manifest preference for small or medium sizes rather than large ones. But in all, we see the effects of that "shading" which is so prominent. In masses of small flowers there are constant alternations from light to dark, or vice versa, while sprays are almost invariably shaded from pale to bright. The same graduating tones are noticeable in silks and ribbons, and when skillfully arranged produce beautiful results. Most of the new ribbons, in consequence, are very wide, so as to give room for an insensible transition; and with the same view, very wide strings are of silk doubled and fringed on the ends. Yet narrow ribbons are not prohibited, but these are exceptions. Quite new silks and ribbons, however, are uniform in color, and will be worn because the shaded are expensive. Porcupine straws are the newest for general wear; being so called because woven with sharp projections all over the surface. An elegant bonnet lately chosen by Sarah Bernhardt is of open-work Tuscan straw in poke shape. The brim is faced with pale blue satin; folds of blue-shaded satin are laid around the crown. A cluster of pale coral pink flowers ornaments the left side in front, and the strings are of shaded blue silk a quarter of a yard wide.

MATERIALS AND COSTUMES.

New grenadines are covered with checks and plaids of every size, but importations of very thin woolens have interfered with the sale of grenadines as well also as that of buntings. Many of these woolens are plain woven, and in solid colors, yet others are provided with a bright border, and others again are in open work checks and plaids. A spring costume now being made for Mme. Gerster is of very thin woolen in pale coachman's drab, combined with blue dotted satin. The Pamela basque is shirred at the waist in the middle of the front and back, and the Celestine skirt is trimmed with ruffles of satin and bunting alternating. Another dress for the same prima donna is a Theo costume of striped silk, with dark olive-green satin skirt. The polonaise of silk shows the front and sides cut off to the depth of an ordinary basque, while below is a plaited scarf drapery across the front and the back, hanging long and draped irregularly. The gored skirt is covered on the front and sides with horizontal shirrings. The Mercedes is a very attractive novelty in

PARASOLS,

Having ten ribs, and the handle entirely within the outer covering, while the shape is remarkably graceful. It comes in all grades, from the cheapest to the costliest, and in endless variety as to color, material, etc. This indeed is a necessity, as "high style" now requires the parasol to match the dress, and thus renders it much more important than formerly.

Eeckerlacr's toilet soaps are chiefly used now by our best classes, because of their remarkable purity and fine perfume. There are a good many different kinds, and where all are excellent, it is hard to discriminate, but perhaps the most sought after are the Bouquet of Violets, Jockey Club, Wood Violet, and Baby soaps. I mention this because in warm weather, toilet articles become doubly important.

LUCY CARTER.

because the doctors say you cannot live. I was troubled with dropsy, and given up to die. But after using Sulphur Bitters for three months, I am well. It is the best medicine for all kidney diseases I ever saw.—Mrs. B——, Bridgeport.

—Thomas Dejarnette, the Virginia young man who killed his sister because she refused to abandon her disreputable mode of life, and has just been acquitted of her murder on the ground of emotional insanity, has been jilted by the young woman to whom he was betrothed, and who was unremitting in her attentions to him before his trial. She has eloped with another man, and evidently wisely, since a man who would kill his sister in a sudden fit of insanity might with good reason be expected to do the same thing to his wife unless things went on pleasantly.

From Rev. H. P. Torsey, D. D., LL. D., President Maine Wesleyan Seminary and Female College, Kent's Hill, Me. Dr. F. W. KINSMAN,—Dear Sir: For five years the students under my care have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam, and have, I think, found it second to no other remedy for throat and lung troubles.

The Hosiery Interest.

The reason assigned by Senator Blair of this state on the 19th inst. for the calling of an extra session of Congress is a good one as far as it goes. In consequence of a decision by the supreme court of the United States in relation to the duty to be assessed upon certain kinds of knit goods, a great industry is in danger of being destroyed. The facts are, in brief, that Congress intended to levy upon all hosiery a duty of thirty-five per cent ad valorem in addition to the specific duty of fifty cents a pound upon the raw material. By a blunder it failed to do so, and the specific duty has been abolished by the court decision. It results that woolen hosiery escapes the duty which was intended to be levied upon all articles of which wool was the chief component when the duty on wool itself was fixed. The difference is simply that between protection and the reverse. At the rate of duty which may now be lawfully levied, no hosiery manufacturer in the country can make goods at a profit. Moreover, before Congress can meet, the foreign manufacturers, aided by American importers, can flood the country with their wares. The treasury department does not seem to know what can be done to avert the calamity. It has been reported, but as far as can be learned without authority, that the secretary has suspended the operation of the circular of the department relative to the new duty, so far as shirts and drawers are concerned, leaving it apply only to stockings, which was the subject of the decision. Meantime, the opinion of collectors and appraisers has been asked for as to how far the decision really applies. It seems to be a hard case for the stocking-makers, but how they can get relief without a special act of Congress, which cannot in any event undo what may be done in the meantime, is not clear.

News and Notes.

The five steamers which sailed from New York for Europe Saturday carried away large numbers of passengers.

By a railroad accident on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, Friday afternoon, five men and a woman were killed, and six men injured.

The Mutual Union telegraph company has agreed to increase the capital stock of the company to $10,000,000, for the purpose of extending its lines.

At Winooski, Vt., Friday, a six-year-old granddaughter of Hustin Devine obtained a loaded revolver without the knowledge of her family, and while playing with it shot herself through the right temple.

James Foley, aged ten years, of Gloucester, Mass., while getting over a wall, slipped and fell, and a glass bottle which was inside his jacket broke, the pieces piercing the boy's stomach. He died a few hours after the accident happened.

The directors of the Bartlet mills at Newburyport held a meeting Friday, and voted to meet in Boston on the 30th, when it will be decided whether to rebuild or not. The Boston Post says "there are good reasons for believing that the mills will not be rebuilt."

W. F. Beattie, sheriff of Crittenden county, Ark., was killed last Thursday near Marion, Ark., twelve miles northwest of Memphis, while attempting to arrest a negro burglar. Deputy Sheriff Maddox was wounded by the murderer, who then escaped.

Trade is so bad at Bradford, Eng., that factory operatives are emigrating at the rate of fifty per week, and most of them come to the United States.

In San Francisco, Cal., on the 22d inst., Thomas W. Cunningham, a commission merchant, and J. A. Chandler, a broker, said to be a nephew of the late Zach. Chandler, fired several shots at one another on the street. Cunningham was killed and Chandler was wounded. The men were married to two sisters, and family disputes caused the trouble.

Lucinda Fowlkes, colored, was hanged at Lunenburg Court House, Va., Friday, for the murder of her husband.

Abram Martin, colored, was hanged at Abbeville, S. C., on Friday, for the murder of his wife.

The Newburyport board of aldermen have voted, five to one, to grant liquor licenses for the ensuing year, at the following prices: First class, $125; fourth class, $75; distillers, $300.

At New Brunswick, N. J., Lawrence Leis, twelve years old, bitten by a dog last August, died of hydrophobia last Thursday night in great agony.

Tuesday afternoon of last week fifteen armed men rode to one McLauren's house in Frio, Edwards county, Texas, and murdered McLauren, his wife and a young man named Lease. Nothing in the house was disturbed.

The British steamer Mizpah, from Liverpool April 14th for Copenhagen, went ashore on Cape Skaw, Sweden, and eleven persons were drowned.

Mr. Le Duc's house at Hull, Quebec, was burned Thursday night, the 21st inst. Two children perished, and a third will probably die.

During the year ended December 31, 1880, the money orders issued in the United States for payment in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland amounted to £400,205, or about $2,000,000. The orders issued in the United Kingdom upon the United States during the same period aggregated £71,457, or about $350,000.

James Caffery of New Haven, Conn., has been arrested, charged with having dragged his wife out of bed by the hair of her head, kicked and knocked her about the room, forced her head through a pane of glass, and pounded her on the head with a stove lifter.

Augusta, Me., with only 8,000 population, pays nearly as much for schools as Bangor with 16,758 population. Augusta pays more per scholar than any city in Maine.

James G. Sumner, who eight weeks ago married Julia A. Fox, daughter of Mayor James A. Fox of Cambridge, Mass., committed suicide at the residence of his father-in-law, Thursday morning last, by shooting himself twice with a pistol. Mrs. Sumner, who occupied a separate room from her husband, went to his room in the forenoon and was horrified at finding him dead. The relations between deceased and his wife, and between them both and others members of the family, were entirely harmonious, and there is no doubt the deed was caused by temporary insanity.

On the night of April 2d, Dr. Sherve of Lincoln Centre, Me., dreamed he had died in a fit, and that he was being buried alive. He awoke and related the dream to his wife, adding "if anything happens to me, don't allow me to be buried for four days." The next day, after a few hours' illness, he died. He was kept until the 7th, when no signs of returning life being apparent, he was buried.

On a recent Sunday Mr. Beecher announced it as his belief that baptism was a non-essential ordinance of the church. It was pleasant enough and useful enough, but if a man died trusting in Christ it made no difference whether he had been sprinkled or immersed, or both, or neither.

A Romance in Real Life.

The Kennebec, Me., Journal tells the following story: Through the reverses of fortune a young lady in Ellsworth, named Agnes Bartlett, was compelled to earn her own living. She was as smart as a steel trap, accomplished and good looking. Like most Yankee girls she tried school teaching and giving music lessons, but the compensation was so meagre that she soon turned her talents in other directions. In response to an advertisement in the Journal last autumn she came to Augusta, and went to doing house work for one of our first families on State street. A rich uncle, who admired the young lady's spunk, improved his opportunity and has just "shuffled off this mortal coil." He has left a fortune of $20,000 to his enterprising young niece, who has resigned her position and gone home. It is also said that a young man in Augusta, who became enamored of the fair housekeeper before he knew that she was an heiress, is to share the prosperity of the deserving legatee.

—A New York paper says that twenty dollars will buy all the books worth reading. What stuff! Why, twenty dollars won't buy a full set of Beadle's dime novels, to say nothing of a copy of Hoyle and a base-ball guide.

The Horse Guards of Roxbury, Mass., have fixed upon June 22d as the date of their visit to this city and Newcastle. They will be accompanied by Higgins' band.

It is reported that the Laighton Brothers are to build a cottage upon Appledore island for a residence for a family out of the city. The parties interested went out in the steamer Pinafore on Saturday, to select a site.

Large quantities of cod are caught off Dover point and in its vicinity. Six were caught on Saturday by one boat weighing ten pounds each. Landlord Wiggin, of the Dover Point house, serves them up as he does everything, in the best style.

We saw a bare-footed boy in the street in front of our office, Saturday. He had probably stowed his shoes away in the wood-shed, or under the school-house steps, for he was not dressed like a boy who has no shoes. He was trying to force the season, but one bare-footed boy does not make a summer.

Schooner Addie & Hattie, Davis master, arrived on Sunday afternoon from her second trip eastward, with five thousand lobsters for Randall & Caswell. Capt. Davis reported that the schooner Mary E. Caswell, Downs master, left Wood island at the same time with him, early Sunday morning. When off Wells beach, Capt. Davis in looking astern saw that the Mary E. Caswell had gone ashore on Wells rock, about a mile off Wells beach. He saw a boat go to her from the shore, and laid-to his own vessel to see if she would signal him to return, but receiving no signal he came on to this port. At six o'clock Sunday evening Mr. Oliver Downs of this city received a telegram to send a tug to the schooner's assistance, and the Ann started early this morning. Mr. Levi Downs, the schooner's master, has his all invested in the vessel, and has no insurance on her.

There was a strong smell of smoke in the vicinity of the south pond one evening last week, and the boys of Kearsarge engine company made every preparation to go tearing up street with their engine in three different directions at the first signal of an alarm, but as the smoke was found to come from a bonfire they went quietly to their homes without a smile.

The following letter, dated from the Boston office of the Eastern railroad, April 22d, explains itself:

HON. W. H SISE, Portsmouth, N. H.

Dear Sir; I am in receipt of yours of the 20th, enclosing a petition from your leading business men asking for improved train facilities. We have the spring schedule under way, and will do our best to conform to your wishes.

Yours truly, E. B. PHILLIPS, Pres'd.

Mr. Neil Burgess draws large and uproariously delighted audiences to the Gaiety Theatre, to witness his famous assumption of the Widow Bedott, in his dramatic version of Mrs. Whicher's novel. It is but a little while since the piece and the impersonation were fully noticed in this column. There is no doubt of the entire success of the work with the general public. The humor is a very genuine specimen of its kind, it is extremely abundant, and it is rooted in shrewd observation of life and manners. Mr. Burgess' support is substantially as before.—Boston Advertiser.

At Music hall on Wednesday evening.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Apr. 23; Batchelder, J.

Charles Dickerman was arraigned for selling liquor to Bertha Brown. In evidence it appeared that Dickerman was not present at the time the alleged sale was made, and he was discharged.

John W. Reardon, assault on Daniel Lynch, case continued to Wednesday forenoon, and defendant required to recognize in $2000 for his appearance at that time.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

That there will be a large audience at Music hall to-morrow evening was assured by the advance sale of tickets on Saturday; but there should be a crowded house, for we have seen but little of the legitimate drama lately, and Mrs. Scott-Siddons in Shakespeare is an attraction of unusual merit. Of her assumption of "Rosalind" in "As you like it" a contemporary says:

Rosalind is by no means one of those placid parts of which it is said they play themselves, but requires the utmost finesse, the most thorough art, and the rarest delicacy of treatment. While drawn in a direct and even course of characterization, it is graced by such spirit, and abounds in such beauties of detail that an actress must possess a nature keenly sensitive to each phase of its being to comprehend and define its exquisite integrity. Mrs. Scott-Siddons is fortunate in the possession of such an organization. Her qualifications for the performance of fine comedy parts, such as this, are surprisingly great. She has succeeded in establishing unmistakably her right to recognition as an actress of rare ability, of clever, artistic merit. Her performance was one of intelligence, from the coy scene, wherein Rosalind betrays her sudden liking for Orlando, to the incident of her restoration to propriety of the merry, witty, capricious Ganymede.

STABBING AFFRAY.

A shocking affair took place at the west end, Friday night, in which the knife was used by one man upon another with terrible effect. The parties to the affair were Daniel Lynch and John M. Reardon, both employes in the malt-house of the Jones brewery, and the facts in the case, as near as we can learn, were as follows:

Shortly before the stabbing, Lynch entered the house of John White on Albany street, where Reardon boarded, and charged the latter with having made injurious statements concerning him (Lynch) to men in the brewery. Lynch got much excited, and was told by Reardon to keep cool and quiet, and that he (Reardon) would next morning confront the men at the brewery, and prove that the statements concerning the injurious stories were not true. After some further conversation there was a struggle between the two men, and Reardon stabbed Lynch in the left side of the abdomen.

Although this occurred at ten o'clock at night, no report of it was made until after nine o'clock Saturday morning, when the police were notified by Dr. Potter, who was called to attend the injured man. Marshal Entwistle and Asst. Marshal Gray at once arrested Reardon and locked him up; and City Solicitor Foster went to the residence of Lynch and took his ante-mortem deposition. Saturday afternoon Reardon was taken before Judge Batchelder, the case being continued to Wednesday forenoon, the 27th inst., defendant being committed to jail in default of sureties in the sum of $2000. The wounded man was reported to be sinking throughout the day, Saturday, and his death was considered only a question of a few hours.

Another account of the fracas is that Reardon, who boarded at Lynch's house nearly all winter, owed Lynch for board, and that on Friday night the latter asked Reardon for the money due him, whereupon Reardon disputed the bill, saying he did not owe so much. Upon this Lynch pushed him down, and possibly struck him. Immediately thereafter Lynch felt the knife, and catching Reardon's right arm held it away from him, the knife being in the prisoner's hand. On being arrested Reardon voluntarily confessed to using the knife, and gave it to the city marshal. It is a large jack-knife, the blade of which is about three inches long, and very sharp.

Lieut. J. F. Moury is ordered to special duty, and Lieut. B. L. Edes to examination for promotion.

Lieut. F. D. Webster, U. S. M. C., was a member of a court martial in session at the Washington navy last week.

Chief Engineer B. F. Garvin, U. S. N., has entered upon his duties as chief of the steam engineering department of the Norfolk navy yard.

The reinstatement of Paymaster Bellows by President Hayes has caused an unusual degree of opposition in the pay corps of the navy, and a determined effort is making to have it set aside by the present secretary of the navy.

Naval officers say that Admiral Porter has again became the active adviser of the secretary of the navy on all matters relating to his department. The admiral has had little to do with affairs of the navy for five or six years.

Commodore Temple having secured the approval of the board of rear-admirals appointed to report upon his proposition relative to small flag-ships, he is looking about for a naval constructor to make the plans for such a vessel as he proposes. It is probable that either Naval Constructor Fernald, at Philadelphia, or Naval Constructor Wilson, of this city, will be selected.

Three of the prisoners who escaped from the house of correction in Lawrence, Mass., on the 19th inst., were captured at Derry on the 22d.

In Massachusetts when a criminal is sentenced to be hanged, he can write and publish what he pleases, and newspaper reporters may interview him as much as they like. Under the old regime in this state the criminal had the dungeon all to himself, and was not allowed to see any man except his keepers and spiritual advisers. If he wrote anything it was fixed up, and notwithstanding assurances to the contrary, it was given to the Concord papers in advance of the Manchester and Nashua papers, and that, too, when correspondents were on the spot pledging that if furnished with a copy, it should not see the light, except jointly with the Concord papers.—Telegraph.

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

A War Incident.

While the Union army lay at Harrison's Landing in July, 1862, quite an amusing incident occurred, which will bear relating.

It is well-known that the river forms a loop about the landing, enveloping some considerable territory, and that the neck connecting with the mainland is quite narrow. Across this neck, immediately upon our occupation, we constructed a breastwork, mounted guns, etc., for defense, and to guard against surprises or sudden attacks on the part of the enemy, maintained a heavy picket line still in advance.

Upon one of the posts there happened to be stationed, along toward the middle of July, a detail of some half dozen men from different regiments, and among the number a raw recruit from the backwoods of Maine. The day was excessively hot, and, apprehending no danger, the old "vets" withdrew to a cool retreat, leaving the recruit on guard in the edge of an open field, from whence he could observe the approach of unwelcome visitors.

We had just gotten into a comfortable snooze when "bang" went a shell, the pieces of which cut the branches above our heads, and whistled about us altogether too closely for our comfort of mind. Immediately every man was on his feet. The works in our rear were manned and every preparation made to meet the enemy, who, it was supposed, was close at hand. One thing rather puzzled all hands. No one had heard the report of a gun preceding that of the exploding shell. What could it mean?

Forming a skirmishing line, we moved cautiously forward toward where the recruit had left. The point was reached, but the embryo soldier had disappeared. There was a slight hummock or knoll in the corner of the field, close up to the timber, which attracted the attention of one of the men. Examination showed the imprint of a spherical body, and the freshly-torn-up earth and other signs immediately assured us all that a shell had burst there.

Prosecuting the search still further, the gun of the missing comrade was found resting against a tree in the edge of the woods, and in a few moments the body of the owner of the weapon was found lying senseless—dead, to all appearances—under a fringe of bushes a few feet from where the missile had evidently exploded. His clothes were torn into shreds—he was covered with dirt, blood and powder stains, but yet upon rolling him over and carefully examining his person no wounds could be detected further than those made by grains of powder or other fine substances, which had punctured the skin, and numerous scratches, principally about the face.

One of the boys poured a canteen of water over him, and another produced a small flask and allowed a few drops of "commissary" to trickle between the half-closed jaws down his throat. In five minutes all were rejoiced to see the eyes of the seeming dead man unclose. Lifting him up to a sitting posture one poured water on his head, another whiskey down his throat, and everybody plied him with questions, but to these he made no response. There was a vacant, far-away look in his eyes, and when asked, "What's the matter?" he only answered: "I don't know." "Where are you hurt?" "I don't know"—until the potent liquor had taken firm hold of him. Presently, sitting upon the ground, his feet straight out before him, one hand resting upon the earth by his side, he drawled out: "Gaul darn the old thing; it did bust, arter all!"

That was all to be got from him. He was sent to the hospital, where he remained for some little time, for he had been fearfully shaken up, as was subsequently ascertained.

It appeared that he had found an unexploded shell—one of those thrown at us by the small detachment of confederates which followed our retreating column, and having partially removed the fuse-cap, which, according to his story, was intact, had broken a cartridge into the cavity and entered upon a series of experiments with a burning glass he chanced to have. He had flashed two charges by focusing the rays of the sun, and sat upon the ground with the shell planted upon the hummock between his legs, when at the third flash it went off—himself with it. That was the way it happened, and it is doubtful if a similar occurrence could again take place, providing a person willing to make the experiment could be found, with as little real damage as resulted to the raw recruit from Maine in pursuit of knowledge.

Charles Cosgrove!

who has not been able to attend to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and says: For years I was troubled with Brights disease of the kidneys. The doctors gave me up. Through an eastern friend I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now am almost well. Keith sells them.—San Francisco Call.

—Many mothers object to their daughters marrying, but Mrs. Houghton excelleth them all. The following advertisement, signed by Amy Houghton's mother, appears in Philadelphia papers: "I caution all persons authorized to perform the marriage ceremony not to marry my daughter to any one."

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing it before the public; but from the daily testimony by a great number of the rare vitalizing and health-renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require the Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above named disease, even though reduced to a very low state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880.

Dear Sir: Allow me to say that I esteem your "Hypophosphites" most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it myself with the most satisfactory results, and have introduced it to a large number of my people.

REV. R. W. HAIRE, Pastor St. Michel's Catholic Church.

News and Notes.

In Yonkers, N. Y., last week, Mrs. Nina E. E. Arnüt, aged twenty-six years, was married to Washington Nathan, aged thirty-three. Mr. Nathan is the son of the late Benjamin Nathan. Mrs. Nathan is the only living daughter of Col. Mapleson, the operatic manager. She was married about nine years ago to Capt. Arnut of the marine corps of the British navy, and had four children, two of whom, a boy and a girl, are now living. Mrs. Arnut, a year or more ago, obtained a divorce from her husband. Capt. Arnut's sister, who took Mrs. Arnut's side in the differences ending in the divorce suit, died in the winter of 1879-80, and left her about £10,000. Mrs. Arnut came to New York in the spring of 1880. She then went abroad again, and it is only a few months since she returned to this country. It is stated that she first became acquainted with Mr. Nathan abroad, probably at Nice, where she was accustomed to spend her winters. Mrs. Arnut was at the St. James hotel before her marriage. The newly wedded pair, with the children, are now living at a boarding house in Fifth avenue, New York.

American dealers purchased nearly 300 horses at Montreal last week, at a cost of $28,000, and shipped them across the line. The trade has never been so active as it is this season, the weekly amount expended by dealers from American cities averaging about $30,000. The animals in greatest request are the Clydesdales, which are bred extensively all over the Dominion.

On Saturday night the barn of Daniel S. Wood in Dracut, Mass., was entered, and a bay mare and gold-mounted harness stolen. Going a mile further a thoroughbraced wagon was stolen from another farmer. No trace is left as to the direction taken by the thief.

Rose B. Gennings, a little daughter of Joseph Gennings of Hampden, Me., has been burned to death. Her clothes caught fire from a roadside bonfire.

On Saturday afternoon a fish pedlar named James Tracy killed a married woman named Mrs. Eliza A. Pope, living at the north end of Boston, by beating her with a stick and kicking her. He was arrested, together with a young girl named McManus, who was found in the room with the others, and who was held as a witness.

Fabier Cyr and a man named Golding have been drowned in the St. Johns river at Fort Kent, Me.

Charles H. Sloan of Stamford, Conn., was drowned the other day by the capsizing of a sail boat.

The Farragut statue in Washington was unveiled on Monday. President Garfield accepted the statue on behalf of the nation, and Horace Maynard delivered an oration. An immense and brilliant assemblage was present.

A Chelsea, Vt., man has recently refunded to the town the amount, with interest, that the town paid out in assisting his father forty years ago.

A little daughter of John Lucy of Wallingford, Conn., has been fatally burned by her clothes catching fire from a bonfire.

Currant Worms.

A writer in the Fruit Recorder says there is no necessity of breeding currant worms. This is done by leaving bushes untrimmed, the worms always attacking the new growth first. He says:—"My plan is this: In starting a currant patch I confine the bush not to exceed from two to three main stems, and give all the strength of the root to their support. As hinted above, sprouts will start from the roots each spring; but they must be rubbed off when about six inches long. All currant growers are aware that worms first make their appearance on the new growth, and then spread over the bush. Consequently, no sprouts, no worms. This is just as plain as that two and two make four. I have followed this plan for the last two years to my satisfaction and have barely seen the effect of worms on one or two bushes where my plan was not fully carried out. But such currants I never saw grow, the common red Dutch being nearly as large as the cherry currant, and a better bearer. I had a few bushes that actually broke down from their load of fruit."

Rearing Calves.

A motherless calf can be fattened on new milk by feeding, as well as by sucking it from the cow, but it will take a little time to get it accustomed to taking its food in that way. It can also be fattened upon other food, if that is what is desired, by taking time enough to habituate it to an unnatural diet. By making the change very gradual, and giving the food warm, a calf can be made to grow fat upon skim-milk either sweet or sour, but better when the skim-milk is sweet. Of course it will not fatten as fast on skim as on new milk, and it will require a longer time to reach the same result, but the time can be very much shortened by adding a spoonful or two, at first, of molasses, and slowly increasing as the calf becomes larger and stronger. There is hardly any food which will make an animal, young or old, lay on fat faster than molasses, but it must not be used too freely. Hay tea, if one has time and patience to make it, may be gradually substituted for skim-milk; or the milk, little by little, can be replaced with oil meal dissolved in hot water. An authority at my elbow says bean soup fed as above, warm and thin, will put on both fat and flesh rapidly.—Professor L. B. Arnold.

—A boy does not always get much comfort out of his first cigar, but he gets a heap of experience.

—"Look here," said Gus De Smith to a newspaper reporter, "you tell me a couple of good jokes: I want to get 'em off as original, you know, at a little social gathering to-night. I'll lend you five dollars if you do." "Can't possibly do it. If you get off the jokes everybody will know you stole them, and if it leaks out that I've got five dollars, people will think the same of me." And hence the dead-lock still continues.

AROUND HOME.

"Widow Bedott" will receive at Music hall to-morrow evening.

The steamer Acushnet leaves Boston for this port to-day at one o'clock.

Preparations are being made to put the U. S. S. Lancaster into the dry dock.

On Thursday evening, the 28th inst., a Sunday school entertainment will be given at the Court street Christian church. The public are invited.

North Berwick now has two papers, the Bawneg Beg Monitor, (wretchedly clumsy name,) edited by John E. Hammond, and the Advance.

Schooner Orville Horwitz, Kelsey, arrived in the lower harbor Sunday evening, and was towed up to Concord railroad wharf on Monday, with 1070 tons of coal for the coal-pockets.

The Twenty-third regiment of infantry, U. S. A., to which First Lieut. Fred L. Dodge of this city is attached, sent out the crack team to Creedmore last year, and carried off the honors.

Sixteen persons are now engaged in the lobster fishery at Bra' Boat Harbor, Kittery. They work in couples, and have met with fair success since they commenced operations this spring.

The managers of the recent go-as-you-please race in Dover declared a dividend of four hundred and twenty per cent on the capital stock, after paying all expenses connected with the affair.

A college professor has purchased a farm in Kittery, and carries it on largely by his own labor; his wife, an educated and refined lady, not unfrequently lending him a hand in the out-of-doors work, and evidently enjoying it. †

Mr. M. Garrity, at No. 18 1-2 Daniel street, is now ready to deliver Milwaukee bock beer and Closson's New York bock, in any quantity, and freshly bottled each day. These bocks are claimed to be among the very best brews in the market.

The barkentine Lucile placed one hundred and sixty hogsheads of salt on board the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Monday forenoon, and the balance of her cargo was discharged by six o'clock in the afternoon. She will take in one hundred and seventy-five tons of ballast before sailing.

This evening, at Music hall, Mrs. Scott-Siddons appears as "Rosalind" in Shakespeare's comedy "As you like it." The advance sale of tickets has been much larger than has ordinarily been the case of late, and the noted and attractive actress will be greeted by a numerous audience. There are still good seats to be secured, but the number is not large, and any person intending to go to the entertainment to-night and who has not secured a chair, had best call at Preston's as soon as convenient.

The 24th inst. was the semi-centennial birth-day of G J. Greenleaf, Esq., an honored member of the Humbug Yachting & Fishing Association, and the occasion was observed—of course by a trip down river—by the full association and a number of invited guests. A landing was made at Pocahontas point, and dinner was served on the hospitable table of Seaside Lodge; the viands, coffee, etc., were delicious and abundant, the day bright and beautiful, the temperature just right, and all went merry as a marriage bell. On the return trip it was unanimously voted by the association that the host of the day should be permitted to have a semi-centennial twice a year if he so wished, and that the association would duly honor such occasion whenever it might occur.

See advertisement in another column of "Sales ladies wanted; drawer 1179, Boston, Mass."

It is now said that Daniel Lynch, who was stabbed by Reardon on Friday night, is in a fair way to recover.

Sunday last, April 24th, was the 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Vaughan, who were joined together by Elder Moses How.

The Hunt place, so called, on Gerrish's island, was broken into on Friday night of last week, and some silver ware, the property of Mr. Wm. Godfrey, stolen.

Schooner Henry E. Williard arrived at the navy yard on Monday forenoon, discharged her cargo of powder, and was towed out in the afternoon by the steamer Mystic.

The family of the late Isaiah Wilson have presented the Mechanics Association with an excellent likeness of that gentleman, who was president of the association in 1873-74. There are now eighteen of the ex-presidents likenesses hanging in the reading room and a dozen or more that are wanting.

Sunday morning, as the schooners Paragon and Telegraph were being towed down river, the hawser of the Paragon parted, leaving the vessels at the mercy of the tide; but Capt. Amee, of the tug Naumkeag, who is prompt on all occasions, soon got another line to the schooner, just in time to prevent a collision.

On Monday forenoon Mr. John Lawrence of Kittery had got about thirty feet from Pier wharf, in a dory containing a lot of lumber, when his boat careened, throwing him into the water. The steamer Fearless happened to be coming down the river at the time, picked him up and carried him to the shore. Mr. Lawrence was in a helpless state, owing to the bad condition of one of his legs.

There is, perhaps, no woman on the American stage to-day, saving Sarah Bernhardt alone, who has or does occupy so much of the public notice as Mrs. Scott-Siddons. The name she bears has been famous in the theatrical world for a century. A hundred years ago Sarah Siddons and John P. Kemble were as famous upon the English stage as Irving and Bernhardt are to-day. They were a race of actors. The old fire and genius remains in the present representative of the race.—Springfield Monitor.

The schooner Satellite, Adderton master, last week brought from Boston for the Burnham place, Gerrish's island, a cargo consisting of sixty cords of manure, several hundred cedar posts, cedar rails, fence wire, farming tools, etc. The vessel being of very light draught, hauled right in on the beach of the little cove near the farm buildings, and discharged her cargo directly into carts that were brought alongside as soon as the tide got low enough. There is another cargo in Boston for the same place, but it is not certain that the Satellite will care to take it.

JAMES T. FIELDS.

On Sunday evening last, at his residence in Boston, James Thomas Fields died very suddenly while sitting in a chair at his home, with his wife reading to him. He had been ill for some time, but his death was not looked for so soon. He was born in this city, Dec. 31st, 1820, but had lived in Boston almost half a century. His literary career, as a poet, editor, publisher and lecturer, has been one of marked success.

SOUTH PARISH MEETING.

The annual meeting of the South Parish was held on Monday afternoon. William H. Hackett was chosen moderator. Jos. Hiller Foster was unanimously re-elected parish clerk; and the board of wardens of last year, to wit, Messrs. Wm. H. Sise, John W. Parsons, John Laighton, John P. Hart and William W. Cotton, were re-elected without opposition.

The annual appropriations were voted, substantially the same as last year, excepting that for music, for which twelve hundred dollars was appropriated.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

MONDAY, April 25th.

Lyon, the horse thief, was brought into court this morning, and having pleaded guilty to the indictment against him for stealing Mr. Winchester's horse, the court sentenced him to be confined in the state prison, at hard labor, for the term of three years.

Charles W. Warren, indicted for bigamy, pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced to the state prison for two years.

A jury was empanelled in the suit of Dow vs. Town of Atkinson, which is a controversy about the value of real estate which was taken from the plaintiff to make a public cemetery in Atkinson. The jury left by the afternoon train to view the premises, and the trial is to commence Tuesday.

State vs. Richard C. Lawrence, indicted for shooting with intent to kill Julia A. Lawrence, his wife, at Chester on the 16th of February last, trial commenced Monday afternoon and will be continued Tuesday. Attorney General Tappan and G. C. Bartlett for the state, and General Marston for the defendant.

WRECK.

A telegram was received on Monday morning from Capt. Downs, after the tug had started for the eastward, countermanding the request for aid, as the Mary E. Caswell had sunk during the night, her sails, fishing gear, etc., having been saved.

The wrecked schooner registered fourteen tons, and was owned solely by Capt. Downs. She was built for a fisherman, but for a number of years was owned by the Laighton Brothers at the Shoals, and used during the summer as a tender to the Appledore house, for taking out fishing and sailing parties. Two winters ago she was driven upon the rocks at the Shoals by a storm, dismasted and stove; the wreck was given to Mr. Downs by the owners, and he had her put in excellent condition, at considerable expense. He is a hard working, worthy man, and merits sympathy in his misfortune.

The tug Ann arrived from Wells beach an Monday afternoon, bringing the crew of the Mary E. Caswell, and all the materials saved from the wreck. Capt. Downs reports that the schooner struck on Wells ledge Sunday forenoon after the tide had ebbed about two feet, hitting the rocks hard, as she was going very fast at the time. The schooner Addie & Hattie was about a mile and a half distant when the accident occurred, and the ensign was immediately set Union down, but no notice was taken of it by the Addie & Hattie, so far as Capt. Downs saw, she not even heaving-to. Leander Perkins, a Mr. Hatch, and other dwellers along Wells beach whose names Capt. Downs does not know, very soon came off in boats and rendered generous and valuable aid in stripping the wreck, which was done so effectually that only one anchor, the foremast and one shroud of the fore-rigging were left behind when the wreck was abandoned. The heavy swell setting into the bay soon ground the schooner's bottom out to such an extent that she would have been worthless even if she could have been towed in, and the dismantled and shattered hulk floated off the ledge at high water, and drifted away. Capt. Downs speaks in the most grateful terms of the Wells people, who were untiring in their endeavors to render help; and the proprietors of the Atlantic house and the Cove cottage did not spare their hospitalities.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.

The Eastern railroad company has arranged its rates of fares and its train schedules for the coming season. The service given last summer was so much more liberal than ever before, and so satisfactory, that radical changes this season were not expected or even asked for. Quite a reduction of rates, has, however, been made to some points, and quite a number of additional trains will be run, beginning May 30th. Two extra trains each way will be put on the Swampscott branch, and one train each way between Boston and Newburyport.

An improved schedule of time for the train leaving Dover at 6:45 A. M. and this city at 7:15 has been made, by which this train is to run express between Newburyport and Boston, reaching the latter city at about nine o'clock instead of at 9:20 as at present.

The statement made a few days ago that some managers of railroads leading out of Boston were considering the advisability of reducing their passenger fares is justified by the announcement that the Eastern road will cut down its commutation rates between Boston and stations as far east as Newburyport. The reduction amounts to not over five cents a ride in any case, and for the most part applies only to stations between Lynn and Newburyport.

When the summer arrangement of the Maine Central and Eastern railroads takes effect, the regular morning and evening trains on the former road will have one or more second-class cars attached, in which the fare from Boston to Bangor will be but $4, and from Portland to Bangor about $2.75. The fares in first-class cars are $6 from Boston to Bangor, and $4.25 from Portland to Bangor.

FIRE AT CAPE NEDDICK.

On Sunday evening a disastrous fire occurred in Cape Neddick, York, burning the Cape Neddick house, stable and outbuildings, and the house of Mr. Samuel Adams, which was in close proximity to the hotel. The fire commenced in the stable at about half-past nine o'clock, and rapidly spreading, in a short time laid the buildings in ashes. Mr. Stephen E. Grant, the proprietor of the hotel, had a cow burned, and a horse so badly injured that it was necessary to kill him. A peddler who was stopping at the house and his horse and carriage burned. Mr. Asahel Goodwin, who keeps a grocery store on the opposite side of the street, took out a part of his goods, and lost quite a quantity of them through their being stolen. The hotel, stable and barn were insured in the Commonwealth company for $2500; the furniture, hay, grain, carriages, etc., were insured in the La Confiance of New York for $3000. There was $600 on the furniture belonging to Mr. Adams, and the house is said to have been fully insured. Mr. Grant had his hands badly burned in attempting to save his property. The traveller was also badly hurt through kicks received from his horse while attempting to get him out of the stall. The glare of the fire was seen for many miles, and was quite distinct in this city.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

MUSIC IN DOVER.

A musical entertainment which took place on the Great Falls road in Dover on the night of the 19th inst., reminded all who were there of Gilmore's Peace Jubilee concerts in Boston, where the martial music was rendered more impressive by an artillery accompaniment. Mr. Charles Moore of Dover, who took unto himself a wife the week previous, was called upon at his residence on Monday evening, the 18th, by a large party of musicians, but was not at home, a fact which the serenaders discovered after they had been wasting their sweetness on the desert air for about an hour, upon which they retired, returning on the following night. This time Mr. Moore was in the house, and no sooner did the sweet strains of the music commence to arise than a window-sash did the same, and five pistol-shots in rapid succession were heard, one bullet whizzing close to the head of one of the leading performers—the fog-horn soloist—while the other four went humming along higher in the air. The band immediately adjourned. The man with the fog-horn stepped into a ditch while going as he pleased across a mowing field, and planted the pit of his stomach with such energy against one end of the fog-horn as to drive the other end of that instrument into the ground to the depth of fifteen inches; while the bass drum was passed over a wall with so much zeal that it completely enveloped a musician who had stopped on the other side to take breath, his head sticking out of one end of the drum, and his feet out of the other. The whole affair was a surprising success, particularly the gunpowder accompaniment.

Centaur Liniment.

Developments are reported at Baltimore showing several million dollars have been taken out in life insurance on old, infirm and decrepit people, many being paupers.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

John Mohr, the father of a boy named Augustus Mohr, who died at the charity hospital in Jersey City, N. J., from the effects of a beating administered by his father, committed suicide by hanging himself in his room, Saturday.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and imperished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Francis Pratt of South Weymouth, Mass., was found dead in his room, Friday. He was habitually in possession of considerable money, and it is known that he had from $100 to $200 with him, shortly before his death. Only nine cents have been found, and the supposition is that some of his chums found him dead, and rifled his pockets.

The Cost of It.

If the total cost of sickness simply in its business aspects were reckoned up, it would be found to be great enough in five years to pay the national debt. The merchant has a headache, from a fit of indigestion, and misses a good bargain. The lawyer does the same with a case. To say nothing about doctors' fees, etc., it don't pay to be even a little sick. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is a friend of the business man, for it clears his brain. One dollar a bottle. Rondout, N. Y.

It is reported that the treasurer of the De Lesseps Canal company has absconded with $30,000,000 of the company's funds.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

It is no longer an idle dream or boasting to affirm that Fellows' Hypophosphites, wherein are united nature's forces, will strengthen man and make his life not only endurable, but sparkling with rude and joyous health. Fellows' Hypophosphites supplies the ingredients which constitute healthy blood, and imparts the elements which give vitality.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will accrue a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Vennor's Weather.

Vennor is out with his predictions for May. He says we shall experience a heated term after May 10th, and after the 15th brush fires will probably break out in certain districts, although thunder storms are also probable on the 13th and 15th. Between the 20th and 25th there will probably be cloudy weather, with rains, and vegetation will have advanced considerably by the 24th. Between the 20th and 25th the weather will be cool. The month will end hot and sultry.

Queer Refuge for Counterfeiters.

A plot to escape from the penitentiary among the negro convicts at Columbia, S. C., has been discovered and frustrated. During the investigations a band of counterfeiters was discovered among the white convicts, and counterfeiting materials found in their cells. Large quantities of coin silver dollars, fifty cent pieces and quarters were also found. These base coins were so skillfully made that but for their light weight no bank clerk could have detected their spurious character. It is said that Columbia is flooded with this money. Several of the guards are implicated, and Wm. Lowry, one of the guards, is under arrest.

Sunflowers.

The good qualities of sunflowers are again being urged upon the attention of farmers. Somebody undoubtedly has "seeds" to sell. The seed of sunflowers is said to be excellent for poultry, and the stalks good for cattle to eat. Several years ago sunflowers were highly extolled, and it was recommended to plant them among potatoes to partly shade the ground and improve the tubers. We planted one or two seeds in each hill of potatoes on three-fourths of an acre. They grew well, and excited much comment from the neighbors and those passing along the road, who could not imagine for what purpose a sane man should plant such a large piece to sunflowers. They were harvested in due season, and the stalks had to be pulled from the potato hills, potatoes and all along with the dense mass of roots. The seeds when shelled from the heads which grew on three-fourths of an acre would have measured, probably, a bushel and a half. The hens ate them, but a bushel of corn would have been worth more than the whole lot. As for cattle eating the stalks, we should as soon expect them to eat goad-sticks.—Lewiston Journal.

—A man in Guilford, Conn., who was too poor to indulge in any luxuries other than children, was presented by a loving but unreckoning wife with triplets—three boys—and he sought for some family to adopt them. Mr. Clark was rather inclined to take them, but his good wife thought one would perhaps be enough. They were talking it over before their little eight-year-old daughter, who said, "Why don't we take one of them, ma?—or don't they want to break the set?"

GUILFORD, CT., May 15th, 1868.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON.

PADUCAH, KY., May 10th, 1867.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1881.

The Senatorial Question.

The question of Senatorial representation is an important one for the people of New Hampshire. Rising far above all considerations of a party or personal character, is the problem we are called upon to solve, not only in regard to the approaching expiration of the term of our senior senator in Congress,—but as the term of each senator closes, the question unless legally and properly settled now will arise and be the source of embarrassment to future legislatures. The official term of Senator Rollins expires on the 4th of March, 1883. The legislature which must elect a successor is either the legislature which meets in June next, or in June 1883. If the former should elect there will occur no vacancy (from the reason of non-election at least;) if the body convening in '83 is to choose, there would be an interruption in the representation of the state in the Senate of the United States.

The Constitution of the United States provides that "The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof," and that the "times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; butthe Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators."

The effect of these provisions clearly is:

First. To give to the legislatures of the states, respectively, the right to choose senators in the Congress.

Second. To give to the legislatures of the states, respectively, the exclusive power to fix the places of electing senators, and in the absence of action by Congress the power to prescribe the times and manner of electing senators.

Third. To give to Congress the paramount right at any time by law to make or alter regulations as to the times and manner of choosing senators by the legislature of each state.

In the exercise of the power thus given by the Constitution of the United States, Congress passed the act relating to election of senators, approved July 25, 1866, (14-Stat. at Large, p. 243). The provisions of this act were incorporated into the Revised Statutes, and are found in section fourteen, chapter first, title two of that volume, as follows:

The legislature of each state which is chosen next preceeding the expiration of the time for which any senator was elected to represent such state in Congress, shall, on the second Tuesday after the meeting and organization thereof, proceed to elect a senator in Congress.

Since the change in the session of our legislature to biennial terms under the amended constitution in 1876, the question has been carefully considered, and when Ex-Senator Charles H. Bell went with his credentials, as an appointee of Gov. Prescott to the Senate chamber, in the spring of 1879, after Mr. Wadleigh's term as senator expired on the 4th of March, the late Senator Carpenter upon the question of Mr. Bell's admission, remarked:

In March, 1878, a legislature was elected in New Hampshire to continue in office until the first Wednesday of June next, 1879. That legislature is still in full existence as the legislature of the state. In that body, elected in March, 1878, to-day is lodged the legislative power of New Hampshire. If on any sudden emergency the governor of that state was compelled to convene the legislature to-day, under that call the legislature elected in March, 1878, would assemble. They are to-day the only body of men in that state possessing legislative power, or who could assemble and act under a proclamation from the governor of that state in any emergency which required legislation. In June, 1878, the legislature held a session continuing through the month of June, and in July adjourned sine die. That was the session of the legislature which by the constitution and laws of New Hampshire, then in force, was the last legislature that would convene in ordinary session before the term of Mr. Wadleigh in the Senate would expire.

Considerable debate followed. There appears to have been no partisan consideration of the case, but a desire to properly and legally decide it. Mr. Bell was admitted, but the question not having been definitely settled, an enabling act was sought to be passed. Senator Rollins at some length clearly explained the condition of affairs, and sought to have Congress pass a law which should forever settle the question. A bill went to the proper committee, and came back amended, so that it read:

That it shall and may be lawful for the legislature of the state of New Hampshire, whose constitutional term commences next preceding the expiration of the term of a senator in Congress from said state, to choose a senator to fill the term which will so expire.

Perhaps the best exposition of the state of affairs as they now exist, may be seen in the remarks of Senator Edmunds of our neighboring state of Vermont, confessedly one of the ablest lawyers in the Senate, who on that occasion insisted that—

If the act of 1866 is to be construed that way, then I think it is an invasion of the constitutional right of the state of New Hampshire and any other state that may be so situated to elect a senator in time to begin to represent his state when the senatorial term begins. But I think in view of the Constitution that the act of 1866 may be fairly construed according to its spirit, and not strictly to its letter. The spirit and purport of the act of 1866, as I understand it, and as I understood it when it was passed, was to withdraw from preceding legislatures that had sessions two or three years before and between which and the next vacancy there was to be another legislature not only elected but sitting, the right to go on and fill vacancies for the next three or four years, which, or something like it, had happened in one or two cases, that produced great difficulty. That was the idea.

I think, then, that fairly, if we construe the act of 1866 according to its spirit and apply it to the circumstances, it can be made and construed to the requirement simply that the last constitutional meeting of the legislature of a state under its constitution preceding a 4th of March when a vacancy is to be filled has the right to fill it, although the mere letter of the act says "last elected." However that may be, it might be wise, and I think it is, if there is any doubt about it, to change the law so as to make it clear.

It appears to me instead of saying "the state of New Hamphsire," we ought to say "any state," so that if there be any other state in the the Union so situated in respect of its own constitutional arrangements that under the letter of the act of 1866 construed that way it could not fill a vacancy in its representation in Congress, it would be included within this construing or enabling authority, and not have it confined specially to this one state.

Therefore I will move, if it is agreeable to the committee that reported the bill, to strike out of the amendment the words "the state of New Hampshire" and insert "any state," so as to read:

"That it shall and may be lawful for the legislature of any state, whose constitutional term commences next preceeding the expiration of the term of a senator in Congress from said state, to choose a senator to fill the term which will so expire."

According to understanding of the Constitution of the United States, that is precisely what the law is now. The Constitution declares that each state shall be entitled in the Congress of the United States to two senators, who shall hold their offices for a term of six years; and the members of the government under the Constitution have made those six years begin on the 4th day of March, that being the day on which the government under the Constitution went into operation.

I suppose nobody would doubt that the legislature commencing its session at a time next and last preceding the 4th of March, when a vacancy would occur in the representation of a state, would be the proper legislature to fill it, and that there could be no power in Congress to provide by any law for such a species of election as should leave the state debarred from electing a senator by its legislature lawfully assembled on the last occasion before the vacancy occurred. I should suppose that to be perfectly clear; but the act of Congress of 1866 did provide (evidently not foreseeing a state of things which might exist) that it should be the legislature last elected preceding the expiration of a term. Therefore, as in the case of New Hampshire, taking that language literally, a legislature elected in November last to meet under its constitution in June is the only legislature that is authorized to elect a senator in Congress, and therefore that the state of New Hampshire has no constitutional or legal right to have a senator in Congress by legislative election from the 4th of March until the meeting of the legislature of New Hampshire in June, because under the constitution of New Hampshire, which it has a right to make and to have in that way, the constitutional term of the members of its legislature runs over until June. Hence, if the governor were to convene a called session of the legislature to perform this duty, he would have to convene precisely the legislature that the act of Congress, reading it literally, says shall not elect.

We have not space for further extracts from the journal of the debate, but the opinion of the best legal minds of the Senate was and is that the legislature to be convened in June next is the proper body to elect a senator to serve after March, 1883, instead of the state being obliged to be represented in part in the Senate at the end of each term by an appointed senator, instead of one elected as required by law.

As we stated at the beginning, this is an important question not only for the present consideration of our members-elect of the General Court, but for all persons who desire to see the state properly represented on the floor of the Senate. It will be well if the coming legislature should elect, and when the newly-chosen senator presents his credentials he doubtless will at once be admitted. Again, if new men are to be chosen to this high and important office, the choice in June for the senatorial term to commence nine months later will afford new and untried men an opportunity to arrange their business affairs, and make other preparations for the service. In dealing with the question we trust the legislature will be governed only by a desire to have our state properly represented in the senatorial chamber, and if we see reproduced at the coming session that abundant supply of common sense which is usually displayed by the members of our General Court, we shall have no fears that the question will be improperly acted upon.

News and Notes.

A dead body, badly decomposed and not identified, was found in the woods at Oxford, Mass., Sunday. A pistol beside the body indicated it to be a case of suicide.

The trial of Mrs. Sarah E. Howe, president of the so-called "Ladies' Deposit" of Boston, was commenced in Boston last week, and concluded on Monday last. The jury after over an hour's deliberation returned a verdict of guilty on four counts of the indictment. Sentence deferred.

AROUND HOME.

The fishermen say fish were never more plenty in these waters at this season of the year than now, but a great scarcity of bait prevails.

One of the sights on Market square, Monday forenoon, was a boy just two and a half feet high trying to put a bridle on the head of a horse.

The contribution for the benefit of Mr. Allan Odell of Greenland, who had two horses drowned near the Spring market a short time ago, has reached the sum of over two hundred dollars.

The headstones supplied by the government for placing at the hitherto unmarked graves of deceased soldiers and sailors who served their country during the war of secession, are being put in position this week by the local post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The friends of Capt. Levi Downs, late of the schooner Mary E. Caswell, propose starting a subscription to aid him in purchasing an interest in a vessel. Mr. Downs is an industrious, worthy man, and the loss of his schooner not only leaves him penniless, but somewhat in debt.

Eastern railroad stock went up a bit in Boston on Monday. At the brokers' board 170 shares went at $40 each, ten shares at $40.25, one hundred shares at $40.50, and 255 shares at $40.75 each. On Tuesday, 270 shares went at $42, fifty-five shares at $42.25, and 360 shares at $42.50, each.

Mr. H. S. Hatch, who took charge of the American Union telegraph office in this city on the retirement of Miss Torrey, on Monday assumed the management of the Western Union (consolidated) office. Miss E. B. Thornton retains her position as assistant. Miss Maggie J. Nutter, who has had charge of the Western Union office for many years, has taken a similar position in Haverhill, Mass. The duties of night operator and signal service agent, hitherto performed by Mr. George H. Nutter, are assumed by Mr. Hatch.

The Supreme Court of the United States has rendered a decision in the suit of the Bartlett Land & Lumber Co. vs. Daniel Saunders, tried in the circuit court of the United States in this city, in May, 1878. The action was brought to recover a large tract of land in the eastern part of Grafton county, near Albany and Hart's location. The verdict was for Saunders, and the Land company carried the case upon a writ of error to the supreme court, where the judgment of the circuit court was on Monday affirmed. Hon. Ossian Ray and W. H. Putnam were counsel for the plaintiff; Messrs. Harry Bingham and A. R. Hatch for the defendant.

Capt. R. J. Davis, of the schooner Addie & Hattie, says that the statement that he refused to pay any attention to the signal of distress set by the schooner Mary E. Caswell when she went on Wells ledge last Sunday, does him cruel injustice. He was below at the time of the accident, with his vessel heading off shore, and was aroused after being below about half an hour, by the man at the helm, who said he thought the Mary E. Caswell was ashore. Capt. Davis asserts (and in this he is borne out by the statements of his crew) that he kept the glass upon the Mary E. Caswell for half an hour or more, and made two tacks during that time, but no signal was seen by himself or the other men on board the Addie & Hattie; and thinking she did not need assistance, no further attention was paid to her. The true solution of the matter undoubtedly is that the Mary E. Caswell's flag was blown out by the wind in such a direction as to be invisible to the men on board the other schooner.

Mrs. John Dean, of Kittery Foreside, has a large cacus plant on which 119 buds and blossoms were recently counted at one time.

Mr. Jeff. T. Lewis, of Kittery, had ten acres of woodland—a thrifty growth of young trees—ruined by a field fire about ten days ago.

York sends six young ladies to Brackett academy at Greenland, N. H., viz: Three Misses Barrell, Miss Putnam, Miss Thompson and Miss Glynn.

The ladies of the Methodist society at Spruce creek, Kittery, held a fair in their church on the 18th inst., and netted $40 for the general expenses of the church.

The law preventing the catching of small lobsters shows its good result in the increase of size of those which are brought into the market from the eastward this spring.

Mr. W. M. Walker, of York village, is to put up a two-story store at York harbor, to be run in connection with his present store at the village. The two establishments will be connected by telephone.

Eliot has wound up on surprise parties for this season, having commenced "surprising" early last fall, and kept it up until a week or so ago. The last three to be visited were Mrs. Wm. Shapleigh, Miss Jennie Jellison and Miss Lizzie Hill.

Mrs. Eleanor Grover, of Beech ridge, York, the oldest person in the town, and probably in York county, celebrated her 98th birthday on Saturday, the 23d inst. A large number of the venerable lady's neighbors, relatives and friends attended, and every one brought something useful, to leave behind when the party dispersed.

The Swampscot Machine Co., of South Newmarket, are working their full complement of men, between 175 and 200, and have orders to the full capacity of their shops. They make a specialty of engine and boiler work, though they do a general machine business. Among the larger jobs now on hand is an engine of twenty-inch cylinder for James Roberts & Son of Boston, tanners.

A gentleman returning from Ferry beach last Saturday afternoon met a team containing two very young gentlemen (about thirteen or fourteen years of age) and their equally-as-young girl friends. All four were smoking cigarettes, and seemed to be taking things agreeably and easily. Nothing daunted by spectators, they continued the demonstrations of happiness one would naturally expect from little Italian tambourine players, but hardly looked for in well-brought-up children of our own respectable community. Such things may be "jolly," but cannot help but strike the looker-on unfavorably. —Biddeford Times.

One of the attractions in the vicinity of the old Spring market was the oyster-stand. The eating house on the corner of the wharf has always continued to exist, and Mr. George H. Atkins, the present proprietor, is to have the oyster stand placed on the old site, and will deal the bivalves out as they did in the days of long ago. Twenty-five years ago one thousand bushels of oysters would supply our city trade for one year; in these days it takes from eight to ten thousand bushels to meet the demand.

Mr. Frank Frost of Eliot, in recently repairing his house, which is one of the most ancient ones in the town, found between the outside boarding and the inner wall a number of old articles. The most curious thing of the lot is a pair of eye-glasses, the glasses being suitable for the eyes of a middle-aged person, and set in tortoise-shell, the whole having a tortoise-shell case; the date 1740 is plainly distinguishable, and the "oldest inhabitant" cannot remember ever having seen a pair of glasses made like these. Mr. Frost also found a Massachusetts cent of date 1767; and a medal of moderate size, having on one side the Lord's Prayer, and on the reverse a representation of a young woman kneeling, with her hands on a bible, and a chair and bookcase in the background.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Apr. 26; Batchelder, J.

A rather unusual case was before the court, Dennis Murphy having been brought in to show cause, if any he had, who an old judgment of the court against him should not be affirmed. The circumstances were as follows: On the 21st of October last Murphy was complained of for an assault, and was ordered to pay $3 fine, $6.90 costs. From this sentence he appealed, and gave bonds to enter and prosecute his appeal at the then next term of the supreme court, since which time the matter had not been heard of, the appeal having never been entered. As this method of "settling" petty cases (by appealing, giving bonds to enter and prosecute the appeal, and then neglecting to enter it,) has been not uncommon, Judge Batchelder has concluded to stop that performance, so far at least as his court is concerned; and those who fail to carry out the provisions of an appeal will find themselves "snaked in" again, and summarily dealt with. As Murphy pleaded that he did not know that it was his duty to enter the appeal, the subsequent costs were not enforced against him, and he was discharged on payment of the original fine and costs.

WIDOW BEDOTT.

This evening at Music hall, Mr. Neil Burgess, as the "Widow Bedott," will entertain all comers with two or three hours of harmless fun. The piece has been played here before, and there is no need to say that it is the best thing of its kind on the road, and contains no objectionable features. We give a couple of extracts from Boston papers concerning it:

The large audience last evening was kept in constant laughter by the resistless humor of Mr. Neil Burgess and company, in the well-known "Widow Bedott." The piece was performed in Boston some time ago, and its revival will afford lovers of innocent, healthy mirth, abundant opportunity for gratification. The eccentricities of the Widow, and her genuine New England habits, afford two hours and a half of constant enjoyment.—Transcript.

The return of Widow Bedott is one of the events of the season. In the impersonation, Mr. Neil Burgess certainly has no equal. The sallies of laughter which nearly every moment break from the audience at the expression of features, or of speech by the Widow, fully attest the great pleasure afforded by the performance. Mr. Burgess is supported by his own company. Mr. Stoddart deserves a goodly share of honor for his very artistic impersonation.—Post.

WOMEN AS BANK TRUSTEES.

Mr. Editor: In your journal "Sairey Gamp" advocates the election of women as trustees of savings banks. Now sex is all-important in regard to the propagation of the species, but what it has to do with running a savings bank is altogether beyond my comprehension. J. Smith, be the "J" the first letter of John or of Jane, would make a good savings bank trustee provided he or she possessed the requisite honesty, information and judgment required in making loans and investments, and the necessary knowledge, tact and industry to know by actual examination when the affairs of the bank were wisely and honestly conducted and when they were not. Many hundred thousands of dollars of the hard earnings of the people of New Hampshire have been lost because the bank officials in various instances lacked honesty, information, judgment or industry sufficient for the emergency, yet the amount of honest hard work given by many citizens to the various savings banks is one of the noblest things in the history of our state. I would not object to Mrs. Howe as a banker because she is a woman, or to Albee because he is a man, but to both because they are frauds. Honesty, information, judgment and industry are the four grand pillars upon which all truly successful banking must be established.

MATTERS IN RYE.

RYE, April 26th.

Friday, April 22d, was the date that can be recorded as being the time when the last vestage of snow disappeared from Breakfast hill in the year 1881, and also as being the day on which the last pile of logs in the immediate vicinity of that historic locality was chopped up into fire wood. The farmers are busy at this time with their ploughs; the grass is beginning to look green, and the buds on the trees are bursting forth; the trailing arbutus has made its appearance in limited quantities, and taking everything into consideration it may be safe to inform "Gentle Annie" that "the spring time has come" at last.

Another school meeting in the south school have on Saturday afternoon, the 23d inst., and our friends over there propose to house a few more before the new school-house is erected.

Mr. Eben W. Seavey has leased his farm at the east part of the town, and is to remove to the south end and occupy a cottage belonging to his son-in-law, Hon. E. B. Philbrick.

At the semi-monthly sociable of the Christian society, in the town hall on Wednesday evening last, Rev. I. S. Jones gave a very interesting talk for an hour, on his recent trip to Florida. It appeared from his remarks that upon the whole he was pleased with the country, and thought that if a man didn't become too lazy after he got down there, he might get a living, and something more, perhaps, if he located on the right spot.

There is to be a dance at the town hall on Monday evening, May 2d, and that will probably be the last entertainment for the season.

Charles E. Foss left on Saturday last, for Arkansas, to take a position on the Little Rock, Mississippi & Texas railroad—a road in which Hon. E. H. Winchester is interested.

There is a hitch in the building of the road which the town voted to lay out at the March meeting, from the Cable house to the Ocean-house road, and a hearing on the subject is to be held at the town hall one day this week.

The crew of the life-saving station at Straw's point will be mustered out of service on Saturday next. The boys have been fortunate the past winter in not having many wrecks to attend to.

Mr. J. W. Garland presented the writer with two eggs, guaranteed to have been the product of a hen or hens. One measured seven inches in circumference one way and nine inches the other, weighed five ounces, and had three perfect yolks inside; the other didn't have any yolk at all, and weighed just half an ounce.

The "Ocean Wave" house at the beach will be conducted by Mr. W. C. Walker of this town, the coming season. NAT.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FAVORITE REMEDY

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' and found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

"A Leap in the Dark."

A MAD ACT.

The cliffs that rear their haughty head
High o'er the river's darksome bed,
Were here all naked, wild and gray,
There waving all with greenwood spray;
Here, trees from every crevice grew,
And o'er the crags their branches threw,
And there, all splintered and uneven,
The shivered rocks ascend to heaven.

It was a clear, bright night, in the depths of the mountain wilderness.

There was a long, deep, narrow valley, running north and south, for many miles, flanked east and west by towering mountains.

The range of the east was called Catamount Cliffs, that on the west, Panther Peak.

Deep down in the bottom of the valley ran a low and narrow river, called the Umbra.

On this night not a sound disturbed the awful solitude of the wilderness; not a living creature appeared in sight.

Human life seemed far away.

Yet had there been light enough, a human form might have been seen on the eastern range.

It was the figure of a young girl, wrapped in a dark shawl that covered her from head to foot, gliding slowly, slowly down the winding mountain path, now passing out of sight behind a clump of trees, now coming into view again as the path turned in and out in its descent.

Sometimes she paused and leaned against a tree, as if for momentary support, and then the faint light of the moon fell upon an upturned, lovely young face, pallid with despair.

And now another figure appeared upon the scene, another and a taller young girl, enveloped in a long waterproof cloak, whose hood was drawn over her head.

She glided silently down the same path, in the same manner, keeping her eyes upon her predecessor, as if she wore "shadowing" her—as indeed she was.

The first girl wound her sinuous way down the mountain side to the very foot of the ridge and edge of the river, between which and herself lay the tracks of a very recently laid railroad, whose trains, twice a day, awoke the awful echoes of the towering rocks.

Here she sat down on a fallen boulder, let her shawl drop from her form and lay in a heap around her, clasped her hands upon her knees, and turned her woeful young face up to the starlit heavens, as if help for her hidden grief were there.

Then she looked vaguely at the little crescent of the moon that was sinking slowly behind the cedar crowned summit of the western ridge. She watched it out of sight, and then let her glance slowly drop to the river at her feet. Gazing on the low river, she began to mutter to herself as only the crazed or half crazed ever do.

"If I dared—if I dared," she whispered, her eyes dilating as she gazed down upon the river, whose shining, smooth, dark surface reflected every star above. "If I only dared to take the plunge. They say the Umbra here has no bottom, at least none that has ever been sounded. Night after night I have come here—how many times—how many times; but I have never had the courage to take that plunge! What does the poet say?

"Who would not choose
The leap attaining the repose?"

Oh, but I cannot—I cannot! Oh, for one brief fit of madness to give me courage to end it all—to end it all with me—who am afraid to die, and more afraid to live. The demon has driven me to this river's brink, night after night, but he has never driven me into it. An-n-n! " she suddenly cried, starting to her feet. "What is that?"

It was the noise of the rushing express train from the north, gaining force and volume as it sped onwards, its thunders caught up by the echoes of the rocky cliffs on each side the river, and hurled back and forth with an overwhelming uproar that filled the valley, and seemed to threaten with annihilation every living creature in it.

The girl, standing up, gazed, breathless, upon the rushing monster, whose fiery eyes and bellowing breath were almost upon her.

She pressed her left hand hard upon her heart, and bent forward, her lips apart, her eyes dilated to their utmost capacity, and blazing fiercely, as with the suddenly kindled fires of madness.

Another instant, and with a phrenzied yell she threw her arms on high, and, swifter than an arrow from the bow, she shot downwards from the bank and threw herself headlong upon the track, under the very heat of the rushing engine.

But swifter than the arrow was the arm of love, as the watcher sprang forward and flung her off, both falling back from the impetus clear of the track, just as the express train thundered onward, shaking the solid foundations of the mountains as it passed.

At last there was silence.

Both girls, motionless, exhausted, half paralyzed, lay together where they had fallen. The older, with every vein and artery throbbing, as if they would burst with intense excitement, still clutched the younger in her arms, and held her as in a death-grip. Both were panic-stricken, overwhelmed and speechless.

The deliverer was the first to recover herself.

"Were you mad?" she whispered, in a husky and almost inarticulate voice.

"Yes—mad," moaned the other after a pause.

"Oh, why did you do it?"

"I have told you—I was mad."

There was silence for a few moments, and then the elder spoke again, gravely and tenderly.

"Bessie! what drove you to desperation?"

"I cannot tell you! Oh, I can never tell you! I wish you had not stopped me! It would have been all over by this time," moaned the girl called Bevvie.

"All over!"

"Yes, yes, yes, yes!" wailed the girl, rocking herself back and forward—"for I should have been out of all my misery! Ora! Ora! why did you follow me? Why did you interfere with me?"

"I have watched you for weeks; I have followed you for days; I am responsible to the Lord for you; I was in duty bound to save you, even if I had not loved you as I do, ungrateful child!"

"Oh, if you knew!—If you knew, Ora! Ah! why did you interfere? It would have been all over now, and I should have been past all my troubles!" wailed Bevvie.

"You say that again! And it is false! All over?" Past your trouble? Foolish girl! you would have been before your Maker for self-murder! You would have exchanged temporal grief for eternal woe! exclaimed the elder in a tone of intense emotion.

"Oh, no, I hope not! for I was mad then, Ora! I was mad then; indeed I was. I had not thought of doing the act one minute before I did it! But the rush of the engine, the thunder of the noise, the uproar of the echo, the fiery eye, the flaming breath, the vision of swift and sudden death, all fascinated, maddened me as I stood alone in the dark, and drew me down to the destruction from which you snatched me!"

"And yet you seem deeply to regret being saved, and you bitterly reproach me for saving you! You are inconsistent, Bevvie! But that too is a symptom of an unsound mind! Come with me! I do not know—I cannot even hazard a conjecture, as to the nature of the grief that has unsettled you. You have steadily refused to tell me. But to-night I am determined to know! for I am in the place of a mother to you, Bevvie, and I am responsible to the Lord for your well-being. Can you walk up the steep?"

"Oh, yes, I can walk," sighed the younger girl.

"Take my arm, then, and do not hesitate to lean on it with all your weight," said Ora, lifting the heavy shawl from the ground, where Bevvie had cast it, wrapping and pinning it carefully around the girl's form, and then tenderly supporting her steps as they left the spot.

And so the foster-mother of twenty-one and the adopted daughter of sixteen reascended the mountain path to their home, where the dread secret which had driven Bevvie to temporary madness was to be revealed. The above is the opening chapter of Mrs. Southworth's new story—"A Leap in the Dark"—which is begun in this week's New York Ledger. The story, as the reader may see from this specimen of it, is a very powerful one. It is a narrative of events that occurred in Maryland and Virginia many years ago, when every-day life was wild and romantic in the mountain regions of those states. Mrs. Southworth has written many good stories, but she herself thinks that this is one of her very best. Ask for the Ledger dated May 7th, which can now be had at any news office or book store.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

Whitelaw Reid, for a number of years past managing editor of the New York Tribune, was married in New York, April 26th, to Miss Mills, the daughter of a millionaire.

Of Unvarying Excellence

Linked Together.

Complaints go in troops. They are associated by nature. Get one disease and you will have others. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" strikes at the root of all disease. You cannot take it amiss, no matter what your particular trouble may be. For all ailments of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bowels, it is worth more than its weight in gold. A silver dollar will buy it, whether you go to your drug store, or address the proprietor, Dr. K., at Rondout, N. Y.

News and Notes.

Lewis Jarvey, a barber of Lawrence, Mass., who was arrested and fined on Monday, April 25th, for keeping his shop open on Sunday, applied on the 26th for warrants for the directors of the horse railroad, the editors of morning papers, and the druggists of the city, for violation of the Sunday law. The warrants were refused, but Jarvey has secured counsel and proposes to make things warm for all who do unnecessary work on Sunday.

Edward C. Smith's box factory at Greenpoint, L. I., was burned April 26th; loss $15,000. Two hundred men and boys were at work in the building when the fire broke out, and many were burned or otherwise injured. One body was recovered from the ruins in a short time, and it was believed that more would be found. Two boys who escaped cremation were fatally burned, and several others will die from their injuries.

A strike of street railway employes in St. Louis, Mo., April 26th, resulted in a riot. A mob of strikers stopped the cars, smashed the car windows, and committed other outrages. The police arrested a number of the leaders, but were powerless to prevent the riotous proceedings.

The Odd Fellows of the United States on April 26th celebrated the sixty-second anniversary of the establishment of the order. There were large gatherings in many cities and towns, imposing street parades, banquets and balls.

The upshot of the exciting quarrel amongst the members of the First Parish Congregational church in Bangor, Me., is the resignation of the pastor, Rev. S. L. B. Speare. The resignation has been accepted.

At Griffin, Ga., on April 25th, Alfred Doyle met Policeman Hancock, drew his pistol and shot Hancock killing him instantly. Hancock, had previously arrested Doyle for drunkenness. Threats of lynching Doyle are made.

Michael Clary, fifty-five years old, employed at Barkersville, Mass., where he has a large family, while walking into Pittsfield on the evening of April 26th, on the Boston & Albany railroad track, was struck by a train and hurled twenty feet into the air, killing him instantly.

Monday evening, April 25th, a bay horse and top buggy belonging to Joseph Bradley of Andover were stolen from the street in Lawrence, Mass., by two men, who drove rapidly in the direction of Boston. The horse is a valuable trotter, known on the turf as "Pet."

Charles Briggs, an inoffensive-looking youth of nineteen years, has been bound over at Amherst, Mass., for trial, on a charge of having murdered Charles Stetson at a dance in Pelham on the 11th of April. The evidence of his guilt is conclusive.

The imported and genuine Nautch girls were wholly lacking in the beauty, grace and freedom of manner which travellers had ascribed to them, and their tour in this country was a failure. A troupe of imitation Nautch dancers, however, seems to be satisfying the public demand in Chicago. They are handsome mulattoes, and do a livelier kind of dancing than is known to the natives of India.

A vessel recently arrived in London from the River Plate with 19,000 carcasses of sheep on board, which were brought over in a frozen state. They weighed on an average thirty-six pounds each, and fetched 4 1-4d. per pound in the market. They sold as fast as possible.

In Nottinghamshire, England, is a parish called Lodge-on-the-Wolds, consisting of one house only, and one family of brothers, named Fletcher. They make their own rate, and one is appointed parish constable, another overseer, and so on. They are continually quarelling, and were recently charged with having savagely assaulted one another. They used agricultural implements in the affray. The four brothers were sent to jail for two months for assaulting one another, so that the whole parish is in jail.

The sentence of Mrs. Howe, of the "Ladies' Deposit" of Boston, has been suspended. The case goes to the full bench on exceptions.

The steamer City of Austin, 1295 tons register, of the Mallory line between New York and Nassau, touching at Jacksonville and Fernandina, Fla., was wrecked April 26th on Pelican shoals, a mile inside Fernandina bar, through the fault of her pilot. The ship is a total loss. Her cargo of sugar, cotton, sponge and fruits, is nearly a total loss. The sugar is insured for $75,000 in New York. The vessel is insured in foreign companies.

Steamer Chesapeake, of the New York and Portland line, went ashore on Fisher's island, off New London, Conn., on the night of April 26th, and filled. She will probably be a total loss.

The schooners Gertie E. Foster and Willie M. Stevens arrived at Gloucester April 26th, the former with 60,000 lbs. of halibut and the latter with 40,000 lbs. On the same day the schooner Josie M. Calderwood arrived from the Western banks with the best cod-fish fare of the season up to that date—140,000 lbs.

Gen. Weaver made a stump speech in Philadelphia a few nights ago, in the course of which he said the greenback party was making great strides, and in 1882 would secure control of Congress, and in 1884 elect their President.

"Wit and Wisdom of George Eliot, with a biographical memoir." Boston; Roberts Bros.; price $1.00. Sold at Mercer Goodrich's. Thirty pages of this neat little volume are devoted to the biographical memoir of the gifted writer, who it will be remembered by our readers died May 7th, 1880. The remainder of the work is filled with choice extracts from "Scenes from clerical life," "Adam Bede," "The mill on the floss," "Silas Marner," "Romola," "Felix Holt" and "Middlemarch,"—books by George Eliot which have been read by the better class of readers for the wit and wisdom contained in their pages. Thackery in an early number of the Cornhill Magazine hailed George Eliot as "A star of the first magnitude just risen on the horizon." Middlemarch appeared in 1831, and in its number of copies sold was the most successful work of the writer. The volume before us is full of wise sayings by the characters in the novels indicated. And the compiler has rendered a good service in thus collecting and reproducing in this form the many good sentences in which the works of the deceased author abounds. A well arranged index of subjects shows the extent and variety of the good things which the author has given to his readers.

AROUND HOME.

The Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. E. D. Coffin, are making arrangements to receive the Horse Guards of Roxbury, Mass., on their arrival here in June.

Mrs. Daniel Marcy, her sister and niece, of Cambridge, Mass., and two sons of Captain Ross of the ship Granite State, sail from Boston to-day for Liverpool.

The Boston Post and Globe say that the advance sale of tickets at Januauschek's engagement at the Park theatre, Boston, this week, is the largest ever made at that theatre.

The schooner Emma L. Gregory, Keating master, arrived at this port on the 17th inst. from Rondout, N. Y., with eight hundred barrels of cement for J. Albert Walker.

City workmen are engaged in cutting off the dead limbs and "suckers" of the shade trees along the streets; they get along at a good rate, and the trees look much better after they have been over them.

The bar of Androscoggin county, Me., are investigating charges against Charles W. Warren, a member of that bar, recently sent to state prison by the court at Exeter for bigamy, and have sent to Sheriff Kent for the facts as to his trial.

As the steamer Mystic was making her landing at the navy yard, on the morning of the 27th inst., she hit so hard as to dump one of the workmen into the river. He was soon fished out, and pronounced the water uncommonly wet and cold.

A joint stock company has been formed in Dover for the purpose of conducting "go-as-you-please" and other races during the coming summer, in Dover and other places. They have purchased or leased Wm. Hurd's "gospel temperance tent," under which the races will take place.

The Biddeford Times is authority for the statement that a branch road is to be built so that the Eastern railroad will run into Old Orchard. It is said the road will be built within forty days. The depot will be near the watering tank on the Boston & Maine, or not far from the high bluff between the camp ground station and the Old Orchard station on the Boston & Maine.

Mr. J. Albert Walker about ten months ago procured a fine draught mare, to use in the delivering of coal about the city from the Portsmouth coal-pockets. Recently the animal has appeared unwell, and various schemes of dieting, exercise, etc., have been resorted to, in order to restore her to health. On Tuesday morning of this week the hostler was surprised on opening the stable to find a very handsome colt there.

The mails between this city and Dover are hereafter to go over the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, leaving Portsmouth at ten o'clock A. M., and 3:05 and seven o'clock P. M., and leaving Dover at 6:45 A. M., and 2:25 and five o'clock P. M. The 2:25 P. M. mail should leave Dover at 10:30 in the forenoon, and then letters could at once come from towns on the line of the Dover & Winnepisseogee railroad, without delay. It may be done by-and-bye.

An audience excellent as to numbers and quality greeted Mrs. Scott-Siddons at Music hall on Tuesday evening of this week, when "As you like it" was performed, with Mrs. Scott-Siddons as "Rosalind," Luigi Lablache as "Orlando," Geo. D. Chaplin as "Jacques," and James Scallan as "Touchstone." The two latter characters were well taken; Mr. Lablache is a fair actor, and Mrs. Scott-Siddons a fair actress,—nothing more; and the support was no better than it should have been.

The steamer Hundson, (formerly the Louis Irving,) while steaming on the river on Wednesday afternoon of this week, bursted her cylinder head, and was obliged to come to anchor near Pull-and-be-somethinged point. She was towed back to her berth by the steamer Mystic.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen to the number of about twenty left Market square about ten o'clock in the evening on the 27th inst., in a large barge, for the Plains, where they intended to serenade Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wiggin, who were united in matrimony on the 26th.

Janauschek, with her dramatic company from the Arch street theatre, Philadelphia, is to appear at Music hall on Wednesday evening, May 4th, in the emotional play of "Mother and Son." The sale of seats will commence at Preston's on Saturday morning next; those desiring to see this renowned actress will do well to secure their seats early, as without doubt there will be a large demand.

Information is wanted by the Grand Army committee having in charge the setting of headstones at unmarked graves of deceased soldiers and sailors of the Union service, concerning the exact location of the graves of George E. David, D. M. Jellison, J. P. Tufts, James Walsh and J. S. Seavey, all of whom are buried in the south cemetery. The committee will be at the cemetery to-day and to-morrow, and earnestly request the relatives or friends of the persons named to furnish the information desired.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

A special meeting of the Odd Fellows Mutual Relief Association of Strafford county was held in Odd Fellows' hall, Dover, on the evening of April 25th, and was largely attended. The meeting was called for the purpose of voting whether or not the heirs of the late Otis A. Frost, a member of the association, should be paid the insurance money, exceeding $1200. It appeared from the statements made that Mr. Frost had at all times paid assessments made upon him by the association, but was suspended from membership of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, of Portsmouth, for non-payment of dues, some three years ago. Notwithstanding his suspension from the lodge he continued paying the assessments regularly to the association, but the latter body, by a vote of three to one at the late meeting, decided not to pay the Frost heirs any benefit whatever.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Apr. 27; Batchelder J.

John W. Reardon, aggravated assault on Daniel Lynch; case continued from Saturday, April 23d. The case was again continued to Friday, the 29th, to await the result of Lynch's injuries; defendant required to recognize in the sum of $600.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

TUESDAY, April 26th.

In case State vs. R. C. Lawrence, Jr., the verdict was guilty of an aggravated assault. Sentenced to six months imprisonment in the common jail, and to pay cost of prosecution. Lawrence shot his wife, Julia A. Lawrence, at Chester on the 16th of February last, it was charged with intent to kill her.

The trial of case Dow vs. the town of Atkinson was commenced, the jury having made a trip to view the premises mentioned in the writ, at Atkinson. Many witnesses were in attendance.

T. J. TRAFTON.

Mr. Timothy J. Trafton, formerly of Portsmouth, died in San Francisco, Cal., April 15th, of paralysis. Mr. Trafton was for many years a master blacksmith in this city, but with his wife removed to San Francisco six or eight years ago, and has since resided there, having made but one brief visit home since he made the removal. He was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, of Freemasons, and of New Hampshire Lodge and Strawberry Bank Encampment of Odd Fellows, of this city. He was buried in San Francisco on the 17th inst., the funeral ceremonies being in charge of King Solomon Lodge, No. 26, A. F. & A. M., of that city. He was an industrious, worthy man and good citizen, a superior mechanic, a loving husband, and a pleasant and even-tempered companion.

Blinded by the Wind of a Cannon Ball.

General Henry Boynton, of Augusta, Me., has recently secured a pension for Ward A. Knox, formerly of company D, 1st Maine Heavy Artillery, for almost total blindness, caused by a cannon ball, in the battle in front of Petersburg, passing close to his face. The shot did not touch the soldier, but the "wind" of the shell affected his eyes disastrously. On full investigation the facts were fully proved, not only by the tetimony of comrades who were with him, but also by corroborative statements made by the assistant surgeon of his regiment, Dr. A. R. Lincoln, who was on the field and gave his professional atentention to the case at the time of its occurrence. So severe was the injury caused to the soldier's eyes by the "wind" of the shot that government has awarded him $12 a month pension. This is a remarkable case, and we doubt if there is a parallel instance in the records of the pension department.—Portland Ad'r.

Progress of the Telegraph.

In 1844 there were forty miles of line and no wires.

In 1848 there were 2,000 miles of line and 3,000 miles of wire.

In 1853 there were 14,675 miles of line and 22,013 miles of wire.

In 1860 there were 17,582 miles of line and 26,375 miles of wire.

In 1866 there were 42,412 miles of line and 50,294 miles of wire.

In 1870 there were 53,403 miles of line and 107,245 miles of wire.

In 1880 there were 142,364 miles of line and 350,018 miles of wire.

The first line of telegraph in the United States was established between Baltimore and Washington in 1844. This was the Morse plan which has since become the almost universal system of the world. Fifty million messages were sent during the year 1880. The companies employ 24,000 persons and have 14,000 offices.—New Haven Palladium.

Our Coast Defences.

The annual report of the chief of the engineers of the United States army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, is followed, only a short time afterward, by the annual report of the commander-in-chief of our armies, in which they both state that our coast defences are utterly inadequate to cope with the ordnance now in use by foreign powers, and as our naval department is on no better footing, this should command the attention of the people, and meet with prompt action to prevent such a calamity. Imagine for a moment little Italy sailing into Boston harbor with one of its magnificently equipped naval vessels, and demanding tribute! There is certainly nothing to prevent it. The fortifications in Boston harbor are no better protection against such a demand than so many paper-collar boxes. It is nonsense to say our Yankee ingenuity will devise some means to prevent such a disaster when the occasion arises. Yankee ingenuity will go for nought against a Krupp rifle, weighing a hundred tons and carrying shot of 2,000 pounds, fired with 470 pounds of powder! Our fire-cracker-ordnance cannot cope with it, and, as we are in a prosperous condition, there could be no better time than the present to make the necessary appropriations.

Check.

No, my son, check is not better than honest modesty; it is not better than anything. Don't listen to the siren who tells you to blow your horn or it will never be tooted upon. The world is not to be deceived by check, and it does search for merit, and when it finds it, merit is rewarded. Check never deceives the world, my son. It appears to do so to the cheeky man, but he is the one who is deceived. Do you know one cheeky man in all your acquaintance who is not reviled for his cheek the moment his back is turned? Is the world not continually drawing distinctions between cheek and merit? Almost everybody hates a cheeky man, my son. Society tires of the brassy glare of his face, the hollow tinkling of his cymballine tongue, the noisy assumption of his forwardness. The triumphs of cheek are only apparent. He bores his way along through the world, and frequently better people give way for him. But so they give way, my son, for a man with a paint pot in each hand. Not because they respect the man with the paint pots particularly, but because they want to take care of their clothes. You can sell goods without it, and your customers won't run and hide in the cellar when they see you coming.—Burlington Hawkeye.

—"How do you like the Episcopalian service?" asked Jones. "Never heard it," replied Fogg; "I dropped in at one of the churches last Sunday. It was quite early, and so I began reading the service. I didn't read far though before I found that it would never do for me. So I came out." "Why, what was the trouble?" "Too many collections." "Too many collections?" "Yes, on almost every page it said 'collect.' One collection is all I can afford to respond to. Must be awfully expensive to be an Episcopalian." —Transcript.

—The white women of the south are doing more than the white men to restore prosperity. Many of them, left widows with large families by the misfortunes of war, are showing great resolution and energy. A daughter of Ex-Governor Caldwell of North Carolina, a lady of refinement and education, was left a widow with nine children, whom she is now supporting and educating. She keeps a boarding house in Morgantown that takes precedence of any hotel. At Greensboro' the best hotel in town is owned and kept by a woman, and the same fact exists at Statesville. They wait upon guests upon their arrival, see to the booking of their names, assign the rooms, and are ready with every attention. A sight not so agreeable, but yet showing the resolution of the women, is found in the fact that they engage in the field work, and are even seen swinging the axe side by side with the men in the forests. If the sons of these women, for some of them are white, were half as resolute as their mothers, the south would emerge from its stagnation in half the time it will now take.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

CONSUMPTION.

Owing to a popular idea that a remedy said to cure a variety of maladies should be treated with caution, if not suspicion, the inventor hesitated some time in placing his preparation before the public, but from the gratifying assurance by a great number of the rare vitalizing and health-renewing properties of his preparation of Hypophosphites, under a variety of circumstances, he is equally satisfied that these effects are secured by its use, that its action is peculiar to his preparation, and that Consumption is not only curable, but, up to a certain stage, is as easily controlled as most other organic diseases.

* * * * * * *

While it is the aim of the inventor to convey information to such as require his Hypophosphites, it is his firm belief that its use will be valuable to all who desire a long life or who are struggling for health.

With a faith based upon the experience of twelve years, he would not despair of restoring a patient suffering from the above-named disease, even though reduced to a very low state and not complicated by actual organic loss.

FLINT, MICH., May 10th, 1880.

Dear Sir: Allow me to say that I esteem your "Hypophosphites" most highly, and for those engaged in professions which draw largely on the nervous system it is invaluable. I have used it myself with the most satisfactory results and have introduced it to a large number of my people.

"The Future of New Hampshire."

This is the title of an address delivered at the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association in Concord, in February last, by Charles Carleton Coffin, Esq., of Boston, and printed by special request.

Mr. Coffin refers to the decadence of the state, as shown by the agricultural reports, and to the total extinction of shipbuilding on the Piscataqua; he touches upon manufactures in England and in New Hampshire, shows the enormous advantages afforded by the water power of this state, and shows by figures and a map that Portsmouth is by many miles nearer the great wheat-fields of the northwest than either Boston or New York. We make a few brief extracts—all we have room for—from this most interesting address:

IRON SHIP BUILDING.

Gentlemen engaged in the iron manufacture are sanguine that Boston in the future is to occupy an exceptionally favorable position to carry on the construction of steamships. Why not? The Bay State and South Boston companies are now competing with Pennsylvania. You have prosperous iron industries at Newmarket. If locomotives can be built at Manchester, why not steamships on the Piscataqua, when the time shall come, as it most assuredly will, for the building of steel vessels in this country? It is in the near future.

THE ADVANTAGES OF THE PISCATAQUA.

Let us assume that we are to build ocean-going steel steamships. To get the best steel we must have a mixture of metals—those of Lake Superior and northern New York being of prime value; also those of Spain and Algiers. Certainly there is no spot on the coast where they can be brought together more cheaply than at Boston or on the Piscataqua.

The next factor is the fuel. When coal is on shipboard on the Delaware or at Pictou, it costs little more to deliver it at Boston or Portsmouth than at any other point.

The question is solely one of transportation. How cheaply can the ores of Superior and the Adirondacks be put down on the Piscataqua? That is for the railroads to say. The transportation of the fuel is ocean carriage,—the highway of the Almighty,—free to all. Land is cheap on the Piscataqua—cheaper than in Boston. Why, then, in the near future may we not expect to see the banks of that stream become like the banks of that northern arm of the ocean in Scotland—a vast shipyard, the air resounding with the ringing of hammers, the now silent streets of that old town by the sea bustling once more with life?

ECONOMY OF OCEAN TRANSPORTATION.

The tendency in marine architecture is for ships of large tonnage. It is in the line of economy. The new steamships of the Allan line almost rival the "Great Eastern" in magnitude. It is said that none larger can be used on account of the shallowness of our harbors. This is true in regard to New York, but does not apply to Boston, and especially to Portsmouth. Of all the harbors between the Penobscot and New Orleans, Portsmouth is the best—safe, always accessible—the shallowest soundings forty feet, a strong tide sweeping in and out the great bay, and as if Nature, anticipating the time when the millions of the old world would reach out their hands to the wheat-fields of the west for bread, had made this nearest port expressly for the accommodation of the largest possible ocean steamers.

Economy is the one great question. Economy in having vessels of the largest tonnage; in terminal facilities; in quick handling of freight. Land is cheaper in Portsmouth than in New York or Boston; pilotage is less; grain can be loaded just as quickly on the Piscataqua as on the Hudson. Boston and Portsmouth are one day nearer Liverpool than New York,—a saving of two days on the round trip,—enabling steamers entering those ports to make an additional trip during the year. So much more income!

Do you say that they cannot get westward freights, between Great Britain and this country, if they come to Portsmouth? How is it now? Do not most of the steamers arriving at Boston come in ballast, bringing pig-iron, which is smelted in the iron-works of South Boston? Why not make it into steel on the banks of the Piscataqua?

GRAIN TRAFFIC.

The harvest in northern Dakota does not begin till the middle of August; the threshing the first week in September. Transportation on the lakes closes about the middle of November, leaving barely seven weeks for the transportation of grain by water, till the following spring.

Of necessity, the great bulk of grain grow in that region must be transported during the winter months, by rail. You know that for five months of the year, Montreal is closed to Ocean Navigation—and closed too just at the time when the farmers of the north-west desire to ship their wheat. Of necessity, they must seek the nearest available Atlantic port.

The nearest port is Portsmouth. Construct seventeen miles of road along the lake shore between Wiers and Alton bay, and Portsmouth will be fifty-eight miles nearer the wheat-fields of Dakota than Boston. Do you say that it is not possible for Portsmouth ever to be a port for foreign steamships? Why not? Cannot Portsmouth offer cheaper terminal facilities? If Hartlepool, England, can maintain a line of steamships between that port and Boston, it is among the possibilities that even Portsmouth may yet feel the thrill of a new commercial life in coming years, under the mighty possibilities of the old Granite State.

Under the changing conditions incident to manufacturing and railroad transportation, Portsmouth has become an important station for the transhipment of coal. If you line the streams of this state with manufactories, set spindles to humming and wheels to whirling by every waterfall, why may not steam-ships from Charleston, Savannah, New Orleans, and Galveston, discharge their bales of cotton in a harbor that never freezes? If cotton and coal, why not raw materials of every description? Why may not Portsmouth become a shipping port for grain and flour? Take into account all the factors,—the nearness to the grain fields of the west, 250 miles nearer than New York with the short link of road put in between Alton and Wiers; the security of the harbor; the cheapness of dock accommodations; the fact that either Boston, Portsmouth, or Portland, must be the available outlets for the mighty traffic of the Canadas and the north-west,—and is there not a good outlook for a revival of commerce at that port?

I am basing all this not on things as they now are, but upon the mighty change near at hand. I call your attention to the fact that the Grand Trunk railroad, by its low grades, has been able to lay its hand upon the commerce of Chicago; that it takes its full share of the traffic between that city and the Atlantic, competing with the N. Y. Central, Erie, and Pennsylvania roads. And now that Portsmouth is to be between two and three hundred miles nearer the wheat-fields of the north-west than New York, what may we not hope for the future?

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

Shocking Accident.

At Elgin, Ill., Thursday morning, the 28th inst., as the ferry boat on its way across the Fox river was in the middle of the stream, it suddenly capsized, and the passengers, including thirty-three little girls, were swept down the current, uttering heart-rendering cries. The Chicago Journal's despatch says about fifty lives were lost. The boat was a mere scow, fifteen feet wide and seventy-five feet long, operated by ropes from the banks; it had just been purchased at a cost of $150, to take the place of a bridge lately washed away, and was condemned by the public at once when first used, the day before the disaster.

"December and May."

A very quiet marriage ceremony was performed at the Cathedral in Boston a few days since, the contracting parties being Mr. Jonathan Cottle, a well-known and wealthy business man of Boston, part owner of the Continental sugar refinery, sole owner of the Boston woollen mills in South Boston, and proprietor of the Boston Tea company, who was joined in matrimony with Miss Annie Gorman. As Mr. Cottle is in the neighborhood of seventy years of age, and Miss Gorman is nineteen, an orphan, and an operative in Mr. Cottle's woollen mill, there is a tinge of romance about the affair. Miss Gorman entered the mill about a year ago at a salary of $3 per week, and it is said that it is less than six months ago since Mr. Cottle began to pay attention to her.

News and Notes.

The Girard Point elevator in Philadelphia, and several warehouses, were burned April 28th. Loss $700,000; insurance about $486,000.

Benj. James has been awarded about $30,000 by the auditor in his suit against the city of Worcester, Mass., for damages by the breaking of the Lynde brook dam several years ago.

Ten Mormon elders arrived in New York, April 26th, on the steamer Wyoming, with 200 women converts, bound to Salt Lake.

Burglars broke into the post office at Camargo, about two miles from New Providence, Pa., early Wednesday morning, April 27th, and after carrying the safe out doors they blew it open. The report of the explosion brought out Mr. Bain, the postmaster. He fired upon the robbers, who fled without getting anything.

Thomas Harrigan of Boston, who four months ago was sentenced to the Massachusetts state prison at Concord for twenty years, for rape committed upon the person of a young girl, has permanently incapacitated himself for hard labor. On Monday, April 25th, he started up a small circular saw in the shop in which he was employed, and then taking the tips of the fingers of his right hand in the hollow of his left, he held his right wrist firmly against the saw. The results were that his right hand was almost instantly severed from its arm, and that Harrigan is in the prison hospital. He might have sawed off his head if he wanted to, without harming the world any.

W. B. Payson, for years a prominent builder and contractor of Holliston, Mass., who has been missing since Saturday, April 23d, is said to be a forger to the amount of $20,000 or more, and his liabilities are large. Most of the forged paper is held by national banks. The forgeries date back to 1876, and have been continued until the present crash.

Hon. John G. Palfrey, the eminent historian, died in Cambridge, Mass., April 26th, at the age of eighty-five years. He was a grandson of William Palfrey, a paymaster-general in the revolutionary army, and aid-de-camp to Washington. He was one of the founders of the Free Soil party, was a vigorous writer in opposition to slavery, and early in life liberated a number of slaves in Louisiana which he had inherited. He held many important offices, among them those of representative in Congress, and secretary of the commonwealth of Massachusetts. He was made a doctor of divinity by Harvard college, and a doctor of laws by St. Andrew's college. He was one of the oldest members of the Massachusetts Historical society. His wife survives him, with two sons and three daughters, one of the latter being known in the literary world as E. Faxton, she having published two books under that pseudonym.

A mysterious disappearance which has caused considerable talk, has occurred at Abington, Mass. Saturday, April 23d, Mrs. Daniel Power, whose house is near the South Abington line, left her family, consisting of a husband and four children, and has not been heard from since. She left the house during the night without apprising any one of her intentions, and her subsequent course is shrouded in mystery. Mrs. Power is a woman of reputable character, and considerable anxiety is felt as to her whereabouts.

Despatches of April 27th from Missouri, Nebraska and Minnesota report the rivers still rising, and hundreds of families have been driven from their homes. A number of lives have been lost.

At a German naval station in the North sea, April 27th, a shell exploded during the operation of loading a gun, killing eight of the crew, and wounding twenty others, nine very seriously.

Springfield, Ill., has a small boy with an eye to business. When the Abraham Lincoln homestead was torn down recently, the boy bought all the old shingles for a dollar, and with a scroll saw he has turned them into thousands of ornamental mementoes, for which he gets from fifty cents to a dollar each.

Emile de Giradin, the great French journalist, died in Paris on the 27th of April. He was the illegitimate son of Madame Dupuy, wife of one of the courtiers of Louis XVIII., and Gen. Alexandre de Giradin, who distinguished himself at the battle of Austerlitz. For nearly half a century he had occupied a prominent position in French journalism.

The Lackawanna was recently docked at Callao and had her bottom cleaned. She left Callao on March 28th for Valparaiso, where she intended to remain until the arrival of the Alaska on the coast, and then proceed on a cruise to San Francisco via the Marquesas, Society, Samoan and Sandwich islands. The Adams was at Callao when the Lackawanna left. The Alaska was at Panama on the 16th of April, and expected to leave for the south coast in a few days. The Alaska is under orders to proceed to Callao, and will cruise on the coast of South America wherever her commanding officer may consider the presence of his vessel as most necessary.

—Little Isa, three years old, in her father's absence at business, happened to let a china plate fall. Her mother was very sorry for the accident, as it broke her set. At night she told her husband about it, and he said, "Why Isa, how did you do such a careless thing?" "This way, papa," said she, quick as a flash, taking another plate from the tea-table and dropping it on the floor.

—Begging, as a profession, pays even in England, where it is prohibited. At the Surrey sessions recently a young man was convicted of begging. He made on an average six dollars per day, besides spending from one dollar to two dollars and a half for liquor. He had been convicted sixty times before of begging, and on this occasion was sentenced for one year, with twenty strokes of the birch rod.

AROUND HOME.

The fishing schooner Anna M. Nash, of and from this port, arrived at Newport, R. I., April 25th, to go on the marine railway there.

Messrs. A. P. Wendell & Co. have at their hardware store a full line of garden implements and lawn mowers of all the improved styles; and invite the attention of all to their stock.

Mr. James R. Eaton of this city, while at work in one of the blacksmith shops at the navy yard on the 27th inst., received a painful injury to one of his hands through having it jammed between two pieces of iron. The wound was dressed by the surgeon of the yard.

The Eastern railroad passenger station at Gloucester, Mass., was broken into on Monday night of this week, the safe blown open, and about $70 stolen therefrom. Burglars also broke into the station at Manchester, Mass., the same night, blew open the safe, and took $70 in money.

The hearing on the road case in Rye, on Woodbury Seavey's appeal from the selectmen's award to him of damages, which was to have been held April 28th, has been put off until June, on account of Mr. Seavey's counsel being engaged in a case before the supreme court at Exeter.

The Boston Post of Thursday last says: "Our old friend and everybody's friend, Mr. B. P. Shillaber (Mrs. Partington), has been an invalid and confined to his room ever since the 3d of last December. With the return of the spring days his health is improving, and he hopes before many days to get out, though he is not yet able to dispense with his faithful crutch."

In the superior court at Portland, Me., April 27th, John E. Plumer received a verdict of $1500 against the Eastern railroad company for personal injuries received through being run over by a train, and his wife recovered $1200, she having been injured at the same time. John Sheehan also sues the railroad to recover $6000 for damages to himself, hack and horses.

The Light Artillery has been disbanded by orders from headquarters; the uniforms have been turned in, and placed temporarily in charge of Capt. E. D. Coffin, of the Portsmouth Cavalry. At the late inspection of the company it is said that only a sergeant and one private appeared, and the state authorities considered such a company altogether too "light" to be of any practical value.

On Tuesday forenoon, April 26th, Mr. James Shufflebury of Kennebunkport, Me., found a wreck floating off that port, and with the help of the fishermen towed it into the river and beached it. The falling tide showed the wreck to be the schooner Mary E. Caswell of this port, wrecked on a rock off Wells beach on the 24th. Her mainmast was gone, and the deck near the mast-hole broken up; the port side was in good condition, but the starboard side was bilged sufficiently to let the ballast fall out, which allowed the wreck to float off the rock. She was put on the flats to be further examined.

The copartnership which has for eight years past existed between Horace E. Frye and James R. Morrison, under the firm name of Frye & Co.'s Express, has been dissolved by the retirement of Mr. Frye. Mr. Morrison, who is authorized to collect all monies due the late firm, and assumes all the debts, has associated with himself as partner Mr. E. W. Riley, who has been in the employ of Frye & Co. for some time, and the new firm will carry on the express business at the old office and under the old firm name. As heretofore, Frye & Co. will endeavor to merit patronage by the prompt and careful performance of all business entrusted to them.

Edmund Freeman, Esq., arrived in this city April 25th, from his home in Wellfleet, Mass., and will be the guest of his son, Henry D. Freeman, for some weeks to come. He brought with him the skins of twenty-two large, full-grown foxes, which he trapped during the winter. One of the skins is of a very rare kind; it is a glossy black, valued at over $50. A gentleman in this city made an offer of forty dollars for it this forenoon. Mr. Freeman is a great sportsman, and during the past three winters has taken no less than fifty-two large-sized foxes, besides other "varmints." He has received the usual bounty of one dollar a head.—Dover Democrat.

THE LAST OF THE NEWCASTLE FISHING FLEET.

The schooner "Patriot," of Newcastle, forty-seven years old, and the last of the great fleet of fishermen that used to sail from the island town, has just been sold to parties in Winterport, Maine, where she will be rejuvenated, and become a new career in her old calling. Her registered tonnage is 30.05.

Capt. Nathan White of Newcastle, her former master and half owner, sailed as skipper the first voyage she ever made, and for more than forty consecutive years. Capt. White, who is now a gentleman seventy-nine years old, began the life of a deep-water fisherman at the age of fourteen years; at the age of eighteen he was appointed master of the schooner "Old South," named in honor of a famous church in Boston.

After twenty-one years experience as skipper of the "Old South," he with Capt. Thomas Tarlton bought the "Patriot" as soon as she was launched at Newburyport, in 1834. The "Patriot" proved worthy of her name, and was a success in every way. She never met with a serious disaster to hull or rigging, and never lost a man. It is said by her former owners that she cleared her cost in five years. Capt. White was in town last Thursday, and expressed his belief in his ability to find his way to the Western banks of Newfoundland or the bay of Fundy as well as any of the smart young skippers of the Portsmouth fleet can, supplied as they now are with all the modern appliances and aids to navigation.

Mr. James Morgan of Newcastle, who has been a fisherman all his life, made his first trip in the "Patriot," on her first trip, and has never sailed in any other vessel.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, April 28th:

The license of Music hall for last year was fixed at $125—reduced from $150.

Wilbur L. Davis resigned as inspector of petroleum.

James R. Yeaton was appointed special policeman for Langdon park and vicinity.

B. W. Hoyt, of Epping, who complained of one Chapman of Epping for selling liquor, for which Chapman was fined $50, claimed the informer's moiety. Ordered that it be paid.

Bill of Calvin Page, Esq., was allowed.

C. E. Willey asked permission to cut down trees on Lafayette road. Referred to the committee on streets.

W. Freeman was granted permission to obstruct Congress street for the purpose of making repairs.

The subject of the lease of the store under the city rooms was referred to the committee on city lands and buildings, to report.

It was voted that Wm. Sladen be paid $10, on his claim for damages.

The appropriation bill was amended by striking out the items of $400 for a furnace in the Cabot street school-house, and $2000 for a reservoir in Court place. As amended the bill was passed, and sent down for concurrence.

The Common Council gave notice that they had passed the ordinance relating to the management of the public library.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Apr. 28; Batchelder, J.

James Gilchrist, alias "Scotty," for malicious mischief, was held in $200 for the October term of the supreme court. Jail in default of sureties.

James Flynn, a marine, for assault on an officer, was held in $100 for the October term. Jail.

Patrick Sheehan, drunk, fine $8, costs $8.04. Jail.

James Murphy, a marine, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90. Jail.

William Parker, drunk, sentence suspended.

Robert Danielson, drunk, signed the pledge and was let off on probation.

Olive Austin, drunk, fine $3, costs $8.04. Brentwood.

Georgie Moody, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90. Brentwood.

Artie Barney, drunk, fine $5, costs $8.18. Brentwood.

All the above came from the infamous den which was conducted by Samuel Wilson and his wife up to the time that they were arrested for keeping a house of ill-fame. It appears that Scotty, who was but just out of jail, wanted to enter the den, the occupants of which would not let him in; whereupon he proceeded to smash the windows with bricks. The police were notified, and Asst. Marshal Cole captured Scotty, and locked him up; after which he mustered more officers and charged the coop. How many persons there were in it will never be known, for when the attack was made they swarmed out of it like ants from an anthill, from every possible exit, the women scolding vociferously and some of the men showing fight, while all tried to get away; some did escape, but enough were caught to probably cause the permanent closing up of business at that establishment.

"MOTHER AND SON."

On Wednesday evening next, at Music hall, the great tragedienne Janauschek will appear in "Mother and Son." Of this play, and this eminent actress, the Washington Post says:

Janauschek gave a most thrilling interpretation, last night, of a deeply interesting but harrowing character. She played The Countess, in "Mother and Son," an adaptation of a romance, and, as might be supposed from the title, illustrative of the strongest and deepest emotions that can spring from the closest tie of nature.

The scene of the play is laid in Sweden, the local coloring and characters all belonging to aristocratic life. The family pride of the Countess Mansfelt causes her to drive her son Bruno from her with a frightful curse, on account of his stealing some money to settle his gambling debts. This thrilling scene is splendidly acted by Janauschek, and makes an impressive ending to the second act, the first being merely a prologue. Third act opens after a lapse of fifteen years, with the story of a rich adventurer who has purchased the old castle of the Mansfelts, from which the mother's grief had driven her. The stranger turns out to be Bruno, who, after years of adventure in America, returns to seek the forgiveness for which he has been longing. The scene of the meeting between the mother and son, the latter disguised by his beard, is very impressive, and makes the close of the third act. In the fourth act Fransiska, wife of one of the Countess' stepsons, has a good scene with the Countess when she tells the story of the strangers; and there is a beautiful scene, in which Selma relates the son's story as if it were dream. The stern pride of the mother combats her maternal love at every step that she is persuaded to take towards seeing him, until at last his entrance in the fifth act is very fine, and the scene of the reconciliation powerful and pathetic. "Mother and Son" is a very strong play and quite classic in its language. The only fault to find with it is the awful scene of the curse, which might do in a father but is too frightful in the mother.

Mr. Herman acted the part of Bruno with very fine effect in all the pathetic passages, and was forcible without being tempted into anything stagey.

About Coffee.

As almost everyone is interested in all that pertains to coffee, we reproduce from the columns of the Newburyport (Mass.) Herald of a recent date, the following:

"All the world and the rest of mankind," as Gen. Taylor once observed, are fond of this delicious beverage, but just how and where to obtain a straight article is often an insuperable obstacle. To buy ground coffee is the height of folly for more reasons than one. The ground article affords an excellent opportunity for unprincipled dealers to adulterate with cheap and often unwholesome substances, but even strictly pure coffee loses much of its most excellent qualities when ground in advance of its being needed for use. Therefore in order to have pure and wholesome coffee the whole bean only should be bought, and to have it of full strength and flavor it should be scientifically roasted, and ground only when required for use. Messrs. Arbuckle Bros. of New York, one of the largest, if not the most extensive, house in the coffee trade in America, have introduced into this market two of their most popular brands of coffee, the "Ariosa" and "Compono" which have long held high rank in the Middle and Western states. This coffee, which is selected with great care and especial reference to fineness of flavor, after being carefully screened and roasted, is passed through a preparation of sugar and eggs, which greatly enriches the beverage when served and imparts to it much of that peculiar quality which one lady describes as "victuals and drink." Those who have tried the Arbuckle coffee are enthusiastic in its praise and as a rule will use no other. As it can now be obtained at almost any grocery store it will doubtless have a large sale. It is put up in pound packages, unground, but if you are without that very useful article, a family coffee mill, your grocer will be only too glad to grind it for you.

A list of the grocers in Portsmouth of whom the Arbuckle coffee can be obtained appears in another column, and as it embraces many of the leading dealers in the trade, our readers will have little trouble in obtaining this delicious coffee. We suggest a trial of it.

—It is related that one hundred and fifty Tennessee clergymen recently prayed for rain, and it was followed by a fortnight of the dryest season ever known in that state. The circumstance caused considerable excitement until a Chattanooga man dropped into a country grocery store with the explanation that he reckoned Providence had got tired of being fooled by people who prayed for water when what they want all the time is whiskey.

—A charming blonde with more beauty than money was under a hair-dresser's hands. "What splendid hair!" he exclaimed; "I will give you 200 francs for it!" "Two hundred francs!" exclaimed the beauty, in amazement; "Cut it, cut it quick!" In a few moments the scissors had removed the golden fleece, and the beauty looked at herself in the mirror. "Ah, but I am ugly," she sighed; "I can never go out like this. I must have a chignon to match my hair. What's the price?" "Three hundred francs, madame."

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a week'y invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

The mills at Contoocook, and at Warren also, are stopped by high water. The river has fallen slightly, though the water still spreads in part over some of the intervales.

David H. Fowler is supposed to have committed suicide Wednesday, April 27th, by jumping into the river from the lower bridge at Concord. He was seen to enter the bridge about nine o'clock in the morning, and cannot be found. His cane and coat were found in the bridge. He was insane, and leaves a wife and family.

Charles Nute, section hand on the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad at Glen Station, met with a fatal accident Tuesday night, April 26th, while loading timber, one corner of a plank striking his head, from the effects of which he died next morning.

Seth Doten, one of the oldest residents of Plymouth, died Monday, April 25th, of pneumonia. His age was seventy-six years. Mr. Doten was a highly respected citizen, and had occupied nearly every office in town, serving for many years as overseer of the poor.

The annual report of the Cheshire railroad, just issued, shows the earnings of the year ending Sept. 30th to have been $602,750, and the operating expenses $438,152, making the net income $164,598. Of this sum $51,000 was paid for rents, $48,927 for interest, and $63,000 on a three per cent dividend, leaving a balance on the year's operations of $1,671. The earnings of the road, as a whole, have been about twenty-five per cent more the past year than for the previous year, and the net earnings, after paying expenses and interest, have increased seventy-five per cent.

—"Mamma," said a very little girl, with a shocked expression on her face, "they don't have any prayers at Mr. Camp's!" "Why don't they?" asked the mother, thinking to draw out the little one's thoughts, and then give her some religious instruction. "Oh!" with a look of contempt for such heathenism, "they don't know beans!"

—The Boston Globe remarks that "Jay Gould writes checks for $2,400,000 on old scraps of letter paper, and the banks pay them, but if we should write a check for $24 on a sheet of vellum, and plaster it all over with revenue stamps and gilt seals, the man who presented it would be handed over to the police. There is something wrong in our civilization. Where are our bombs?"

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."—Salem Post.

It is no longer an idle dream or boasting to affirm that Fellows' Hypophosphites, wherein are united nature's forces, will strengthen man and make his life not only endurable, but sparkling with rude and joyous health. Fellows' Hypophosphites supplies the ingredients which constitute healthy blood, and imparts the elements which give vitality.

Some rascal has stolen eight hundred splendid trout from a pond on the private grounds of Hon. W. L. Prince at West Cumberland, Me. Some of the trout were three pounders.

At Leominster, Mass., April 26th, a girl twelve years old, daughter of Charles Black, employed in the woollen mill of E. M. Rockwell, got caught in the carding machinery, and was drawn in headforemost as far as the waist, when the machinery clogged. The girl was instantly killed, being pressed out very thin.

He Suffered for 35 Years.

GUILFORD, CT., May 15th, 1868.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

With a Bonus of Stock.

The pavement made by this Company has met with the highest favor, both in this country and in Europe, and it is considered to approach perfection more nearly than any other.

The Works of the Company are at Providence, R. I., and at Hastings, N. Y., and the needs of its business will soon require additional ones at Chicago and other large cities.

The Company require additional means to extend the facilities for manufacturing, and offer for sale the second $100,000 of their six per cent bonds (convertible into stock) at par and interest. These bonds carry a bonus of stock, which is fixed for the present at fifty per cent.

FAVORITE REMEDY

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' and found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

A Five-Masted Schooner.

On April 12th the new five-masted schooner David Dows was successfully launched at Toledo in the presence of 5,000 people. The schooner is named after David Dows, of New York city. Her keel is 265 feet, her length over all 278 feet, and her total carrying capacity 140,000 bushels of grain. Her beam is thirty-eight feet and seven inches, and average depth twenty-one feet. She carries two large centreboards—one twenty-five feet and the other twenty-seven feet in length—and her five masts, with all sails spread will carry 70,000 yards of canvas. When fully loaded she will draw fifteen feet. The cost of this vessel, ready for sailing, will be $100,000. The David Dows is the largest vessel on the lakes.

English Sky-larks in America.

Mr. John Burroughs, in his "Notes of a Walker" in a recent number of Scribner's Magazine, described the delight with which he heard a stray English sky-lark, which had evidently either escaped from a cage, or was a survivor of those which were liberated in Long Island several years ago. He suggested that there was "no reason why the lark should not thrive in this country as well as in Europe." Acting on this suggestion, Mr. Charles R. Rowe, of Cornwall, England, an enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Burroughs' writings, has sent him a number of English sky-larks which arrived in New York April 23d, and have been forwarded to Mr. Burroughs at Esopus-on-the-Hudson, where they will be set free.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

The buffaloes, as the Chinese, must go. Eighty-three thousand buffalo hides were sold at Miles City, Montana, alone, during the past fall and winter. At this rate the buffaloes will become extinct before long.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

Father McGrath, the Catholic priest at Leicester, Mass., learning that there had been a Sunday cock-fight among some of his parishioners, went to three of the interested parties, and at one place wrung the necks of three birds, at another caused the owner to do the same, and gave some sound advice to the third one.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

A carriage containing Mrs. Wilson Morse of Clinton, Mass., was struck by an engine last Thursday on the northern division of the Old Colony railroad, at Clinton. It is supposed that Mrs. Morse was watching a switching engine near the station, and did not see the train which struck her. She lived but a few minutes after the accident.

Kills the Pleasure.

Illness in the house affects the whole family in some manner. When the sickness is serious the children's laughter must be hushed, footsteps must be softened, all goes sadly and wrong. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" stands in your doorway and says to sickness: "Keep out!" It will cost you only a dollar to put the sentinel on duty, and for his faithfulness thousands can vouch. Ask your druggist, or write to the doctor at Roadout, N. Y.

A little boy, aged six years, son of G. W. Cole, and a little daughter of Wm. Stratton, aged four, of Beebe Plain, Quebec, white playing together last Thursday morning, in some way got possession of a loaded revolver, and the boy shot the girl in the back of the neck, killing her almost instantly.

Civil Service Reform.

Geo. Wm. Curtis, of New York, lectured in Boston on Thursday evening last upon "Civil Service Reform." He told the Boston men how Mr. Conkling's office-holders prevented him (Curtis) from being chosen a delegate to the state convention, and complained that the politicians controlled the public offices of the country. The remedy for this which the eloquent theorist suggests, is worse than the disease. It in effect is for the republicans to appoint anybody to office, no matter what may be their politics, and in the end let the democrats regain the power in the nation. The speech was particularly pleasing to a dozen or so representative democrats who sat upon the platform, and endeavored to repress the smile of satisfaction at what must be the result of Mr. Curtis' plan as to patronage, if ever put in operation—which it never will be by any political party, so long as this government remains a "government by the people."

Savings Banks in New Hampshire.

The annual examination of the bank commissioners was completed April 28th, with the following results; The whole number of savings banks doing business in the state is sixty-four; whole number of depositors, 96,681; amount deposited, $32,097,734.17; surplus and guarantee fund, $2,231,699.33; amount loaned on real estate, $10,841,203.26; on personal security, $4,525,144.98; on collateral security, $2,140,244.02; bonds and stocks, $14,032,261.73; miscellaneous, $1,869,-359.29; cash on hand, $921,220.22; increase in number of depositors over the preceding year, 9,602; increase of deposits over the previous year, $3,838,-126.76. The amount on deposit at the present time is greater than in any preceding year. The amount received during the year is $8,586,079.71; amount paid to depositors, $5,382,085.09, to Jan. 1; the savings bank tax paid to the state in 1880 was $278,997.80.

Insolent "Check."

James Redpath having been refused permission to lecture in the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, Ohio, by Gen. Patrick, superintendent of the home, the following circular has been issued and distributed about the home:

Notice! In consequence of the tyrannial and un-American action of Gen. Patrick in refusing Mr. Redpath permission to address the Irish citizens and soldiers of the home on the wrongs and grievances of our countrymen in Ireland, it is hereby ordered that Gen. Patrick be declared boycotted, and all Irishmen are forbidden to have dealing with the home store, restaurant or theatre until further notice. Irishmen of the home and Dayton, fail not to comply with this order! Sic semper tyrannis!

By order of the secretary of the grand council.

It is alleged in support of Gen. Patrick's refusal to permit Mr. Redpath to lecture, that permission was not asked in the proper form for all such requests; but he based his refusal on the ground that the Soldiers' Home is a national institution, and the nation being at peace with England, no agitation could be permitted by him on any question.

It might be well for the zealous supporters of the present agitation in Ireland and of the several means employed by the agitators to secure a measure of liberty for the people of that unhappy and oppressed country, to remember that America is not Ireland, and that the American people are not likely to fall in love with tyranny of any sort, whether exercised by a monarch, a mob, or a society professedly acting in the interests of liberty.

News and Notes.

The loss of life by the Elgin ferry-boat disaster is not so large as was first reported, but it is still bad enough; twelve or fourteen persons perished.

At St. Louis, Mo., April 28th, during a storm of hail and lightning, four boys aged from twelve to fourteen years were killed by a lightning stroke, while playing base ball during recess at school.

The safe in the post-office at Georgetown, Mass., was blown to pieces Wednesday night, April 26th, by burglars, and rifled of its contents. The post-office was located in a grocery store, and the money drawer of that establishment was also rifled.

Royal S. Carr was executed at Windsor, Vt., Friday, for the murder of William W. Murcommock, a half-breed Indian, whom he enticed into the woods near Worcester, Vt., Dec. 17th, 1878, and shot to death, his motive being to marry Murcommock's wife. He confessed his guilt. Carr was about forty years old, and of a very low order of intellect—a mere human brute. In 1863 he was sent to state prison for ten years for complicity in the murder of Mrs. Mary E. Loomis, who was married when only thirteen years of age, and murdered a year later under circumstances too revolting to be described. The woman's husband was believed to have been concerned in the crime, but Carr's confessions, or boasts rather, to other convicts while in prison, proved him to have been the real criminal and possibly the only one connected with the tragedy.

Alice Holmes, five years old, daughter of Erskine Holmes of Stafford Springs, Conn., was so severely burned on the 25th of April by her clothing taking fire from burning brush, that she died the next day.

The robber of 800 pounds of trout in a tank belonging to W. L. Prince of West Cumberland, Me., proves to be a mink.

Gen. Louis von Benedek, who commanded the Austrian army at Sadowa, July 3d, 1866, when the Austrian power in Germany was destroyed by the overwhelming defeat inflicted by the Prussians, died April 27th, at the age of about seventy-seven years.

Mrs. Lydia Reed of Portland, Me., was arrested for cruelly beating a child, and brought before the municipal court on April 26th. She was held to bail in $500. She beat the child because he wouldn't say his prayers. The child has been sent back to the Catholic Asylum. He is but three years old.

Helen M. Gardner, nee Freeman, of New York, charged with assaulting Howard S. Ingersoll, a rubber manufacturer, by throwing red pepper in his eyes and cowhiding him for insulting her, has been sent to the New York penitentiary for one year, and fined $250.

Anarchy is increasing in Ireland.

Election Outrages in South Carolina.

The examination of witnesses in the fifth congressional district of South Carolina, in the contest between Tillman, democrat, and Smalls, republican, has been closed. This testimony presents an astounding array of incidents of democratic fraud, intimidation and violence. It should be added that this testimony comes from trustworthy witnesses, and is for the most part uncontradicted. Here are a few of the facts established:

At Edgefield Court House nearly 2000 colored republicans were not allowed to vote. At Johnstone's, in the same county, between 400 and 500 of the same class of voters were not permitted to deposit their ballots; a colored man was also killed at this poll, and no efforts have been made by the state to bring the murderer to justice. At Aiken Court House a piece of artillery, loaded with grape shot by W. W. Williams, the Judge of Probate, was planted in the street facing the poll; the Palmetto Guards—a militia company—kept their arms at the Town Hall, and twice assembled in the street armed to prevent republicans from voting, and when even the fear of being shot did not deter a few from entering behind the barricade erected in front of the poll to deposit their ballots, they paid for their temerity by having cayenne pepper thrown in their eyes; those who protested against this barbarity were threatened with arrest for inciting riot. Democratic lawlessness reigned supreme at every poll in this county, and very few republican votes were polled. At Buford's Bridge, Barnwell county, a band of armed men drove about 400 colored republicans from the poll, and a Confederate flag was hoisted over the precinct. At Barker's and several other precincts armed men prevented republicans from voting; in Hampton county, near Beech Branch, nine armed democrats waylaid the three colored men who had the republican tickets for that vicinity, and compelled them to deliver them up at the mouth of the pistol. In Colleton county the commissioners of election refused to count the vote of Jacksonboro'—a large republican precinct—because the box was full at one o'clock, and the managers closed the poll. At Summerville—another republican stronghold—the poll was not opened at all. At the 'Ridge' the vote, heavily republican, was thrown out because the managers procured a second box, as the first could not hold all the tickets.

Durango's First Baby.

Miss Una C. Pearson, infant daughter of John and Ella Pearson, bears her honors gracefully of being the first child born in Durango. The happy event occurred on Monday, Jan. 31, 1881. The gifts to the little stranger were numerous, and some of them costly. One old miner from Silvertown presented the little curiosity with a bag of gold dust. McFadden & Son gave a deed for a town lot on Second street; Mr. Luttrell followed suit with a corner lot on the Boulevard; Mr. Creek sent over four tons of coal; Newman, Chestnut & Stevens made the little one's heart glad with a dozen bottles of soothing syrup, and John Taylor followed suit with a soft hair brush, while Griffin & Carpenter sent in a rubber ring and a box of safety pins. Mr. and Mrs. Diamond gave the baby their little "cross dog" Prince to play with when she gets old enough. Robertson & Rowley, as soon as they heard the news, went to work making a baby carriage. Ed. Schiffer wanted to give away his little baby steam engine, but it makes such a racket that it keeps the little one awake, so, instead, he presented a receipt for a post-office box. The Record put her name down for a year's subscription to the daily and weekly, gratis. Dr. Coven of the Windsor gave a box of tooth picks; that's about as much as a bachelor knows about babies. Baldwin, the shoemaker, tried to take her measure for a pair of shoes, but his lasts were all too small. Justices Flagler and Craig and Ex-Justice DeMattes of Leadville made a call in a body, and took depositions that she really was the first born. Mr. Eldredge of Leadville presented a quilt. Myers, another bach., of the firm of Myers & West, brought up a pony with a side-saddle for the young lady to take a horse-back ride. Other and various things too numerous to mention were offered at the shrine of the first born, and, take it all in all, no other baby ever received such a welcome as this one, in the "glorious climate of Durango."—Durango (Col.) Record.

A Cunning Bear.

The captain of a Greenland whaler, being anxious to procure a bear without damaging the skin, made trial of the stratagem of laying down the noose of a rope in the snow, and placing a piece of meat within it. A bear was soon enticed to the spot by the smell of the meat. He saw the bait, approached, and seized it in his mouth, but his foot at the same time, by a jerk of the rope, got entangled in the noose; he pushed it off his paw, and retired. After having eaten the piece of meat, which he carried away with him, he returned. The noose, with another bait, had been replaced; he pushed the rope aside and again walked off. A third time the noose was laid; but, excited to more caution by the evident observation of the bear, the sailors buried the rope beneath the snow, and laid the meat in a deep hole in the center. Once more the bear approached, and the sailors were hopeful of success; but Bruin, more sagacious than they expected, after snuffing about the place for a few moments, scraped the snow away with his paw, threw the rope away, and again escaped with his prize.

AROUND HOME.

The "city book" for 1880 is now ready for distribution. Citizens can procure copies of the city clerk.

The U. S. S. Mayflower arrived at the navy yard on Thursday of this week, with gun-carriages and other material for the Lancaster.

On Sunday, April 24th, Matilda and William Walton of Seabrook had $75 worth of standing wood and fifteen cords of cut wood burned by a field fire caused by wads from guns.

Capt. Levi Downs went to Kennebunkport on Thursday to examine the wreck of the schooner Mary E. Caswell, and returned on Friday. He reports the vessel as worthless for repairing.

A trifling fire in one of the iron-working shops at the navy yard occasioned an alarm shortly before midnight on Thursday. But little harm was done, and the fire was put out with buckets of water.

Mr. Charles H. Joy of this city on Monday of this week purchased the stock in trade of Mr. E. Hanscom, of Lawrence, Mass., who kept one of the largest grocery stores in that city, and will run it in connection with his store here.

The choir of the Middle street Baptist church for the ensuing year has been engaged, as follows: Soprano, Miss Emma J. Flanders; alto, Miss Nellie Taylor; tenor, Thomas Chase, Jr.; bass, Dr. R. C. Grant. Mr. S. W. Cole continues as organist.

No customer of the Gas Co. is heard to complain that his bill for the quarter ending March 31st was too small. Quite a number of patrons are unanimous in the belief that they paid for all the gas they consumed within that period, with possibly a trifle thrown in for a good measure.

Mr. George Herbert has lately completed arrangements to go into the buying of fish on an extinsive scale. Mr. George Richards, one of the largest fish dealers in Boston, will be associated with him. The wharf lately occupied by Mr. John Dixon has been hired for the business.

Mr. Nathaniel J. Coffin of this city has during the past winter built a boat which is quite a novelty in its way. She is named the "Altair de Aquila," is fourteen feet long, four feet beam and two and a half feet deep; she is decked over, and built something after the style of a double-ender. She has one mast, with a bowsprit long enough to spread a big jib, and will carry about twenty-seven yards of canvas. Mr. Coffin calls her an experiment, and she is certainly an odd-looking craft. A large number of persons examined her on Friday, while on the wharf under Church hill, ready for launching.

"Perley," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal, in his account of the ceremonies attending the recent unveiling of the statue of Admiral Farragut at Washington says: "The Freemasons were not invited to participate in the ceremonies of the unveiling of the statue, although they should have been. Farragut was a member of the fraternity, and —if I mistake not—he was buried with Masonic honors at Portsmouth, N. H., and a Masonic memorial sermon was delivered on the following Sunday, in the Congregational church at that place, by Chaplain James J. Kane of that station." "Perley" is correct; the old hero's funeral here was conducted with Masonic honors; the fraternity mustered from a circuit of thirty or forty miles to pay respect to his memory, and the main portion of the lower floor of St. John's church was reserved for the several Masonic bodies.

The Eastern railroad bridge over the Saco river, at Biddeford, has been entirely rebuilt.

Ananias Fowler, the veteran fisherman of South Seabrook, is lying at the point of death.

A meeting of the Memorial committee will be held in the common council rooms on Monday evening at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

The uniforms for the Eastern railroad employes will be distributed about May 15th—blue for the train men and gray for the line men, with nickel-plated buttons. The suits will cost $21 each, and will be furnished to the men at half price.

The Dover Republican says: "We learn that Dr. Hayes has just received and declined a very urgently-proffered position as bass singer in the quartette choir of the Unitarian church at Portsmouth, with a high salary, and expenses paid."

A set of bathing houses, to be built in a neat style, painted, etc., is to be put up near the short sands in York, upon land leased of Hartley W. Mason. The building will be erected by the proprietor of the Norwood farm, one of the most attractive places in York.

The enlargement of the Marshall house at York harbor affords the proprietors increased facilities for entertaining the guests who seek to avail themselves each summer of the many advantages of this attractive spot. One of the most highly appreciated features of this locality is that its situation is on an eminence at the end of a road, and not on a thoroughfare where the quiet enjoyment of its beauties would be disturbed by passing crowds.

Dr. John W. Parsons will start to-day for Richmond, Va., where he will attend the meeting of the American Medical Association, which is to hold a session from the 3d to the 6th of May, inclusive. Dr. Parsons has attended previous sessions of the association held at San Francisco, Cal., and Louisville, Kentucky, and is of the opinion that these conventions have been of good service to the medical profession of the United States. The citizens of Richmond will use every effort to make the "visits" of the doctors unusually agreeable.

The Newburyport Herald of April 29th says: "Seabrook is considerably excited on the question of the enforcement of Sunday laws, particularly the one in regard to hawk-shooting on Sundays. As the laws of New Hampshire give a bounty of twenty cents for each hawk killed, the temptation to shoot this annoying bird has been so great that many of the gunners of late have made Sundays rather too much of a 4th of July to please the people of the town. Several hundred have been killed within a few weeks,—but of course none were shot on Sunday, as the bounty would not be paid if shot on that day! Unfortunately the past two Sundays have been unusually good hawk-days, there being considerable wind, and it is on windy days that hawks fly. The town authorities have been appealed to, and the police are expected to be on the alert if next Sunday is a good day for hawks. The Salisbury selectmen have been notified that gunning is carried on within their town limits, and they have promised to look after their side of the line."

Janauschek, who will appear at Music hall on Wednesday evening, when about seventeen years of age was made the leading court actress of Germany. She was honored not alone by the people to an extraordinary degree, but crowned heads and the nobility vied with each other to pay her the homage due to her genius. The Emperor Nicholas and the Queen of Bavaria presented her with four diamonds, valued at the enormous sum of $48,000. No actress in the world, except Janauschek, has jewels of any such value. Moreover, special gold coins were struck in the German mints, bearing her portrait and her name. These coins were used in regular circulation, and can even now occasionally be found in German capitals. Her entire possessions of jewels—real in all cases—are valued at over $150,000. Three times Janauschek was crowned with honor wreaths, and her fame has not been surpassed by any living actress. She has always held firmly to the principle of doing her very best in each city or town in which she has appeared. The magnificent costumes worn by Janauschek were brought by her from London, Paris and Vienna, on her return from Europe last summer.

The management will have the jewels above spoken of placed on exhibition in the jewelry-store window of J. H. Hutchson on the day of Janauschek's only appearance in this city, as his honor the mayor has kindly promised to furnish a detail of police to guard this valuable collection.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE.

We have alluded to the vote of the Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association of Strafford County, declining to pay the heirs of the late Otis A. Frost the amount of the benefit they claimed to be due. The action of the association was based upon the following section of an article in their rules and regulations:

Any member of the Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association of Strafford County, suspended or expelled from his lodge, shall forfeit his membership in this association; provided, however, that his suspension is for non-payment of dues alone, in that case he may retain his membership in this association for the period of one year; if suspended or expelled for any other cause in his lodge, his membership shall cease at once.

The vote to stand by the above section was carried by three to one. They also voted to pay back to the heirs of the deceased all moneys paid by him from the time of his suspension down to the date of his death.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

THURSDAY, April 28th.

Case Dow vs. Atkinson, the trial of which was begun on the 26th, occupied the court until Thursday afternoon, when the jury found for the plaintiff, assessing damages in the sum of three hundred dollars and interest.

John W. Reardon, assault with a knife upon Daniel Lynch, (continued case,) case again continued to May 4th; bonds in $600 required.

MAINE FISHING LAWS.

For some years past the dwellers near the head waters of York river, Spruce creek, and other streams in the western part of York county, have complained bitterly of the complete stopping up of the rivers by nets stretched from shore to shore, by which smelts, alewives and other fish on which they had been accustomed to rely for a portion of their food, were prevented from ascending. The legislature of Maine at its late session passed laws relating to this matter, as follows:

No smelts shall be taken or fished for in any of the tidal waters in the state, in any other manner than by hook and line, between the first day of April and the first day of October in each year, under a penalty of not less than ten dollars, nor more than thirty dollars for each offense, and a further penalty of twenty cents for each smelt so taken, and all weirs for the capture of smelts shall be opened, and so remain, and all nets of any kind used in the smelt and tom-cod fishery shall be taken from the water on or before the first day of April in each year, under a penalty of not less than twenty, nor more than fifty dollars, and a further fine of five dollars per day for each day that such weir or net remains in violation of law; but weirs which have catch-pounds, covered with net, the meshes of which are one inch square in the clear, or greater, shall not be subject to the provisions of this section. Provided, however, that dip-nets may be used from the first day of April to the twentieth day of April.

No alewives shall be taken, killed or fished for in any waters within the jurisdiction of this state, between the fifteenth day of July of each year and the first day of April following, nor at any time in non-tidal or non-navigable waters, by means of any net other than the ordinary hand dip-net, under penalty of ten dollars for each offense, and one dollar additional for each fish so taken or killed.

Naval Affairs.

Passed Asst. Engr. Edward T. Phillippi is ordered to special duty in connection with the Lancaster, at Portsmouth navy yard.

The flag ship Tennessee, and the steamer Kearsarge, from Washington, arrived at Hampton roads April 27th.

The steamer Yantic arrived at the Washington navy yard April 28th.

In Spite of John's Vote.

There resided in Springfield, Ill., in 1860, an Irish laborer, John McCarty by name, a red-hot democrat. Shortly after the Presidential election, Mr. Lincoln was walking past the public square, where John was at work cleaning out the gutter. As the president-elect drew near, McCarty, pausing in his work and holding out his hand, said bluntly:

"An' so yer elected president, are ye? Faith, an' it wasn't by my vote, ye wur."

"Well, yes, John," replied Mr. Lincoln, shaking hands very cordially, "the papers say I'm elected, but it seems odd I should be, when you went against me."

"Well, Misther Lincoln," said John, dropping his voice lest some brother democrat should hear him, "I'm glad you got it, afther all. It's mighty little pace I've had wid Biddy for votin' forninst ye, an' if ye'd been bate, she'd hev druv me from the shanty, as shure's the wurruld."

—Zeal is something which only a wise man knows how to use, but is mostly intrusted to the care of fools.

—A Roman Catholic writer, wearing the appropriate name of Furniss, represents that a single spark of hell-fire no larger than a pin-head, if thrown into the ocean, would dry up all its waters and set the world in a blaze.

A singular death has occurred in Plaistow. Mr. George A. Putnam had been for several days using a liniment on his horse's leg. He rode from his shop home about six o'clock P. M., April 20th, rubbed his horse's leg as usual, and went into the house laughing at "how drunk" the liniment made him. He sat down in a chair, his head soon fell to his shoulders, and his whole right side became paralyzed. He only slightly came to consciousness afterward, and died Friday afternoon, the 22d. His physician says he would undoubtedly be alive to-day had he never used the powerful liniment.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FAVORITE REMEDY

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' and found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

PROHIBITION PAPERS AND PROHIBITIONISTS.

Mr. Charles S. Dodge, late editor of the late Portsmouth Weekly, in his valedictory, which is also the obituary of the paper, says:

Four years ago the first of May this Weekly was launched upon the sea of journalism. We became associated in the conducting of the same, with the late Frank W. Miller, he as editor-in-chief, and we as aid to him in all departments of the paper. We know what a difficult enterprise it had been, even with the ability of its late chief, to keep it in the foremost front of the new field he had chosen, representing particularly Temperance and the Grange; we know how many times he grieved because of its failure to be appreciated by those who evidently seemed strong in the faith, but thoughtless respecting a publication representing such noble principles; we know his sincerity; we know his love for the work of his own seeking; and so he continued a hard, hard worker, until, as often expressed to us, he was "worn out," and finally laid down the pen for us to take up and press on the glorious work begun and so persistently and lovingly prosecuted by him.

Temperance workers connected with a body of whatever name, or simply laboring outside the many organized armies enlisted in this warfare against that common enemy, Rum,—we have known you only by name, by your being inscribed upon the subscription list of the Weekly, and after enjoying pleasant converse with you through these columns, we bid you Hail! and Farewell, at least for the present, fully assured that you have acted well your part toward this publication.

What shall we write of you who have evidently not cared for the paper, and from whom we have received neither good wishes or anything worth mention—you who have seemed to say to yourself, "I am temperate personally, what more does anybody desire?" We leave you to your conscience with these observations: Your personal temperance is not all that is required of you; it does not make a Christian to belong to a church alone, but something more than that is asked in this generation; so though being temperate yourself is a step in the right direction, yet more is expected and required in the work, for to its advancement you must give your time in so far as is consistent with other duties; also what talent you may possess; yea, and with these the one thing ever essential in all the work of life, Money, to assist in driving the evil of Rum from the land.

In what better way could you have helped along the cause than by giving your mite toward the success of a paper in our state that has earnestly and constantly, and we think faithfully, endeavored to educate the people upon this question? You have heard regarding the reception of the Master of the world, that he came to his own and they received him not; so, likewise, this Weekly came to you as a strong and mighty engine for good;—came to you, yet you have failed to sustain it, and tacitly admitted by your actions that you do not want it. Yes of the class mentioned should be ashamed of such base ingratitude, and when before the people you again talk so loudly for your words be accompanied by some commendable deed as an evidence of your sincerity. Don't hereafter call yourself a temperance man in all the broad and generous acceptation of that term, but remember the time will surely come, and is not a great way off, when you will need just such a paper to stand up and fight for you, and have good reason for wishing that this Weekly was alive.

To the Grange, as an organization, we have nothing to return thanks for. You organized to combat monopolies and to aid the farmer in everything legitimate, and this Weekly was ready at all times to help you, while the late Bro. Miller was indeed a personal and zealous friend always, and brought you more publicly before the people of New Hampshire than any other person in the state. He loved the Grange and its principles, and who can gainsay it? yet as an Order you have not helped the paper which has earnestly espoused its cause. To those members who have done what was possible, we thank you cordially for all encouragement received.

Referring to the demise of the Weekly, the Dover Democrat moralizes as follows:

It suggests now to us that the subject of temperance is a good one to talk about, and the thing itself is entirely commendable, but it evidently does not pay to run newspapers on that line exclusively. The apostles of the cause, with some commendable exceptions, do not rank with the big-hearted, magnanimous, tolerant and generous people in practice, albeit they do like to have a smart, spicy paper to read, one that hits hard and abuses everybody who does not agree with them, but they prefer that the editor or proprietor thereof shall run it on his own pecuniary resources, and not bother them about collecting his subscriptions. They never want to pay anything, and never intend to pay if they can help it.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters is that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.—Eagle.

FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

The Boston Business Directory for 1881, published by W. A. Greenough & Co., No. 31 Milk street, Boston, contains a vast amount of information of value to everyone having business relations with that city. A book of 600 pages, accurately compiled and sold at $1.50, is a wonder in results. The directory can be had by sending to the publishers, or ordered through their canvasser now in this city completing the compilation for the new directory of Portsmouth. Mr. Greenough is a Portsmouth man. He knows his business, and the enormous sale of the Boston Business Directory is the best evidence of its usefulness. The experience in the compilation of directories of so many cities enables Greenough & Co. to supply an accurately-prepared work whenever the firm undertakes the task. The Portsmouth Directory will soon be forthcoming, and we trust will be appreciated and duly encouraged by our citizens.

The fire it is said is supposed to have been incendiary.

On Thursday night of last week the schooner Elvira, from Machias, Me., bound to New York with a load of spruce spars or spiles, when off Boon island was run into by another vessel which struck the Elvira between her fore and main rigging on the starboard side, breaking her rail, punching a hole nearly through her planking below the water line, and badly tearing her foresail. On Saturday she came into the lower harbor, and was laid on the flats in Pepperell's cove for examination and repairs. The other vessel proceeded on her way, probably not without receiving some injury. She was supposed to be an eastern vessel, as they very frequently have only one man on deck during the night, in any kind of decent weather, and do not pretend to keep a lookout.

The most ardent opponent of the use of spirituous liquors will acknowledge that if such liquids are to be used as a beverage, a pure article is less liable to do harm than an adulterated or wholly bogus one; while for use in case of sickness it is absolutely necessary that liquors should be just what they are claimed to be. William Ward & Sons (late Wm. Ward, the senior of the firm having admitted his two sons to partnership in the business on the first inst.,) have gained a reputation for a very superior article of the "New Englander's native beverage," and for handling only the best qualities of other liquors in which they have dealt, during several years past; and the increase in their business has been so great that they have found it necessary to establish a down-down store, and have taken the premises No. 93 Market street for that purpose, where they are now ready to receive wholesale purchasers, or approved orders by mail or express.

NEW RAILROAD PROJECT.

The Dover & Winnepisoegee railroad will ask the legislature at its next session for leave to extend its railroad from Alton Bay to the Boston & Montreal railroad at Laconia. This is a revival of what was once sought to be incorporated as the Lake Shore railroad, and would be of value to the B. C. & M. railroad as not only giving it a choice of routes for its business to and from Boston, but a second and shorter route to tide water in this city. Seventeen miles of this road built would make it fifty-eight miles nearer at this port than to Boston from the west. The movement is emphatically a New Hampshire enterprise, and we presume there can be no real objection to allowing the extension asked for to be made.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Apr. 30; Batchelder, J.

Ellen Harrington, one of the regular customers of the court for years past, was complained of for being a common drunkard. Sentence, ninety days at the county farm, costs being taxed at $9.18.

MADAME JANAUSCHEK.

Since the death of Charlotte Cushman this superb actress has been indisputably at the head of the English-speaking classic stage. Her unrivalled powers place her beyond any comparison in the front of her profession, and to use words opposite in other instances, but entirely accurate now, when she mastered the English tongue she became mistress of dramatic art. Her next engagement will be in this city, where she will appear in her great play of "Mother and Son" next Wednesday evening.

JAMES T. FIELDS' WILL.

The will of Jas. T. Fields has been filed at the probate court in Salem. Among the provisions is one giving to his wife all the Charles street (Boston) property, including the house, furniture, books, pictures and manuscripts. She also has the insurance on his life and the income of $100,000. There are numerous bequests of from $1000 to $5000 to relatives and friends, including one of $1000 to Edwin P. Whipple. The following sums are to be paid on the death of his wife, if she does not direct otherwise by will; E. P. Whipple, $5000; John G. Whittier, $5000; J. F. Clarke, $5000; Lucy Larcom $5000; W. D. Howells, $5000; T. B. Aldrich, $5000; Sarah M. Adams, Elizabeth Adams and Dr. L. B. Adams, $5000 each. He gives without this condition, to the boys' high school, Portsmouth, N. H., $3000; to the girls' high school, Portsmouth, $3000; to the Howard Benevolent Society, Portsmouth, $5000; to the Home for Aged Colored Women, Boston, $3000; Home for Aged Men, Boston, $3000; Dedham Home, $3000; the New England Freedman's Aid Society, $3000; to the Benevolent Fraternity of Churches, for the use of the chapel under charge of Rev. Mr. Winkley, $3000; the Kneeland Street Hospital, $3000; to Harvard college library, the manuscript of his books and poems; to Dartmouth college library, one hundred volumes, to be selected from his library by the president of the college. These are all the public bequests, and all the private ones of public interest. The will was made in 1869, and there is a codicil made some years later, in which, in consideration of a depreciation in the value of the property, he modifies or revokes a number of bequests, and adds to his wife's portion the estate at Manchester. None of the revoked or modified bequests are named above, however. Messrs. James A. Little and James H. Beal are the executors of the estate.

IRON STEAM-SHIPS.

We noticed recently the sale of a frame of a ship previously sent to Kennebunkport, and subsequently sent to Bath, Me., where the proposed ship is finally to be constructed. Indeed Bath, with its machinery for wooden-ship building, seems to be to-day the port where nearly all the vessel building of New England is carried on. Of late years the tendency has been to consolidate the production of different mechanical industries. At one place, car-building thrives; at another, tubs and buckets are the staple of manufacture; here, cotton machinery is profitably built; there, it is not successfully carried on.

In the very sensible and practical address of Mr. C. Carleton Coffin before the New Hampshire Press Association, extracts from which we have before given, the advantages of our port as a depot for the construction of iron steamships are set forth. We must establish a local industry of some kind; if we do not, a decline in the value of our real estate will certainly be seen. We are in one corner of the state, with the ocean on one side, and one of our avenues of country trade is over a toll-bridge owned by a foreign corporation which cannot always appreciate our local interests as do our own capitalists. Trade can only be retained by having a local demand; something permanent and reliable in the way of a home industry is what is needed. The deep water of our river, reached by railways without great expense, with every facility for building, ought to make Portsmouth as economical a place for the constructing of iron steamships as the country affords. That the foreign carrying trade is to be done by steamships there can be no doubt. The world moves, and we should move with it. Our capitalists will have to raise a large sum, but an incorporated company, securing the services of practical men, can as well succeed here as anywhere, and we opine that this species of industry has a better outlook in our locality than any one which seeks by competition with inland places to enter a field already occupied by long-established manufactures.

Carbolic Acid for Insects.

The time has almost come again when "the little busy bugs" will open up their summer campaign, and dispute with the "lords of creation" for possession of the "fruits of the earth." Allow me thus early to call attention to an article, the merits of which everybody knows, but which many dare not use,—I refer to carbolic acid. Prepared as indicated, it can not, I think, hurt the most delicate house plants, and is sure to kill insect life. My plan of preparing is as follows:

I obtain crude carbolic acid; I use it in this form because it is stronger and better for the purpose and costs but very little, (about twenty-five cents per gallon I think.) I pour a quantity of this dark crude acid into a quantity of good strong domestic soft soap; stir well together, and allow to stand for a few hours. I then test the compound by mixing a little of it with soft water, if too much acid has been added, oily particles of carbolic acid will be observed floating on the surface. This shows that more acid has been put in than the soap will incorporate or cut, and more soap should be added to balance the excess of acid. No more definite rule can be given, as so much depends on the strength of the soap. Two or three tablespoonfuls of acid to a quart of soap may first be tried. I prefer to make as strong with acid as the soap will perfectly cut. A very little practice will enable anyone to compound it correctly. The refined acid may be used when the crude is not at hand.

When prepared as above, make a moderately strong suds, and apply with a syringe or sponge. In using on very delicate plants, should any fear be felt for the plants, they can be rinsed off after a few minutes.

My first and eminently successful use of this compound was some years since, on a block of young cherry trees, some fifty thousand in number. The black aphis came down like a wolf on the fold, only they came not as single spies, but in whole battalions. It soon became an interesting question as to who was the proprietor of this particular block of trees—myself or the "bug Ethiopian." A disinterested observer, of judicial turn of mind, judging from the general appearance of things and the very "at home" air assumed by the bugs, would have said they had the best case. He would at least have been compelled to admit they had nine points of the law (possession) in their favor. I never saw the like before. The trees were alive with aphis. The only scarce things on the trees were the leaves, there being hardly enough to afford standing room for all the dusky guests. However, not being a convert to the doctrine of squatter sovereignty, I declared war, and failing to decrease the number by ordinary means I compounded soft soap and carbolic acid, and with a single application exterminated the enemy.—T. T. S., in Gardener's Monthly.

—Americans are taking to bycicling in large numbers this year, and it promises to be a popular pastime with thousands of young men.

—President Lincoln once said that the best story he ever read in the papers about himself was this: Two Quakeresses were travelling on the railroad, and were heard discussing the probable result of the war. "I think" said one, "that Jefferson will succeed." "Why does thee think so?" asked the other. "Because Jefferson is a praying man." "And so is Abraham a praying man." "Yes, but the Lord will think Abraham is only joking," doubtfully replied the first.

Given up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."—Salem Post.

Sarah Jonican, a negro woman, was sentenced at Houston, Texas, Friday last, to the penitentiary for life, for the murder of a woman last July by braining her with a bar of iron.

An incipient volcano broke out on the farm of N. A. Jarnagen, in the southern portion of Ohio county, Ky., one day last week. Jarnagen was attracted to the place by the gas as it escaped from the earth, and found, on examination, that the earth was seemingly on fire. Many persons have visited the place, and it is a source of wonder to all.

GUILFORD, CT., May 15th, 1868.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure, I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FAVORITE REMEDY

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' add found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Linked Together.

Complaints go in troops. They are associated by nature. Get one disease and you will have others. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" strikes at the root of all disease. You cannot take it amiss, no matter what your particular trouble may be. For all ailments of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bowels, it is worth more than its weight in gold. A silver dollar will buy it, whether you go to your drug store, or address the proprietor, Dr. K., at Rondout, N. Y.

—During the Mardi-Gras celebration, Mose Schomburg, upon returning to his store on Galveston avenue from dinner, found his clerk very much excited. The clerk said that a stranger came in, and after asking and paying the price of a cravat, which was $1, picked up the entire box, containing a dozen, and ran off with them. "Did he pay you de dollar?" asked Mose. "Yes," responded the clerk. "Vell, den, ve makes, anyhow, fifty per cent profits on de investment."

Reduction of the Public Debt.

Some interesting facts in regard to the reduction of the public debt are given by the New York Commercial Advertiser. Mr. McCulloch, secretary of the treasury under President Johnson, audited the government's war obligations in four months, and found, Aug. 31, 1865, that the total debt was $2,756,995,000, and the interest charge $151,000,000 a year. At the close of Mr. Johnson's term his secretary transferred to the administration of Gen. Grant a debt of $2,525,000,000, with an interest charge of $124,000,000 a year. In the eight years of Gen. Grant, his secretaries, chief of whom was Mr. Boutwell, reduced the principal of the debt to $2,-088,781,000, and the interest to $94,-400,000; and this was the condition of the public finances when President Hayes took charge, with Mr. Sherman as his secretary of treasury, in 1877. The following four years the principal of the debt was reduced to $1,879,956,000, and the interest to $76,845,000 per annum. The actual reduction of interest on funded stocks as they stood at the beginning of the term was $21,500,000, a new charge of $4,600,000 per annum being incurred for resumption purposes.

News and Notes.

Whenever a fraud is unearthed in the administration of the affairs of the government, a prominent, life-long democrat will be one of the first to turn up under the investigation. W. H. Barnum, late chairman of the democratic national committee, now appears as a bondsman of one of the most extravagant "star routes" of the post-office department. He was induced to sign, probably, that he might get his "mules" employed in carrying the mails containing his Chinese letter.

Some time ago, at Shreveport, La., Capt. T. M. Thomas killed his brother-in-law, M. Hugh Dickson, the latter having seduced Thomas' daughter. On Saturday last the jury in the case returned a verdict of manslaughter, recommending the lightest punishment allowed by law. An acquittal had been expected, and the citizens are signing a petition for his pardon.

Mr. W. W. Bligord, boot and shoe dealer of Brunswick, Me., left town suddenly on the midnight train, Sunday night, taking his family and some personal effects, leaving, it is alleged, several creditors in the lurch.

Miss Lastania Abata, of Los Angeles, Cal., several months ago killed F. C. Foster, claiming that he had ruined her under a promise of marriage, and then abandoned her. Last Saturday evening she was acquitted by a jury, the crowd in the court hailing the verdict with three cheers.

In a drunken row at Burlington, Vt., late Saturday night, Frank McCullough was fatally stabbed.

The Earl of Shrewsbury recently eloped from Shipley, England, with Mrs. Miller Mundy, the wife of a wealthy brewer. The pair fled to Strasburg, Germany, where they were found by the woman's friends, who gave the seducer a sound thrashing, and carried the woman back to England.

Notice is given by the treasury department that on and after Wednesday of this week the five per cent funded loan bonds of 1881 included in the 101st call will be paid with interest, from May 1st to May 21st. There is little doubt expressed by the Washington authorities that all the maturing bonds will be continued at 3 1-2 per cent.

John W. Minturn, of the firm of Grinnell, Minturn & Co., New York, shot himself dead in his office, Saturday. He was forty-three years of age, and returned from Paris on the previous Monday.

Ex-United States Treasurer John C. New is in Chicago making arrangements for the sale of stock of the Mutual Union telegraph company. He states that the line will be built from New York to Chicago within six months.

At Harrisburg, Pa., Saturday night, after a trial lasting three days, Henry and Frank Rumberger were found guilty of murder in the first degree, in killing Daniel Troutman, an old farmer, last November.

Taylor Strander, (colored,) twice convicted and sentenced to be hanged by a West Virginia state court for a murder committed in Wheeling nine years ago, has been discharged by Judge Jackson of the United States circuit court, on the ground of the non-compliance by the state courts with a clause of the civil rights bill, allowing colored men to sit on a jury.

A telephone company claiming that one Drawbaugh invented and used the telephone before either Bell or Edison made their discoveries and inventions, has established the fact by witnesses that the magnetic telephone was in use in Drawbaugh's workshop in Harrisburg, Pa., as far back as 1872, and the galvanic telephone as early as 1869.

Hartford is somewhat excited over the alleged scandalous doings of Rev. Father Ryan of Cromwell, Conn. It is asserted that he has become infatuated with a Miss O'Neil, a servant girl in Hartford, and that he has visited her while in an intoxicated condition, has flourished a revolver, and endeavored to induce her to elope with him. No blame is attached to the young lady.

A tornado at Clarksville, Tenn., Friday night, tore the roof off the opera house, and damaged several stores.

There are now 1,014 cases of smallpox in the London hospitals. The deaths of 297 persons from smallpox in their own homes in the city are reported since the outbreak of the epidemic, which has much increased in violence latterly. During the past fortnight 152 persons have died in hospital from smallpox.

The circumstances connected with the loss of the bark "Hazard" on Nantucket shoals, on the 13th of February, still remains a great mystery, which flavors strongly of something more than an accident. The selling of the long boat, the putting into Delaware breakwater, the loss of reckoning of the ship, and the heartless abandonment of the second mate and part of the crew by the captain and the mate, and the bringing ashore of a bag of money, all point to something savoring of the "black-bird trade" of thirty years ago. We think that the matter should be the subject of an official inquiry.—Nautical Gazette.

New Hampshire Items.

At Laconia, all the Protestant churches, four in number, are without pastors.

Lebanon, which has the largest unoccupied water power in New Hampshire, voted unanimously Saturday to exempt from taxation for ten years all new capital invested in manufactures. There was a very large attendance, and great interest is manifested. Parties proposing large investments have already made large purchases of real estate.

Naval Affairs.

The following general order has been issued by the secretary of the navy: "The steamer recently purchased for the Jeannette search expedition, and formerly known as the Mary & Helen, will hereafter be known as the 'Rodgers.' Under this name she will be designated in the navy department. The name is given her in recognition of the valuable aid rendered the department by Rear-Admiral John Rodgers as president of the Jeannette relief board, to whom were referred the direction of the search, the means best adapted to the search, and the details of the expedition. It is also deemed a proper tribute to his eminent reputation as an officer of the navy, and a distinguished explorer in the Arctic seas."

The recent decision of Attorney-General MacVeagh in the Stevenson-Caswell case has been accepted by the navy department as a final disposition; also of the care of Paymaster Bellows, who has been detached from the United States steamer Alaska on the Pacific station, and ordered home. Paymaster J. Porter Loomis and Passed Assistant Paymaster Henry P. Smith, whose promotions respectively from the grade below were delayed nine months by the reinstatement of Bellows, will now ask to return their commissions to the secretary, and have new commissions issued to them dating back to the point when they would have been eligible for promotion had Bellows remained out of the service. Other adjustments of relative rank in the pay corps will be made necessary.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is universally as a dressing for the hair—is easily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

—"A three-year-old" discovered the neighbor's hens in her yard scratching. In a most indignant tone she reported to her mother that Mr. Smith's hens were "wiping their feet on our grass."

—"This isn't a menagerie," sharply observed an irascible deacon to a man who was trying to force a passage through the crowd at a church doorway. "No, I presume not," returned the stranger, "or they wouldn't leave any of the animals to block up the entrance."

—"You want to be free from whatever gives you annoyance," said the doctor to the sick man, "free from all causes of worry and nervous excitement, from everything that tends to produce mental distress or agitation." "Doctor!" exclaimed the patient, sitting bolt upright in bed and clasping his professional adviser's hand with enthusiasm, "put that in writing, and I'll apply for a divorce at once."

—Said Miss Poisgush to Syntax, the college tutor: "So you teach at Harvard! That must be so delightful, I'm sure. But I should be frightened to death to meet any of the students, with half a dozen foreign languages at their tongues' end. I suppose they never speak English at all." "Very seldom speak it," said Syntax in a dreamy way. "There! I knew they didn't," continued Miss Posigush. "What language do they use most, Mr. Syntax, Greek or Latin, or ——" "Slang," replied the tutor with laconic simplicity.—Boston Transcript.

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

AROUND HOME.

Schooner Grace Choate sailed on Monday for a fishing trip to the banks.

The county commissioners meet at the Court house to-day to continued the road hearing.

The jailor's residence in this city is to have a more cheerful outlook by means of a bay window now being put in.

The store of Mr. Henry Leveen, on Market square, is to have a plate-glass front put in and be otherwise improved, at an early date.

Mr. Melville Stimson, of Kittery, late master-at-arms of the U. S. S. Alaska, arrived home last week after an absence of three years and three days.

D. B. Stewart and others, who put in the lowest bid for the erection of the new county farm buildings of Strafford county, have thrown up the contract.

Janauschek stands alone as superbly as one of the Powers' statues. She will leave a memory which will outlive the present century of theatre goers.—Boston Globe.

Carpenter Joseph E. Cox, U. S. N., who has been at his home in Kittery for some time on waiting orders, has been ordered to the flag-ship Tennessee of the North Atlantic squadron.

The schooner Josie Hook, Fickett master, arrived at this port on Saturday from Hoboken, bound for Dover. In going up the river on Sunday, in tow, she got ashore at the narrows of the Cocheco, but came off all right.

Capt. L. E. Fagin, U. S. M. C., attached to the marine barracks at the navy yard, leaves for Charlestown, Mass., this morning, on temporary duty, having been appointed judge-advocate of a court martial ordered to convene at that station.

Four charges were exploded in Gangway rock, about half-past nine o'clock Monday morning, the blast loosening about twenty-five tons of stone. There was no blast on Saturday, as was reported, and none would have been made on Monday had not one of the drills got stuck in a hole so firmly that it could not be gotten out in any other manner.

The following-named vessels arrived at this port on Sunday, with cargoes to J. Albert Walker: Schooner Lizzie Guptill, lime and cement; schooner Addie Ryerson, 302 tons of coal; schooner Jas. O'Donohue, 272 tons of coal; schooner Clytie, 761 tons of coal. On Monday the schooner M. B. Mahoney and Magnet arrived with coal for the same dealer.

Schooner Lexington, from Ellsworth, Me., bound to this port with a load of wood, when off Boon island, Saturday night, was run into by a coaster, and had her jib-boom broken short off, her railing forward broken, and received other harm which will make quite a bill of expense for repairs. This is the second time that the master of the Lexington has had his vessel run into; the first time was by an ocean steamer, when his vessel was sunk, and was a total loss.

At about two o'clock Monday afternoon, as two boys named George Lowe and Percy O. Smart, sons of John Lowe and Richard D. Smart, Sr., ran around the corner at the arsenal on South street, on their way to school, they came in collision with a carriage driven by Joseph Locke, striking the vehicle between the fore and hind wheels, and being run over. The Lowe boy had a toe so badly crushed as to render amputation necessary, and one of the Smart boy's legs was injured so badly that he was unable to walk in the evening, though it is hoped no permanent harm will result. The latter was taken to his home by Mr. Locke.

On Saturday evening the building at York beach occupied as a dwelling and saloon during the summer season by Miss Lizzie Wilson, was burned, probably by an incendiary fire. Reported to be insured.

On the first anniversary of her marriage, which occurred—the anniversary, not the marriage—a few days since, Mrs. Norris W. Pitts, of Kennebunk, made her delighted husband a present in the shape of a fine girl baby.

Mr. John Malsbenden died on Monday afternoon quite suddenly, having been taken home from his store. He was a worthy, industrious man, a respected member of the Catholic church, had carried on business as a merchant tailor in this city since 1866, and leaves a widow and large family of young children.

We enjoyed a very pleasant half-hour's call on Monday from Mr. Wm. H. Marden, formerly of this city, now of Liberty, Me. Mr. Marden, who was a brother of the late Daniel W. Marden, left home over thirty years ago, and his visits since have been few and far between, the last one having occurred a dozen years ago or more.

A few evenings since a little unpeasantness occurred between Everard Flynn and "Jim" Cousens, which resulted in the latter's receiving a vigorous application of boot leather. Had Jim got real mad, fighting mad, the affair might have resulted differently, as he privately informed us that he could have "warmed" Mr. Flynn with ease. If these two ever have more trouble, something serious will happen, and gore may be shed.—Kennebunk Star.

The horse and carriage previously reported as lost by a Mr. Gallagher, a runner for Deering & Milliken of Portland, by the recent burning of the stable attached to the Cape Neddick house, belonged to John Cousens of Kennebunk, and the team was the best one in his stable. The horse lost in the same fire by Mr. Grant, the proprietor of the hotel, was the black horse "Pompey," well known in this city through his having for a number of years been owned and driven by Mr. W. Freeman.

On Sunday, April 24th, Elder George Paine closed his labors with the Christian Baptist church of Ogunquit village, Wells. Over fifty years ago, while teaching school in that vicinity, a revival of religion was started through Mr. Paine's endeavors; and from this revival the society originated, and it has ever since, at intervals, been under his pastoral control. On the Sunday previous to his resignation he baptised at the beach six ladies, and on the 24th three more, the fruits of a revival during the past winter. Elder Mugridge of Sanford takes Elder Paine's place as pastor of the church.

On Sunday last Clarence Yeaton, a five-years-old son of Mr. Stephen Yeaton, fell from the Eastern railroad wharf into the water thirty-one feet below, fortunately striking in such a manner that the breath was not knocked out of him. He caught hold of a pile and tried to climb up, but it was too slippery, so he held on to the rock-weed, making a vigorous uproar with his voice, until his father came in a boat and took him aboard. The little fellow was in the water for about ten minutes, and displayed courage and coolness that would have done credit to a much older person. He fell through a small hole in the middle of the wharf, and his father had quite a job to climb along the slippery stringers to reach him, as the boat could not get to him between the piles.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

MONDAY, May 2d.

Case Sanborn vs. Hubbard was began on the afternoon. Chief Justice Doe appeared to try a case in which Judge Clark did not sit, but the case was not put on trial.

POLICE COURT.

Clarence Jenness, for an assault on August Hett, was fined $5, costs $8.01, and ordered to give bonds in the sum of $500 to keep the peace for six months.

MATTERS IN RYE.

RYE, May 2d.

The dwelling house of Charles J. Brown, Esq., came very near being destroyed by fire a short time since. The chimney caught fire while the attention of the family was engaged elsewhere, and a spark therefrom set fire to the roof, and before it was discovered it had made considerable headway. Some pretty lively exercise on the part of Mr. Brown and his son Arthur checked the spread of the flames until help arrived, when the fire was subdued. The damage to the roof was considerable, which is covered by insurance in the Rockingham Farmers' Mutual.

Col. Gilman Drake, a native of this town, paid a flying visit to the scenes of his youthful years, on Friday, the 29th ult. He left here in 1845, and went to East Boston, where he learned the carpenter's trade, after which he located in Griffen, Georgia, where he has since resided. He is at present engaged in mercantile pursuits, and the raising of cotton, is president of the bank in Griffen, and could have been mayor of that city had he been willing to have accepted the honor. This is his first visit home since 1863.

Notwithstanding the immense bulk of seaweed which is annually used for manure in this town, as well as the large quantities made in the barn yards, the cry is still for more, and Bradley's Superphosphate and the Stockbridge Compound are bought by quite a number of farmers, and put where they think it will do the most good—and sensitive noses cry aloud to have it put under ground as expeditiously as possible.

The spring term of the east school commenced on Monday last, and of the west school on May 2nd.

Ice formed during the night of April 30th, but the morning of the 1st of May was clear, and the birds sang their choicest songs, and the heart of the writer was made warm by a gift which he found suspended to the knob of the outside door, on his opening it in the morning. It was a "May basket for Nat," so the card attached to it said, and his altogether unutterable thanks are hereby tendered to his fair unknown friend or friends who took this method of showing their regard for him. NAT.

Voted that at next meeting the chairman of each committee present estimates for his department.

METHODIST APPOINTMENTS.

The following appointments of ministers for churches in the western part of York county were made by the recent Maine Methodist Conference:

Kittery, navy yard village, J. Nixon; Spruce creek, Kittery, J. Hawkes; South Eliot, H. B. Mitchell; East Eliot, I. B. Lapham; York, O. H. Stevens; South Berwick, Wm. Baldwin.

Smelled Like Johnny's Moustache.

The old lady kept a private bottle from which she refreshed herself from time to time as she felt the need, though none of the family knew it. One evening her daughter in rummaging through the pantry for doughnuts for her beau, spied the bottle, and had the curiosity to draw the cork and apply her nose to the aperture, at which moment the old lady hove in sight, and angrily demanded:

"Well, are you any wiser than you were? what do you suppose it is?"

"I don't know what it is, mamma," answered the shrinking maiden, "but it smells just like Johnny's moustache.'

—It is reported that a California pioneer, seeing a Chinaman coolly draw a "navy six" and shoot a white ruffian nearly through the abdomen, exclaimed with much earnest enthusiasm: "Them Chinese is takin' on Christian ways surprisin' fast."

—A gentleman met a rather "uncertain" acquaintance the other day, when the latter said: "I'm a little short, and would like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic." "Proceed," said the gentleman. "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had $10 in your pocket, and I should ask you for $5, how much would remain?" "Ten dollars," was the prompt answer.

—It's as dangerous to sport with marriage forms as with pistols. A rejected suitor near Buffalo, N. Y., the other day, at a little evening party where a minister was handy, got the young woman to consent to a mock marriage "just for fun." The girl consented, and when the last answer was given the crafty lover made known to the victim that she was his wife, and bound by law to obey. The company and minister were aghast, the bird was caught, though the story doesn't tell what the other fellow had to say to whom the girl had affianced herself.

Another Big Bridge.

Work on the New York and Long Island bridge, which is to be built across the East river at Blackwell's island, will begin this week. The cofferdam for the piers at Ravenswood is now ready at the dock, and will be put into place and sunk as soon as workmen can be persuaded to go into the water. The span from Ravenswood to Blackwell's island will be 618 feet; that across the island, 700 feet; and the one reaching to the New York side, 734 feet. The total cost of the bridge, lighted by electricity, crossed by a double track for steam cars, and connected on both sides with the railroads, will not be more, it is claimed, than $5,000,000. Of this sum nearly one-half has already been subscribed, and a large amount of the stock will be taken in London. It is proposed to complete the bridge in three years.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Kills the Pleasure.

Illness in the house affects the whole family in some manner. When the sickness is serious the children's laughter must be hushed, footsteps must be softened, all goes sadly and wrong. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" stands in your doorway and says to sickness: "Keep out!" It will cost you only a dollar to put the sentinel on duty, and for the faithfulness thousands can vouch. Ask your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—The world is full of men who will cheerfully "boss a job" for a dollar and a half a day, when five dollars a day for actual work would not be the slightest temptation for them.

because the doctors say you cannot live. I was troubled with dropsy, and given up to die. But after using Sulphur Bitters for three months, I am well. It is the best medicine for all kidney diseases I ever saw.—Mrs. B——, Bridgeport.

—A marriage ceremony at Kittaning the other day ended in a fight. It came about because when the groom was asked if he would love, honor, etc., the bride, he responded that he would marry her, but be hanged if he'd love her.

It is no longer an idle dream or boasting to affirm that Fellows' Hypophosphites, wherein are united nature's forces, will strengthen man and make his life not only endurable, but sparkling with rude and joyous health. Fellows' Hypophosphites supplies the ingredients which constitute healthy blood, and imparts the elements which give vitality.

Country Tallow 4 to 4 1-2c per lb.
Calf Skins 12 1-2c per lb.
Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 50 to $2 each.

The trade for western cattle did not open so actively as it did one week ago. Cattle cost full as high at the west as they did that week in last week. Prices upon all grades fell off fully 1-8c per lb from those of our last quotations. The cattle in market were of full as good grade as has been brought in of late, and quite a large number of them were sold to shippers for the English markets. The supply from Maine was light, and consisted mostly of working oxen, milch cows, and a very few cattle sold for stockers, there being but a very few cattle among them suitable for beef.

Working Oxen—Farmers have, in most instances bought their supply of workers for the season, and there is not so active a demand for them as has been of late. We note sales of 1 prs, girth 6 ft 10 in. live weight 2750 lbs, for $137 50 per pair; 1 pr, girth 7 ft, live weight 3350 lbs, for $150; 1 pr two year old, perfect steers, girth 6 ft 2 in, live weight 2600 lbs, $165; 3 prs, girth 6 ft 9-in, live weight 3600 lbs, $120 and $125 per pair.

Milch Cows—Extra $90 to $95; sprigers $30 to $55; ordinary $30 to $45 per head. We quote sales of 1 milch cow, part Jersey, at $65; 2 milch cows $55 each; 1 cow and calf $45; 3 new milch cows $45 each; 3 springers for $115; 2 cows and calves $125; 1 Durham cow $90; 1 cow and calf $45 50.

Stores—Quite a few brought in from Maine. We quote sales of 6 three year old steers at $60 per head; 4 two year old heifers at $18 per head. But little call for stores.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were mostly owned by G W Hills, who employs agents at the west to ship direct to him each week, the larger portion of which are slaughtered for the Boston markets, western lambs coating from 7 to 8c, sheep from 6 1-2 to 7 1-8c per lb live weight.

Swine—Prices for fat hogs have advanced during the past week, the best coating 7 1-4c per lb; we quote prices 6 3-4 to 7 1-4c per lb live weight. Spring pigs have been in fair demand at prices ranging from $7 50 to $9 50 per head, shoats from $6 to $7 per head live weight.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

FAVORITE REMEDY
SALT RHEUM.
Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.
LIVER DISEASE.
Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.
CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.
Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' add found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

Plant Good Seed.

However hackneyed the above caption may seem, it should never be lost sight of when the time for planting any and all crops arrives. It is a prime factor in the profitable outcome of every crop, for upon it depends, in large measure, the reasonable probability of securing fair returns for the time and soil necessary in all lines of field and garden husbandry. However careful many farmers and planters may be, the fact remains that there are many others who are too indifferent to the quality of the seed they plant.

Just at this time, when a large number of persons are obtaining seed for spring crops, a word upon the subject is not out of place; and this is specially pertinent in regard to seed corn. It is well known that early frosts last fall in many parts of the states seriously injured corn. The kernelson the upper side of the ears were much damaged, and such kernels, if planted, will do little more than start. Their vitality is not sufficient to grow. Those who saved seed corn before such early hard frosts will not be much disappointed, but if the frosted corn is used much will have to be replanted. Better examine and try the corn saved for seed before planting it in the field. This may be done in the house, by testing the seed in boxes of earth.

The importance, not only to the individual farmer, but to the aggregate value of any crop grown in this country, ought not to be lightly considered. Whatever the crop to which a farmer devotes any portion of his land, and however favorable may be the conditions for its growth, he may accomplish as a stubborn and unalterable fact, that good seed is indispensable, if the highest results, the greatest amount of success and profit are to be obtained; a price may be charged for such seed that may seem exorbitant, but it should be recollected that he cannot afford to use poor and comparatively worthless seed, even if it costs him nothing.—Prairie Farmer.

Onions for Chicken Cholera.

A correspondent of the Poultry Yard thus describes his new remedy for chicken cholera: "While our neighbors for several miles around us have lost nearly all their chickens from the so-called cholera, ours are in fine condition. They were attacked with the premonitory symptoms of this disease, which seemed to be endemic here, but we cured them, and have had no trouble with them since, having accidentally found a cure. Cut up onions with their food, and administer it once a day for several days; afterward once a week will answer. Also mix a little ground ginger with their meal, once every day or two. We also give them a little salt every two or three weeks, which we deem highly necessary; and above all things, keep watermelons, muskmelons and cucumbers away from them. The tops of celery cut up with their food will be found beneficial, and they appear to like it very well. Do not get these statements mixed up. The onions and ginger are only for cholera; the remainder for constant attention. Too much whole corn we have found injurious; we give a meal of this only once in three or four days. Raw onions and a very little ginger against the world for curing cholera, if the disease has not been allowed to run too far." We indorse heartily the raw onions and ginger, but have never found melons injurious. Last summer we raised, in an amateur way, nearly three hundred chickens and turkeys. Bushels of melon rinds and imperfect melons of both kinds were thrown to them daily, and eaten eagerly. Over-ripe cucumbers and seeds of musk-melons were likewise devoured. We had no losses from any disease.—Ex.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburgh Patriot.

—The latest and most refreshing Sabbath school incident, says the Lewiston Journal happened in a class not a thousand miles from Lewiston. The teacher had grown eloquent in picturing to his little pupils the beauties of heaven, and he finally asked: "What kind of little boys go to heaven?" A lively little four-year-old boy, with kicking boots, flourished his fist. "Well, you may answer," said the teacher. "Dead ones!" the little fellow shouted, at the extent of his lungs.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Labor Troubles.

The journeymen bakers of New York struck for more pay on Monday, and paraded 1000 strong.

Two hundred men employed in constructing the city water works at Omaha, Nebraska, struck Monday morning for an increase from $1.25 to $1.75 per day. A dollar and a half had been offered and refused.

The switchmen and helpers in Chicago struck on Monday, to the number of six hundred, and refused to allow any freight trains to leave. The switchmen had been offered an advance of $5 per month, but declined to accept it.

Coal cart drivers and shovellers struck at Jeffersonville, Ind., Monday, for higher wages. An attempt to run the teams with new hands was opposed by the strikers.

Strikes of bricklayers are reported in Lowell, Mass., and Fall River. In the latter city the employers are paying $3 per day to the men who are worth it, but object to paying that price to inferior men; the union demands that the most worthless member of the society shall get as much pay as the most valuable one.

In Philadelphia the insolent tyranny of that foreign importation, the trades-union, was well illustrated on Monday, when eighty-two stone-cutters employed by Struthers & Sons struck because the firm refused to discharge a non-society man who had been in their employ six years. On the previous Friday the wages of the men had been increased from $2.50 to $3.00 per day.

News and Notes.

John Dillon, the noted Land League leader in Ireland, was arrested on the 2d inst., charged with inciting the populace to riot, assault, and resistance to process of law; he was lodged in Kilmainham jail. Dublin has been "proclaimed" under the provisions of the arms act.

At Concord, Mass., last Monday, A. B. Warren, a widower fifty years old, drowned himself in a well.

The trial of Charles Merrill for the murder of his mother, at China, Me., will commence on the 5th inst.

Charles Brown and Charles Winters, two of the crew of the schooner Admiral, of Gloucester, Mass., were lost in a dory on the Western banks, April 23d, but were picked up on the 26th by the schooner Howard, after having been three days without food or water, and suffering from constant exposure.

There is a good deal of excitement in Winsted, Conn., because of the burning, early Sunday morning, by incendiaries, of the barns of Rev. S. B. Forbes and of Rufus E. Holmes, both of them being gentlemen who have been prominent for some time in enforcing the laws against liquor selling, and practically breaking up the traffic in that town. A meeting of citizens was held Sunday evening to take measures for the discovery of the incendiaries, and a reward was offered for their arrest.

M. Shilling and I. Epstein, business men of Palestine, Texas, were drowned Sunday, while fishing.

A passenger train on the Western Pacific railroad on Monday ran over and killed five children of a family named Nebas, between Hayward's and San Lorenzo, Cal.

At Resting Spring, Invo county, Cal., four days ago, three men, two whites and one Chinaman, were murdered while asleep in a cabin, by Chinese or Indians.

The Canada temperance act came into force in Sarnia, Ont., Monday, and hotel keepers have closed their houses, refusing to admit the travelling public while the act remains in force.

An engine and tender on the Mt. Clair & Greenwood Lake railroad on Monday went through the trestle at Ringwood, N. J., and the engineer and fireman were killed.

Last Thursday night Sadie Lord of Clinton, Me., a girl sixteen years of age, while in a state of somnambulism, rose from her bed and went into an adjoining room. Her mother hearing her moving about went after her. Before her mother could reach her she threw a shawl over her, and darting out of the house ran in the direction of the railroad track. The Pullman train was coming along, and when she reached the track was so near that her mother expected to see her dashed to pieces. Luckily, however, she got over just in time to avoid the train. She then disappeared in the darkness. The bells were rung and the people turned out, and after a long search discovered the girl under a barn, sound asleep.

Mrs. Charles H. Warner was found unconscious beside her father's grave in Springfield, Mass., May 2d, with a laudanum bottle by her side. She had evidently intended suicide, but will probably recover.

Two hundred persons were injured in recent riots against the Jews at Elizabethgrad, in Russia. Detachments of cavalry and infantry now patrol the streets. The approaching fair at that place is indefinitely postponed, at the request of the town council.

A few evenings since a calico ball was given in Bangor, Me. Hannibal Hamlin was present, and danced until the end of the programme with as much nimbleness and enjoyment as the youngest man in the hall. This was the second ball that the veteran statesman had attended that week. His case is a parallel to that of the honored and venerable Chief Justice Appleton, who shows no impairment of mental or physical vigor. The chief justice says that he contemplates making a tour of Europe in 1883, and on his return will go to farming. Hannibal Hamlin is seventy-two, and John Appleton is about five years older.

While Mrs. Benjamin Webster of Limerick, Me., was dressing a fresh fish the other day, an English gold coin worth $2.50 dropped out of one of the intestines.

Sanford Clark, son of Henry Clark of Machias, Me., was badly injured in the head while playing with a gun a few days ago. It is thought he will lose the sight of one eye.

A company of which James W. Bennett is president, and T. R. Garrity treasurer, is being organized to introduce the Brush electric light into Lowell, Mass.

Wm. Frank Hathaway was murdered by unknown persons in Marblehead, Mass., Monday night.

New Hampshire Items.

Much excitement is reported to exist among the alumni of Dartmouth college, over the election of John H. Hewitt to the Greek professorship.

Eli L. Darling's two-story house in Hanover was burned Monday. Loss $2,500.

"True History" of the Tichborne Case.

Mr. William Stapleford of Manchester, Eng., who, at the time of the great Tichborne estate claim was said to have been wanted by the English authorities, is at present paying a visit to this country. Mr. Stapleford was for many years a prominent solicitor and attorney in Sidney, New South Wales, and first made the acquaintance of Sir Roger Tichborne in 1854, when the young man was making a tour through South America. Tichborne and he soon became intimate friends, and the young nobleman made of him a confidant and gave him his photograph. After Tichborne was lost at sea, Stapleford gave this picture to his partner, Gibbes, who was going to England, with instructions to give it to Lady Tichborne. In 1871 Stapleford went to London, and at first identified the claimant Orton as Tichborne, but later discovered his mistake. He says that the claimant told him that Gibbes "put up" the whole scheme of fraud. To save Gibbes from being mixed up in the matter, Stapleford kept back his evidence, and when the fraud was discovered and Orton sentenced, he did not think it necessary to inculpate his partner, and has never, therefore, mentioned the matter to any one since. Gibbes is, however, he believes, dead, and he feels no longer any hesitation in given to the public a true history of the famous Tichborne claim.

This is the story as told by the New York papers, and may be true; but it savors strongly of the enterprising reporter, who will invent facts rather than not have them to tell of.

A Good Example.

A few days ago, a troupe of travelling players or singers gave an entertainment in our opera house. In the course of the performance it was discovered to be grossly immodest; whereupon the police promptly ordered the curtain to fall, and the exhibition suddenly brought to a close in medias res, and the audience was dismissed. The performers were arrested on the spot, and marched to the guardhouse, where they spent the night, and the next morning they were brought before Recorder Milledge, who fined the proprietress of the exhibition one hundred dollars. The troupe will not be likely to visit us again, yet these same performers make their living elsewhere in the United States by the very exhibition which was so prompted arrested in Atlanta.—Atlanta (Ga.) Index.

AROUND HOME.

Schooner Helen F. Tredick sailed on Tuesday afternoon for the banks.

Quite a fleet of small boats arrived on Tuesday, bringing good fares of fish, mostly haddock.

Mr. John Laighton entered upon his duties as cashier of the National Mechanics & Traders' bank on Monday.

Six hundred and eighty-three shares of Eastern railroad stock changed hands at the brokers' board in Boston on Tuesday, at from $43 to $43.87 per share.

The remains of Mr. George Humphries, who died in this city on the second inst., were sent to his former home in Bristol, Me., by the morning train on Tuesday.

Schooner Flora Temple, recently purchased by John Glenn of York, and others, arrived here on Tuesday, newly painted, and with a complete outfit for off-shore fishing.

The schooner W. H. Y. Hackett, of this port, arrived at Gloucester on the 3d inst. from the Western banks with 90,000 lbs. of cod-fish. Two halibut vessels arrived the same day with 80,000 lbs.

The hearing by the county commissioners in the matter of the asked-for new street through the Raynes shipyard was on Tuesday postponed to Wednesday, May 18th, at ten o'clock A. M.

Edward A. Abbot, Esq., will visit Europe early in June, and his cottage adjoining the Farragut house at Rye beach will be rented under the direction of Frank A. Philbrick, of the "Farragut."

We are informed that the well-drillers at the Hotel Wentworth, Newcastle, have ceased work, having put a hole down to the depth of two hundred and fifty feet, and secured an abundant supply of water, of good quality.

Schooner "Can't Come It" is employed in the lobster trade, buying them at the Shoals, and carrying them to Newburyport. Mr. Elvin Newton came into Portsmouth from the Shoals on Tuesday, with eight hundred lobsters.

Mr. Silas Philbrick, manufacturer of marble monuments, mantel-pieces, etc., and worker in brown stone and granite, has now on hand at the stone-yard at the head of Pier wharf a large stock of gravestones and monuments made during the past winter, and for sale at reasonable rates.

On Tuesday morning Mr. George Phillips, fireman on board the steamer Acushnet, in stepping from the steamer to the wharf fell overboard and was drowned. Lines were thrown to him which he could have caught hold of, but he made no effort to save himself. He was supposed to be in an unconscious state, and the tide running in full strength at the time it was impossible to reach him before he sank. He had been on the boat only two days, and all that is known of him is that he has a wife living in Boston. His body had not been recovered at last accounts.

A horse driven by a middle-aged lady, going in the direction of Portsmouth bridge, was taken with what appeared to be some kind of a fit at the northern end of Market street, early Tuesday afternoon, and backed down upon the Concord railroad wharf among the railroad tracks. The lady was partly thrown and partly jumped from the wagon, and was somewhat injured and very much frightened. The horse was caught, and led a piece over the Noble's island bridge, after which the lady was induced to get in and drive off. There was no train in the vicinity at the time.

The work of improving the fronts of the stores in Congress block has commenced.

At Wells depot, Sunday, two large barns belonging to Wm. F. Clark, and filled with hay, were burned.

Mr. W. A. Odell takes this method of returning his earnest thanks to those citizens of Portsmouth and Greenland who so liberally contributed to lighten the loss sustained by him in the drowning of his two horses at the Spring market several weeks since.

The annual meeting of the Eliot and Kittery Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held at Kittery on the 2d inst., and the following directors chosen: Warrington Paul, John Wentworth, Joseph Langton, Kittery; John Frost, Timothy Dame, Eliot; Joseph H. Moody, Josiah D. Bragdon, York.

Workmen were engaged in the well at the Eastern railroad station, Tuesday, in running melted brimstone around the pipe, to prevent the water from the well reaching the pipe so as to be pumped into the service tank. It is believed that the water procured from the bottom of the drilled well is good for using in the locomotives, and that whatever trouble has occurred has been caused by impure water from nearer the surface.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed of the first congressional district of Maine passed through this city on Tuesday, accompanied by Hon. Stanley Pullen of the Portland Press. Mr. Reed interviewed Dr. Wentworth upon the sanitary condition of the navy yard, while the Forest City editor addressed himself to an enquiry into the quality of our great staple production. The travellers left in the first Portland train for Boston under the escort of Postmaster Peirce.

At the recent Maine Methodist Conference, the committee appointed to consider the case of Rev. O. M. Cousens reported in favor of his expulsion from the conference and the church, and the report was adopted. Cousens was found guilty on two of the charges brought against him. The committee made the investigation with closed doors, but it is understood that the first count was cruelty to his wife (recently divorced from him on that charge) and family, and the other dishonesty in dealing with a publishing firm in Portland. Mrs. Cousens resides in Kennebunk; where the old man resides doesn't matter, as the supreme court of Maine and the Methodist conference have both decided him to be a scoundrel.

Tuesday afternoon about half-past three o'clock, a horse drawing a vehicle containing Rufus A. Moody and wife, of York, took fright from the Concord railroad cars at the Market street crossing, and ran away, throwing both occupants out near J. Brooks & Co.'s store, and breaking both shafts of the carriage. Mr. Moody was not much hurt, but the lady's head was cut and she was much bruised and shaken up, though no bones were broken. She was taken into a place near by and medical aid summoned, and after some time recovered sufficiently to be taken to her home in Mr. John H. Slater's carriage. Possibly the gates which the Concord railroad squarely engaged to establish at that dangerous crossing so long ago, may at some time in the dim future be provided.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

TUESDAY, May 3d.

Case Daniel Sanborn 2d, Francis Hilland and Roby Morrill vs. John G. Hubbard, was argued by Gen. Marston for the defendant, and Judge Leavitt for the plaintiff. Verdict for piff. for $3900 and interest.

Charles B. Gove vs. Horace N. Gove; action on a promissory note given in Illinois several years since, payable with interest at ten per cent per year. Defence, minority of the maker at date of note. The defendant lives out west, and his deposition was read. The plaintiff set up a new promise since the defendant attained his majority, and shew letters from the deft. and adduced other testimony to sustain his case. Verdict for piff. for amount claimed. Eastman for piff.; Wallace Hackett for deft.

THE "ACUSHNET."

The screw steamer "Acushnet," Ray master, arrived at this port on Monday evening at ten o'clock, bringing an assorted cargo of about one hundred tons. The establishing of a freight line between this city and Boston has the endorsement of many of our business men, and its success seems assured. The Acushnet is an able-looking boat of 325 tons register, and appears to have been government-built; she is well adapted for freighting, and has excellent cabin and state-room accommodations for passengers. The low price of tickets, and the pleasure of a trip to Boston by water during the summer, we presume will make this a favorite excursion. She carries a crew of fifteen, her officers being as follows: F. H. Ray, captain; E. G. Huff, 1st mate; Joseph Caton, 2d mate; B. F. Tewksbury, chief engineer; Charles Peers, 2d engineer; Louis Durand, steward. Capt. Bird, formerly of the steamer Major, piloted the Acushnet around on her first trip. The steamer will leave Boston at noon, and this city at half-past six o'clock in the morning, for the present; due notice will be given of any change. For other particulars see advertisement.

EASTERN RAILROAD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The annual meeting of this corporation was held in the ward-room near the station of the Eastern railroad in this city, on Tuesday.

The meeting was presided over by Hon. Moody Currier, of Manchester, the president; William H. Hackett of this city, clerk of the corporation, read the call for the meeting.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Ames of Beverly, and Gove of Hampton Falls, was appointed to receive the votes. The board of directors of last year was after a ballot reported to have been elected, as follows: Moody Currier, Dexter Richards, Francis Thompson, Edward L. Giddings, Edward A. Abbot, William H. Goodwin, Frank A. Philbrick.

The report of the treasurer shew a balance of $3480.47 in the hands of the treasurer. The report was accepted, and the meeting adjourned.

The directors subsequently re-elected Moody Currier president, and William H. Hackett, clerk.

THE ANTI-CRUELTY SOCIETY.

At a regular meeting of the directors of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, held at the new headquarters of the society on Monday evening, May 2d, the full board being present, it was unanimously

Resolved—That the thanks of the society be and are hereby tendered to Henry Bergh, president of the "American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," for the elegant portrait of himself which now occupies a conspicuous place on the walls of our office, and for the generous manner in which the request for the great favor was granted.

Resolved—That our thanks are also due Mr. Bergh for the gift of the artistically ornamented and lettered sign, with the emblematical seal of our society emblazoned thereon, now used to designate the office of the society.

Resolved—That these resolutions be entered upon the record book of the society, and that a copy of the same be sent to President Bergh by the secretary.

The following resolutions were also unanimously adopted:

Resolved—That this board receives the sad intelligence of the sudden death of James T. Fields, Esq., an honorary member of the "New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," with profound emotions of sorrow.

Resolved—That in this affliction New Hampshire loses a distinguished son, whose life illustrated every manly quality, and exemplified the Christian virtues. His industry was ceaseless, and his energy and enterprise were without limit. His generous heart and liberal hand were ever enlisted in philanthropic works and deeds of mercy. Remarkable literary acquisitions made him eminent among scholars wherever the English language is spoken. His genial disposition, his varied experience and capacity made him loved and respected by all classes of men. The companion and peer of poets, philosophers and statesmen, he never forgot or slighted his acquaintances in the humbler walks of life.

Resolved—That, deploring the loss of a true and honored friend, it is a consolation to know that his example still lives to incite others to engage in the merciful and beneficent cause to which he gave his earnest support for many years.

Resolved—That we remember with pleasure the love Mr. Fields had for his native city of Portsmouth, the interest he took in all its affairs, and the generosity he always showed promoting in its literary and moral improvement.

Resolved—That with tender sympathy for the bereaved wife, we mourn the departure of our beloved and honored friend.

Resolved—That these resolutions be entered upon the records of the society, and that a copy be sent to the afflicted family by the secretary.

A committee was appointed to request the city government to establish watering places for horses and cattle in Miller avenue and other parts of the city.

A special committee was appointed to enforce the state law for the protection of birds and their nests from the depredations of so-called "sportsmen," and boys.

Mrs. Charles M. Laighton was unanimously elected a member of the board of directors.

Dr. James R. May was elected corresponding secretary.

The 13th annual report of the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. was received.

A vote was passed thanking Mrs. John J. Pickering for providing the elegantly-appointed office now occupied as society headquarters, free of cost.

A vote of thanks to Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody was passed, for his lecture in aid of the general fund; also to the North Parish for the use of their chapel.

It was voted that the seal of the society be the one presented by Mrs. Pickering, and now in use.

The monthly report was read, from which it appears that sixty cases were investigated during April.

MADAME JANAUSCHEK.

This evening, at Music hall, our citizens will have an opportunity of seeing a lady of whom it is said that "No actress on the English speaking stage can be compared with her. In power, dignity, queenly grace, in all the attributes that lift the actor from the plane of talent to the heights of genius, she is alone. She has mastered the art of gesture, and a motion of her hand is as expressive as a sentence. She bears herself like one born to the purple, and no queen in regal robes is queenlier than she."

The play "Mother and son," in which she will appear, is a powerful one, containing many strong situations, and giving wide scope to the abilities of the actress. The advance sale of tickets has been large, but there are seats still to be had at Preston's.

THE "OCEAN WAVE."

The "Ocean Wave" hotel at Rye beach is to be conducted during the coming "season" by Mr. W. C. Walker, an experienced hotel man and courteous gentleman, who will unquestionably make the house a popular one with all who may patronize it.

The house is beautifully situated, and has a better claim to be called a "seaside" hotel than any other we know of, excepting perhaps one at Wells, Me., being not a stone's throw from the breakers at high tide, and its advantages for surf-bathing and beach-driving are unsurpassed; sailing and fishing parties can start from the immediate vicinity of the house, and it is a grand central spot from which to go on excursions to the various points of interest along the adjacent coast, or inland. The house is new, having been built in 1878 by Mr. Henry Knox, and will accommodate one hundred and fifty guests; and through its unique shape and the arrangement of the rooms, a sea view of greater or less extent is had from every bed-chamber and parlor. A large building for laundry and other purposes stands at some little distance from the main structure, and a building intended for a bowling alley and billiard room is now in process of construction.

Mr. Walker, who will run the house this summer, has a hotel experience (in first-class houses only) dating back to 1858—in Boston, Baltimore, Andover and Rye beach; in all this period catering has been his specialty, and he would not know how to go to work to set a poor table. Guests at the Ocean Wave this summer will not find their dinner to consist principally of a bill of fare covered with French language which no genuine Frenchman could read without laughing, but fresh fish, lobsters, beef, poultry, vegetables, etc., of the best quality and in abundance, will be served up in the best manner, under such names that the ordinary guest will be able to call for just what he wants, and not have to dislocate his jaw in trying to order some mysterious dish which when it arrives proves to be a potato baked in its jacket. The house will open about the 20th of June, and remain open until Sept. 20th; and all who patronise it will find a good table, courtesy and attention, and reasonable charges.

For rooms, terms, etc., address W. C. Walker, Rye, N. H.

Judging from the appearance of the buds upon the pear trees, we shall this year have the largest yield of pears ever known in this vicinity.

Derelicts on the North Atlantic.

The London Nautical Magazine for April forcibly shows the present danger from derelicts on the North Atlantic ocean. The notices given in Lloyd's List alone of abandoned ships sighted in the single month of January last are thirty-two, some of which derelicts were passed by several vessels, and most of them were in the mid-Atlantic parts of the steamer lines between New York and England. Between Jan. 15th and 19th the steamer Samaria passed two derelicts, and took the crew off a third vessel. It is known that derelicts sometimes float around the mid-Atlantic for many months, as in the case of the bark Ulster, abandoned Feb. 22d, 1880, and seen by several ships until the middle of October, having drifted for eight months and traversed during this time probably 2,500 miles. The Fanchon was known to have been adrift at least forty-seven days during the past winter, and to have moved on her silent way over the waters in the interval at the rate of thirty miles a day. It has been estimated that between the English and Irish channels and the ports of the United States no less than 2,500 steam vessels of full power proceed and return during every year, some of which occasionally attain a speed of sixteen knots an hour. The danger to such high-speed steamers from indiscerible derelicts, often waterlogged and even with the surface of the water, is greater than that from icebergs, which announce their proximity by the Arctic temperature they create around them, and the former are confined to no known and defined marine tracks as icebergs are. The sea will never be rid of these dangers until by international consent provision is made for a standing reward to any seaman who proves that he has sunk one.

Mixing the Babies.

It appears to be a social custom in the Australian bush to arrange picnics on a large scale, as being the only means of getting people together, living, as they do there, many a score of miles away from one another. The household arrangements not being so conveniently complete as ours, on such occasions the mothers bring their babies.

At one monster picnic there was a scarcity of ladies for dancing, and the mothers were all pressed into the service, leaving the babies all together by themselves. Some few young gentlemen of a waggish turn of mind took this opportunity to change the frocks and cloaks of all the babies, without reference to sex, age, or fit, and, as some of the mothers went home before the others, the utmost consternation prevailed when the little ones, having been claimed by their clothes in the hurry of departure, were afterwards found to be strangers, and each distracted mother knew not with whom her child might be, or how far off. The perpetrators of the joke took care to make themselves scarce for a period, and a general interchange of babies formed the sole occupation of the ladies for days afterwards.

—An an "impassionist" painter: "What sort of a subject are you going to paint on that immense black canvas?" "How sir? That, sir, is my greatest masterpiece." "Is it? What is it?" "A picture of nothing, in space."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

—A teacher had been relating to his class the story of the rich man and Lazarus, when he asked: "Now, which would rather be, boys, the rich man or Lazarus?" One boy replied: "I will be the rich man while I live, and Lazarus when I die." And is not that what multitudes are trying to do?

From Alonzo S. Weed, publisher of Zion's Herald, 35 Bromfield, St., Boston.

Several bottles of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam have been used in my family with the most gratifying result. We esteem it as one of the best of medicines.

—"Have you such a thing as a piece of soap about this establishment?" ejaculated a modest circus man at the bar of a Texas hotel. "No," was the terse response; "but in the next room you can find the corpse of the man who asked me that question in the presence of company last week."

F. D. Curtis, the well-known blooded stock raiser of Charlton, Saratoga county, N. Y., says "I consider the Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel a very valuable liniment and medicine. Every farmer ought to have it on hand. A handy and effectual remedy of this kind is what farmers need, and if they had it on hand when required, much suffering would be saved, and no doubt many valuable animals." With cattle it cures blaine, quarter evil, bruises, sprains, urinary troubles, foul foot, rheumatism, garget, hide bound, galls, horn ail, swelling, etc. With sheep it cures aphtæ, diseases of the feet, red water, rot, shaking, etc. With swine it cures suthrax, rheumatism, rot, red eruption, hog cholera, sore feet. Beware of worthless imitations. Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes; reduced rates by the half gallon or gallon. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York. Circulars mailed free.

—"What denomination do you belong to?" asked the leader of a free prayer meeting, addressing a rough looking customer who had strolled in and taken a front seat. "Hose Company No. 12," was the Philistine's answer.

A fine Whiskey—mellowed by age and guaranteed pure—is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon." See that it has the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons over the cork. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Saved by His Skates.

An old Lake Superior trapper, named Thomas Judson, was once suddenly surrounded by a band of fierce Indians from whom he expected no good. While making free with his outfit, they found a pair of skates among his other trappings, and were immensely puzzled at them. A funny thought occurred to the hunter as he saw their curiosity, for his gray eye twinkled merrily.

"Ice moccasin," he said, putting a skate on his foot and then making the gliding motion that the feet take in skating.

"Ugh!" grunted the Indian chief, pointing to the narrow blade of the skates, and shaking his head. As they were near the ice, Judson proposed to fasten them on a young brave for trial. The Indians welcomed the plan with glee, for though savages, they were great lovers of sport. Selecting the bravest and swiftest young fellow, the chief bade him stick out his feet, which he did rather suspiciously. The skates were soon strapped on, and the young buck helped to his feet. The ice was like glass, and he started to move; you know what followed. His feet flew out from under him, and down he came with a crash. Such shouts of laughter as the rest set up! The young fellow was gritty, and he scrambled up to try it again, but with the same result.

The chief now signalled the hunter to show them how these things worked. Judson fastened on the skates with great care, and then picked up his rifle and used it as a cane, pretending to support himself with it. He moved awkwardly, fell down, got up and stumbled around, the Indians all the time laughing and capering at the sport. Gradually Judson stumbled a little further away, whirling about, and making believe it was very hard work to keep his balance, until he was very near where the smooth lake ice stretched miles and miles away. Suddenly gathering himself up, he took his rifle firmly, gave a war whoop as wild as any Indian's, and dashed up the lake like an arrow, skating as he had never done before. If he had disappeared in the air the Indians couldn't have been more astonished. Of course they could not hope to catch him, over glassy ice, and they stood gaping after him, wondering more and more at the magic "ice moccasins."

Nothing pleased old Judson better, in after years, than to tell how he had "fooled the red-skins."

Richardson's Grave.

Many readers of the news literature of ten and fifteen years ago will remember Albert D. Richardson, whose correspondence in the New York Tribune, and other graphic descriptions of scenes of the war and the theatre of action, were eagerly welcomed. Some also will recall his tragic death. His grave is in a cemetery in Franklin, Mass., near the Norfolk line. A narrow and sandy road leads from the main thoroughfare through the woods, and serves as a means for the solitary traveller or the occasional funeral train to reach the quiet acre of the dead. On three sides the small clearing is surrounded by the pine forest or a growth of scrub-by oak. The land slopes from the eastward, and the sun shines in upon it almost from early morn. Behind the hills a third of a mile away a small factory village lies hidden, and only two or three chimneys and a weather-beaten, old-fashioned school-house, a few rods away, give a hint of the struggling life so near at hand. But even the temple of learning has lost nearly all its devotees, and the few remaining seem unconsciously to partake of the sleepiness of the surroundings. For a hundred years the people have placed their dead in this quiet spot, and the rough and crumbling head-stone of the last century stands side by side with the polished monolith of modern fashion. In the midst of them stands the modest stone that marks the resting-place of the genial journalist, and those of his family that with him have gone through the shadow of death. The monument is a plain and graceful shaft of brown sandstone. Besides the name engraved upon it, it has the lines:

"Thousands give thee thanks
Who never saw thy face;
And so farewell,
Kind heart and true."

—Within twelve months a man at Weathersfield, Vermont, has been divorced from his wife, and remarried her. The bride is not yet seventeen years of age, or she would know better.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Col. Richard C. Shannon, formerly a prominent citizen of Saco, has been chosen vice president of the Botanic Garden Horse Railway at Rio de Janeiro, at a salary of $9,000.

Thousands of Drunkards

Are made annually by the use of medicines called tonics and bitters, containing a large portion of rum and other kinds of spirits, (all of which should be labelled destruction and death). Dr. Kennedy has put up the "Favorite Remedy" in form of a syrup, without one drop of spirits. Hence, it may be given to persons of all ages, of either sex, who require a medicine to purify the blood, regulate the liver, kidneys or bowels, or to give tone and strength to the system. Sold by all druggists; $1.00 a bottle.

Another Comet.

About two o'clock on the morning of May 1st, Professor Lewis Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, at Rochester, N. Y., turned his telescope to the constellation of Andromeda and discovered a bright comet, moving in a southerly direction. This is the first comet discovered during the present year, and places Prof. Swift in possession of the $200 prize which Mr. H. H. Warner, the well-known Safe Kidney and Liver Cure man, offered last January for the discovery of comets. Inasmuch as Prof. Swift received $500 for the discovery of the comet of 1880, from the same gentleman, he is at last finding astronomy profitable as well as pleasant. It is not thought the present comet is the expected one of 1812, although it is in nearly the location from which that comet is expected; nor is there any reason to believe it will have any effect upon the earth, or hasten the predicted coming of the end of the world.

News and Notes.

In New York, on the evening of the 3d inst., the members of M. de Beauplan's French opera company were thrown into a state of wild excitement by the announcement that M. Tournie, the tenor of the company, had eloped with Madame Ambre, the soprano, and wife of the manager. M. Beauplan also disappeared the same night, and it was believed by many members of the troupe that the elopement was part of a plan to rob the singers of their salaries. Several members of the company, among whom was the wife of M. Tournie, visited police headquarters seeking aid in searching for the missing singers. It is said that Madame Ambre is possessed of a great fortune in her own right.

Edward Ryan of Webster, Mass., has been held for trial on the charge of poisoning his wife last November with arsenic.

Alfred E. Nutting, a freight brakeman on the Vermont & Massachusetts division of the Fitchburg railroad, fell between the cars at West Fitchburg, May 3d, and was killed. He was about twenty years of age.

At St. Joseph, Mo., May 3d, Prof. Richard A. Proctor, the English astronomer, and Mrs. Sallie D. Crowley of St. Joseph, were married at Christ Episcopal church. The bride is a niece of Gen. Jeff. Thompson, of Confederate fame.

The auditor general of Pennsylvania has prepared a statement of taxes long due the state from large corporations. The Standard Oil company, it appears, has evaded the payment of taxes for the past eight years and now owes $8,144,873, which it is now proposed to collect.

Lizzie Devine, with the Barnum-London circus, while performing the catapult act at Wilkesbarre, Pa., on the evening of May 3d, fell upon the netting, striking her chin upon her knee, causing concussion of the spine. Her recovery is doubtful.

The British admiralty has received a telegram from Montevideo stating that the British war sloop Doterel was blown up on the 26th of April at Sandy Point, in the Straits of Magellan. The cause of the catastrophe is not known. Lieut. Stokes remains at the scene of the disaster to ascertain the cause of the explosion, with the assistance of divers. The commander, paymaster, an engineer, a calker, a carpenter and seven seamen were saved. Great loss of life has probably attended the disaster. The Dotorel registered 1,137 tons, and had 900-horse-power engines. The Dotorel probably carried a crew of 180 men, of whom, it is feared, 100 are lost. The London Times announces that the officers and crew of the Dotorel numbered 156, all of whom perished except eleven.

Some thirty years ago W. S. Prink of Brookfield, Mass., eloped with a pretty widow, leaving his wife and children. Nothing was heard of him until recently, when his first wife coming on the town for support, the authorities hunted him up and found him living in Natick with the widow, under the name W. S. Rice. He has been a respected and prominent citizen of Natick for many years.

The smallpox scare at Adams, Mass., is revived by the breaking out of nine new cases. It is the intention of the board of health to move all cases into one block. The quarantine regulations are daily and persistently violated by relatives of the sick, who refuse to keep from visiting the patients. There have been in all twenty-one cases there within two weeks.

Henry Owens of Killingly, Conn., with a party of roughs, stoned the house of one Burgess, just over the state line in Rhode Island, Sunday night, the 1st inst., having been turned out for creating a disturbance. Burgess after fair warning fired at Owens with a shot-gun, inflicting injuries that will probably prove fatal.

Prof. Chandler, in obedience to a resolution of the aldermen of New York city, has reported to the board of health the result of his inquiries into the subject of oleomargarine, his personal examination of the product, and the process of its manufacture. He says it is superior in point of wholesomeness to the poorer grades of dairy butter sold in New York city, and there is nothing objectionable, either in the material or its manufacture. He sees no need of legislation in regard to it.

Owing to the announcement that certain seaside hotels have issued orders to prevent Hebrews being guests, a bill has been introduced into the New York state senate to "prevent discrimination by hotel keepers against persons on account of race, creed or color." It applies also to theatres, restaurants and public conveyances.

Walter Bullock, a lawyer and old citizen of Woodford county, Ill., was shot and instantly killed at El Paso, Ill., on the 2d inst., by P. C. Ransom, who was badly defeated in the recent municipal election for mayor. The murderer was followed to jail by an infuriated mob, crying "Lynch him, lynch him," but no active interference was made with the officers.

In the supreme court at Belfast, Me., Joseph S. Patterson, aged twenty-one years, pleaded guilty to an indictment for arson in setting fire to the house of John Campbell in Belfast on the night of April 19th, and was sentenced to the state prison for life.

The detectives recently discovered a young lady in a village near Montreal who ran away from her home in Vermont and was living with a French Canadian family, where she was in training to become a member of the church of Rome. She at first refused, but afterward consented, to return to her parents.

"The Round-Robin Series." Under this title James R. Osgood & Co., of Boston, have begun the publication of a new series of anonymous novels, chiefly to be written by American authors, and selected with much care. It is the design of the publishers to present only such novels as shall be strongly characterized by power, originality and interest; such as will take a high rank with intelligent readers. The names of authors are withheld from public announcement, a mode which makes each successive novel depend upon its inherent qualities for success and approval. The volumes are 16-mo., uniform in style, and the price of each is fixed at $1.00.

The initial volume is a book of 369 pages, and called "A Nameless Nobleman." We have seen in a New York paper the authorship attributed to a well known writer, but we have no knowledge upon this subject. The story begins in la belle France. After a family quarrel the hero crosses the Atlantic, lands in rather an uncomfortable manner upon the shores of Massachusetts, is nursed with a broken arm in a farm house sub rosa by a young lady on Cape Cod, has a secret marriage by aid of a friendly priest, and after a prolonged absence returns to claim his New England bride, and establishes a reputation as a successful physician. In the mean time, an old flame comes from France to torment him. He sets off to sea, is captured by pirates, but like Mr. Pillicoddy's fruit, mysteriously turns up, and uproots his prematurely-erected tombstone, to have it succeeded by one to be dated over a decade later. The story has two leading female characters,—one a somewhat naughty French lady, the other an honest New England girl, brave, independent, true and faithful,—a shrewd priest, a gallant hero, and the usual lesser lights required to make an interesting story. The latter part of the tale might perhaps have been improved by rewriting. It is in the ability the author displays in the disposition of his characters which maintains our interest in a book of this kind. We cannot read the last chaper first (to see how it comes out, as Mr. Thackeray was in the habit of doing.) in this work, as we can in some novels. The characters are rather too summarily removed. Indeed the best part of the story is the narrative of events by the seaside in the old-fashioned New England home; when the author takes us from this spot, we enjoy scenes less and less, but we admire the heroism of the leading characters, though perhaps we may think they might have been in some degree better disposed of. Still, the book has very many good points, with here and there passages decidedly commendable, with pen pictures true to life. It is written by some one decidedly able to write a good story, and will be read, and to no little degree admired, by many. This novel will shortly be followed by the second of the series, entitled "A Lesson in Love." The series are on sale at all the leading bookstores. These books are excellently printed by Rand, Avery & Co., and the style of binding is unique and tasteful. Myers has it on his counter.

—Proud parent—"Why, Florence, my dear, how you are fixed up! Dressed for a party?" Dutiful daughter—"Yes, pa, but he hasn't come yet. Perhaps he won't to-night."

—A Yorkville gentleman, who is a witness in a gambling case, was walking out with his wife, a few days ago, when they noticed a man following them. The wife remarked: "That man has been following us for three blocks. I really believe he has an attachment for me." "I wish he had," was the unfeeling response of the husband, "but I know it is me he has the attachment for."

—Teacher, to a small boy in the natural history class. "Johnnie, you may give me a descriptive list of the bat." Johnnie instantly responded in breathless haste: "A bat! a bat! it's a little thing about as big as a stopple, with India rubber wings and a kind of a shoe-string tail, sees the best with its eyes shut up, and bites like thunder."

—Some of the Chinese similies are as pointed as they are sarcastic. They call a blustering, harmless fellow, "a paper tiger." A man who places too high a valuation on himself they compare to a "rat falling into a scale and weighing itself." "A hunchback making a bow" is what they call overdoing a thing. A spendthrift they compare to a "rocket," which goes off at once; and a man who expends his charity on remote objects, neglecting his family, is said to "hang a lantern on a pole, which is seen afar, but gives no light below."

THE HUMAN HAIR.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. AROUND HOME.

Mr. Sargent Lane, who occupied a privilege on Commercial wharf during the past winter, has transferred his business to Newcastle.

Steamer Hudson (late Louis Irving) took in coal and water on Wednesday, and with favorable weather will start on her trip to New York to-day.

Sixty thousand railroad sleepers will be landed at the Eastern railroad wharf on Noble's island this season, to be treated with the preserving process.

William Harwood, formerly employed in the barber shop of Mr. John Roberts, died a short time since of consumption, in Florida, where he had gone for his health.

Capt. Jos. Haven Thacher will erect a new house for renting purposes on the site on Vaughan street, near Congress, where the former building has been demolished.

Several ancient elm trees on the Peirce estate at Haymarket square, some of which had died, have been removed, greatly improving the appearance of the premises.

Some idea of the number of lobsters brought into our market during the spring months can be had from the fact that one firm bought over over five hundred thousand of them last year.

Madame Janauschek's collection of diamonds, valued at $150,000, was on exhibition at John H. Hutchinson's jewelry store in the afternoon on the 4th inst., and attracted much attention. A police officer was on duty at the store while the jewels were on exhibition.

Twenty-five bbls. herring were taken from the weir off Gerrish's island owned by Mr. J. H. Mitchell, on Wednesday morning, the 4th inst; also at the same time were captured a number of cod. The herring brought $3 a barrel, and the cod $1.25 per hundred pounds.

The canvass for the new Portsmouth Directory is nearly finished, and all persons who have changed their residence or boarding place within the past four weeks will please immediately leave notice of such change with W. G. Myers, at his store, and the correction will be made.

Eastern railroad stock climbed to $45 per share at the Boston brokers' board on the 4th inst., 150 shares going at that figure. Three hundred and ninety shares sold at prices between $44 and $44.87. Portland, Saco & Portsmouth brought $115, and Maine Central $87. Eastern railroad bonds sold at 106. At auction, Concord railroad brought $100.25, and Exeter Gaslight Co. $30.

A large audience assembled at Music hall on Wednesday evening, the 4th inst., to witness the performance of "Mother and Son" by Madame Janauschek and her dramatic company. The lady named is unquestionably a great actress, and the support was fair, and some of it very good. The closest attention was paid by the audience to the end, but the piece is not of a kind to call forth much noisy applause.

THE SHOE FACTORY.

The Portsmouth Shoe factory started up its steam again on Wednesday morning of this week, having been shut down only two days. Since the company commenced operations, more than a year ago, it has never been without orders; in fact, for several months past orders for summer goods have been declined, owing to the company's inability to fill them prior to the first of May.

The goods of the concern have a splendid reputation in the market, not a case remaining unsold, nor has a case been returned. The prospects ahead are extremely flattering, and as soon as the large force of cutters are well along with their work the factory will be pressed to its full capacity and without any cessation during the season. Mr. Whitcomb, the treasurer, has been in town for several days, and with Mr. Knights, superintendent, and Mr. Preston, clerk, have been taking account of stock preparatory to the annual meeting of the corporation, which takes place the 20th of May.

New Hampshire Corn Club.

Believing that the citizens of this state expended millions of dollars in the purchase of corn which ought to have been grown within its borders, and further believing that great improvements can be made in the seed and the methods of growing the corn crop, the undersigned states that there will be one hundred and seventy-five (dollars $175.00) offered in premiums for corn grown in New Hampshire, in the A. D. 1881, provided that ten or more responsible persons send him, without delay, their names, to become members of the New Hampshire Corn Club, and pledge themselves to pay their part of the following premiums, for this year only. Premiums as follows:

$100 for the greatest amount of shelled corn grown upon one acre.

$25 for 3d greatest amount of sound shelled corn grown upon one acre.

The winner of first premium to give eight, the winner of second premium four, and of the third premium two bushels of the best ears of their corn for seed, to be distributed by the secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, unless otherwise ordered by this Corn Club. The premiums to be open to competitors of all ages, otherwise to be decided as were the Stillman B. Allen corn premiums. We intend to publish the names as received, and the lateness of the season demands that all who wish to aid in this good work send their names at once. All consulted highly approve the plan. It is hoped that an hundred names will be received by May 15th. The more the better.

Editors throughout New Hampshire are invited to give this circular an insertion in their papers. J. D. LYMAN.

EXETER, N. H., May 2, 1881.

—The person who has the reputation of being kind, good-natured and indulgent is oftentimes simply lazy. It requires not a little energy to be ill-natured and overbearing.

—Titles and honors: Down in Arkansas they call an ordinary man, who drinks but little, "captain." A colonel is one who can "stand the racket" pretty well, and "general" is the title given to a man who must "have suthin" once in so often or perish; but the pickled old topers are called "Jedge."

—The people of a western town are so fearfully lazy that when the wife of a minister who had just settled in that town asked a prominent citizen if the inhabitants generally respected the Sabbath and refrained from business, replied: "Confound it, ma'am, they don't do enough work in a whole week to break the Sabbath, if it was all done on that day."

New Hampshire Items.

The dead body of John Follansbee of Mont Vernon was found in the highway of Fairmont heights, on Tuesday, the 3d inst. The deceased fell out of his wagon Monday night while intoxicated, breaking his neck. He was about sixty years of age, and was a sergeant in the eighth New Hampshire regiment during the rebellion.

Plymouth Lodge, No. 66, I. O. O. F., was instituted in Masonic hall at Plymouth, Tuesday night, the 3d inst., under the direction of the various grand officers of the state. There were twenty-two charter members, and ten additional members. Over 100 representatives from lodges in Ashland, Bristol, Meredith, Laconia, Tilton, Woodsville, Lisbon and other places were present.

The First Unitarian society of Franklin have decided to proceed at once with the erection of a church upon their lot, recently purchased at a cost of $2,050. The church will cost $12,000, if built of wood, and $15,000, if of stone. A lady who gives $4,000 toward the building has signified her intention of increasing her donation, with a few of largely augmenting the number of books in the Sabbath school library. The library already contains 12,000 volumes of choice books.

The members of the New Hampshire State Board of Equalization have been appointed as follows: Edwin W. Drew of Stewartstown, Sewell Conner of Exeter, Wm. Butterfield of Concord, John M. Parker of Goffstown, and Edward S. Cutler of Nashua. They met May 3d, and having been duly qualified, organized by the choice of Mr. Parker as chairman and Mr. Butterfield as secretary. Aug. 11th was assigned for the taxation of telegraph companies, and Aug. 22d for the taxation of railroads. After instructing the secretary to issue the usual notices to telegraph and railroad companies, and to tabulate the inventories of the several towns as required by law the board adjourned to Aug. 11th.

Thirty employes of the Boston & Montreal railroad, engaged in raising the track at East Concord, struck for higher wages on the 3d inst., and left for Lake Village.

The body of David Fowler of Concord, who committed suicide some days ago by drowning in the river, was recovered May 3d.

FLORIDA WATER,

Best for TOILET, BATH, and SICK ROOM.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strenghtened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on those organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

Usefulness of Birds at Sea.

The pleasure of watching birds at sea, whether in the air or skimming the ocean wave's crest, is to many minds very keen. And there is something more too, to be considered. Mariners can often tell their way by these birds, especially when nearing a coast. I well remember how I used to watch for them on approaching certain coasts, such as parts of Patagonia, too low to be seen at the ordinary distance. Once, when coming from Monte Video, with a mail and important government dispatches on board for the Falkland islands, I was able to run on my course in safety owing to a peculiar bird having joined company with us. On the occasion referred to we were approaching the land in thick, misty weather, with a strong, fair breeze. It had been clouded over for a day or two, so that my solar observations were somewhat doubtful. I was anxious, for it was drawing toward evening, and I wished to get into Port Stanley with the mail that night. It was, however, so thick that we could not see a mile ahead. Presently a shrill noise was heard, a flapping of wings made us look around and above, and soon we saw what we called the "pilot" bird. I knew my distance now, for these birds never fly beyond so many miles from land. Therefore we cautiously ran on till I caught a glimpse of a bluff cape, then steered more easterly, till after dark, with a clearer night, I sighted Cape Pembroke light, and knowing the passages well, worked my vessel up Port William, then shot through the "Narrows" and anchored in Port Stanley, nearly opposite government house, about one o'clock in the morning. Next day I was thanked by his excellency the governor—himself a high naval officer—for the quick trip made, and the dispatches, being long-wished-for private correspondence, we had brought. But to this day I thank God's feathered pilots, who had then and often shown me the way.—Chamber's Journal.

The Flight of the Albatross.

Howard Sargent, of Cambridge, Mass., who has had opportunities for studying the movements of the albatross for consecutive days, thinks the prevailing idea that the bird is in some way assisted by the wind in his flight is a mistake. In attempting to rise from the water, (he is supposed to be unable to rise from the land or a ship's deck,) the albatross flaps his wings violently to get his body out of the water; at the same time paddling with his webbed feet, he acquires a degree of momentum sufficient, with outstretched wings, to carry him forward and upward upon an easy incline. During this first rise, says Mr. Sargent, he will generally give a few heavy, lazy flaps, and then stretch his wings steadily to their full extent. As he rises, he must gradually lose his acquired momentum. When it suits him to acquire more momentum, by a movement of his tail he takes a shoot downward at any angle that suits his convenience, still with outstretched wings. By this downward movement his velocity is rapidly increased, and he soon acquires sufficient momentum to carry him to a height equal to or greater than that from which he started to take his downward flight. By this wave-like motion he will travel day after day for hundreds of miles, perhaps giving at long and irregular intervals a few lazy flaps with his immense wings.

—The tailors' spring fashion plates are out, representing irreproachable young and middle-aged men in unimpeachable costumes, standing with one arm and leg gracefully bent and their other limbs rigid, and gazing amiably at nothing.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, bleached lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

One of the results of Moody and Sankey's visit to San Francisco, is the addition of 552 members to the orthodox churches of that city.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken, they were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie P——, Rockport.

Mr. James Gordon Bennett, it is announced by the Whitehall Review, is engaged to marry the daughter of the Prince de Furstenberg. Who the Prince de Furstenberg may be we cannot say.

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount?

If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

SALT RHEUM.

Hon. J. H. Snyder, of Saugerties, N. Y., gratefully testifies to the ability of "Favorite Remedy" as exhibited in the case of his little daughter who was covered with Salt Rheum from head to foot. "Favorite Remedy," says this thankful father, "relieved my girl altogether from this fearful affliction, Salt Rheum. This occurred two years ago, and not a sign of the disease has since appeared." What it did for this child it will do for all who use it.

LIVER DISEASE.

Mr. J. H. Northrop, of Lansingburg, N. Y., for several years Captain of the Troy police, says: "I have been for a long time a great sufferer from derangement of the liver, and after using many of the medicines recommended for that complaint, Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is the only one which gave me any relief. I firmly believe that the "Favorite Remedy" is a good, honest preparation; one that may be depended upon.

CHRONIC LIVER DISEASE.

Rev. J. G. Smith, of Hartford, Ct., says: "Being a great sufferer from Chronic Liver Disease and Indigestion, I at last tried your 'Favorite Remedy' add found immediate relief. I used two bottles, which worked wonders in my general system."

The New Schoolmaster.

The old man approached the new schoolmaster with bulldog glare in his eye: "You got after my boy yesterday because he lolt a live hornet glued to your chair?"

"I did."

"You licked him so he thought the world was coming to an end?"

"That was the impression I intended to convey to him."

"I'm his father; and I've come to let you know what I think of your proceedings."

Then they clinched. Hair and blood flew in the air, likewise heated language and dust and fragments of garments. Then it quieted down a little, and the old man implored him to let him up, stop choking, and take his teeth out of that ear.

"What do you think about my warming your boy?"

"I think you did just right, and when I go home I'll give him a tanning that'll teach him to come to me with his complaints, and stories that the school-master can't fight."

They parted, and the school-master murmured:

Sheep That Dive From Cliffs.

John Muir, the naturalist of the Sierra, writing of the wild sheep of the Sierra and of the well-authenticated habit of diving from precipices and alighting on their horns, relates the following anecdotes:

"At the base of Sheep rock, one of the winter strongholds of the Shasta flocks, there lives a stock-raiser who has the advantage of observing the movements of wild sheep every winter; and, in the course of a conversation with him on the subject of their diving habits, he pointed to the front of a lava headland about a hundred and fifty feet high, which is only eight or ten degrees out of the perpendicular. 'There,' said he, 'I followed a band of them fellows to the back of that rock yonder, and expected to capture them all, for I thought I had a dead thing on them. I got behind them on a narrow bench that rims along the face of the wall near the top, and comes to an end where they couldn't get away without falling and being killed; but they jumped off, and landed all right, as if that were the regular thing with them.'

'What!' said I, 'jumped a hundred and fifty feet! Did you see them do it?'

'No,' he replied, 'I didn't see them going down, for I was behind them; but I saw them go off over the brink, and then I went below and found their tracks where they struck on the loose debris at the bottom. They sailed right off, and landed on their feet right side up. That's the kind of animal they is—beats anything else that goes on four legs.'"—Scribner.

A Losing Joke.

APRIL 29th 1881.

The undersigned certifies that he was holder of one-half ticket No. 14,704, which drew the second capital prize of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in the Ordinary Drawing (Class D) April 12th, 1881, of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, the said ticket having cost the sum of one dollar ($1), at the office of L. F. Crosby, 265 Washington street, Boston, Mass., and the amount was promptly paid in full on presentation of the ticket at the office of the company at New Orleans.

Sarah Bernhardt and company sailed from New York for Europe on the 3d inst., by steamer L'Amerique.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

In Wakefield, Mass., a boy of ten years is charged with a felonious assault upon a girl of six.

News and Notes.

Paul Boyton, the swimmer, who was captured by the Chilians while he was in the Peruvian torpedo service, has arrived at New York in steamer Crescent City, under the assumed name of De La Porte. He had a false passport. He escaped from his captors by the aid of some friends, and swam to an English steamer, which took him on board. He thinks there is a possibility of his return to Peru, as Pierola has not yet given up the fight. The Peruvian leader, he says, is in the mountains, and prepared to keep up the fight in the Cuban guerilla fashion for twenty years if necessary. Capt. Boyton thought it was impossible for Pierola to accept the Chilian terms of peace, as they amounted to a complete extinction of the government in prohibiting the existence of any fleet or army for fifty years.

Edward C. Smith, alias Charles Daley, a colored man, was arrested in Wakefield, Mass., May 4th, while engaged in a burglary. Evidence of two other burglaries was found upon him, and he was held in $2000 for breaking and entering, and in $800 for resisting arrest.

Mr. John Fallon, for many years acting agent of the Pacific mills at Lawrence, Mass., will shortly sever his connection therewith. He has been in the employ of this corporation in various capacities for nearly thirty years. It is said that the mills will be under a new plan of management, Mr. Parker, superintendent at the upper mill, and Mr. Stone, at the Central mill, each to receive orders direct from the management in Boston, with no resident agent in Lawrence. Mr. Fallon will permanently retire from active business.

Vermont is the only state that has not a single Chinaman. North Carolina and Delaware have each one, and Alabama has four. The largest number in any southern state is 383, and Louisiana is the state. Sugar growing has brought them there. The other states and territories in which they are more numerous are: Pennsylvania, 160; Illinois, 214; Utah, 518; Arizona, 632; New York, 942; Montana, 1,764; Idaho, 3,378; Nevada, 5423; Oregon, 9515; and California, 75,132. The whole number is much less than has been supposed.

Brush, the inventor of the electric light, could not borrow $5 at one period of his life. He has now an income of $1,000 a day.

An epidemic prevails among the sheep in Kennebec county, Me. They are taken sick, and die in a day or two.

At Santa Fe, New Mexico, a noted ruffian called "Billy the Kid" was recently tried, and escaped. After getting clear he killed William Matthews, one of the witnesses against him, and a man with whom Matthews was riding. If "Billy the Kid" is captured again, his next trial will be brief.

Workmen engaged upon the improvement of the roadway in Washington have made a startling discovery in regard to Flannery's statue of Lincoln, around which they are working. In excavating, it was found that rotten timbers projected from under the base of the shaft. Further search revealed the fact that the whole had been built on a framework of wood. The dampness has completely decayed the timbers, and unless they are speedily removed, and concrete or rubber inserted, the statue and shaft may be expected soon to fall. The shaft is fifty or sixty feet high.

Dr. Herwood of New York is under arrest for criminal malpractice on Anna Eichoff, who is dying in the hospital; and August Scherke, who was engaged to marry the girl, is charged with being an accessory. No bail is allowed in either case. The affair is said to present some extraordinary features.

D. P. Withee, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Auburn, Me., is on trial, accused by Mrs. G. E. Jackson of an assault with intent to ravish.

General Sherman's only son, Thomas, has just been admitted to the Catholic priesthood by Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore.

General Butler's law practice yields him about $200,000 per year. He receives many fees of $5,000. Probably it is the most lucrative practice in the country.

A widow in Corning, N. Y., has been drawing a pension for forty years. The government has just discovered that her husband was never in the service, but was kicked to death by a horse.

At Shreveport, La., May 4th, a motion for a new trial in the case of S. M. Thomas, convicted of manslaughter for killing his brother-in-law, Hugh Dickson, for seducing his daughter, was withdrawn, and the prisoner sentenced to one hour's imprisonment in the penitentiary and to pay $1 fine and costs. Petitions signed by the judge, jury and nearly every citizen of the town were forwarded to the governor for his immediate pardon.

Victor Le Huray and Daniel K. Hunting have been arrested in New York for burglary and theft. Hunting's father lives in Connecticut, and is said to possess $500,000.

The body of a man who was found in the woods near the Boston & Albany railroad three weeks ago Saturday afternoon, and who died soon after being moved to the Grafton, Mass., poor farm, has been identified as that of Michael Crugan of Manchester.

Political.

The Senate on the 4th inst. went into executive session, confirmed a number of nominations, and took up the Chinese immigration treaty.

Senator Malone has been interviewed upon his opinions on national politics, and declares himself in favor of hard and honest money, a protective tariff, free schools, a free ballot and a fair count, the elimination of the race issue by conceding to every man his legal political rights, and the adoption of whatever policy will bury the dead past of slavery and secession, and make the south the rival of the north in intelligence, thrift and progress. We call that good radical republican doctrine.

New Hampshire Items.

The Lisbon hotel, at Lisbon, was burned on the night of the 3d inst.

One of the buildings connected with the Maplewood hotel property at Bethlehem had been raised some twenty feet for the purpose of building another story under it. It was supported by blocking, and a gang of men was employed in and about the building, when the strong wind caused it to fall, on the 4th inst., killing Morris Cheney and Daniel Abbott of Bethlehem, and severely wounding seven others.

At Nashua, May 5th, Thomas Harris, for breaking and entering, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Farmington is to have a new town hall, which will seat over 700 people. Twenty thousand dollars has been appropriated.

Nearly a dozen new rooms are to be added to the Holderness school for boys during the summer vacation, as it is overrun with applications.

An irate female from some Massachusetts town arrived in Concord on the 2d inst., in search of her husband, William Hale. He was found after much difficulty at the house of Leander Barnes, having recently married Barnes' sister. Hale was taken away by wife No. 1, and Barnes and Detective Hildreth of Suncook are in pursuit. Hale was traced to Manchester. He is a sewing machine-agent, and has been married to wife No. 2 over a year, claiming that a lawyer at Concord procured an Indiana divorce for him previous to his second marriage, and alleging that wife No. 1 was obliged to go through the same ceremony before she was married to him.

An Enterprising Woman.

A few weeks ago a woman calling herself Ellen Gardner, young and very pretty, threw red pepper in the eyes of a Mr. Ingersoll, a wealthy merchant of New York, and then battered him with a cowhide, alleging as a reason that he had attempted her virtue, and that she, a poor, friendless girl, had no other way to defend herself from his assaults. Mr. Ingersoll denied the woman's story entirely, and said she was simply a blackmailer; but the newspaper reporters all took sides with the woman—she is very handsome—and showed Ingersoll up as a scamp of the first water. But he, being rich, plucky, and probably mad way through, decided to spare no cost in showing that his charge was true, and after expending $5,000 in detective service he collected the complete history of the girl, which is in brief this:

She had been a barmaid in London; had forged her employer's name and run away to this country with the money, and a man not her husband; had been married to half a dozen different men, and lived with as many more; had been turned out of respectable boarding-houses for misconduct with strangers; had frequently attempted to blackmail her various employers; had put up this job upon Mr. Ingersoll deliberately, and had recently married a Mr. Gardner, who believed her an honest country girl. When confronted with the facts, she admitted them, and soon after went into court, pleaded guilty to a charge of blackmail, and was sent to prison for a long term, where she now is, while New York society moralizes over the sad outcome.

The Girls Don't Believe It.

The girls of Sangerties, says the Kingston (N. Y.,) Freeman, having read the account of the western young lady who was hugged to death by her lover, met last Saturday evening at the house of one of their number, on Partition street, and unanimously passed the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, It is reported that an Iowa girl died recently in her lover's arms, while being hugged; and

Whereas, Judging from experience, we believe such an event to be utterly impossible; therefore,

Resolved, That notwithstanding such report we are still in favor of hugging. We prefer to run all risks of death rather than have the beautiful, lovely, delightful, perfectly elegant custom abolished.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased and also to the newspapers of Ulster county for publication.

Unlucky Happenings.

It is unlucky to fall out of a third-story window on Monday; to meet a red-headed woman on Tuesday—especially if you owe her anything; to break a forty dollar mirror on Wednesday; to dream that you see red snakes and green monkeys on Thursday; to get drunk on Friday; to lose five dollars on Saturday; to get locked up on Sunday.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable LUNG DISEASE or CONSUMPTION. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and lozenges, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the throat troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly multiple generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. FELLOWS' Compound Syrup of HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on those organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

Schooner Daniel C. Baker arrived on Thursday with 9000 pounds of fish.

The schooner Rover's Bride is to be new-topped, and the steamer James Sampson to have new guards and rail put on, by Mr. Warren Keen.

The National band of Dover has been engaged to furnish music in Newmarket on Memorial day. The Dover cornet band will play in Dover on that day.

Levi W. Dearborn of North Hampton broke through the scaffold floor in his barn recently, and fractured the bone of one leg between the ankle and knee.

Mr. Lewis Holmes is fitting his fleet of sail and row boats for the summer campaign. He has added a number of new boats to his previously large stock, and proposes to do a big business in the letting line this summer.

The schooner Iris came off the marine railway at Kittery early last Thursday morning. The floating stage used for a steamboat-landing at Appledore island was hauled out later in the day, to be overhauled and calked.

Maggie Mitchell is coming, to be here on the 16th inst., when she will appear at Music hall as "Fanchon." The Boston Opera Co. were booked for the 10th, but the date has been changed for a later one, when the comic opera "Olivette" will be presented.

Henry Leveen, Esq., desires us to state that he has changed his intention as to inserting a new plate-glass front in his clothing store on Market square, and instead of such expenditure he intends to make a large reduction in prices for the benefit of his customers.

The canvass for the new Portsmouth Directory is nearly finished, and all persons who have changed their residence or boarding place within the past four weeks will please immediately leave notice of such change with W. G. Myers, at his store, and the correction will be made.

Two sisters of Mr. George Phillips, who was drowned from the steamer Acushnet on Tuesday morning of this week, was in this city, on Thursday to learn the particulars of her brother's death, she fearing that he had met with foul play. We do not think there is the slightest ground for suspicion in the matter.

The secretary of the North Hampton Sunday school reported 293 members for the year ending April 1st, 1881; receipts, $134.49; expenditures, $132.23; penny contributions, $28, to be devoted to needy schools in the west, under the direction of the American Home Missionary society; 122 volumes added to the library.

It is rumored that the delay in the sailing of the schooner Mary S. Hontvet is owing to some hitch in the insurance company, it having recently changed hands, and not got in working order. The schooner Christie Campbell, which sailed from this port to the banks some two weeks ago, had the same difficulty, and left without effecting any insurance.

At the recent meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Philip G. Peabody, Esq., of New York city, was unanimously elected an honorary member of the society in consideration of his interest in and substantial aid to the cause in our state. Two other New York gentlemen manifested their regard for the society, one by a donation of ten dollars, the other by subscribing to the amount of five dollars, in April. Other substantial contributions were made by residents of our own city and state. The society was never more active than at present.

The president and directors of the Eastern railroad made a visit to this city on Thursday last, in the directors' car, and inspected the new well near the depot; and after indulging in numerous libations therefrom, (the surface water being now entirely shut out,) they took a jug-full of the fluid back to Boston with them, for analysis. Some of the party, who are familiar with the sulphur springs of the south and west, pronounced this a genuine sulphur spring.

The Rockingham County Temperance Convention was held in the Baptist church at Newcastle on Thursday last; the time was taken up with speeches, singing, and an excellent dinner at the town hall. There were some three hundred persons present; the exercises were of a social nature, and interesting to all who participated. Several of the visitors took passage in the steamer Fearless, preferring a water trip to the ride over land. The services continued through the evening.

The small quantity of fish coming into this port this spring is accounted for by the fact that Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell, at the Shoals, is buying more extensively than ever before, and that Mr. Sargent Lane has transferred his business from this city to Newcastle. Several of the boats which brought their fares here during the winter are now selling at Gloucester; but what inducements fishermen can have to sell there, when the prices are no higher than they are here, and they have the disadvantage of having to carry the fish some distance in baskets, we cannot imagine.*

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, May 5th:

James L. Parker was granted a new sidewalk on Middle street.

Samuel Horton asked permission to run a telephone wire along Islington street. Referred to committee on streets.

The city solicitor submitted a suggestion that the city government request the representatives to the legislature to endeavor to secure the passage of a law protecting the city from liabity for unavoidable accidents to individuals through slippery sidewalks, etc., in cases where the city is not clearly to blame.

Petition of C. H. Mendum and others for the laying out of a new street at the west end, was preferred to committee on laying out and widening streets.

Several ballots were taken for inspector of petroleum, without a choice being made; matter post poned one week.

A message was received from the Common Council, stating that the council concurred in striking out the item of $400 for a furnace in the Cabot street school-house from the appropriation bill, but refused to concur in striking out $2000 for reservoir in Court square; and asking for a committee of conference. Ald. Slater and Sanborn were appointed on the part of the board, and Messrs. Manent and Gray on the part of the council.

Committee on city lands and buildings recommended that Henry H. Ham be granted a lease of the store under the city rooms; approved. Voted that a lease be granted for three years.

Adjourned for one week.

MISSING.

It was reported in Kittery on Wednesday of this week, that Wentworth Currier of Boston and a son of Mr. Henry T. Hutchings of South Boston, both natives of Kittery, started from Boston in a whale-boat, April 25th, to come to this port. They had not arrived up to Thursday morning, and as the wind blew very strongly from the northwest on the day they sailed much anxiety is felt for their safety by their friends in Kittery. Young Hutchings was an excellent boatman, having handled boats from his early boyhood, and if any disaster has happened it was from stress of weather and not through any lack of skill.

LIGHT DRINKS.

It is now the tenth season since Mr. Charles E. Boynton commenced the bottling of various kinds of light summer drinks, and of lager beer, the consumption of which has of late years so rapidly increased in the United States, and is still increasing, in imitation of the Germans, who have been consumers of lager from time immemorable, and who have immigrated to this country in such vast numbers.

There are two brands of lager bottled by Mr. Boynton; one is Schlitz' Milwaukee, and the other Eldredge's Portsmouth lager, for the latter of which he is agent in this locality. Eldredge's beer is most popular here, because it is of good color and clear, and keeps well both in winter and summer.. Bock beer, which is sometimes sold, is considerably stronger than the ordinary lager, and is only brewed a few times in the spring of the year; in accordance with an old German custom, when the Teutons think they need a little more exhilaration.

It may be inferred that from the length of time in which Mr. Boynton has been successfully engaged in this business, he has ample conveniences to prosecute it. From a small beginning he has at present a large trade, supplying a large portion of the watering-places in this vicinity during the summer months with cream ale, ginger beer, tonic, etc., of unsurpassed quality, as well as with lager and extra-fine cider. Families in the city are supplied with any of these light beverages on short notice, on leaving their orders with Mr. Boynton.

Prices for butchers' cattle have ranged in most instances from 5 1-4 to 5 1-4c per lb live weight but very few lots having been sold at our highest quotations. There were only a few cattle brought in from Maine, mostly milch cows and stockers.

Working Oxen—The supply in market was light and the demand for them not so active as it has been of late, a few pairs each week being all that is required. Milch Cows—Extra $50 to $70; ordinary $29 to $50; springers $18 to $50; farrow cows $18 to $27 per head. Sales of 1 cow and calf at $45; 1 springer $34; 1 Ayshire springer $53; 1 milch cow $35; 2 do for $55; 1 springer $44; 2 cows and calves for $85.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were owned by G W Hollis, and taken direct to the slaughter houses for slaughter. None offered on the market for sale.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices unchanged, costing landed at the slaughter houses 6 3-4 to 7 1-4c per lb live weight. Western shoats sold at 7 to 8c per lb wholesale; retail from 7 1-2 to 10c per lb. Spring pigs $2 50 to $3 per head. Only a few pigs required to supply the market each week at present.

24 Merry Department.

Found at Last.

A lady in the north of England received a letter from her husband, who represented a large business firm, saying that he would leave for home on Sunday, the 28th day of December, by way of Dundee and the Tay bridge. That night the bridge fell, and the wife knew she was a widow, the firm losing, on account of the impossibility of finding the body, a large amount of money he had been collecting for them. Some time after, a former acquaintance saw this gentleman in a London street car. He denied his identity, but a subsequent investigation showed that he had not gone on the train as he expected, buttook advantage of the accident to go to London, squandered the money, and married another woman. He has already nearly served his term for embezzlement, and on his release expects to be sent back again for bigamy.

A Serious Flirtation.

At a church sociable some time ago a theological student was detailed to assist a young lady, whom he had long admired from afar, in making out a new Sunday school library catalogue. The prospective minister found the task by no means an unpleasant one, as the charming young creature read him the title-page, while he delightedly copied it into the catalogue before him. In fact, there flitted through the mind of the sedate and rather bashful youth several times the question whether the aforesaid maiden, with her pretty figure and bright eyes, could not be induced to become the "sharer of his labors and toils."

"I believe I would ask her to-night if I only dared," thought the young man. "But I don't dare, so there's the end of it." And with gloomier face than before he continued his work, calling out, "Next book?" almost mechanically, as fast as he had transcribed the former title. He was aroused from his reverie by the following rejoinder to one of his demands for "next book."

"Why don't you do it?"

He started as though the girl had been reading his thoughts.

"Do what?" he inquired, by way of drawing her out. But the young lady replied not a word. To gain time he again said:

"Next book?"

"No time like the present," said the maiden, with an encouraging smile.

"I see it is of no use to hide my thoughts from you, Miss M —, he said, struggling with embarrassment. "Your last two remarks have shown me how perfectly you realize my state of mind. I will, therefore, follow your advice and embrace the present opportunity of asking you whether you are willing to accept me as your partner for life. Your answer, I am confident from these remarks, will be affirmative."

It was the young lady's turn to be embarrassed.

"To what remarks do you refer?" she said.

"To the two sentences in which you so delicately blended words of advice and encouragement on this most important of subjects, when you said, 'Why don't you do it?' and 'No time like the present.'"

The girl looked puzzled for a moment, and then burst into a merry laugh. "Why, those were the titles of the books you called for. Well, you have got yourself into a pretty fix," and she laughed at the discomfiture of the poor fellow merrily.

"Miss M —," said the young man, springing up with sudden earnestness, "I beg you will consider the words which I cannot now recall. Be mine, and I shall be supremely happy. Refuse me, and you will make me miserable for life. Will you be mine?"

"Yes, yes; don't make such a noise about it, or somebody will overhear you."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

Later advices from Montevideo state that the British sloop-of-war Dotorel, which was blown up in the Straits of Magellan on the 26th ult., was totally destroyed, and sunk. The explosion occurred in the forward magazine at ten o'clock in the morning. It is supposed the boiler burst, and exploded the magazine. The victims of the explosion number eight officers, and 135 men killed. Three officers and fourteen other persons were saved.

F. D. Curtis, the well-known blooded stock raiser of Charlton, Saratoga county, N. Y., says "I consider the Liebig Co.'s Armicated Extract of Witch Hazel a very valuable liniment and medicine. Every farmer ought to have it on hand. A handy and effectual remedy of this kind is what farmers need, and if they had it on hand when required, much suffering would be saved, and no doubt many valuable animals." With cattle it cures blaine, quarter evil, bruises, sprains, urinary troubles, foul foot, rheumatism, garget, hide bound, galls, horn ail, swelling, etc. With sheep it cures aphtæ, diseases of the feet, red water, rot, shaking, etc. With swine it cures anthrax, rheumatism, rot, red eruption, hog cholera, sore feet. Beware of worthless imitations. Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes; reduced rates by the half gallon or gallon. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York. Circulars mailed free.

The state department is looking up the law to find whether there is any authority to check the immigration of Mormon converts, which has become unusually large of late. It would be a righteous work. Three women converts who arrived in New York from Europe, recently, with Mormons, have refused to go to Salt Lake city. Not one in a hundred would go, if they were not deceived.

A fine Whiskey—mellowed by age and guaranteed pure—is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon." See that it has the signature of Chester H. Greves & Sons over the cork. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 55 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

American Pearls.

I met Bernhardt on Saturday at Tiffany's choosing some keepsakes for persons who had shown her kindness during her stay here. She was greatly impressed with the size and magnificence of Tiffany's shop. She happened to notice some American pearls from mussels of the Miami river, in Ohio, and her questions led to quite an interesting lecture upon the subject of American pearls by the gentleman detailed to conduct her through the acres of jewels and artistic wares. I never knew before that $50,000 worth of American pearls were bought by Tiffany & Co., most of them coming from the California gulf, but others coming from all over the United States. The finest pearl ever seen in this country was found twenty years ago in a New Jersey fresh water mussel, and sold for $15,000, so the story goes, to the then Empress Eugenie by Tiffany & Co. By joining the throng of reporters who accompany Bernhardt with instructions never to let her out of sight, I learned that even the best experts cannot tell good imitation pearls from real ones. Bernhardt examined the most expensive string of pearls ever brought to this country—sixty pearls, not one of which was valued at less than $500—and remarked that she could not tell that string, worth $40,000, from an imitation set that she used on the stage, and which was worth $25. "No more can any one," said the courteous gentleman who led the cortege of reporters and sight-seers who followed in the wake of the actress. "The only way in which a real pearl can be told from an imitation one is by weight and touch. Appearance, color, form and radiance have been perfectly imitated. The best judges in the country cannot tell a pearl worth $5000 from one worth $5 at arm's length. All the pearls in a ball room might be false without the best pearl expert suspecting it." "Why, then, have any real pearls?" said Bernhardt, and the question is a natural one. If the imitation is as good as the real thing, and costs a hundred times less, why not wear imitation pearls? I am afraid that the candid admission of Tiffany's head man was not a good thing for the pearl business.—New York letter.

Taking the Next Train Out.

A Boston drummer was the other day taking an order from a firm in Elizabeth, N. J., and when he left the store he left behind him a memorandum book, a lot of cards, and a photograph of a very good-looking lady. In the course of an hour he returned with anxious step, and said:

"Just my careless way. I left my book and a photograph here. It is the photograph of my sister, who is dead, and I prize it very highly. Haven't seen it, have you?"

"Yes," said the senior member of the firm; "I had it in my hand when Mr. B——, who lives in the next town above, dropped in on an errand. He caught sight of the photograph, and he jumped two feet and swore like a trooper. He recognized it as the picture of his wife!"

"No," gasped the drummer.

"That's what he said. If you are his brother-in-law, then his wife may be your sister. If you are not, and you can't make him believe that his wife and your sister are twins, you had better have your shooter ready."

"Well, I never was worth a cent on argument, and I guess I'll catch the next train out. It's my sister of course, but while I was convincing that old jealous-pated grand-father of the fact, I might lose a big sale down the road. Can't miss no sales these sharp times, you know. If I keep down the street will it bring me to the depot?"

—The furniture in Mrs. Langtry's little house, where the Prince of Wales used to invite himself to breakfast, has been sold for the benefit of creditors, and the "Jersey Lily" has disappeared from the London world. Nevertheless, she is a beautiful woman.

—A lady residing at Fort Townsend, Washington territory, subsisted for three months upon cow's milk alone. Her extraordinary fast was undertaken voluntarily, for the purpose of checking a tendency to obesity. Its successful consummation is a matter of local comment. The milk was taken a pint at a time, every two hours.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

—Admiral Farragut once rebuked in a most neat and decorous, but very effective manner, a tobacco-smoking bishop. At dinner with Farragut, and after the meal was over, the bishop, about to select a cigar, offered the bunch to the sailor, "Have a cigar, admiral?" said he. "No, bishop," said the admiral, with a quizzical glance; "I don't smoke—I swear a little, sometimes."

Are made annually by the use of medicines called tonics and bitters, containing a large portion of rum and other kinds of spirits, (all of which should be labelled destruction and death). Dr. Kennedy has put up the "Favorite Remedy" in form of a syrup, without one drop of spirits. Hence, it may be given to persons of all ages, of either sex, who require a medicine to purify the blood, regulate the liver, kidneys or bowels, or to give tone and strength to the system. Sold by all druggists; $1.00 a bottle.

The Senate.

President Garfield on the 5th inst. astonished his political friends as well as his opponents by sending to the Senate a message withdrawing all the principal New York nominations, excepting that of Mr. Robertson to be collector at New York. This act is a direct challenge from President Garfield to Senator Conkling, and will precipitate the fight which it has been the purpose of the republican caucus committee to avoid.

The Senate devoted the whole session to executive business, clearing the calendar of treaties, and taking final action on eighty-eight nominations. The Chinese immigration treaty was ratified without amendment, by a practically unanimous vote.

News and Notes.

The revenue steamer Thomas Corwin sailed from San Francisco on the 4th inst. for the Arctic regions.

Two silly fools, named George Brooks and Scott Love, fought a duel at Orbiston, Ohio, May 2d. Both were seriously wounded, and it is reported that Love cannot survive.

A serious division is reported in the Irish Land League. Mr. Parnell and his followers are vigorously opposing the land bill on the ground that in its present state it would fail to secure the tenant farmers such a reduction in rents as would afford adequate protection to their property in their holdings, and would leave evicted or rack-rented tenants in a defenceless position.

The switchmen of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and Chicago & Northwestern railroads struck Thursday afternoon for $3 a day instead of $2.50. A large number of employes of the Grand Trunk in Canada are on a strike.

The Boston common council on the 5th inst. appropriated $15,000 for the Fourth of July celebration, and referred the question of increasing the pay of the laborers employed by the city to a special committee.

A skull, believed to be the missing head of Mrs. Lizzie Lowell, has been found in Lewiston, Me., near the Switzerland road. A headless skeleton, identified as Mrs. Lowell's, was found near the same spot seven years ago, and her husband, James Lowell, was convicted of murdering her, and is now in state prison. A reward for the discovery of the head was offered at the time of the trial.

The real estate of the Bartlet mills in Newburyport is advertised to be sold at auction in the latter part of this month, unless previously disposed of by private sale.

Judge J. C. Parker at Fort Smith has rendered a decision in the case of the United States vs. Capt. David L. Payne, declaring that none of the land in the Indian territory is subject to white settlement, the Indians holding the proprietorship absolutely and without reserve. The decision is generally accepted as conclusive, and a number of prospective settlers camped on the border awaiting judicial decision have begun to migrate elsewhere.

The British-American Mining Co., one of the high-sounding mining companies of Farmington, is to have a special meeting at John F. Cloutman's shoe factory in that town on the 21st, to see if they will sell out their bonanza.

The Louisville Courier-Journal publishes a story that Mary Anderson, the actress, makes a charge that Dr. Hamilton Griffin, her stepfather and manager, has treated her unjustly by investing $100,000 of her earnings in his own name, and has deeded her real estate in New York to himself.

Maj. Ad. Welch, formerly of the Turner's Falls (Mass.) Reporter, and a temperance orator of some local note a few years ago, has just been sentenced to jail at Washington for three months, for being a vagrant and street beggar.

Among the 1,000 compositors in the government office at Washington, there are three young lady type-setters. They have set more type in the last three months than any three male compositors employed on the same kind of matter.

McKee Rankin and wife, at the special request of Lord Lorne, witnessed the military sports at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, Canada, on Saturday afternoon, April 29th, and dined with him in the evening.

The report that Mrs. Abraham Lincoln was shortly to sail for France is incorrect. She is ill in Springfield, Ill., and probably will never be able to go abroad again, even should she so wish.

The Maine Beet Sugar company is to distribute $2,000 worth of sugar beet seed among the farmers of New England and other sections.

Gen. Butler is to present the citizens of Newburyport, Mass., with a massive granite fountain, shaped in the form of a cross, to be located on Market square.

Two smart Coleraine, Mass., girls have taken their father's farm, to work it through the season to give their parents a chance to work in the mill. The girls propose to do all the work themselves on the 100 acres or more, besides taking care of the stock and marketing.

Henry W. Smith of Athol, Mass., ballant in a divorce case at Worcester, Mass., was on the 4th inst. arrested in the court room on a charge of perjury, at the order of Judge Lord.

The Canadians of Lowell, Mass., held an indignation meeting Wednesday evening, May 4th, when Col. Carroll D. Wright was bitterly denounced for his indictment of the French Canadian population of the United States. Col. Wright, in his last report to the Massachusetts legislature, alluded to the French Canadians as "the Chinese of the eastern states."

The bark Ingot, from Spain, arrived at New York on the 4th inst., and brought Captain Elridge and the crew of the British steamer Belsize, from New Orleans for Copenhagen, wrecked by a storm at sea April 15th, and sunk. The Belsize was owned in Sunderland, England.

Col. E. C. Farrington of Fryeburg, Me., inspector of rifle practice for the state, has prepared a manual of instructions in the use and care of the rifle, which is to be put in the hands of every member of the Maine militia.

The proposition is made to hold a world's fair in Boston in 1885, under the auspices of Boston and the New England states. The estimated cost is three millions of dollars. The New York world's fair has been given up.

Daniel Conroy, one of a trio of young ruffians who about one year ago murderously assaulted and robbed an old man named Thomas O'Brien, at South Wareham, Mass, and who made his escape, while the other two boys, Haskell and Mitchell, were arrested, recently ventured home, when he was at once arrested.

Selina Ditzell, a Chicago domestic servant, being threatened with arrest on a charge of stealing $7 from her mistress, declared herself guilty. She was thereupon forgiven, and retained in employment. That night she took poison, and just before her death solemnly protested that she was innocent, having made a false confession to save herself from imprisonment.

The coroner's jury in the inquest over the bodies of two of the victims of the ferry disaster at Elgin, Ill., on the 4th inst. found a verdict that Mayor Bosworth, as the executive officer of the city, and Alderman Jencks, chairman of the committee on streets, having the boat specially in charge, were guilty of negligence in not knowing positively that the boat was safe, and placed in the hands of careful and competent men.

An Enoch Arden case came before the Supreme Court at Lowell, Mass., May 4th. Mrs. Ada S. Conant desired a divorce from Edward A Conant, with whom she had lived in wedlock about four years. It appears that Mrs. Conant's first husband was a sailor by the name of Smith. His vessel was reported lost with all on board, and after mourning a proper time the supposed widow was married. Pending the decision of a suit for divorce, information was received that Mr. Smith was picked up at sea by a Dutch craft, and carried around the world. A few days ago he landed in Baltimore, and his arrival in New Hampshire is hourly expected. The court was asked to annul the Conant marriage on the ground that it was illegal, and a decree to that effect was granted.

The U. S. S. Vandalia sailed from Portsmouth, Va., for Boston, May 4th, to tow the Ossipee to League island to be repaired.

New Hampshire Items.

New Hampshire farmers complain much of sick stock this spring. Sick sheep and dead lambs are unusually common. One man lost thirteen lambs in a very small flock. Another is reported to have had nine cattle poisoned, it is supposed by eating laurel. Ill health of stock is reported for a wide extent of country.

At Milford, on the 4th inst., the wife of Dr. D. S. Dearborn while riding with her husband was thrown from the wagon by the horse taking fright, and dangerously injured.

Further particulars of the accident at Bethlehem, on the 4th inst., show that there were twenty men at work in the building when it fell. Charles Abbott was instantly killed; Charles E. Stoddard received internal injuries, and cannot live; Morris Cheney was cut in the head, and had his ribs fractured dangerously; and the seventeen others were all more or less seriously injured.

Col. Henry O. Kent of Lancaster and Col. Hazen Bedel of Colebrook, are are among the incorporators for New Hampshire named by the legislature of Virginia in the act to incorporate the "Yorktown Centennial Association," organized to arrange for the observance of the centennial anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, on the 19th of October next. One hundred and twenty years ago the grandfathers of these gentlemen were lieutenants together in Capt. Hazen's company of Col. Goffe's regiment of New Hampshire troops, raised for and engaged in the invasion of Canada, in the "old French war."

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

She left here on Sunday, the 1st inst., and made her trip to the islands in nine hours; secured her lobsters, and started for this port on Tuesday. Soon after starting she encountered heavy weather, sprung her mainmast and tore her foresail, and has probably killed many of her lobsters.

Last year the Eastern railroad put down 1296 tons of steel rails, until now but two miles of the main road, near Portland, remain unfinished. Already 1000 tons of the same kind of rails have been purchased, and with this the two miles will be relaid, and several of the branches also be put in a better condition. This work will be commenced within a few weeks, and prosecuted vigorously to completion. The sum of $260,253 was expended in improving and maintaining the road bed alone, last year.

She is between forty and forty-five years of age, and has been very nervous for several years. She was discovered lying on the piazza by her youngest son, who gave the alarm to some near neighbors, one of whom went to Newmarket and quickly returned with Dr. Green, who sewed up the wound, and thinks the unfortunate woman may recover though dangerously injured.

SUPREME COURT--CLARK J.

FRIDAY, May 6th.

The case of Frank L. Chauncey of Kittery vs. the German American Insurance Co., of New York, F. W. DeRochemont agent, was heard by the court, and a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff, and the case goes up to the full bench on a law point. Page for piff.; J. H. Benton of Boston for deft.

The court finally adjourned at three o'clock, P. M., having been in session twenty-five days. Judge Clark has made it a working term. Five persons have been convicted and sent to state prison, two to the reform school, and seven to jail, while a number have paid fines and costs. There has been no disagreement of the jury.

One hundred and forty civil cases have been disposed of, and the docket reduced to less than two hundred cases.

This is the fifth term Judge Clark has presided in this county, and to the universal satisfaction of the bar and the people.

Those who are familiar with the characteristics of the "Rev." O. M. Cousins, the wife-choker, will say that in expelling him from the church and the conference, the Maine Methodist Conference did just right. No man who breaks his wife's head is fit to break the bread of life.—Kennebec Journal.

Tattooing of Japanese Women.

The Aino women seldom exceed five feet and a few inches in height, but they are beautifully formed, straight and lithe, small feet and hands, well-arched insteps, rounded limbs, well-developed busts, and a firm, elastic gait. Their heads and faces are small; the abundant hair falls in masses each side of the face like that of the men's. They have superb teeth; mouths somewhat wide, but well formed, with a ruddy comeliness about them, which is pleasing in spite of the band tattooed above and below, and united at the corners—enlarging its apparent size and width. A girl at Shiroi, who for some reason has not been thus marked, is the most beautiful creature in features, coloring, and natural grace of form that I have seen in a long time. Their complexions are lighter than the men's, and not many here are even as dark as our European brunettes. A few unite the eyebrows by a tattooed band so as to produce a straight line.

They are universally tattooed, not only with this band about the mouth, but with another across the knuckles, succeeded by an elaborate pattern on the back of the hand, and a series of bracelets extending to the elbow. The process of disfigurement begins at the age of five, when some of the sufferers are yet unweaned. I saw it performed this morning, on a dear little bright girl. A woman took a sharp knife and rapidly cut several horizontal lines on the upper lip, following closely the curve of the mouth; and before the slight bleeding had ceased she rubbed in some soot taken from the mat above the fire. In two or three days the lip will be washed with a decoction of bark to fix the pattern, and give the blue look which makes many people mistake it for a daub of paint. A child who yesterday underwent this process has a fearfully swollen and inflamed lip. The latest victim held her hands clasped tightly together while the cuts were inflicted, but never cried.

The pattern on the lip is deepened every year up to the time of marriage, and so are the circles on the arm. They begin to tattoo the arms when the girl is five or six, and work from the elbow downward. They exposed themselves as very much grieved by the recent prohibition of tattooing, for the gods will be angry, and the women cannot marry unless they are tattooed. They cannot give any reason for its universality; it is an old custom, a part of their religion, and no woman could marry without it.—Miss Bird's Travels.

—A sturdy-looking boy applied for work last November at Wittenburg's farm near Forestville, Michigan, offering to give his services in return for his keep. The offer was accepted, and for some time the youth labored well and faithfully, chopping wood, and doing all the hardest kinds of work like a man. Then he accepted an offer of board and $6 a month at another farmer's, and for a time worked equally well there; but one morning he was missing, and no explanation for his disappearance could be imagined until, the other day, a woman came along that way to look for her runaway daughter. Then it was discovered that the supposed boy was a young woman.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—Men who work all night getting out morning papers are well posted on the snooze of the day.

Castoria.

For sour stomach, constipation, and fretfulness of children. Pleasant, safe and cheap. 900 drops; 35 doses, 35 cents.

—In Boston. Æsthetic young lady. "By the way, Mr. Gosoffly, have you read Bascom's 'Science of Mind?'" "N-n-naw. I'm not reading much nowadays. I pass my time in original thought." Æsthetic young lady (with much sympathy). "How very dreary, to be sure."

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—It is mighty hard for some people to get out of a room after their visit is really over. One would think they had been built in your parlor or study, and were waiting to be launched.

They are Liable!

The doctors are all liable to be mistaken, they were in my case. It cost me $200.00, because they said I had heart disease, and then told me I must die. Grandmother said it was liver complaint, and $2.00 worth of Sulphur Bitters cured me.—Jennie P——, Rockport.

—Maybe you didn't know the Earl of Perth, and it's just as well you didn't. He's bankrupt to the tune of $270,000, and his assets consist of a four-ounce dog and a little cane to match.

"Wait a Little Longer."

So we are told sometimes. Things will come out all right, people say, if we wait awhile. That don't do with disease. The longer you wait the worse it is. It's no use to plant corn in November. Do you "feel a little bad?" Strike the trouble right away. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is what you want. It will at once relieve the bowels, stimulate the liver and cool your skin. Take one dollar in your hand and stop at your druggist's, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—Josh Billings says that too long courtships are injudicious; the parties often tire in scoring before the trot begins.

From Alonzo S. Weed, publisher of Zion's Herald, 35 Bromfield, St., Boston.

Several bottles of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam have been used in my family with the most gratifying results. We esteem it as one of the best of medicines.

ILLUSTRATION. At age 25 an annual premium of $16.91 will secure a policy for $1000, payable at death. By the same annual outlay and the ordinary methods of investment it would take 26 years, at six per cent compound interest, to save $1000.

Can any man afford to risk the chances of living twenty-six years to make a thousand dollars for his family, when he can secure the same benefit at once by taking a life insurance for this amount? If he feels that he cannot afford to be without insurance on his house, which may never burn, can he afford to be without insurance on his life, which is sure to end sooner or later?

Whistling to a Squirrel.

One afternoon last summer when looking for game I sat down on a pile of rails to rest. Pretty soon I discovered in an oak tree, some twenty yards away, a red squirrel stretched at full length on a limb taking a sun bath. Instead of raising my rifle and sending a ball through the little fellow (it's a mighty mean "sportsman" that endeavors to kill all he sees) I decided to give him a little pleasure if I could, so I commenced to whistle the air of that once popular ditty, "I love thee, sweet Nora O'Neil."

In a twinkling the squirrel was up on his hind legs, his tail over his back, his head cocked to one side, listening to me; a moment of irresolution, and then he scampered down the trunk of the tree to the ground and started toward me; he came a few yards, stopped, sat up on end and listened again.

I was careful not to move, and kept on whistling; after waiting a moment the little beauty came on, jumping upon the pile of rails, ran along within four feet of me, halted, went up on end again, made an umbrella of his tail, tipped his head on one side, looked at me with all the gravity of a justice of the peace at his first trial, and yet if ever a creature's eyes beamed with pleasure his did.

I did not move, but after a little I abruptly changed the tune to the "Sweet by and bye," Chut! Why, with the first note of the different tune away went the squirrel. I did not move, only as I shook with suppressed laughter, and as well as I could kept on whistling. In a minute or two back came the squirral, going through all the cunning manœuvres of his first approach, and once more took a seat before me on the rails. I watched him, and actually thought he was trying to pucker up his mouth and whistle.

Once again I changed the tune, this time to "Yankee doodle," and as before, with the first note of change away scampered the squirrel. Unable to control my risibilities longer, I laughed aloud, and after that I couldn't call my little friend to me.

I wonder how many of the so-called "true sportsmen" ever seek or think of any pleasure in connection with such beautiful little creatures, save the savage and unmanly pleasure of taking away their lives.—Forest and Stream.

Expressing Liquors in Maine.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says that some of the experiences of the American Express company since its absorption of the Eastern Express are good illustrations of the opposition which efforts to do business upon strict business principles sometimes excite, not only in the rural districts but even in cities like Boston. For example, a messenger who has charge of a package of beer or liquor destined for some surreptitious vender of the ardent in the prohibitory state of Maine, often receives a suggestive hint of the presence of officers at the station to which the goods are directed. In such cases, under the easy management of the old company, the messenger would good-naturedly carry the liquor by, and bring it back again on a subsequent trip, when it would be delivered with safety. But under the new regime, no such accommodations are possible, messengers being instructed to deliver all packages promptly at the stations to which they are directed, regardless of the character of the goods or of the parties who may be wanting to receive them. A Boston brewer was recently heard bitterly lamenting some of the results of this change in management.

His Reasons for It.

A Plymouth (Mass.) man remembers that when the question whether girls should receive any public school instruction came up in town meeting there was great opposition to granting them the privilege. One man from the south part of the town said: "I am opposed to instructing girls. If we teach them, suppose I should be writing; a woman might come in and look over my shoulder and say, 'That word is spelled wrong,' and I should not like that. I am entirely opposed to instructing girls." Notwithstanding the opposition, it was voted to give the girls of Plymouth one hour's instruction daily. After the teacher had spent the morning hours from eight to eleven teaching the boys, he was to teach the girls from eleven to twelve. The school was kept in a room in the town-house, and the girls were expected to wait outside till the boys came out.

A Losing Joke.

A prominent physician of Pittsburgh said jokingly to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, "try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the bitters, from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.—Harrisburgh Patriot.

—The Chicago critics went for Robson and Crane's new play, "A. D. 1900." As business was booming the comedians united in a published letter, in which they admit the worthlessness of the play, hideous all that has been written against it, and naively ask quid nunc to suggest some means whereby the misguided public may be prevented from crowding the theatre nightly to suffocation.

From Alonzo S. Weed, publisher of Zion's Herald, 35 Bromfield, St., Boston. Several bottles of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam have been used in my family with the most gratifying result. We esteem it as one of the best of medicines.

—"Do your best" is a good motto, but the trouble is that many people won't even try to do their second best.

News and Notes.

A prisoner named Robert McKilvey, awaiting trial in the superior court at Boston on two charges of burglary, attempted on Saturday to escape by lowering himself from the court-room window to the ground, a distance of fifty feet. With a half-way down the rope, (which he made out of his bedding in the jail) broke, and he fell to the pavement, sustaining fatal injuries.

Six men lost their lives on the 6th inst. by a fire in the shaft of a coal mine in Carbondale, Kansas.

At Galveston, Tex., Wm. Rockford, for passing counterfeit money, and L. W. Jones, colored, for violating the postal laws, have been sentenced, the former for five years and the latter for three years to the United States prison at Chester, Pa. All United States prisoners have been withdrawn from Texas penitentiaries.

Louis Burgoyne, a Second Advent preacher who recently started a revival in Walden, Vt., was on Friday arraigned on a charge of gross immorality with a daughter of the person at whose house he had been stopping during the revival. He gave bail for his appearance.

On the 5th inst., at Philadelphia, Mrs. Mary Patterson leaped from the Girard avenue bridge into the Schuylkill river, and was drowned. She was twenty-three years of age, and was married only the day before she committed suicide. She was highly respected; her husband, John Patterson, is a hosiery manufacturer. Her friends believe that the prospect of continued poor health, and the excitement attending her marriage, had affected her reason.

A woman forty years old, supposed to be Mrs. Mary J. Studley of Framingham, Mass., committed suicide last Thursday night by jumping from the steamer Katahdin, while off Baker's island, on the trip from Boston to Bangor. The body was recovered, and taken to Rockland, Maine.

The supreme court of Maine has decided, the opinion being by Chief Justice Appleton, that when a minor son takes his father's horse and carriage, which he is allowed to use, and driving to a store upon his own business leaves the horse unfastened and not watched, and the horse runs away—that the owner of the horse is not liable for any injury caused by the negligence of the driver or borrower to a third person, if not being used at the time in the owner's business. Law and justice, in this matter, are evidently at loggerheads.

Collector Babson, of Gloucester, Mass., has received from the Massachusetts Humane society two silver medals, to be presented to James Lord and Dean Crockett of the schooner Laura Sayward of that port, for heroic conduct in risking their lives in rescuing the master and mate of the schooner Maggie Blanchard of Digby, N. S., who were lashed to the sides of their vessel.

Underground cables for telegraphic purposes are been laid in France from Nancy to Paris. A line of twelve insulated wires is placed in a large tube of cast-iron. At suitable distances doors are constructed so that a section can be removed and replaced without having to open the ground, as in Germany, where the cables are imbedded in asphalt.

Five years ago one John O'Brien left his home in Ireland to attend a funeral near by. He was never afterward heard from by his wife, Annie O'Brien, until the 2d inst., when she found him living with another woman in Cincinnati. Mrs. O'Brien came to America expressly to hunt up her lost husband.

The Southern Alps of New Zealand are to be explored this year by members of the English Alpine club. In the loftiest peak, Mount Cook, which has never yet been ascended to the summit, they will find work worthy of their powers. Its height is estimated at nearly 14,000 feet.

Naval Affairs.

Commander Joseph N. Miller on the 4th inst. successfully passed his examination for promotion to the grade of captain.

Chaplain W. H. Stewart, attached to this naval station, has been granted a thirty days' leave of absence, from April 30th.

Passed Assistant Engineer John A. Tobin discovered an alloy several years ago, which consists of copper 58.22, tin 2.3, and zinc 39.48, and has when cast a tensile strength of 66,500 lb. per square inch of original section, while when rolled hot its tenacity rose to 79,-000 lb. per square inch, and when moderately and carefully rolled cold to 104,-000 lb. per square inch. It could also be bent double either hot or cold, and was found to make excellent bolts and nuts, while it could be forged at a low red heat.

Lieut. William A. Hadden has been detached from the Washington navy yard, and ordered to the United States steamer Kearsarge; Cadet Midshipmen Edwin W. Nash, Francis R. Wall and Henry M. Finley, from the United States steamer Tennessee and ordered to the United States steamer Vandalia. Lieut. Charles H. Craven has been placed on the retired list, to date from April 21st. The navy department proposes to transfer the United States steamer New Hampshire from Port Royal, S. C., to Norfolk, Va., to be used for other purposes than those for which she is now employed.

Captain John G. Walker, commanding the Powhatan, has been ordered to proceed to the Brooklyn navy yard with that ship and take on coal, and prepare to leave for Port Royal in ten days. Full instructions have been given to prepare the New Hampshire for a voyage.

Commodore E. R. Calhoun has been ordered to duty as inspector of vessels in California, on the 20th inst.

Commodore James H. Spotts, from duty as inspector of vessels in California on the 20th inst., and ordered to command the South Atlantic station, per steamer of the 4th of June next.

The U. S. S. Kearsarge, having taken on coal and provisions, left the navy yard, Portsmouth, Va., last week.

A naval board, consisting of Commander A. C. Rhind, Capts. John L. Davis and J. A. Greer, Commander E. P. McCrea, Capt. R. S. Collum, U. S. M. C., Medical Director A. L. Gihon and Chief Engr. J. W. Moore, inspected the training ship Minnesota at Newport, R. I., on the 4th inst.

The following nominations for promotion in the navy were confirmed by the United States Senate on Thursday, the 5th inst.: Midshipman Herbert O. Dunn to be an ensign; Ensign John W. Stewart to be a master; Master William P. Conway to be a lieutenant; William Foster Morrison to be a chaplain; Lieut. William W. Mead to be a lieutenant-commander.

New Hampshire Items.

Edward F. Jones, of Farmington, has been granted a patent for a wooden last with metallic side re-enforces. Elihu Wilder of Manchester has been allowed patents, for a machine for making bobbins, and for a machine for manufacturing sewing-machine needles.

In Nottingham, April 24th, a four-years-old daughter of John Cooper died of diphtheria; on the 28th ult. a boy six years old died of the same disease; and on the 1st inst. the only remaining child, a boy two years old, also died. At the latter date the mother was very sick, with little hope of her recovery.

Mrs. Eunice Sweatt, probably the oldest person in New Hampshire, recently died at Belmont, at the age of 105 years. She was born in the vicinity of Belmont, and has made it her home all her life. She was not married till well advanced in years, her maiden name being Swain, by which many former residents of the town will recall her.

A Growing Family.

The settlement of lower Oregon is going on at an unprecedented rate. A German couple has recently arrived with fourteen children, the mother being only twenty-five years of age. They were married in the fall of 1870, and the following summer their married life was blessed with twins, both girls. Less than two years later, the woman, who was then eighteen years old, gave birth to four children, three girls and a boy, the latter living only a few days. In the summer of 1874 three more girls registered at that humble hearth, and in 1875 a boy arrived solitary and alone. Seven years after marriage the arrival of another cluster of four, this time two boys and two girls, was an event that created some consternation, and two years ago two more little flaxen-haired girls came to the fortunate couple.

Better Butter.

We saw the other day a sample of oleomargarine made, we are told, in a Massachusetts factory. It was put up in pound packages, neatly stamped, and it looked exactly like butter. It cut like butter, it tasted like butter, and any man who had never heard of lardine, oleomargarine, and the other members of the greasine family, would have sworn it was butter. It lacked, of course, the aromatic flavor and the waxy texture of the product of first-class dairies, but in no respect did it suffer by comparison with the article classed as common butter in the markets, and when placed side by side with it, would out-sell it every time.

Again, nine people out of every ten who bought such oleomargarine as this, supposing it to be ordinary butter, would be entirely satisfied with it, and when it was gone return for more of the same kind.

Thirdly, there is no good reason that we can see for supposing that a compound made of three parts clean suet or lard, thoroughly cooked, and one part butter, is unhealthy enough to warrant its prohibition on that ground; and this is shown by all the chemical analyses ever made.

With these facts in view, it is easy to see that it is going to be impossible to drive the patent butters out of the market. They have come, and come to stay. We can make and enforce laws compelling their manufacturers to sell them for what they are, and thereby prevent imposition, but we cannot make and enforce a law prohibiting people from eating lard in the shape of olemargarine, any more than we can stop their eating it in sausages and pie crust, and we may as well take it for granted that these patent butters are to be sold in all our large cities and villages as openly as lard, pork or tallow; and, furthermore, that if they prove to be better or as good as the inferior grades of cow butter, they will be bought and used.

Just now there is a strong prejudice against them, but in time this will wear away, and they will stand or fall upon their merits. Remembering this, and considering that even now, when their manufacture is in its infancy, they are made so that neither sight, taste nor smell can detect the difference between them and common fruit of the churn, and that they can be and are made at a cost of ten or twelve cents a pound, the conclusion is inevitable that they are going to ruin the business of making poor butter by the old methods.

It is this fact that our farmers have got to face, and the sooner they do face it and govern themselves accordingly, the better. The way to discount the impending danger is by making gilt-edged butter; for while these patent stuffs can compete with and drive out the common butters which find a market in cities and large villages, and largely among the poorer classes of foreigners who are often compelled to choose between very cheap butter and none, they cannot compete with the finest grades of dairy butter, and these will still command a paying price irrespective of the cost of lard compounds. It comes down to this, then—that whoever keeps cows and makes butter in a churn to sell, must make good butter, nay, very fine butter, or he will starve to death at the business.—Manchester Mirror.

—"Why," said the patent medicine man, "did I larrup the hide off that Detroit editor? Why, he agreed to write a puff for me, and then said that anybody who once used my medicine would never use any other. Egad! he scared everybody in town of me, except the undertakers."

WILLIS G. AYERS.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on those organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.

AROUND HOME.

There was quite a departure of fishing vessels from the wharves on Sunday morning.

Randall & Caswell sent off on Saturday morning, to various country towns, twenty-seven hundred lobsters.

Herring are now taken in good numbers from the weirs in the river, and the fishermen are pleased at getting a supply of bait.

The Washington Capital in an able review of Mr. Albee's recently published "Literary Art," says "the author writes like a gentleman."

The York County Ministerial Association meets with Rev. Mr. Marston of the 1st church at Wells, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The friends of Mr. Herbert W. Nowell will be pleased to learn that he is making a short visit in Boston, and will return and resume his position as clerk of the Kearsarge house.

The youngest child of Rev. C. B. Pitblado died recently at the residence of Mr. Lovell in Kittery, where Mr. Pitblado and family were stopping for a short time before removing to his new parish.

The trip of the steamer Acushnet from Boston to this port, Saturday, and her return trip from this port to-day have been omitted in order to give opportunity for painting the steamer's bottom. Her regular trips will be resumed on Tuesday.

Some of the hoodlums of Eliot neck are not well disposed toward strangers. A gentleman from this city, who had occasion to visit that place a few evenings ago, received a sample of their regard for his company which was striking in its effects.

A barn belonging to Arthur G. Libby, at Kennebunk, was burned in the early part of last week, with its contents, including seven tons of hay, carriage, pung, etc. There was $100 insurance on the barn, and $75 on the hay. The fire was incendiary.

To-morrow evening, at Franklin opera hall, a public meeting will be held under the auspices of the local branch of the Irish National Land League of America; P. H. Flatley, Esq., of Boston, will deliver an address on the land question in Ireland, its abuses and remedy, and will be assisted by well known local speakers. Good music will be provided, and the public are cordially invited. Lecture to commence at eight o'clock.

On Thursday last Mr. Chas. Johnson, who is well known as a street seller of fish in this city, went to Dover in a dory with a lot of cod and haddock, taking a hand cart with him to peddle them from. Having disposed of his fish he put the cart into the boat, but was only a short distance from the wharf when the dory capsized, throwing both man and hand cart into the river. Mr. Johnson made things lively in the water, though he cannot swim; but he fortunately had a partner, a young man by the name of Killinbeck, who after sundry efforts hauled him into the boat. After matters were righted the thirteen-mile trip home was speedily made, the actors in the incident being much pleased that the coroner of Dover did not have a chance to hold an inquest on a resident of Portsmouth.

Mr. John R. Foster died at his residence on Congress street, on Saturday evening. He had been associated with Mr. Samuel S. Frye as clerk for eleven years, and had the full confidence and respect of his employer. His illness was short, and in this sudden bereavement his family and friends have the sympathy of all who knew him.

The steamer Mystic towed out the schooners Henry and Nettie Adams on Sunday morning.

Frank W. Hilton, of the Rockingham, has returned from his sojourn at the Hot Springs of Arkansas, in improved health.

Mr. Charles W. Cottle of Kittery has purchased in Montreal this spring fifty-six horses, the greater part of which he has sold to persons in this vicinity.

Quite a large and select assortment of tramps passed through this city on Thursday of last week, bound eastward. Nobody asked them to tarry, so far as we have heard.

The circuit court of the United States for the district of New Hampshire begins its May term in this city to-day. Judge Lowell will come in at half-past twelve o'clock. The jurors will report on Tuesday.

Mr. Frye, the Methodist minister at Seabrook for two years past, has been returned by the conference to serve his third year, to the general satisfaction of the church and congregation. Mr. Frye, like Rev. Wm. A. Rand, the Congregational minister at South Seabrook, is a Portsmouth man.

The schooner Ceres, Arey master, from Hoboken bound for Dover, arrived at this port on Friday last. She put into Gloucester, Mass., on the 2d inst., having been in collision on the previous evening with an unknown schooner off Cape Cod, and lost fore-topmast, had mainsail badly damaged, and sustained other injuries.

A May party was held in the vestry of the Congregational church at South Seabrook on Tuesday evening of last week, and realized about $30 for the benefit of the pastor, Rev. Wm. A. Rand. The Seabrook quadrille band furnished music, and Mrs. E. M. McLaughlin and Miss Gertie Cook, of Newburyport, gave vocal selections.

The body of John W. Orfo of Gloucester, cook of the schooner John G. Huntington, formerly of this port, and recently wrecked near Chatham, Mass., has been recovered, and buried at South Harwich. The anchors, chains, sails, rigging, etc., saved from the wreck, were sold at auction in Chatham, April 28th, and brought about $300.

Mr. Henry M. Goodrich has opened a shaving and hair-cutting room at the Creek, in the premises near the bridge recently occupied by Mr. Foote for the same purpose. Mr. Goodrich is a competent barber, and his establishment must prove a great convenience to many persons in the Creek district, in saving them a trip down town for the purpose of getting shaved.

Deputy Sheriff Lowell, of Kennebunk, on Wednesday evening of last week seized sixty-three gallons of whiskey which Michael Bowen was conveying to Biddeford on a team. The liquor was in a barrel and two ten-gallon kegs, all enclosed in a wooden frame, and covered with hay. Bowen was next day fined $50 and costs for illegally transporting liquor, which he paid.

The sessions of the graded school in Dist. No. 5 of Seabrook, (which includes nearly all of South Seabrook,) commenced on Monday, the 2d inst. The upper school is taught by Mr. B. F. McIntire, a graduate of Dartmouth college, and now a medical student in the Medical University of New York; the lower school is in charge of Miss Robie, daughter of N. H. Robie, Esq., of Hampton Falls. The superintending school committee, in the report for the year ending March 1st, 1881, said that in this school were "certainly to be found some of the most promising classes in the town."

The Richmond Daily Dispatch gives a glowing account of the reception given by the citizens of Richmond, to the members of the American Medical association at the Richmond theatre last week. Among the fair strangers present, the Dispatch mentions: "Mrs. Dr. Parsons, of Portsmouth, N. H., light-blue satin over red—a handsome costume." "The reception was brilliant and the banquet sumptuous to an extraordinary degree," says our southern cotemporary. Dr. J. J. Woodward, U. S. A., chief assistant in the surgeon-general's bureau at Washington, was chosen president of the association.

On Thursday, May 5th, Mr. C. Dwight Hanscom sold in Rye two lots of land to Mr. James W. Emery of this city, for $600 each; several other lots of land were sold at less prices. In Newington, on the same day, Mr. Hanscom sold a portion of the late William Berry's estate—one three-acre lot to Joseph Whidden, for $285; one six-acre lot to Frank L. Whidden, for $355; one forty-acre pasture lot, to N. K. Whidden, for $750. The sale commenced in Rye at 11:30 o'clock A. M., and in Newington at 1:30 o'clock P. M., and as the two sales involved a ride of thirteen miles between the two places, this may be called doing business with dispatch.

Hon. Frank Jones has about seventy-five men at work on his suburban farm, and twenty acres were planted with potatoes in a day and three-quarters last week. A large number of dump-carts are kept constantly going, and the place is a busy one.

Mr. Scott Osler, who went master of the schooner Breeze, one of the vessels that supplied this market with fish during the winter months, is now fishing in the boat Matchless. On Thursday morning last he awoke about four o'clock, and found his bed on fire. He jumped up, threw the clothes on the floor, and after some effort smothered the flames. On taking the clothes up he found a tin flask containing a quantity of powder, with the stopper, which screwed on, melted off; fortunately the powder did not explode, and Mr. Osler escaped what might have been a serious disaster. The fire caught caught from a kerosene lamp which was left burning during the night, and was unprovided with a chimney.

ALL RIGHT.

We are pleased to be able to announce that the young men (Hutchings and others) previously reported as probably lost on a trip from Boston to this port, are safe at their homes in Boston. They started from Boston as stated, on Monday, April 25th, intending to make their first port at Kittery, but after rounding Cape Ann on Monday night the wind came out ahead, so they made a harbor at Rockport, and finally did their yachting around Rockport, Gloucester, Marblehead, Lynn and other places on that side of the Cape, and arrived home all right at noon on Saturday, April 30th. The boat they sailed in was the Prima Donna, a cat-rigged boat belonging to Hutchings & Prior of City Point, South Boston.

NORAH BARTLETT.

A Boston gentleman writes us as follows: "I have reliable authority that Norah Bartlett is to occupy the position of 'second lady' at the Museum the coming season." If this is true—and we do not doubt it is—Miss Bartlett's friends may well be proud of the position she has achieved in the brief time since she first appeared on the public stage; and those who claimed for her unusual ability as an actress, on her debut, may now exclaim "I told you so" in as defiant a tone as they please. When this young lady made her first appearance before a Portsmouth audience, in the exacting character of "Julia," in "The Hunchback," there were not a few even among her special well-wishers who feared it possible that she might have done her best at the start—that her cool self-possession, aided by careful training, had enabled her at once to take as high a position as an actress as she would ever attain. These apprehensions were set at rest when she appeared for the second time, on this occasion as Mrs. Butterscotch in "The Guv'nor," the marked advance she had made being plainly discernible in even that unimportant character; and her engagement as second lady of the Museum company is but additional confirmation of her natural ability and gratifying improvement in her chosen profession.

"FEW DIE AND NONE RESIGN."

Mr. William Goodrich, whose death occurred in this city on the 3d inst., was an inspector of customs of this port under Collector Odell. He for several years past served as bailiff in the United States courts. His service in the custom house was with William A. Vaughan, Esq., who survives him. These gentlemen were staunch whigs, and after the election of Harrison were appointed inspectors, a position to which whigs had not often attained in this town.

The Human Hair.

How to Preserve and Beautify it.

Many persons abuse this delicate and beautiful ornament by burning it with alcoholic washes and plastering it with grease, which has no affinity for the skin, and is not absorbed. BURNETT'S COCOAINE, a compound of Cocoanut Oil, etc., is unrivalled as a dressing for the hair—is readily absorbed, and is peculiarly adapted to its various conditions, preventing its falling off and promoting its healthy growth.

Housekeepers should insist upon obtaining BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS, for they are the best.

Political.

Police Capt. Farrier, Officer Hopkins, and two men named Trotter and O'Mara, judges of elections, have been arrested in Jersey City, N. J., charged with stuffing the ballot-boxes in the late charter elections.

In New York city, Thursday last, in the trial of the police commissioners, testimony was given as to inspectors at the dumps of the street-cleaning department receiving money from teamsters who put loads of cellar dirt on the dump. This was the usual custom, according to the evidence given. One witness, a timer at the dump, said he got $10 a week from the street cleaning department, and was also paid $15 a week to allow Italians to pick over the garbage on the dump. Some witnesses, Italian employes of the department, testified to paying half the wages they earned to men placed over them in the department. New York city is overwhelmingly democratic.

The "Illustrated Scientific News" for May is before us, looking handsomer than any of the preceding issues. Since its change of publishers last January, this magazine has improved with each succeeding number. The present issue of the News is overflowing with handsome engravings and interesting and instructive matter. Among the various subjects in this issue is a superb specimen of cut glass ware; an exhaustive article on asphaltum and its use in streets and pavements; a new and ingenious hand-car, shown in operation; a new steel sleeper for use in shallow rivers; the new Jobert telescope, and an interesting paper on physics without apparatus, also fully illustrated. Every number contains thirty-two pages, full of engravings of novelties in science and the useful arts. To be had of all news dealers, or by mail of the publishers, Munn & Co., No. 37 Park Row, New York, at $1.50 per annum; single copies fifteen cents.

—A street car conductor carelessly carried his bell-punch home, and allowed his children to play with it. The next day the company informed him that he was 9,000,999 fares short.

—Professor to child (angry at inattention)—"Another minute, mees, and I shall go speak to your mamma." Pupil—"Well, take care pa don't catch you at it, that's all! He's awfully jealous."

Advertising Cheats.

It has become so common to write the beginning of an elegant, interesting article and then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such cheats and simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain honest terms as possible, to induce people to give them one trial, as no one who knows their value will ever use anything else.—Providence Advertiser.

Superintendent A. A. Folsom, of the Boston & Providence railroad, sailed from Boston last week for a two-months' vacation in Europe.

F. D. Curtis, the well-known blooded stock raiser of Charlton, Saratoga county, N. Y., says "I consider the Liebig Co.'s Arnicated Extract of Witch Hazel a very valuable liniment and medicine. Every farmer ought to have it on hand. A handy and effectual remedy of this kind is what farmers need, and if they had it on hand when required, much suffering would be saved, and no doubt many valuable animals." With cattle it cures blaine, quarter evil, bruises, sprains, urinary troubles, foul foot, rheumatism, garget, hide bound, galls, horn ail, swelling, etc. With sheep it cures aphtæ, diseases of the feet, red water, rot, shaking, etc. With swine it cures anthrax, rheumatism, rot, red eruption, hog cholera, sore feet. Beware of worthless imitations. Sold in fifty cents and dollar sizes; reduced rates by the half gallon or gallon. Depot 60 Maiden Lane, New York. Circulars mailed free.

John Northerner and wife, at Cannelton, Ind., had an altercation over the possession of their child on Friday. William Bolen, brother of Mrs. Northener, interfered and shot the husband dead.

A fine Whiskey—mellowed by age and guaranteed pure—is the "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon." See that it has the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons over the cork. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

The province of Quebec is financially in a bad plight. The proceeds of the new loan of $4,000,000, raised last year in France, have disappeared, the treasury is empty, salaries are overdue, and the little province, with a debt of $20,000,000, has little credit left.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

Memorial Day.

General Orders No. 13.

In accordance with our rules and regulations, Monday, the thirtieth day of May will be observed as Memorial day, and the Grand Army of the Republic is invited to make such arrangements for its reverent observance as will do fitting honor to the memories and resting places of our dead comrades; and it is hoped and expected that the several Posts will so apportion and prepare for the work of visiting the different cemeteries that no grave of a soldier or a sailor will be on that day without a floral token of remembrance.

To this end, the co-operation of citizens, of churches, of schools, and of benevolent societies, should be invited, and in towns where no Post is yet organized the nearest Post should, through correspondence or personal solicitation by committees, secure a proper observance.

It is further suggested that each Post attend divine service on Sunday, May 29, as a fitting preparation for the solemn duties of the day.

It is now thirteen years since this Memorial day was instituted, and that which seemed to many of doubtful propriety, has steadily grown in public favor, and has been more and more generally observed.

Each year we are called on to visit hundreds of new graves; the graves of comrades who have met with us in our Post rooms, many of them foremost in Grand Army work, but who have gone before to the reunion of the Grand Army above, reminding us how rapidly our ranks are being thinned by Death, and binding us more firmly together as comrades.

Let this day speak to us of memories which enwreath an immortal renown of a patriotism which was measured only by the Nation's necessity; of the duty laid upon us to preserve untarnished the inheritance of valor and loyalty that has been left to us, that our conduct as citizens may make more honorable our services as defenders of the Union, and that all who assemble with us in memory of our dead may learn to love our country, to respect her laws, and to reverence her flag. As when the bugle sounded and the drums beat the "long-roll" we knew no distinction of class, of race, of faith, so let us know no difference, sectional, partisan or religious, as we now recall the deeds and memories of our heroes; as we salute a flag that waves over a Union preserved; as we supplicate for the widow and the orphan, for ourselves and our homes, and for our country, the blessings of Almighty God.

By command of LOUIS WAGNER, Commanner-in-chief.
ROBT. B. BEATH, Adjt.-Gen.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 4.

The thirtieth day of May will be duly observed as Memorial Day. Its duties are prescribed in our Rules and Regulations; its proper observance is enjoined in General Orders, No. 13, from National Headquarters.

Made a public holiday, by legislative enactment, its observance should be a matter of patriotic interest and duty, not exclusive with the Grand Army or with the veteran soldiers and sailors. A happy and prosperous people, sharing in common the blessings so dearly purchased, should unite in honoring the memory of those who offered their lives in sacrifice. But ours is the recognized right and place to lead. Let our duties be performed in a manner and spirit that shall find favor in the sight of God; that shall be to the public the reminder of a debt of gratitude they can but poorly repay—to ourselves a renewed covenant with the dead and with each other, that the ties of comradeship still shall bind us, whether our resting place be above or beneath the flowers of Memorial Day. By command of

NATT SHACKFORD, A. A. General.

A Baby Saved!

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I ever heard of, but it did no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more, the sores all healed and I consider my baby saved.—Mother, Concord, N. H.

Eliza Tiff, eighteen years old, killed herself at Adams, N. Y., Saturday, by poisoning. She was to have been married to a young man who was arrested a week ago and taken to Canton, for ruining a young woman at that place.

Thousands of Drunkards

Are made annually by the use of medicines called tonics and bitters, containing a large portion of rum and other kinds of spirits, (all of which should be labelled destruction and death). Dr. Kennedy has put up the "Favorite Remedy" in form of a syrup, without one drop of spirits. Hence, it may be given to persons of all ages, of either sex, who require a medicine to purify the blood, regulate the liver, kidneys or bowels, or to give tone and strength to the system. Sold by all druggists; $1.00 a bottle.

The Press Excursion.

The annual summer excursion of the New Hampshire Press Association will be taken in June, from the 18th to the 25th inclusive, and will "take in" the Hoosac tunnel, Saratoga, Niagara, river St. Lawrence, the Thousand Islands, Alexandria bay, Montreal, Newport, Vt., and Plymouth, N. H. The excursionists will muster at Ayer Junction, Mass., on Saturday, the 18th, and will go through the Hoosac tunnel to Saratoga, where Saturday night and Sunday will be passed. Monday they will go to Niagara falls, and will spend Tuesday there, leaving on Wednesday morning for Alexandria bay; down the St. Lawrence on Thursday to Montreal, where Friday will be spent; leave Montreal on Friday evening for Newport, Vt., and leave Newport on Saturday forenoon at nine o'clock for the Pemigewasset house at Plymouth, N. H., where dinner will be had; then to Concord, where the excursion will terminate. The price of tickets for the trip will be thirty dollars.

News and Notes.

Addison G. Osgood of Haverhill, Mass., started for a pull up river in his boat, Saturday forenoon. Saturday afternoon some boys picked up two oars, one of which was broken, and on Sunday the empty boat was found. Osgood was steady and industrious, about twenty-four years old, and married, but without children. He is supposed to have been drowned.

A hundred and thirty sailors went from Boston to New York, last Saturday, in charge of two naval lieutenants and two corporals of marines. The sailors were mostly drunk, abd carried things with a high hand on board the steamer Providence, defying the naval officers, while the officers and crew of the steamer were needed to protect the freight and keep the drunken sailors from setting the steamer on fire. About twenty of the men deserted when the steamer arrived at her pier, and as many more were imprisoned on the Colorado at the Brooklyn navy yard, for disobedience of orders.

The steamer City of Tokio arrived at San Francisco on Saturday, with 1040 Chinese passengers.

The wife of John Greim, a saloon keeper in Springfield, Mass., eloped with his bartender, Louis Phieler, and took with her about $1,700 of her husband's money. Greim followed them to New York, where he had them arrested.

A large deposit of sulphur has been discovered in the Rocky mountains, near the line of Colorado and Utah. The extension of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad will pass near the mine, which is said to be of great value. At present the principal supply of sulphur comes from Italy.

Gov. Long of Massachusetts has pardoned Col. Henry R. Sibley, and he was set at liberty on Saturday. Col. Sibley was sentenced to the state prison for five years, but by the rules of the prison for good behavior he was entitled to be released on the 11th of July. The reason for granting the pardon is the fact that Mrs. Sibley is confined to her bed by an incurable cancer, and is dependent upon charity for support. Col. Sibley's excellent war record was also taken into account.

New Hampshire Items.

Cloudy Liberty, a Frenchman, was found on the railroad track at Warren summit, Saturday morning, cut in two.

Two barns, three horses, four oxen, five calves and a lot of farming tools owned by Lysander Wedgewood of Hanover were burned Saturday morning by an incendiary fire. Loss $2600, with no insurance.

RYE, May 9th.

The spring term of the schools in the center and south districts commenced on Monday, May 2d. Miss Elizada M. Goss of this town teaches the first named, and Miss Hoag of Stratham, a recent graduate of Brackett academy in Greenland, the latter. Plans for the new school house in the south district have been drawn by a competent architect, and will be presented to the adjourned meeting to be held this week for their consideration, and if it is decided to commence work on the new building at once, the present term of the school will be closed.

Swinton's Geography, edition of 1881, has been placed in the schools by the superintending school committee, Charles J. Brown, Esq., taking the place of the same author's work heretofore used.

Signs of spring not previously announced, and taking their first airing last week: Goslings, dandelions, hand-organs, straw hats, and spring cleaning at the Christian and Congregational meeting houses.

Rev. Mr. Jones exchanged with Rev. Mr. Waldron of Amesbury, and Rev. Mr. Kingsbury with Rev. Mr. Cutter of Hampton, on the 8th inst.

The new carpet is put down in the Congregational church, and is much admired. Two hundred and seventy yards were required to cover the floor, and it was furnished by Messrs. Ayers & Locke of Portsmouth at a price less than it could be bought for in Boston, which goes to show that it is not always absolutely necessary to go so far away from home to get a good bargain.

The May dance in the town hall on Monday night, the 2d inst., was attended by upward of one hundred persons, including parties from Hampton, Greenland, Exeter, Newburyport, Stratham, North Hampton and Portsmouth.

If the information received is correct, the auction of house lots on land belonging to Richard Jenness near the Sea View house, which took place on Thursday, the 5th instant, resulted in no bona fide sale, the prices bid not being deemed satisfactory.

Mr. B. Taft, postmaster at Greenland Depot, has resigned, and will remove to Cheshire county. He has for several years past been engaged in the grocery business with his son, but it not proving congenial to him, he has abandoned it. It is understood that the store will be closed, as Mr. H. C. Taft cannot attend to it in connection with his duties as station agent. It is proposed to move the post-office into the depot where it formerly was kept, in which case it is thought that H. C. Taft will be appointed postmaster.

An item in this correspoudence relating to the life-saving station at the beach, appears to have served as a text for a correspondent of the States & Union to vent a little spite on the management thereof. Possibly the writer knows how the service there ought to be conducted, and perhaps was disappointed at the result of the election last fall, which may have destroyed sanguine hopes of official duties at that government building; but without knowing personally of any neglect of duty at this station, by either superintendent or surfmen, it still may be, for all that, demonstrated to the satisfaction of "the head of this service" that there are men who will "obey rules more strictly" and prove themselves "more efficient" than those recently on duty there, and if such be the case, by all means ship a new crew for the next campaign. But it just makes a broad grin come all over our face when a "political machine" is alluded too. Why, supposing Gen. Hancock had been elected, about how many republicans would have been given a job at this station? And at the last election three of the crew voted the democratic ticket, and since the station has been established there have always been democrats on the roll. "Rockweed's" criticisms are too thin.

Proposals for building the road from the Cable house across the beach were opened by the selectmen on Saturday; there were four of them, the highest being $1400, and the lowest $774, the latter by Albion R. Philbrick.

A hearing on a petition for widening and straightening the road from the Centre school house to Lang's hill, is appointed for May 24th, at J. W. Garland's house. NAT.

C. M. GIGNOUX

GENERAL AGENT

For Maine and New Hampshire.

FELLOWS' Compound SYRUP OF HYPO PHOS-PHITES

Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strenghtened, and the blood purified.

The various kinds of waste or decay that affect the human body, though attended each with some symptom not common with the rest, agree very much in this, that the basis in all is nearly the same. It is generally conceded, that the majority of disease are accompanied by faulty digestion; and such being the case, we must, in order to cure such diseases, cause the organs of digestion to perform their proper functions. No remedy has before been discovered which has so beneficial an influence on these organs as Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites.
